REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.
The National Republican Party of the United States, assembled in National Convention in the city of Chicago, on the 20th day of May, 1868, made the following declaration of principles:
FIRST. We congratulate the country on the assured success of the reconstruction projects of Congress, as evinced by the adoption, in a majority of the States, lately in rebellion, of constitutions securing equal civil and political rights to all, and regard it as the duty of the government to sustain their institutions and to prevent the people of such States from being remitted to a state of anarchy.
SECOND. The guarantee of Congress of equal suffrage to all loyal men of the South, was demanded by every consideration of public safety, of gratitude and of justice, and must be maintained, while the question of suffrage in all the loyal States, properly belong to the people of those States.
THIRD. We denounce all forms of repudiation as a national crime, and national honor requires the payment of the public indebtedness in the utmost good faith to all creditors at home or abroad, but only according to the letter, but the spirit of the laws under which it was contracted.
FOURTH. It is due to the labor of the nation, that taxation should be equalized and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will permit.
FIFTH. The national debt, contracted as it has been for the preservation of the Union for all time to come, should be extended over a fair period for redemption, and it is the duty of Congress to reduce the rate of interest thereon, whenever it can possibly be done.
SIXTH. That the best policy to diminish our burden or debt is to improve our credit that capitalists will seek to loan us money at lower rates than we now pay, and must continue to pay so long as repudiation, partial or total, open or covert, is threatened or suspected.
SEVENTH. The Government of the United States should be administered with the strictest economy, and the corruptions which have been so shamefully nursed and fostered by Andrew Johnson, call loudly for a Radical reform.
EIGHTH. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers, that because a man is once a subject he is always so, must be rejected at every hazard by the United States as a relic of the feudal times, not authorized by the laws of nations, and at war with our national honor and independence. Naturalized citizens are entitled to be protected in all their rights of citizenship as though they were native born, and no citizen of the United States native or naturalized, must be liable to arrest and imprisonment by any foreign power for acts done or words spoken in this country. And if so arrested and imprisoned, it is the duty of the Government to interfere in his behalf.
NINTH. Of all who were faithful in the trials of the late war, there were none entitled to more especial honor than the brave soldiers and seamen who endured the hardships of campaign and privation, and impelled their lives in the service of their country. The benefits and pensions provided by law for those brave defenders of his nation, are obligations never to be forgotten. The widows and orphans of the gallant dead are the wards of the people, a sacred trust bequeathed to the nation's protecting care.
TENTH. Foreign immigration, which in the past has added so much to the wealth and development of this nation, "the asylum of the oppressed of all nations," should be fostered and encouraged by a liberal and just policy.
ELEVENTH. This Convention declares its sympathy with all oppressed people who are struggling for their rights.
On motion of General Carl Schurz, the following additional resolutions were unanimously adopted as part of the Republican platform:
Resolved, That we highly commend the spirit of magnanimity and forbearance with which the men who have served in the rebellion, but now frankly and honestly co-operate with us in restoring the peace of the country and reconstructing the Southern State governments upon the basis of impartial justice and equal rights, are received back into the communion of the loyal people; and we favor the removal of the disabilities imposed upon the rebels in the same measure as their spirit of loyalty will direct, and as may be consistent with the safety of the loyal people.
Resolved, That we recognize the great principles laid down in the immortal Declaration of Independence, as the true foundation of Democratic Government, and we hail with gladness every effort toward making these principles a living reality on every inch of American soil.

WASHINGTON, May 1.
Gen. Grant has intimated to Gen. Lee that Grant desires a visit.
The Express says the British Minister denies that Great Britain has had under consideration the question of the Cuban insurrection. He declares the report propounded that it was ever designed to recognize the insurgents as belligerents, and says the government has not even been informed of the existence of a provisional government in the island. He reported the relations of Spain with Her Majesty's government as highly friendly, and regards the report, hereby contradicted, as intended to embitter the feeling between the United States and Great Britain.
The interview between Lee and Grant was marked by great courtesy. When Lee was ushered into the Executive office, Minister Motley was present; later, however, he retired, thinking perhaps, the interview between Grant and Lee had reference to national matters. It did not, however, being confined to merely formal greetings between the two generals. Lee is stopping in Georgetown, and keeps aloof from all public observance. His visit to the White House this morning, was the occasion of general interest. No other interviews were had with the President, by any one, after Lee retired.

