COMMITTEE ROOM,
Jan. 12, 1869.

Hon. E. J. Davis, President Convention.

Sir—Your committee on Counties and County Boundaries, to whom was referred a memorial from certain citizens of Guadalupe county, asking that a portion of that county be attached to and made part of the county of Wilson, and that the name of Wilson county be changed to Cibolo county, have had the same under consideration, and your committee, from the facts presented to them, and from an examination of the map, showing that the territory proposed to be severed from the one county and attached to the other, is a narrow neck or point running almost to the centre of Wilson county, and evidently proper to belong to it, have come to the conclusion that the measure prayed for should be granted, and a majority of the committee have therefore instructed me to report to the convention the accompanying declaration, and to recommend its adoption.

Respectfully submitted,
H. C. PEDIGO,
Chairman Committee.

DECLARATION.

Sec. 1. Be it declared by the people of Texas in convention assembled, that all that part of the county of Guadalupe lying and being south of a direct line running from the mouth of Martinez creek, in the Cibolo river, to the extreme western corner of Gonzales county, be and the same is hereby attached to, and shall hereafter constitute part and parcel of Wilson county.

Sec. 2. Be it further declared, that the name of Wilson county be, and the same is hereby changed to Cibolo county.

Also, the following report:

COMMITTEE ROOM,
January 12, 1869.

Hon. E. J. Davis, President of the Convention.

Sir—Your committee on counties and county boundaries, to whom was referred a memorial from certain citizens of Bexar county, praying that a small portion of the territory of that county be attached to and made part and parcel of the county of Medina, have had the same under consideration, and a majority of the committee believing, from the facts presented to their consideration, that the convenience of the people occupying the territory proposed to be attached to Medina county, would be greatly promoted by the measure proposed, have instructed me to report to the convention the accompanying declaration, and to recommend to the convention that it be adopted.

Respectfully submitted,
H. C. PEDIGO,
Chairman of Committee.

DECLARATION.

Be it declared by the people of Texas in convention assembled, that all that part of the county of Bexar lying and being West of a line beginning at a point where the eastern boundary line of Medina

Mr. Hamilton of Travis introduced the following declaration:

AN ORDINANCE.

Whereas, On the 6th day of November, 1868, the Courthouse of Hays county was destroyed by fire, and said county is without a suitable building in which to hold its courts, and said county is unable to build a courthouse without being permitted to levy and collect a special tax for that purpose; therefore

Be it ordained by the people of Texas in convention assembled, That the Police Court of Hays county, in said State, be, and the same is hereby authorized to levy a sufficient amount of valorem tax on all property situated in said county to build a courthouse, suitable for said county, to be erected in the town of San Marcos, the county seat thereof, said tax to be collected in the same manner as other taxes due counties, are now authorized and required by law to be collected, and that this ordinance take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Horace Greeley—Packard.

The January number of Packard's Monthly, has the third article on how newspapers are made: He is an extract.

Horace, himself, though a practical printer, rarely visits the composing room. The last time the writer saw him at work in the composition room was at 3 o'clock in the morning following President Lincoln's election, when he ran his eye over the type of the New York election table on the editorial page, and suddenly cried out:

"Here, Sam, bring me a bodkin; some infernal fool has spelled Allegany with an h!"

And though the pressmen were impatiently clanging the bells for the forms, Horace deliberately drew a jack-knife from his pocket and dug the h out of Allegany before he would allow the form to go down.

Call not sustained.

Mr. Sumner moved that the convention adjourn till 7 o'clock this evening.

Lost.

SENSATION.—Some villainous bands with burglarious intent, reached the second story rear of the Post Office Sunday night...

PUMPING.—John Hancock, who crawled on his belly and licked up Democratic spoils to get the United States Senatorship from the rebel Legislature of 1864...

Believe in the Convention.—MORRIS C. HAMILTON—MR. CHAIRMAN—I desire to supplement the remarks which I had the honor to submit to the committee on the second day of its sitting...

The gentleman from Travis blusters terribly—shakes his head and fist, but really has nothing new to say. In his habit when argument fails to resort to hectoring and violence.

The gentleman from Brazoria complained that however much delegates might oppose the substitute, none had given their support to the recommendations of the special committee.

It is high time that these thin-skinned gentlemen who object to being called rebels and traitors to the Government—should be made to understand that epithets, whether proper or otherwise, to whomsoever applied, are not sufficient in law or in fact to justify the crime of murder.

chise question. Every mention of the subject touches him to the quick. The additional expense to the people for the support of three governments...

It has been admitted by some of the ablest speakers on the conservative side of the house, that the gentleman from Nueces was correct in the statement that small States or Governments, especially when poor, had always been found less expensive in proportion to numbers...

