THEY ARE OUR PEERS.

In his speech accepting the nomination
Mr. Blair said: "What civilized people on the earth would refuse to associate with themselves in all the rights and honors and dignities of the country such men as Lee and Johnston? [Voices—None, none.]
What civilized country would fail to do honor to those who, fighting for an egrogous cause, yet distinguished themselves
by gallantry never surpassed? [Applause.]
In that contest, for which they are sought to be disfranchised and exiled from their homes, in that contest they proved themselves to be OUR PEERS. Colonel Dick De Hart, of Indiana, in a speech at Indianapolis, last Saturday night, gave an answer to Blair in the recitation of the following lines:

I.
The loyal blue and the traitor gray
Alike in their graves are sleeping.
Side by side in the sunlight ray
And under the storm-clouds weeping.
Tis well to forgive the past—
God give us grace we may;
But never, while life shall last,
Can we honor and love the gray.

II.
Our boys in blue are loyal and true.
For their God and their country dying.
With a watchful pride that is ever new We guard the graves where they're lying.
They were murdered by rebel bands—
They fell in fearful fray.
Guarding our flag from traitor hands—
We do not love the gray.

III.
I would not hate, our hearts would fain
Cast a veil over their shameful story;
It will not bring back our loyal slain
To recall their treason glory.
But put barriers deep and wide—
Divide the false from the true—
Shall treason and honor stand side by side?
Is the gray the peer of the blue?

IV.
Answers each loyal heart to-day.
They are peers and equals, never;
No wreath on a traitor's grave we lay.
Let shame be his wreath forever.
Do they think we forget our dead,
Our boys who wore the blue,
That because they sleep in the same cold
bed?

V.
Believe it not—where our heroes lie
The very ground is holy;
His name who dared for the right to die
Is sacred, however lonely.
But honor the traitor gray!
Make it the ruin of the blue!
One flower at the feet of treason lay!
NEVER, while God is true.

The last "reconstructed" toast comes from Watkins, New York. It is by a Seymour and Blair lawyer:
"Here's to the man
That pulled the trigger
That killed the old cause
That freed the nigger!"

A Colored Democrat Encounters Difficulties.
We give the following from the Houston Telegraph:
A gentleman who came down from Brenham on Monday gave us the particulars of a difficulty which occurred in or about that place among the colored people on Saturday night last. It seems that Henry Love, a colored man of this city, has been for a few days past making Democratic speeches to his colored brethren of the Brazos bottom, and that on Saturday night he attempted to enlighten them in his political faith while at a ball, when some of his hearers, becoming enraged at something he said,
set upon him and gave him an unmerciful
beating, as well as one or two others of his political accomplices. The news was at once spread through the town
that Love had been hung by the blacks,
when a large number of whites assembled and started for the place of the dreadful tragedy, whether to take the law in their own hands or not we are unable to say. However, finding that Love was not hung, as was reported, but seriously pummeled, they proceeded to arrest the perpetrators of the deed, and the next morning the Brenham cross-barred Hotel showed decided signs of unusual prosperity by a heavy influx to its number of regular and transient boarders. We regret to hear that Love was so severely dealt with, for we are in favor of law and order at all times and under all circumstances. In these times, when the political tide runs high,
it is the special duty of every good citizen to frown down all acts, come from what source they may, which are calculated to disturb the public tranquility,
or breed political dissensions which might end
in riots. "Tall oaks from little acorns grow, large streams from little fountains flow." "Let us have peace."

Blinckley's Mares Nest.
WASHINGTON, September 2.—Both
the President and Secretary McCulloch have to-day expressed to their friends great disgust at the performance of Blinckley in New York. The President sent word to Mr. Rollin that he gave Blinckley no authority to act as he has done. Secretary McCulloch says the whole thing is absurd. On the other hand positive information comes from New York that Blinckley has been showing around a letter from Mr. Johnson.

Bridge building was one of the arts
brought to the greatest state of perfection during the rebellion. General Mc-Callum states that the Rappahannock river bridge—625 feet long and 35 feet high—was rebuilt in nineteen working hours; Potomac creek bridge, 414 feet-long and 82 feet high, in forty working hours; Chattanooga bridge, 780 feet long and 92 feet high, in four and a half days; that between Tunnel Hill and Rosanes, 25 miles of permanent way and 230 feet of bridges.

To Consumptives.
The Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON will send (free of charge) to all who desire it, the prescription, with the directions for making and using the simple remedy by which he was cured of a Lung Affection and that dread disease, Consumption. His only object is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes every sufferer will try this prescription, as it will cost them nothing, and may save a blessing.

The Triple Elections.

The three great nations of the world
are each on the eve of important elections. In France and England, as well as in America, there is a conservative(?)
administration and a Liberal reaction.
The English Liberals enter into the canvass with the Irish Church question as their point d'appui. Under the lead of Mr. Gladstone, they propose to disestablish the present church system of Ireland, and to introduce in its place voluntary religious organizations. If they succeed, the Fenian movement will be destroyed, by a cessation of the most important Irish grievance. The French party of progress was against imperialism, with its terrible associations of a large standing army, an enormous national debt, and agricultural prostration. It is believed that Louis Napoleon is certain to encounter a partial, if not a complete, defeat.