Public Meeting in Burnett.
Burnett, Texas, April 16th, 1869.
At an assembly of the Republicans of Burnett county, convened in pursuance of a call made by A. M. Cox, held in the town of Burnett, on Saturday the 10th day of April, 1869, Judge John Barton was called to the chair and W. W. Brooks to act as Secretary.
The object of the meeting—the more thorough organization of the party, the unity of the same, and the selection of delegates to the State and Congressional District Conventions, being fully explained and discussed, the President was instructed to appoint a committee to draft resolutions expressive of our principles, whereupon the President appointed Messrs. A. M. Cox, Mason, Singleton, W. S. Starnett, F. M. McFarland and George M. Davidson, and the committee was instructed to report as soon as practicable. After a short deliberation the committee presented the following report, which was unanimously adopted:
Whereas, It is indispensably necessary that those who are loyal to the Government of the United States, and in favor of the advancement of the great party of progress, and a resumption by Texas of her proper relations with the Federal Government upon the basis of the Reconstruction Laws of Congress and the amendments to the Constitution, should act as a unit on all questions now agitating the people of Texas; therefore, be it resolved:
1st. That we, the Republicans of Burnett county, in mass meeting assembled, accept the platform of the National Republican Party, adopted by the late nominating convention which assembled at Chicago on the 20th day of May, A. D. 1868, and nominated General U. S. Grant for President and Honorable Schuyler Colfax for Vice President. That we will heartily and with fervency and zeal support the principles therein announced.
2nd. That we will exert our best efforts for the Reconstruction policy of the Congress of the United States.
3rd. That we do heartily disapprove of any division in the Republican party of this State, and earnestly urge the Republicans throughout the State to lay aside all previous differences and unite as one man in the great struggle now before them.

4th. That we recommend the holding of a State Convention at Houston on the 3rd Monday in May, and a Congressional District Convention at Austin, on the 2nd Monday in May next.
5th. That the Republican party throughout the State is urged to hold conventions of the same kind, and to take immediate steps to perfect the organization of the party, with a view to unity of action in the selection of State and District officers.
6th. That we are opposed to self constituted candidates or those who are brought out by cliques in any manner at the present time.
7. That we, the Republican party of Burnett county pledge ourselves to support all the regular nominees that are selected by the State and District conventions.
8th. That the citizens of this county who will honestly subscribe to the foregoing resolutions and labor earnestly for the advancement of these principles, are cordially invited to co-operate with us in the great objects intended to be accomplished thereby.
9th. That the Secretary of this meeting is hereby instructed to furnish a copy of the proceedings and resolutions of this meeting to the Georgetown Watchman, Austin Republican and other papers of the State.
The following delegates were put in nomination and elected to the Congressional District and State Conventions, to wit: A. M. Cox, John Barton and W. W. Brooks.
On motion, the meeting adjourned sine die.
JOHN BARTON, President.
W. W. BROOKS, Secretary.

Republican State Convention.

A Delegate Convention of the Republican party of Texas is hereby called to assemble at HOUSTON, ON THE FOURTH MONDAY OF MAY NEXT, for the purpose of nominating candidates for State offices.

The basis of representation for delegates, is the same as the apportionment made by the late Reconstruction Convention.

It is earnestly urged that a full delegation from the various counties be present.

A Call.

FOR A DISTRICT AND CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The loyal press unite in urging the Republicans in each Senatorial District, contained in the 4th Congressional District, to nominate on the SECOND MONDAY IN MAY a Republican candidate for Senator, and as many candidates for the House of Representatives, as their respective Districts may be entitled to have members, under the new Constitution.