I had occasion some two or three years before the rebellion to prepare a series of articles for one of the then proprietors of the State Gazette, upon the division of the State. Three States was the number proposed then as now...

Great stress is laid upon the enormous expense of erecting the necessary State buildings and institutions. Unadmittedly the cost will be something, but it need not alarm any one.

The gentleman from Brazoria, in support of the proposition, stated frankly that they did not want a constitution made until such time as it could be done upon the basis of the whole population.

It is high time that these thin-skinned gentlemen who object to being called rebels and traitors to the Government—should be made to understand that epithets, whether proper or otherwise, to whomsoever applied, are not sufficient in law or in fact to justify the crime of murder.

struction laws now to be urged upon Congress. The whole scheme of the administration was foredoomed by the senior gentleman from Brazoria.

I could not find my seat distinctly near the gentleman from Jasper on Saturday, but understood him to say that generally there is no disposition on the part of late rebels to maltreat or injure their Union neighbors; that when exceptions to this rule have occurred, it has been in retaliation for offensive epithets applied to the former by the latter...

Inasmuch as the gentleman spoke there-out in defence of the late Confederates, and clearly identified himself with them by using frequently such phrases as "we surrendered," "we accepted the situation in good faith," and "we are not only willing but anxious to adopt and carry out the terms of the reconstruction acts of Congress," etc., etc., one would naturally suppose that the gentleman was a part and parcel of the Confederate cause...

"We surrendered?" Who are "we," and for whom do we speak on this floor? Is it the late rebels only or mainly, because they constitute nine-tenths of the white population?

It is high time that these thin-skinned gentlemen who object to being called rebels and traitors to the Government—should be made to understand that epithets, whether proper or otherwise, to whomsoever applied, are not sufficient in law or in fact to justify the crime of murder.

true Republicans can or will harmonize with their rebel neighbors upon the basis of the latter, though the latter to one.

With good sound Republicans in office throughout the State and the proper effort on their part under a strict and able commanding General the loyal people of Texas could organize successfully a civil government within the next six months.

I return now to the franchise question—and the first observation I have to make is, that in this as in most other matters we have suffered the rebels or copperheads to fix issues and characterize things for us. It was so during the rebellion, and we have not yet been able to emancipate ourselves from the shambles which the rebel press has huddled us in.

Until comparatively a recent period it was not supposed that there could be much difference in the views of Republicans as the measures necessary to secure a reorganization of civil government in Texas upon a loyal and Republican basis.

It is always profitable for men in private or public affairs to watch and profit by the judgment or misjudgment of those placed in similar conditions and circumstances who have preceded us.

Are the parties we have to deal with any better than their counterparts in other Southern States? Who are they, and what are their claims? Are they the men who fought four long and weary years against their government?

It is high time that these thin-skinned gentlemen who object to being called rebels and traitors to the Government—should be made to understand that epithets, whether proper or otherwise, to whomsoever applied, are not sufficient in law or in fact to justify the crime of murder.

those fine States from the doom which bid fair to overtake all the rest; excepting, perhaps, the Carolina. The leading Republicans felt happy and secure in Kentucky, Maryland and Delaware...

Now, I do not pretend to know the sentiments of General Grant, nor what Congress may or may not do, nor do I believe that any one man knows more than another, as to what General Grant will advise in this matter; but I have this to say, that if he insists upon turning the loyal people of the South over to the tender mercies of the rebels, whose universal suffrage would so surely accomplish just as plain a result as could be accomplished by a full vote of the people...

It is true that the party at Chicago shrank from laying down true Republican principles; but it did not go to the extent claimed in the direction of the enemy. The boys in blue who carried the election, adopted a short, pithy platform of their own, which became the rallying cry and watchword during the campaign—it was that "loyalty shall govern what loyalty has conquered."

The gentleman from McLenan seems to anticipate attacks of some character, whether upon his person or his new principles, is not clearly stated. He has never found a true Republican, any where denying any one the right of free speech, or of the change of opinion, with or without reason, and as to reading the gentleman and those who have preceded him in the liberal school of thinking out of the party, I hope nothing of the sort will be attempted.

It is high time that these thin-skinned gentlemen who object to being called rebels and traitors to the Government—should be made to understand that epithets, whether proper or otherwise, to whomsoever applied, are not sufficient in law or in fact to justify the crime of murder.

... My own opinion is that it be found... admit any considerable number of those engaged in the re-cause to the suffrage. As the reaction-from the polls... they made up four-fifths of the white people of the country... have more than four-fifths of the wealth and intelligence; and through the unscrupulous use of the means in their hands, their tact, judgment and skill in political trickery, they will be found a match for the Republicans, though inferior to them in numbers, unless ample military protection, local or national, shall be at hand to protect the weak. The relative numbers of the respective parties can only be maintained by any... grants from Europe. If that fails us, then we may... the rebel ranks to be reconsidered, both by national invasion and by immigration in a much greater ratio than the Republicans; and by the very worst characters, from the other rebellious States, especially in the event those States shall establish loyal governments, which would be distasteful to such men. It behooves us to look to the future.