Here in the United States the questions on which the November election will turn, are even more important than those which will shortly convulse the British and French empires. The permanent establishment of the reconstruction policy, the absolute guarantee of the legality of the Constitutional amendments, the protection of the honor of the country from repudiation and the Pen-dletonian heresies—these are the issues
which the Republican party grapples with—and it is to render an affirmative decision on all these great questions that it is now concentrating all its energies.
Whatever may be the fate of the Liberal party abroad, in America it is certain of a large and splendid triumph.

The Cotton Crop.
The Gazette says that crop prospects
still continue good in Liberty county.
"Cotton looks fine and is opening very rapidly. We hear some little talk of the worm, but not enough to create the least alarm. One month more of good weather and we will have an overwhelming cotton crop for the ground planted."

The Waco Register says Messrs. Fort & Trice, purchased on Wednesday,
twenty bales new cotton, at 13 cents per pound, specie; picking and ginning is going on quite lively at present, indeed more so than at any previous time within our knowledge. The weather is most favorable. Nothing is said of the worm.

The Brenham Inquirer, however, says that much injury was done to many fields in Washington county, by the worm, last week. Planters are growing despondent and speak now of only about a half crop. "Such are the vicissitudes
of the cotton culture that but ten days
since fields that promised a good yield,
now present but a meagre prospect and hardly equal to the crop of last year."

The Bastrop Advertiser says that, in that region the boll worm, of which it made mention last week, has appeared.
The best informed planters report that more cotton will be made, than employees can be procured to pick, as has been the case, since the war, in the county.

Gen. Howard and Ab Initio.

We clip the following from the Austin Republican:

"A gentleman of this place explained ab initio to Gen. O. O. Howard. He disposed of it in five words by declaring it an absurdity. We hope the San Antonio Express will not read Gen. Howard out of the Republican party."

From this, it seems that the Austin ring have been at work upon the one armed hero, or the Austin Republican has lied, as usual.

Our opinions about ab initio happen to have a little longer date than Gen. Howard's visit to Texas, and does not happen to depend upon the General's opinion of it. If ab initio as understood by us, and by the loyal people of Texas, is "an absurdity," then Gen. Howard lost his arm in vain; and notwithstanding the fact that half a million brave sons of America lie in soldiers' graves, the Southern Confederacy is a living reality, not a dead rebellion. And the declaration declaring that rebels had no right to make laws binding on loyal men, is "an absurdity." If ab initio is "an absurdity," it has cost Texas half a million of dollars belonging to the School Fund, to so declare it.

If ab initio is "an absurdity," then Texas must pay its rebel State debt and the "absurdity" costs us over seven millions of dollars.

If ab initio is "an absurdity," then we advise all those who suffered for loyalty's sake in Texas, never to attempt to reclaim their losses—the Confederacy was a "de facto government."

If ab initio is "an absurdity," a State can secede to-morrow and pass laws and do acts which will be binding on the people and which the United States Government must respect.

If ab initio is "an absurdity," then the Reconstruction Convention of Arkansas, Tennessee and other States did a very absurd thing in declaring "null and void," ab initio, the acts of the traitor governments.

No, we do not believe General Howard has expressed himself in favor of the berecy of the Conservative-Railroad Republicans of Texas. We believe the Austin hand organ has simply indulged in its natural avocation of lying.

story of a woman of great gallantry rescuing a beautiful woman from a high tide.

Fredericksburg --- The White Man's Party --- What They Didn't --- A Grand Fizzle.

J. B. writes us under date of September 4th, instant.

In the course of his interesting letter he gives a description of an attempt by the chivalry to get up a barbecue.

The "unwashed" of that vicinity arranged among themselves to go out, all unknown to the intelligent part of the community, and have a celebration in honor of Seymour and Forrest.

J. B.'s description is good. Read it:—

FREDERICKSBURG, Texas, September 4, 1868.

Editors of the San Antonio Express:

You had better close up your office and sell out your press, get you a carpet-bag and be prepared to tramp. Grant and Colfax have gone up the spout, beyond a doubt, for the Democracy of this county has been out and killed a maverick and made a great feast (called a barbecue) all in honor of Seymour and Blair, and all on the sly.

None of us here knew, until it was over, what it all meant. Our curiosity was somewhat excited early in the morning on the day of the feast by seeing some six or seven carry-alls and one mule wagon loaded with women and children, and now and then a man mixed in; and behind the scene came one fellow riding a jackass—all in regular Ku-Klux style of procession—going down Main street, with something hoisted on a pole resembling a little—the United States national flag.

After inquiring around for some time it was ascertained that the Democracy was making a grand rally and was marching to the Rio Pinaldo to feast in honor of Seymour and Blair.

As the thing did not take as well as was expected, only a few persons attended, and we understand that they agreed on the point that Democracy was "hunk-a-dora" on the maverick question, and that they would agree to tell when they returned home that they had only been out pick-nicking.

