WARRIORS' MARCH BY AVENUE.
The WARRIORS' MARCH BY AVENUE, on the 22d inst., was a grand affair, and one of the most interesting and beautiful ever witnessed in this city.

On last Saturday, two desperadoes, calling themselves "Texas rangers," and on their way from Kentucky to Texas, were passing through this county, when one of them rode boldly into the yard of one of our best citizens and farmers, Captain A. Franklin, and exchanged his jaded animal for one of the Captain's target horses. As soon as the Captain heard of it he and some of his neighbors went in pursuit of them. On being closely pressed by the Captain the thief stopped his horse, drew a revolver, and taking deliberate aim at him, shot four times. The first shot, fired when the Captain was some fifty yards behind, shattered his shoulder bone; the second struck his horse near the nostrils, rendering the animal there by wholly uncontrollable; the third entered the Captain's breast; and the fourth, fired as the infuriated animal dashed by, entered the Captain's side causing instant death. This occurred about one o'clock. The facts becoming known, immediately the whole neighborhood was aroused, and horsemen were on every road and pathway that the murderers could possibly take to effect their escape. Being hotly pursued, and finding that his horse was giving out, the thief, and a companion to the woods. He was then quickly captured, and he and his partner were then placed under a strong guard at a house near the scene of the tragedy. Captain Franklin was one of our most highly esteemed citizens. He entered the war early in the conflict, and served with credit to himself and his regiment. Since the war he has been actively engaged as a farmer.

His sudden and horrible death seemed to infuriate his neighbors, and about 1 o'clock on Sunday morning four blacked men forced their way into the house where the prisoners were being guarded, and attempted to wrest the murderer from the guards. Being driven from the house, they now reinforcements again forced their way into the house, and dragged the wretch forth to a tree near by, where they hung him. Not a word was spoken by the men, and the murderer did not plead a syllable of mercy. He was a man of very promising appearance, quite intelligent, and claimed to be a son of one of the first lawyers of Bowling Green, Kentucky.

We are law-abiding citizens here, and strongly condemn lynching. But in this case, aggravated and horrible as it is, we all feel like winking at the action of the avengers of the lamented Franklin.

MURDER BY THE AVENUE.

The Inland City of the Future.
According to a traveling correspondent of a San Francisco paper, who is exploring the route of the Pacific Railway, the great inland city which is to grow upon said to be fed and sustained by that great thoroughfare, is Winnemucca, a little place in Nevada, almost unknown, and the writer confesses that it is at present only "a dilapidated one-story cross-roads," but with all its deficiencies, it is still the most important point east of Reno, on the Central Pacific Road, and destined, in the opinion of this enthusiast, to become the great central distributing point on the plains. He contends, in western phrase that "there is more business in one iron horse than all the bull-teams in the Great Basin," and that as branch railroads will connect the main line with Oregon, Idaho, Arizona, Northern and Southern California and Montana, they must converge at the best-situated point, and as this point is the town of Winnemucca, so that place will become "the inland city of the future." The prophecy is worth recording, for stranger things than this have happened.

THE WANDERERS' RETURN.—It now seems to be understood that Mason, Stidell and Breckenridge are on route for the United States. They were anxious to get away from this abolition country, but now they are equally anxious to get back. We expect to see these workmen trotting back soon, and doubtless they will claim all their rights under the Constitution.

GENERAL ITEMS.
The track of the Central Pacific is laid 461 miles east of San Francisco.

A Cleveland Judge has decided that notes given for debts incurred at "draw notes" are void, and cannot be collected.

Bienville parish, Louisiana, has raised 4,000 bales of cotton this year.

Chicago has had 4,547 marriages and 341 divorces during the year now closing.

Official vote of Oregon: Seymour 11,125; Grant, 10,961. Seymour's majority 124.

A number of strangers—northerners and foreigners—are visiting Fort Sumter and other memorable points in the harbor of Charleston, South Carolina.

The Supreme Court of Georgia has decided that Confederate notes were a lawful consideration, and that notes given for Confederate money could be recovered.

Last week there were received in St. Louis 12,384 barrels flour; 31,151 bushels wheat; 53,556 bushels corn; 18,084 bushels oats; 1,908 bales hay; 2,490 pigs lead; 992 cattle.

Brevet Major General J. J. Reynolds, colonel of the 26th infantry, has been ordered to repair to this city and report in person to the Adjutant-General of the Army.

