SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXPRESS.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The resignation of Gen. Dix, minister to France, has been accepted.

There are many reports in circulation regarding Grant's intentions in relation to Cuba.

The Senate considered the tenure-of-office act after morning hour.

Hules introduced a bill for levees in Mississippi and Louisiana, and amending the act providing a provisional government for Virginia, Texas and Mississippi.

No developments regarding the Secretary of the Treasury.

In the supreme court Everts introduced his successor, Judge Hour qualified as Attorney General.

Mr. Stewart and family departs for New York to-morrow.

Gen. Hatch, Colonel of the 9th Cavalry, will succeed Gen. Howard in the Freedman's Bureau.

The new Secretaries are at work in all the departments except the Secretary of the Treasury.

Two republican wings of the committee and one from Mississippi have had several meetings without compromising their difficulties.

SENATE.—The tenure-of-office resumed. The friends of the repeal struggled to put it on its passage but it was referred to the judiciary by 23 to 35.

The bill strengthening the public credit taken up.

Terry introduced a joint resolution that the act removing ineligible officials in Virginia, Texas and Mississippi shall not take effect until thirty days after the passage of this resolution. Referred to judiciary committee.

A bill was introduced to pay loyal claimants in the late rebellious States. It contemplates that three commissioners be appointed by the President.

By authority it was unanimously nominated that the president pro tem. of the Senate take up the following memorial and questions this session: Repeal of the tenure-of-office act; strengthening the public credit; distributing banking currency; reorganizing the judiciary; enforcing the 14th amendment; removing political disabilities; reorganizing the navy; and the Georgia question.

A motion not to consider the Georgia question this session, received only seven votes.

Thayer, Edmonds, Carpenter, and Sumner moved its immediate consideration. There having been a proposition during the caucus to restrict business this session, it was insisted, on the part of Southern Senators, that the legislation was required for the settlement of claims of loyal citizens.

Also, that Sumner's bill preventing intimidation of voters, &c., should be passed in addition.

They insisted that there should be some friendly legislation for the reconstructed States, in order to create a better feeling; that they might understand that they were not neglected by other sections.

Gen. Abbott's bill, creating commissions for claims of loyal citizens, is substantially the same as that introduced by him last session.

Misapprehension having arisen from recent despatches regarding Judge Busteded, the following from his official record is telegraphed:

Mr. Woodbridge, by unanimous consent, moved that the committee on the judiciary be discharged from further investigations into the official conduct of the Hon. R. Busteded, Judge of the United States district court of Alabama, and that the testimony already taken, be laid on the table. The motion was agreed to.

Surgeon J. Moore is ordered to the first military district as medical director.

Col. Henry A. Morrow relieves Gen. John S. Mason in Texas.

Commission Rollins in his valedictory says the interests of the revenue have been sacrificed that the unworthy policy of reconstruction might be forced upon an unwilling people, and that had men and had women have controlled the Presidential nominations; also, that the country has abundant reason to believe that exemplary pardons will not hereafter stimulate violations of the revenue laws.

HOUSE.—Schenck introduced a bill reducing to one cent, and amending the laws relative to internal revenue. He explained that the bill embraced all the modifications and alterations suggested and passed last session, thus making the bill as perfect as possible. Referred to the committee of the whole, and ordered printed.

Bill repealing tenure-of-office passed—143 to 10. The following members voting in the negative: Lawrence of Ohio, Maynard, Schenck, Smith, Stokes, Taffe, Tillman, Ward, Whitmore, and Hillard.

Several propositions for the removal of political disabilities were referred.

Osborne introduced a bill granting lands to build a steamboat canal in Florida.

Bills introduced authorizing the construction of bridges over the Mississippi above the mouth of the Missouri, and providing for the sale of gold by the treasury.

The following was received from the President:

I have the honor to request that I may be permitted to withdraw from the Senate a message requesting the passage of a joint resolution to relieve the Secretary of the Treasury from disabilities imposed by section 8th of the act of Congress approved Sept. 2, 1789.

(signed) U. S. GRANT.

Mr. Sumner moved to lay the message on the table.

Sprague moved that the request be granted—adopted. Adjourned.

The Honorable William R. Stokes, the probable Republican candidate for Governor of Tennessee, at the forthcoming election, having been questioned by a committee as to his views on universal suffrage in Tennessee, responds as follows:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 31, 1869.