The meeting adjourned sine die by the manager announcing—

"Bully for Mavericks, Seymour and Blair. At the polls in November they'll know who we are—"

There at the Radical heart we will aim our keen arrows, Like naughty boys shooting cock-robbins and sparrows!"

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DESPATCHES.]

WASHINGTON, September 10.—Meade has reported on Ashburn murders at Columbus, Ga., and relative matters of the report published, substantiates the statement of outrageous treatment of witnesses at Fort Pulaski, says detectives came to the Fort with the prisoners in charge, with orders to have the sole control of them, consequently I assumed no authority except to keep them securely. Regarding Gov. Brown's connection with affairs, Meade says in effect, he employed Brown for his legal knowledge and influence with the people. Brown demanded five thousand dollars fee, this amount, under ordinary circumstances Meade would not have paid, but was apprehensive the defence would hire Brown.

Investigation in New York progressing without pointed developments.

S. N. Pike of Opera House and whiskey fame, a brother-in-law of General Schenck, Chairman of Ways Means, is mentioned by witnesses.

TORONTO, September 9.—In the trial of Whelan the defence proved nothing; public feeling against the prisoner is intense, and it is declared if he be acquitted he will be taken by the people and hung.

Press Dispatches.—Eight days have elapsed since the election in Vermont. The Telegraph has been as silent on the result as the grave, although parties have arrived from the North bringing the facts.

The State election in California came off on the 8th. As the Association has ignored this also, we propose to withdraw from the dishonest combination, and trust to sources that if slower, will at least be truthful. Forbearance ceasing to be a virtue, our formal resignation went in yesterday. Until we can make the new combination proposed by us in the "circular" of the Editor, we will give the daily gold telegrams and all other news obtainable.

THE KILLER LET LOOSE.—The Houston Telegraph states that J. H. Patrick, who last spring went into a bar room in that city and deliberately stabbed an acquaintance, to the heart, has been tried and found "not guilty." We remember at the time the murder was committed the people of Houston were horrified at the deed—and a Houston jury have declared Patrick "not guilty."

General Reynolds's Instructions to Lieut. Vernon.

The Dallas Herald mentions the arrival in that place of Lieut. Charles A. Vernon, with a detachment of forty men, on a tour of inspection over the Northwestern portion of the State. The following special instructions from General Reynolds to the lieutenant, will give the policy intended by the General:

HEADQUARTERS 5TH MILITARY DISTRICT, State of Texas, Austin, Texas, August 11, 1868.

Lieut. Chas. A. Vernon, 4th Cavalry:

[EXTRACT.]

You will visit Northeastern Texas with the view of obtaining information for this Headquarters, in reference to the disturbed situation of that portion of the State.

Encourage the people to obey the laws and exert themselves to aid the civil officers in arresting criminals of every kind.

Assure the people without regard to party or condition, that it is the earnest desire and fixed determination of the General commanding, to enforce the laws, punish criminals, and giving quiet to the State.

Visit as far as practicable, the civil officers of the counties through which you may pass, impress upon them that they will be expected faithfully and efficiently to perform their respective duties toward all classes of citizens, and that all officers who fail therein will be promptly replaced.

Invite their attention to the reconstruction laws of Congress, in virtue of which the State is placed under military control; also to General Order No. 13, C. S. Headquarters District of Texas, which point out to them the manner in which they can procure military aid if required.

You will also visit the agents of the Freedmen's Bureau; investigate the working of General Order No. 4, of April 7, 1868, from the Bureau Office for Texas, instructing the agents to encourage the freed people to appeal to the civil authorities for redress of grievances.

Breaches of the peace, assaults &c., where freed people are concerned should be tried before the civil officers. Bureau agents should report with full particulars all neglect of duty on the part of civil officers toward freed people.

By command of Brevet Major General Reynolds.

The Bond Question Solved.

The Tribune Reporter has had a conversation with Roscerans with the following result:

Reporter.—General, have you ever considered the question of the payment of the Government bonds?

Gen. Roscerans.—No. This, however, is certain. We have the richest country in the world, and our bonds, instead of being the lowest, should be the highest in the market. The thing wanted now is to find which way to turn the water to run the mills best, and that's for Mr. Greeley to find. I sympathize as much with the negro as Mr. Greeley, or rather in comparison, for I don't suppose I have the same capacity for feeling for them; still, I feel interested in their welfare.

A few days since the house of Prof. Agassiz, in Cambridge, Mass., was entered and ransacked by thieves, the family being absent. A gold watch and pencil, and some valuable seals are missed, and possibly other articles were taken. A quantity of diamond jewelry, and some valuable articles of clothing were overlooked by the thieves.

Brigham Young has given warning to wearing youraters, of whatever age, by H. M.

At a banquet recently given by the University of Heidelberg to our Minister Bancroft, the friendship of the American Union and the German Union was the subject of varied toasts, and the eminent jurist and publicist, Dr. Bluntschli, took occasion to say: "The friendship of no other people has higher value for us Germans than that of the American nation." We learn that a French translation of Dr. Bluntschli's Code of the Law of Nations, which, he says, he wrote in answer to Dr. Lieber's Code of the Law of War on Land, will appear in Paris before the end of this year.