William S. Huntington, Esq., cashier of the First National Bank, Washington, was on Saturday presented by the gentlemen connected with that institution with a massive and costly service of silver.

A Mr. Shannon, a native of the Emerald Isle, born in the year 1749, making him in the year 1868, one hundred and nineteen years old, passed through Searcy, Arkansas lately, on foot, on his way to Texas.

General Sherman's St. Louis residence is a center of social hospitality. He has been liberally treated by the citizens and returns their attentions. He frequently attends the theatre without being troubled by the Ministerial Union of the "Mound City."

The loyal sheriff of Coshocton county, Ohio, has "run down" with $10,000 belonging to the county. He voted for Grant. Brethren, let us pray.—N. Y. Brick Democrat.

The pious brother is mistaken. The sheriff was a Copperhead. He read the Brick Democrat, and voted for Seymour.—O. S. Journal.

A Paris newspaper contains the following interesting advertisement: "A father wants to find for his son a school where he could get a healthy and manly instruction, and where the teachers do not fill the heads of the boys with humbug stories about nations which died and were buried a thousand years ago."

Statistical Delmar, whose term of office expires on Thursday next, by act of Congress, has indicated by some of his friends that he intends in his new paper to make an elaborate defense of his conduct while a government officer, and will administer a deserved rebuke to some of the officials who helped to disgrace him.

It is rumored that A. J. is getting up a new style of counterfeits, parson,—something like a railroad annual pass—to be good all the year round. He will issue a lot good for 1869 about the first of January. Apply to Mrs. Cobb, or Robert J. Walker, or D. C. Facey or Nancy Weller.—O. S. Journal.

If appreciation of our privileges were the condition of keeping them we should soon be in a poor case. A missionary writer tells of a Nestorian convert who traveled sixty miles through deep snow and piercing cold in January, to be present at the ordination of the Lord's Supper.

General Schurz Before Congress of Radical Members of Legislature of Missouri.

General Schurz came promptly to the stand amid hearty applause. An awkward pause followed. No Loan appeared. Governor Smith inquired if Mr. Schurz was present. No one answered. Then General Schurz came forward and stated he had certain correspondence which would probably explain the absence of his opponent, and read the letters, they were received with interest, and the quibble in General Loan's last with a contented titter.

General Schurz then stated he had been told that General Loan was well, and if the caucus did not wish to hear speeches at this time he would wait until General Loan should be ready. The caucus demanded "go on," and he commenced his speech. No abstract can do justice to the masterly address of General Schurz.

He began by a reference to the enthusiastic treatment which he had received in the State convention and elsewhere, and asked why those who were there and during the canvass, his friends, were now his bitter foes? He desired to discuss all questions pending, with the remembrance that those now opposed must soon be again fighting in the same ranks.

He then opened on the suffrage question, and in a most emphatic and powerful way refuted the statement that he was in favor of the immediate enfranchisement of rebels; but he showed that those who were most noisy in denouncing him had so fixed the constitution that rebels could be admitted by an accidental majority of any Legislature after 1870, but the loyal blacks could not be ever admitted but by constitutional amendment.

He also asked why those who are shouting the loyal negro first, had then made it so much easier to enfranchise the rebel?

The effect was great, and almost every sentence was cheered.

He then spoke of the charge that he was a traitor, and a believer in rebel enfranchisement, and dared his opponents to bring forward their proofs, waiting in silence until the house rang with applause.

Finally, he spoke with scathing irony of Mr. Drake's worry about the offices and the patronage, and closed with an appeal so honest and manly as to win every true heart. No other than a full report, which we shall soon transmit, can do justice to this great speech.

Quitting advertising in dull times is like tearing out a dam because the water is low. Either plan will prevent good times from ever coming.

Telegraph poles have reached Texas.

John Minor Botts of Virginia, is dead.

THE WEEKLY UNION of Houston has been merged into a Tri-Weekly. The energy of its publishers will soon rank that paper ahead of its eastern cotemporaries. Already black, the ubiquitous, grows meanly jealous.

SENSATION.—The whole Texas club in New Orleans charged a snake show. The relater of the wonderful fact says the club refused to drink with the showman. That is a disgrace of which no Texan ever reached at home.

KING.—The wonderful interest Austin takes at present in the financial warfare of Western Texas has been increased by the fact that Austin has controlled the State thirty years, and the first dollar is yet to be expended by the State west of the Colorado or east of the Trinity, we ought to be thankful.