It is recommended that the Senatorial and Representative districts known as the 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th 28th, 29th, 30th, hold their conventions respectively at Goliad, Columbus, Bastrop, Belmont, Georgetown, San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

It is further recommended that the Republicans of the 4th Congressional District, at the same time, select delegates to a CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION to assemble in Seguin on the THIRD MONDAY IN MAY—each Senatorial district to send as many delegates as it may be entitled to have Senators and Representatives in the State Legislature.

REPUBLICAN MEETING.

A Mass-Meeting of the Republicans of Bexar County,

Will be held in the city of San Antonio, on WEDNESDAY NIGHT, MAY 5th, at 8 o'clock, at the Court House. All who endorse the Chicago Republican platform, and support the present administration, and the Reconstruction laws of Congress, are invited to attend and participate.

It will be the duty of the meeting to appoint delegates to the Republican Senatorial District Convention to be held at San Antonio on the 10th inst.; to appoint delegates to the Republican Congressional Convention, to be held at Seguin on the 17th inst.; and to appoint delegates to the Republican State Convention, to be held at Houston on the 24th inst.

It is earnestly requested that all Republicans will be present, and lend their aid to secure the selection of the best and most suitable delegates, to represent the interests of Bexar county in these respective conventions.

THE Austin Republican affirms that the "Express has joined the little squad of Ab initios," though every one of our readers is aware that we have, in the most public and prominent manner, shelved that question as an irrelevant issue in the coming canvass. The same paper announced that this editor would not attend the meeting of the Haynes Committee; when it turned out that he, with his colleague from San Antonio, were the only members of the committee that DID attend. Following on the heels of this, came the unique astronomical discovery that an eclipse of the sun is caused by the shadow of the earth!

The remarkable editor of the Republican never corrected these misconceptions, and will probably never correct this last one. He deserves to be the hero of a new "Danciad."

Personalities.

We have sometimes thought that, considering the uselessness of both vituperation and a little honest reflection would of itself be sufficient to correct any tendency which we may have in this direction. Yet, recollecting the extent to which this evil pervades society, the wide-spread influence it exerts upon the current literature of the day, and especially the strength of its hold upon the human heart, we are not so sure that a corrective of so simple a character would answer. Pick up a newspaper, and along side of the usual matter, in many cases, you will find a whole column of verbiage, wrought into sentences, which serve the single purpose of ventilating the bias or heated feelings of the writer. Not the scintilla of a thought calculated to excite to useful action—not the faintest gleam of argument; your ardent Ajax, who, perhaps unsolicited, has made himself the guardian of everybody's quarrels and is constantly obtruding his inflated personality upon the questions of the day, has but little use for such rare weapons of warfare. To induce conviction through ordinary methods of argumentation, to enlighten by carefully digested instruction, or to illustrate the power and influence of a deep, sincere conviction, forms no part of his programme. A light pun, a flat repartee, and any amount of platitudes, constitutes the literary dish upon which you are expected to sustain your intellectual existence while passing through this blossomless wilderness of passion and distempered feeling. How it happens that men, whose avowed mission is to instruct mankind, should manifest such palpable want of discipline over their own dispositions, is certainly a question of no slight import.

The cardinal object of all free government is the elevation and consequent happiness of men—the noblest of all ends surely—and political discussion professedly aims at the solution of problems, which result from the practical administration of government. Who doubts the laudability of the purpose? Yet how sadly the use progresses! How many obstructions do unnecessary prejudices interpose to prevent the attainment of the grand end! Philosophy can with complacency entertain the most conflicting creeds; her crowning glory consists in a practical recognition of the great fact of human diversity, that in the effort to ascertain and establish truth, many mistakes must be made and rectified before the desired end be reached. But the profoundest questions of government, the great problems which the advancing condition of humanity is constantly suggesting, seem to have only a tendency to awaken strife and engender animosity. What a world of good will be accomplished, when men are brought to understand and act upon the simple truth that differences of belief grow out of organic peculiarities, which are in their nature unalterable.

