Jack Hamilton a Patriot.

Jack Hamilton, the last named little being justly his by the suffrage of the Union League—composed mostly of colored men of Austin, has seen fit to leave the broad highway of the Republican party and seek fellowship with the old confederate friend.

He was once a "Know-Nothing," afterward a Democrat then a Union man—in this state of his political life Western Texas honored him with a seat in Congress, where the outbreak of secession found him. His adherence to the Union cause may or may not have been, as is said, a mere accident—he had been in Texas when she passed the secession ordinance. A Hamilton would have been in Jeff Davis' cabinet, but Governor Houston and Secretary of State Cave, kept our Congressman posted and as they gave the state of the country as loyal and that Davis would not accept our Congressman thought he was on the strong side; he came home tried on his Unionism, found it would not work and abided. No offers were made by Jeff Davis' government for him to be voluntarily offered his services and applied with others for a commission to raise a Confederate company—falling in this he left the State, having by a opus encouraged thousands of patriots in the West—by holding out to them that he would put himself at their head and re-instate the old flag—his sudden disappearance left them dependent on their own resources, he went North and met the most generous welcome at the hands of President Lincoln and the Union men of the North, he lived on the fat of the land; never allowing himself to re-instate the old flag, he was in New Orleans after its occupation, with a Brigadier's commission—Banks gave him a "body guard," he again went North leaving his body guard without a commander. The war was over, he returned to Texas with Lincoln's commission as its Governor; his career as Governor was marked with imbecility and concession to rebels, he recommended them to pardon on every hand—retained them in office, and as his reward they practically kicked him out of the State; again he is North making a war of words upon his rebel friends.—Reconstruction comes in, Hamilton returns and is set upon the Supreme bench and we now behold him patriotically drawing two salaries from the Treasury and in his place trying to sell out the loyal men of the State upon his magnanimity plan. We now ask what has he ever done deserving the name of patriot or statesman? What did he ever do to give him the soldiers sword? A demagogue from the beginning and he will remain one to the end of the chapter.

AUSTIN CORRESPONDENCE

AUSTIN, TEXAS, January 7, 1869.

Editor of the San Antonio Express:

The convention is still surging along in the storm of division. Last night Mr. DeCener entertained the House with a very clear expose of the false positions of the anti-divisionists. Jack Hamilton took the floor this morning and in his usual grog-shop style of oratory bull ragged the Republicans of the convention, who are not prepared to go with him upon the Andy Johnson platform. He set himself up as the great "I am" of the party and flung his "suffrage to rebels" banner to the breeze, defying the world and the rest of mankind. He attacked the motives of every Republican who opposes him, charging them with demagogism and greed for office, while he stands forth to-day the best living specimen of a demagogue in the land, having always lived off of office, having boxed every side of the political compass for office and is now drawing two salaries from the public treasury. He ought to be the last man to impugn the motives of others—when alluding to the western members his bar-room vocabulary answered inadequate for his purpose—he fairly frothed at the mouth.—He is gone—there is no doubt of it; he has said, in omitted to tell his audience in every speech that he had been charged with selling out—and has pretty well found that he has. We once praised him, and now that he has defied the party which honored him. Let us speak of his future exploits with his past acts.

The discussion will continue to-night. The ring have not been idle, they have the great annotated at Washington. Geo. W. Paschal, who has written a letter to Pease to the effect that President Grant has expressed to him, Paschal, in very indignant terms against a division of the State; Pease has button-holed member after member on this immaculate letter and at last it is proclaimed on the floor of the house as being true to gospel and actually so. Your readers will believe as much of Mr. Paschal's statements about Grant's opinions and indignant assertions as they please, it is laughed at here by all sensible men.

Headquarters it seems are to remain here for the present at least. It is reported around the fire-sides of the Capital that General Canby has ordered that that new building be immediately finished that he wants it. It is also reported that the General has rented Judge Morrill's residence, giving as his reason he did not wish to be under any obligations to the people of Austin for quarters. Generals Oaks and Mason are here; their visit creates some speculation. I suppose the Commander of the District is simply posting himself. It may be he will make a new disposition of troops, concentrating them on one line of travel to El Paso instead of two as is now the case.

THEATRE

AT THE CASINO HALL,

Sunday Night, Jan. 10th, 1869.

Doors open at 7 o'clock. performance to commence at 8 o'clock.