THE Galveston News now says that lawlessness is no more frequent in Texas than in Northern States. As every other rebel paper in the State assents to the same assertion nine hundred and ninety-nine times, it is not likely the News will lose a subscriber by its extravagant speech.

THE Galveston News on the 24th instant, records the murder of a negro, the shooting and wounding of four others, and the robberies of these and others still.

Robbery is a new phase of chivalry tactics towards the "brute race." Of course "if it pays to keep the colored people, colonization will not be long delayed."

The time between Fort Smith and New York is about four days. If a reduction of time is desired to five days, from Fort Smith to Concho, we could get a tri-weekly mail from New York by this route in eleven days, beating the line via New Orleans, Galveston and Columbus, and Peach Creek.

A safe and expeditious route is thus opened to immigration into our great agricultural and grazing lands, now totally unproductive. Besides it is the precursor of one of the Pacific Railroads across Texas.

The Registration Article of the New Constitution.

The following is the Registration Article of the proposed new Constitution.

ARTICLE VIII. REGISTRATION OF VOTERS.

SECTION 1. All male persons of the legal age, who have resided in this State for the length of time required by law, and who are citizens of the United States, or have declared their intention to become such, shall be entitled to register as voters, except those excluded under the following provisions:

Sec. 2. All persons who are disfranchised for crime or for rebellion, under the laws of the United States, or of any State thereof, are prohibited from registry.

Sec. 3. All persons who, during the late rebellion, voluntarily aided, abetted, or encouraged in any manner, unlawful violence against, or mistreatment of any citizen, soldier or woman, or resident within the United States, are prohibited from registry.

Sec. 4. All persons who, during the late rebellion, voluntarily aided, abetted, or encouraged in any manner, the members of any secret organization designed in hostility to the United States, or the loyal people thereof, and known as "sons of the South," or "Ku Klux Klan," or by any other name, are prohibited from registry.

Sec. 5. All persons who since the close of the late rebellion have continued to be members of the members of any secret organization designed in hostility to the United States, or the loyal people thereof, and known as "sons of the South," or "Ku Klux Klan," or by any other name, are prohibited from registry.

Sec. 6. The county court of each county shall be the Board of the registry of the county, and shall sit for that purpose at such times as the Legislature may direct.

Sec. 7. The county court of each county shall be the Board of the registry of the county, and shall sit for that purpose at such times as the Legislature may direct.

Sec. 8. The Legislature is required to pass all laws and regulations that may be deemed necessary to carry out the spirit and intent of this article.

two-thirds of each House, relieve, by name persons who are excluded from registry under the provisions of this article. Provided, however, that no person ever held an office under the late rebellion, or any State thereof, and who has not voluntarily aided, abetted, or encouraged in any manner, the members of any secret organization designed in hostility to the United States, or the loyal people thereof, and known as "sons of the South," or "Ku Klux Klan," or by any other name, shall be permitted by the Legislature to register as voters, unless their disabilities have first been removed by Congress.

Comment is hardly necessary to explain this Article; it is clear and unmistakable. Every loyal man is admitted to registry, no matter what part he took in the late rebellion; that is, every man who in conscience can swear he never favored the rebellion, but always cherished fealty to the old Government; and further, every man now registered, though excluded by the provisions of the Article, will still be able to retain his right to vote by showing his good faith in voting for the proposed new constitution. Therefore, the only men who are excluded from registry are those who inaugurated rebellion and voluntarily aided in the attempt to destroy the Government, and those who, excluded from registry are now voters under the military registration, but who refuse to vote for a constitution securing equal civil and political rights to all men.

The Article goes further in its liberality by leaving open the door so that when the safety of the State will admit it, the Legislature can remove all disabilities not in conflict with the laws of Congress.

The day will come, it is hoped by every good citizen, when even those men who now obstruct good government in Texas, will have ceased their opposition or are no longer to be feared.

There is but one step from the proposed franchise measure of the new constitution to unrestricted franchise; but what wise man, what true patriot would advise the framers of our organic law to make no provision against the danger of the civil government passing into the hands of men who seem determined to destroy good government and set at naught the expressed will of Federal authority? A constitution admitting without restriction the late rebels to the right of franchise would hardly pass muster at the hands of Congress. The Republican watchword of the late campaign was—"Loyalty shall govern what loyalty conquered;" and this is the platform on which General Grant and the governing party of this nation stands. Let all men who are excluded under the above provisions quietly abide their time; if they are sincerely in favor of good government, a Legislature will soon relieve them from their disabilities.