So far from risking anything by admitting men to a share of the government,
 who have been in open and undisguised
 hostility to it for eight years, whatever professions they may make at this late day,
 I would have them excluded, not only as a measure of safety, but as a slight punishment for the many crimes which they have perpetrated against God and their fellow-men. They are still the bitter and implacable enemies of the government, whose clemency they have abused. It would be just to them and to the communities of which they are members, that they should be sent naked into the world, with the brand of Cain upon their foreheads, that all mankind might be certified of their dishonor.

Why seek to conciliate men who scorn
 your offers and defy your power; who have forgotten nothing and will hear nothing, who will die as they have lived, traitors to their government and enemies to civilization, to progress, to good government, and to the human race. "Let us have peace."

Speech of Morgan C. Hamilton.

We publish to-day the able and eloquent speech of Mr. Morgan C. Hamilton, delivered on the 11th inst. It was the closing argument of the great debate upon the Condition of the State. As this speech covers all the subjects touched upon during the debate, and as the views of one of the best and truest minds in the State, it will be interesting to the country at large:

THE EL PASO MURDER.—The following
 was kindly furnished us by Col. T. G. Williams for publication: When Judge Hubbell left El Paso he was known to have a legal paper directed to Gen. Canby. This paper was found near where the stage was attacked by Indians, between Eagle Spring and Van Horn's Wells. It is inferred that Judge Hubbell was killed from the fact that the paper referred to was blood-stained.
 No positive information of the recovery of his body. Why have not the troops been stationed along the mail route, as ordered by Gen. Reynolds many months ago?

We have just been informed that a detachment of soldiers had been placed as guards at this post by command of Gen.
 Reynolds, but had been ordered elsewhere
 by Gen. Merritt.

TWO DEMAGOGUES UNMASKED.—Mr. A.
 Rossy went to the bar-room of Mr. F.
 Schreiner and said that the new constitution provides that the Governor be elected for twelve years, and that it would be better to have a King here at once.

Mr. B. Swartz asserted the same at Dreiss store. Now, we say, either of these gentlemen are liars. They are too stupid to understand the meaning of written documents. As liars, they make it their business to work among such as do not understand the English language, and have a grain of belief in what the gentlemen say.
 Names of witnesses to the above assertions
 can be obtained at this office.

Police News.

Mayor's Court, January 18, 1869.
Indiscretion.
 Anna McBright, arrested upon a charge of drowning her own child in a well, she is now in jail awaiting her trial, which takes place this morning before the Mayor.

Break and Disorderly.
 John Howard imbibing too much of John Barly corn, it making him
 very noisy and disorderly, so much so that the said Howard now rails quietly in the county head quarters.

Henry Schroder, arrested upon
 the same charge, he also was invited to stop awhile with his chum to spend a few days in soberness and rest, in the county building with the stone wall guarding its entrance and front.

Stolen Goods.
 The chief of Police captured a Mexican on the Main Plaza Monday morning about one o'clock, with a black silk dress, and a cape, also two coats, in his possession, which he had evidently stolen, he told the chief he paid the enormous sum of fifty cents for the above articles. Any one missing the above goods, will please call at the Mayor's office and prove property.

Cable well made, and...

The merits of this recent patent are gradually working their way into public favor. Where ever they have been tried, they have given perfect satisfaction, and are destined to an early and general adoption to supersede the cumbersome and inconvenient curb well.

These wells have now been in use in the North-West and South for three years; they were used with perfect success by General Warren, for watering his army in his recent Abyssinian expedition. Where ever they have been tried they have commended themselves to public favor. Among the advantages claimed for them may be enumerated the following:

- 1. They are less expensive by one-half, than the ordinary well.
- 2. They make no noise in boring, and exclude all dirt, surface water, and impure air.
- 3. They descend below the surface, and tap the pure fountain.
- 4. Neither quicksand, clay, nor rock, offers any serious obstacle in boring, nor can they clog the water rising through them in this way.
- 5. They can be constructed in a few hours, in any part of the house, in the bath-room, or kitchen, or under the gallery.
- 6. The water not being exposed to the sun's rays, remains uniformly cool.
- 7. A number of these wells are already in successful operation in Washington County.

The construction of the wells requires no mechanical ingenuity; the necessary tools can be made by any common blacksmith for twenty-five dollars; the cost of the pump, tube, and strainer is a mere trifle, and any man of energy can make a fortune in a very short time by the purchase of a County right.

For Rent.