None but members and their guests, (strangers) admitted.

Lost.—On Tuesday night, January 5th, part of a gold fob chain, either at the Commercial Club rooms, or between there and the Arsenal.

The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving it at this office.

THE CHURCHES.—If the Pastors of the different churches will hand in their notices of holding divine worship on the Sabbath, any time during the day on Saturday, we will take great pleasure in publishing the same.

REFORMED.—Two well known butchers of this city have hidden the butchers combination farwell, one has sold out entirely and the other says he can't stand it to see the poor people going around with nothing in their baskets, and he intends going back to his old prices, and would pay seventy-five dollars for a front stall; but the leaders of the combination take their choice, whatever stall they may choose or desire to have.

We must crow a little over this, can't help it. We hope other butchers will follow suit, those who have any conscience left at all.

THE CONCHO MURDER.—We were shown yesterday the coat of the murdered man who was so horribly butchered up near the Concho river, between the 5th and 8th of December, 1868. The coat bears fifteen cuts, and the manner in which these cuts appear, shows that the murdered man must have had a severe conflict with the murderer. Charles Waldenberg is the name of the unfortunate man.

COMPLIMENTARY PARTY.—On Tuesday "Even" next, January 12, the ladies and gentlemen of Prof. Delling's dancing class, give him a complimentary party, in honor of their appreciation of his talents as a Dancing Master, and as a sociable gentleman. The Professor has striven hard to establish himself since his sojourn among our people, but has signally failed for want of support from our citizens, and his scholars knowing the difficulties that he has labored under, cheerfully lend their aid and assistance to help him along in giving him encouragement to try, try one again. We call upon our worthy citizens to help us in this matter, come to our aid and let us push a worthy man up to the top of the ladder. We want you to come with your wives and daughters, where youth, in its innocuous sportive, frolics air around, not through the many dance.

MORE ASSASSINATION.

The following card explains itself: CAMP NEAR CALAYARAS CREEK, January 8th, 1869.

MR. JACK COOK.—Sir.—I write to inform you of the sad news of my father's and brother Thomas's death; they were murdered last night at this place, by parties unknown. I and Mr. Deam with a drove of hogs, you will confer a great favor by assisting in disposing of them. My father and brother had started to town with the hogs and were murdered at the camp, not for money, but for revenge. Please inform his friends what has happened.

Yours Respectfully, W. J. COOK.

A Mexican who was helping the Cooks to drive, brought the above note to this city, he escaped with a bullet hole through his hat. The Mexican says they had been asleep for some time when he was started with the sound of a volley and the crash of the bullets; the father and son received ten bullets altogether in their bodies and never moved from where they were sleeping, thus being hurled into eternity from their peaceful slumbers, without prayers or warning. The murdered men had been at law with some Mexican neighbors over a single hog worth probably three dollars; their death is supposed to be by these fiends. The Cooks are known to be upright, peaceable and good neighbors.

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION. ARTICLE VIII.

In whatever relates to the policy of the ports, the lading and unlading of ships, the safety of merchandise, goods, and effects, the successor to persons estates, by will or otherwise, and the disposal of personal property of every sort and denomination, by sale, donation, exchange, testament, or any other manner whatsoever, as also the administration of justice, the citizens of the two high contracting parties shall reciprocally enjoy the same privileges, liberties, and rights as native citizens; and they shall not be charged in any of these respects with any higher imposts or duties than those which are or may be paid by native citizens, submitting, of course, to the local laws and regulations of each country, respectively.

The foregoing provisions shall be applicable to real estate situated within the States of the American Union, or within the republic of Nicaragua, in which foreigners shall be entitled to hold or inherit real estate. In any case real estate situated within the territory of one of the contracting parties should fall to a citizen of the other party who, on account of his being an alien, could not be permitted to hold such property in the State in which it may be situated, there shall be accorded to the said heir, or other successor, such time as the laws of the State will permit to sell such property. He shall be at liberty at all times to withdraw and export the proceeds thereof without difficulty and without paying to the government any other charges than those which would be paid by an inhabitant of the country in which the real estate may be situated.