Another and important view of this restrictive franchise clause. It is the touch-stone by which will be proven if the people of the proposed new State are ready for civil State government. If this unexceptionable constitution is defeated because it does not go to the extent of no restriction upon franchise, then it will be proven that a majority of the people are hostile to the United States Government and not ready for civil State government, and some other form of government, territorial or military, will be necessary until time and immigration change the complexion of the population.

We fear no defeat for the new constitution on account of its enfranchising Article. And we feel grateful, an every loyal man in the State must feel grateful, to our delegates for so wise, just, and patriotic a measure.

Mr. Rosy's Cur.

We give Mr. Rosy the advantage of his own defense in our columns. Our charges were, that Mr. Rosy asserted that the proposed constitution gave the Governor a term of twelve years, and that we had better have a King at once. We further stated that the assessor was a wilful liar, or too stupid to comprehend printed documents.

As Mr. Rosy's influence is limited to the proselytism of one Schwartz, we cannot say that we regret his having unmasked himself at this time. We are indebted for Mr. Rosy's following is Mr. Rosy's own statement, made on the 21st inst.

any interest not their own. Where is Vanderbilt's new line? New in the time, or some other description, to be entered in the book. This is a monopoly, and is not long enough. The Union and the Atlantic plant seem to have taken hold of the farmers in this section, and this year both will be tested. There is so little labor needed with the bean culture, that it ranks No. 1. The Kansas is highly thought of, and said to be more valuable than cotton, when properly cultivated.

Push the convention to a division with all convenient despatch, so that we may welcome innumerable carpet-baggers to Western Texas to develop her untold wealth.

A Happy New Year to you, Mr. Editor. May your days be long and pleasant in the land.

After the heaviest rains ever known in the annals of the oldest inhabitant, we are having fine, warm weather, and the prairie begins to dry a little. The roads and streams have been impassable for a long time, until quite recently.

Now the mail contractors once more begin to look about them. It is a little singular that these same contractors did not know when they made their several contracts that streams would rise at certain periods, and roads get muddy; but for more than three weeks we received no mails here from any direction. We do hope that the incoming administration will mend this matter; and one of the first things towards it, is to oust every rebel contractor in the land, and give their places to men of undoubted loyalty.

In the convention they seem to be pressing division; this should be effected at the hazard of all else. Indeed, if we cannot get clear of the murdering, miserable rebel desperadoes east of the Colorado, let the convention adjourn, and return our troubles to Congress, who no doubt will divide, and make a loyal State of Western Texas. Division has been so ably maintained in your columns heretofore, that it needs no argument from me at this late day.

A durable well made, and water obtained in a few hours.
The well consists of a wrought iron tube, galvanized or not, as the party may prefer, which is forced into the earth by means of a boring machine, and is attached to a pump. When water is found at any distance short of thirty-two feet, and some times at a greater depth, the pump is attached and put in operation. The suction throws off the sand within a few hours and creates a reservoir, from which cool, pure and durable water is obtained.

These wells have now been in use in the North West and South for three years, they were first used with perfect success by General Maxim, for watering his army in his recent Abyssinian expedition. Whenever they have been tried they have commended themselves to public favor. Among the advantages claimed for them may be enumerated the following:
1. They are less expensive by one-half, than the ordinary well.
2. They make no noise in boring, and extract all filthy surface water, and impure air.
3. They descend below the surface, and tap
the pure fountain.
4. Neither quicksand, clay, nor rock, offers any serious obstacle in boring, nor can they shoot the water passing through them in the air, they can be constructed in a few hours, in any part of the house, in the bath-room, or kitchen, or under the gallery.
5. They never get clogged, exposed to the sun's rays, remains uniformly cool.
A number of these wells are already in successful operation in Washington County.

The construction of the wells requires no mechanical ingenuity; the necessary tools can be made by any common blacksmith for twenty-five dollars; the cost of the pump, tube, and strainers is a mere trifle; and any mass of snags and stumps is cleared in a very short time by the purchase of a County right.
Messrs. Kempton & Co., of Brenham, have purchased the patent right for the State of Texas. Parties desiring to purchase County rights, can be accommodated with terms and information by applying to