Gentlemen: Your letter of the 26th inst. is before me. You say that "it is rumored and currently reported that you" (me) "are in favor of universal suffrage."

I answer emphatically that I am not, never have been, and don't know that I ever will be. When the killing of Union men ceases, the hellish organization known as Ku-Klux, disbanded, and the laws are observed, then I am willing to entertain a proposition to amend the State Constitution so as to allow the disfranchised to come to gradually, by providing that the Legislature may, by a two-thirds vote, remove the disabilities of those who petition and come well recommended by their loyal neighbors. This would let in the well disposed ex-rebels and keep out the bad ones. The idea of amending the Constitution so as to place the ballot in the hands of those outlaws of one clean sweep, and at the present time, would be cruel to the Union men. I hope this will be satisfactory; at least you will be enabled to know where I stand. With my kind wishes, I am truly yours,

W. R. STOKES.

A JAPANESE HOUSE.—Carleton says:—A shop-keeper, who has curious things for sale, invites us to enter his house. The room on the street is his shop. The whole front part is open, door and window all one, without sash or panes of glass; wide open by day, closed with wooden shutters at night. We step in and look at his work-boxes of fancy wood, his tea-trays and lacquered ware, glove-boxes, fans and great variety of nick-nack, and then pass from the shop into the house. The parlor is a platform raised about two feet from the ground, covered with matting. There are a few low stools, pictures by Japanese artist on the walls; pots and pans, in one corner; tea cups, saucers, bowls and plates of nice porcelain ware on a shelf, a roll of mats in another corner, which will be spread upon the floor at night for bedding. We are in the presence of the shopkeeper's wife and daughter—the daughter a young lady perhaps twenty years old. Both of the ladies are dressed in the extreme lowliness of fashion—no waist, no underclothing—nothing but a skirt! The shopkeeper's wife bustles about, sets the stools aside, disappears behind a screen, and reappears with a mahogany stuffed chair, and with many a smile and nod and wink, motions us to seat, then herself cringes upon the floor at our feet, shows us photographs of Nagasaki and other works of art. We have an opportunity to study her features. She is small of stature, has long black hair nicely combed, smooth, braided, done up neatly, and tastefully adorned with artificial flowers. She has a pug nose, high and prominent cheek bones, a broad forehead and small black eyes, a tawny complexion with a tinge of peach bloom on her cheeks, a homely mouth and a red lip. Not many artists would give such features to their idea of perfect beauty, but for all that there is a pleasing expression of the countenance when animated, or when she smiles, but when the smile becomes a laugh, and the lips part, we see two rows of showy teeth, black as jet. We think of a coal hod, or of looking into a knot-hole opened into a dark room! More than this, the lady has pulled out every hair of her eyebrows. Thereby hangs a story. The legend is, that years ago a beautiful princess of Japan, in order to show her devotion to her husband, blackened her teeth and pulled out her eyebrows—making herself hideous in the sight of all gallants, and so all loving wives follow her example. There is but little to see in a Japanese house. The partitions between rooms are movable paper screens, and in most houses of the lower and middling classes there is but one room, and the entire furniture might be packed on a hand-car.

We are assured by the very best authority on the subject, that there is ten feet of water on Brazos bar at high water mark, and at low water mark a vessel drawing 8 1-2 foot would find no inconvenience in entering the port. All this was brought about by the damming of Boca Chica, and too much cannot be said in favor of the projector of this work.

We take the above from the Brownsville Ranchero.

So much benefit having been derived at Brazos Bar from damming the Boca Chica mouth, the Vaquero is urging the deepening of Aransas bar by damming Cedar Bayou and Corpus Christi pass. By this method the Vaquero argues, that double the present amount of water would be forced through Aransas pass, and the ten or twelve feet of quicksand, that has lodged upon the tenacious clay bottom would be washed away. The towns depending upon the pass at Aransas for commercial facilities, are invited to contribute to this object.

Terrible State of Affairs in Bosque.—The County Overrun with Indians.

MERIDIAN, March 1, 1869.

To the Editor of the Waco Register:

The Indians have again visited our county. A large drove of horses was taken from the Brazos river above Kimball, and from Steele's Creek, 7 miles east of Meridian, some two or three days ago. I understand that 107 head have been taken from the Indians, near the Mother Gap in Erath county. They are supposed to be the horses taken from Bosque. I have not heard the particulars.

Capt. Love reports that the Indians, last night, took horses belonging to him, and thinks they have made a clean sweep of the Bosque from Meridian up.