There is no doubt in every man a disposition to identify himself with the particular movement to which he takes a part—his nature compels him to make it a personal matter to a great extent. And we see no reason why this should not co-exist with the broadest charity. Earnestness in the advocacy of what one honestly believes to be true should certainly be encouraged; yet, where a due subordination in the feelings is not carefully and rigidly maintained, we are in great danger of slipping into intolerance and bigotry. But the question recurs, Why such general prostitution of a noble feeling. We answer, in the main, want of enlarged views. So long as we persistently confine ourselves to a single view of every question, and are content to run exclusively in our own little circles of thought, so long must we expect to fall short of that liberality in our sentiments, which seems to be the legitimate outgrowth of comprehensiveness in the judgment. The "golden rule," in its application, requires us to take fully in view the circumstances and situation of another, and hence places us in a position where we can properly appreciate his motives. But if wilfully blinding ourselves, we violate its divine prescription, what can we expect but a narrowness of soul, which can only utter itself in personal invective and vituperation. The man of dwarfed intellectual dimensions finds it a facile matter to confound the man with his subject—the argument vel hominem is the highest attainment of his logic.

We are somehow prone to doubt the correctness of other men's views—the skeptical propensity finds in them something exceedingly to its taste; and strange enough, in our most fallible moments we esteem ourselves least likely to err. The human self-hood here asserts itself as unerringly as in the overheated advocacy of one's own creed. The statements of the most thoughtful writer we pounce upon with the same freedom, which characterize our assaults upon the utterances of the merest sciolist.

We have one word—obscure—with which we make known our estimate of another's opinions. And, be it observed, this rule, being a sure one, works both ways. Acting unwittingly upon the hypothesis that others are blockheads, they do not fail to honor us in like manner. Hence the inaptness and partial character of one half we say in even our sober moments. We forget that no conclusions can be unsettled by unmeaning squibs leveled at their author. Now we say that absolute, unrestrained freedom, combined with a tolerant charity, which separates the man and his creed "as far as the East is from the West," should characterize our public disputations. To say the least, a vast expenditure of unnecessary phraseology might be saved if we could realize how surely recalibrating the effect of any and all interference with the motives of others. Let us have peace here as elsewhere.

It seems now to be plain that the Express is opposed to General Hamilton—is opposed to the success of the Republican party—and is working in the interest of the Radicals.

No wonder, therefore, that the editor went to the meeting of the Republican Executive Committee at Austin to advocate a Convention, as he doubtless hopes that the enemies of General Hamilton will triumph in a Convention.

The two-line telegram sent to this paper by General Hamilton is paraded as evidence that he has joined the Democracy. It is, in the contracted view of the Express, a sin in General Hamilton to have sent this message to the Telegraph.

We look with contempt upon such intolerance, and the Republican party of Texas will teach the Express that they have more soul than to be influenced by any such little meanness.—(Houston Telegraph) pers of the State. Brother Wheelock's style is much better than his sentiments. He thinks badly and writes small. His innate man needs reconstruction. If his soul could be cleansed from political impurities and filled with charity and forgiveness towards rebels, so-called, he would make a charming editor. Brother W., try and get your feet out of the miry clay, and put them on the rock of constitutional Democracy.—(Austin State Gazette)

A Convention.

Our call for a Convention is thoroughly and cordially sustained by that true and sterling paper, the Houston Union. The responses we are receiving at every hand, fully show that Republicans are becoming aware of the political death that threatens them at the hands of the Democracy, unless they drop all minor differences, and show an unbroken front.

A better feeling is also extending and deepening among our Republican friends known as favorers of the Ab initio idea; without waiving their convictions of the rightfulness of this doctrine; they see that existence must first be secured before discussion is possible, and that the question whether the Republican party is to be smothered in the fatal hug of the Democracy, is a question of political existence.