If any citizen of the two high contracting parties shall die without a will or testament in any of the territories of the other, the minister or consul, or other diplomatic agent of the nation to which the deceased belonged, (or the representative of such minister or consul, or diplomatic agent, in case of absence,) shall have the right to nominate curators to take charge of the property of the deceased, so far as the laws of the country will permit, for the benefit of the lawful heirs and creditors of the deceased, giving proper notice of such nomination to the authorities of the country.

ARTICLE IX.

The citizens of the United States residing in Nicaragua, or the citizens of Nicaragua residing in the United States, may intermarry with the natives of the country; and they shall be permitted to purchase, or acquire, by purchase, or otherwise, without their being thought of as citizens of the country in which they so reside or may be situated in this respect.

The citizens of the United States residing in the republic of Nicaragua, and the citizens of Nicaragua residing in the United States, shall be exempted from all forced or compulsory military service whatsoever, by land or sea, from all participation in any military operations, and from all military duties; but they shall be obliged in the same manner as the citizens of each nation to pay lawful taxes, municipal and other modes of imposts, and ordinary charges, loans, and contributions in time of peace, (in the citizens of the country are liable,) in just proportion to the property owned.

For shall the property of either of any kind, be taken for any public object without full and just compensation to be paid in advance.

The citizens of the two contracting parties shall have the admitted right to go to any part of territories of the other, and in all cases enjoy the same rights of free travel as the citizens of the country in which they are, with the condition that they duly observe the laws and ordinances.

ARTICLE X.

It shall be free for each of the two high contracting parties to appoint consuls for the protection of trade, to reside in any of the territories of the other party. But before any consul shall take office in such territory, he shall have been duly appointed and received by the government to which he is sent; and either of the high contracting parties may, at any time, terminate the appointment of a consul in the territory of the other party, and appoint another consul in its stead.

The diplomatic agents of Nicaragua and consuls shall enjoy in the territories of the United States the same rank, precedence, and immunities as the diplomatic agents and consuls of the most favored nations; and the same shall be granted to the consuls of Nicaragua in the territories of Nicaragua, and to the consuls of the most favored nations.

A durable well made, and pure water obtained in a few hours!

The merits of this recent patent are gradually being known to the public. It has given perfect satisfaction, and is destined at an early day entirely to supersede the present cumbersome and inconvenient cistern well.

The well consists of a light iron tube, galvanized or not, as the party may prefer, which is forced into the earth by driving or boring; the lower end is furnished with a strainer, and to the upper end is attached a pump. When water is found at any distance short of thirty feet, and some times at a greater depth, the pump is attached and put in operation. The action throws off the sand within a few hours and creates a reservoir, from which cool, pure and durable water is obtained.

These wells have now been in use in the North-West and South for three years; they were used with perfect success by General Sherman, for watering his army in his recent African expedition. Where ever they have been tried they have commended themselves to public favor. Among the advantages claimed for them may be enumerated the following:

1. They are less expensive by one-half, than the ordinary well.
2. They make no litter in boring, and exclude all dirt, surface water, and impure air.
3. They descend below the surface, and tap the pure fountain.
4. Neither quicksand, clay, nor rock, offers any serious obstacle in boring, nor can they effect the water passing through them in the least.
5. They can be constructed in a few hours, in any part of the house, in the bath-room, or kitchen, or under the gallery.
6. The water not being exposed to the sun's rays, remains uniformly cool.

A number of these wells are already in successful operation in Washington County.

The construction of the wells requires no mechanical ingenuity; the necessary tools can be made by any common blacksmith for twenty-five dollars; the cost of the pump, tube, and strainers is a mere trifle, and any man of energy can make a fortune in a very short time by the purchase of a County right.

Messrs. Wentz & Harris, of Brenham, have purchased the patent right for the State of Texas. Parties desiring to purchase County rights, can be accommodated with terms and information by applying to

Our Latest Improved.

New Scale Piano Forte.
GROVEMAN & FULLER.
55 Mercer Street, N. Y.

"These instruments, after the most faithful testimonials from the Best Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced"

The best Square Piano-Forte made in the world.

It has always been our policy during the thirty six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them from one to three hundred dollars less than any other First Class House.

The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliance. Never losing their quality when forced to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its fullness, does not destroy the middle and upper registers by mingling with them in disagreeable confusion. The reduced beauty of tone being equally delightful to the unpracticed and to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, and in the most superb manner, with heavy full round cast-iron frame and back, heavy cast-iron legs and Lyra Perpetua Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years.