The Indians are stealing now from a section of country which was heretofore considered safe from their incursions. In our worst Indian times, whether before, during, or since the war, the Brazos and crooks running into it in Bosque county, were exempt. During the whole period of the war, no Indian was known to have entered our county. Now we are as much exposed to them as in Erath and Comanche counties.

Our Job Office.

We call the attention of our merchants and the public in general to the fact that our Job Office is one of the best and most complete in the State...

The Indianola Bulletin says that their railroad is being pushed rapidly forward, and that three miles of the track have been laid.

MEXICAN REVOLUTION. A revolution has broken out at Puebla. It is headed by General Negrete, and is directed against the Juarez Ministry...

Communist. We are just informed that the proceeding against the Bourne prisoners were closed yesterday morning. After the defence had finished its argument, General Mason dismissed the prisoner at once...

Thus a trial ended which from all we can learn was instigated by the hatred of one race against the other and encouraged by an officer whose partiality in the matter is just as unquestionable as the innocence of his victims.

We may at some time treat this affair more in detail and describe the manner in which the arrests were made, the evidence adduced, &c.

Panorama. We had this morning the pleasure of meeting Brevel Lieutenant Colonel Ellis, of the 33rd U. S. Infantry. Our acquaintance with the Colonel dates back two years, when he filled the responsible post of Adjutant General of the Freedmen's Bureau for Texas...

The Colonel at that time was so reduced by chronic ailments, that we little thought, upon our parting, ever to have the pleasure of meeting him in the flesh again.

Division of the State.

The where, when, and how, of division are matters fairly open to discussion, and about which loyal men can reasonably differ; but as to the main question there can be no debate. Division is a necessity.

This great enormous State is a State only in name. It is neither compact nor homogeneous. The climates of its various parts are diversified as are the climates of Kentucky and Florida.

The unity of Texas is political and artificial; but its division is indicated by the same Creative Hand that formed its hills and fashioned its vast prairies.

Texas to-day is a group of warring, conflicting diversities. It has outward unity, but what is that worth? The unity of the iceberg; the unity of the sepulchre.

Our present unity begets only antagonism, opposition, and passion in the component parts of the body politic; the house is divided against itself, and cannot stand.

Deplore it as some of us may, we must have the division, or erase the mathematics of nature and human nature alike.

General Hatch succeeds General Howard in the Freedmen's Bureau. That is one incubus gone, and among the good deeds of our patriotic President, it will not rank as the least.

A grand opportunity for good was thrown away when he was placed in charge of a work too great for his ability, though not for his vanity.

History will record as the sorriest chapter of the revolution the management of his great responsible Bureau.

Special Correspondence. Fresh in General Grant's Union News and Metal Hoop. The Weather. The Cattle Trade, &c., &c.

REYNOLDS COUNTY, TEXAS, February 24, 1869.

At last the tardy mail brings us the news of the adjournment of the Convention, and the departure of our friends to Washington with the "Constitution of West Texas."

ed alike by loyal and rebel, they must seek political preference elsewhere than on Texas soil.

The Constitution framed at Austin for the State at large, has about as much chance of passing by a vote of the people, as the "Confederal" could had of getting through the needle's eye.

General Canby seems to understand the situation, and evidently intends, as far as possible, with the limited number of troops at his command, to bring order out of chaos.

The weather this way for the past four months has been most extraordinarily wet, and the farmers (for I presume there are no longer planters) have, up to this time, been unable to work upon the soil.

The learned on such subjects, tell us that hereafter Texas is to be a humid climate; through some convulsion of Nature, the Gulf Stream is said to have receded from our shores some hundred or more miles.

At Indiana he is pushing along the Railroad, and talk very much as though he intended to carry it through to San Antonio in a short time.

Denial. In one of our last week's Dailies there appeared what purported to be a letter from Hon. S. A. Maverick to the editor of the Houston Times.

Some months since the same editor published a letter purporting to have been written by the Hon. M. Pemberton, but which the latter disclaimed and denied.

Cheering Prospects. The Sun, a very ably edited newspaper in Memphis, Tennessee, predicts that the time will come when the Gulf States will produce a bale of cotton for each acre in cultivation.

At a letter forged! Saint Jude in a word! Did ever knight so foul a deed?

By order of Bvt. Maj. Gen. E. R. S. CANBY; LUCIUS V. CAZARET; A. D. C., Acting Asst. Adj't Gen.

Sec. 5. That the judges of the district courts in each county in this State shall be required to give this Act specially in charge of the grand jury of each county at its organization.

Passed November 13, 1866. March 12, 1869.

others will be the most honored among them.

Even the election of a Republican President is now conceded to be the best thing that could have happened for the South.

"Surely the South can fear nothing. A single despot and peace were preferable to insubordination and disorder; but there is no national fear of this result of Grant's elevation.

The press of the South, therefore, while Grant practices peace, should preach the gospel of hard work.

SLEEP.—Ironson Alcott, in his "Tablets," says—Life is a current of spiritual forces. In perpetual tides the stream traverses its vessels to vary its pulsations and perspectives of things, receding from forehead and face into cerebellum and spine, to be replenished night by night from these springs of vigor. The Genius trims our lamps while we sleep. It plumbs us by day and levels us by night. Here we are bent as at nature's navel, her energies flood the spirits with puissance restoring tone and tension for the coming day's occupations. Then what varying scenes rise to fancy's eyes, while the mind lapses out of the globe of thought, the house of the senses, into the palace of memory, through the gate of dreams! Under the sway of occult forces, we partake of preternatural insights, having access to sources of information unopened to us in our wakeful hours. Vast systems of sympathies, antedating and extending beyond our mundane experiences, absorb us within their spheres, relating us to other worlds of life and light; as if stirred by the nocturnal impulses we climbed the empyrean, still crediting the superstition of our affinities with the starry orbs.

[Public-No. 19.] An act to establish a certain post road in the State of Connecticut.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the consent of Congress be, and the same is hereby, given to the erection of a draw-bridge over the Connecticut river, at or near Middletown, in the State of Connecticut, by the New Haven, Middletown, and Willimantic Railroad Company, in accordance with the terms of a resolution passed by the general assembly of said State, at its May session, thereof, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, amendatory of the charter of said railroad company.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That said bridge, when completed in the manner specified in said resolution, and in the place and in accordance with the plans of the board of engineers to be appointed, in conformity to the resolution aforesaid, and in accordance with the requirements of the second section of the resolution of the general assembly of the State aforesaid, shall be deemed and taken to be a legal structure, and shall, with the railroad of which it is to be a part, be a post-road for the transmission of the mails of the United States.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That Congress reserves the right to withdraw the assent hereby given, in case the free navigation of said river shall at any time be substantially and materially obstructed by any bridge to be erected under the authority of said resolution.

[Public-No. 21.] An act to establish the collection district of Aroostook, in the State of Maine, and to more accurately define the boundaries of the district of Newark, New Jersey.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That that portion of the State of Maine, now included within the limits of the county of Aroostook be, and the same is hereby, constituted a customs collection district, to be called the district of Aroostook, of which Houlton, in the said county, shall be the only port of entry.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That a collector of customs shall be appointed for the said district, who shall reside at said port of entry, and shall be entitled to the same compensation that is allowed in other collectors of customs on the northern, northeastern, and northwestern frontiers of the United States by the second section of the act approved June seventh, eighteen hundred and sixty-four. Testimonials. The Waters' Pianos are known as among the very best. - N. Y. Evangelist. We can speak of the merits of the Waters' Pianos from personal knowledge as being of the very best quality. - Christian Intelligence. Our friends will find at Mr. Waters' store the very best assortment of Pianos, Melodions and Organs to be found in the United States. - Graham's Magazine. - MRS. J. D. WATERS writes: "SIR: Mr. WATERS' PIANO publishing sheet music, he has devoted his whole capital and attention to the manufacture and sale of Pianos and Melodions. He has just issued a catalogue of his new instruments, giving a new scale of prices, which shows a marked reduction from former rates, and his Pianos have recently been awarded the First Premium at several Fairs. Many people of the present day, who are attracted, if not confused, with the flaming advertisements of rival piano houses, probably overlook the modest manufacturer like Mr. Waters; but do happen to know that his instruments earned him a good reputation long before Expositions and "honors" connected therewith, were even thought of. Indeed, we have one of Mr. Waters' Pianos for sale now in our residence (where it has stood for years), of which any manufacturer in the world might well be proud. We have always been delighted with it as a sweet toned and powerful instrument, and there is no doubt of its durability; more than this, some of the best amateur players in the city, as well as several celebrated pianists, have performed on the same piano, and all pronounce it superior and well adapted for the strongest endorsement we could not give. - Home Journal.