Morgan Hamilton has said that he would not attend his convention and would let it go by default. We expected no less from this honest man and true outspoken patriot.

The bold and subtle attempt which is being made to muzzle the loyal element, to prevent a free choice of candidates in Texas, and to drown Republicanism in a third party movement, is rousing all true men into new life and energy. Minor differences are fast being fused in the heat of patriotic sentiment, and the 4th Monday in May will find us a resolute and united party.

By the settlement in New York recently of the accounts of an army officer, he was found to be indebted to the Government in the enormous sum of $72,000,000; but it was shown at the same time that the amount of Government property in his possession to be disposed of would equal this deficiency. Even were officers disposed to do so, what adequate security could some of them give to justify the Government in trusting such immense amounts of property in their possession?

NEW APPOINTMENT.—We learn that Mr. David Sheeke, a talented lawyer of Austin, has been appointed District Judge in Judge Noonan's district.

GENERAL REYNOLDS.—General Reynolds arrived yesterday evening from Austin. Our citizens should pay their respects to our worthy Commander, and present such matters to him as are connected with the interests of this community.

B OFFENHEIMER & CO.—Our readers will find the card of these gentlemen in another column. The firm is well known as one of the best in the city, having always on hand a select stock of staple and fancy dry goods, clothing, boots, shoes, hats, etc. We may well recommend it to country merchants and the public at large.

A BUFFALO.—A young male buffalo passed through Commerce street yesterday morning. He did not come of his own accord, but in the company of a horseman, who in all probability persuaded the King of the Plains to pay a visit. He seemed not at all surprised by the change of situation.

A PROTEST.—The great pardon breaker in Washington, G. W. P., who is willing to graciously sacrifice himself for the interests of the loyal people of Texas as Senator to Congress, has entered a protest against the ratification of the nomination of Mr. C. N. Riette, of Texas, as minister to Costa Rica. So did Andy Johnson, three years ago. But he was President and had the removing power, G. W. P. has not, luckily.

FIRE.—On Monday morning about 3 o'clock, a fire was discovered in the rear of the bakery of Robin, on Main street, by the police, amongst some old boxes near the stable. The fire originated from ashes that had been placed there the night before; it was put out without giving any alarm. Had it not been discovered in time it would have reached the stable and carriages.

EXHIBITION OF ART AND SCIENCE.—Prof. Cavor's Grand Entertainment of Sacred History, will be on exhibition at the Presbyterian Church, Monday night, May 3rd. Too much cannot be said in favor of this renowned and interesting display of some of the most instructive Scriptural Scenes ever presented to the public, together with a great variety of displays of genius and Art. Prof. Cavor is known to be one of the most interesting exhibitors in the country, and the press speaks of his exhibition in high terms. Its effects are produced by a novel process. To the lovers of Science the Magnesium Light alone is worth the price of admission, which is only 50 cents for adults, and children under 12 years 25 cents.

MAY FESTIVAL.—It is an old custom among all nations of the world, to celebrate the arrival of May. The May pole in England is so old an institution, that the memory of man does not reach its beginning. The Germans call May the month of joy, and it is said that Charles, the first Emperor of Germany, gave it that name. There is no season in the course of the year which so entices people to leave the dusty streets of the town and to direct their steps to those lovely spots where the stately trees grow, and the flowers of the prairie blossom, and the birds sing, and to enjoy the general delight which quickens the face of all nature. So did our German fellow-citizens enjoy themselves on Sunday last. Early in the morning, with flying banners, the Turners left their place of rendezvous, taking the march along those beautiful flower, fruit and vegetable gardens which stretch along the lower course of the river, passing that old venerable Mission, the monument of civilization that died when the Anglo-Saxon race came in contact with it. The pioneers, with the plow in one hand and the rifle in the other, took the place of those that came with the ringing of church bells, and the swinging of the censer.

The first Mission is now situated in the centre of a lovely grove of mesquites, Pecan and Elm trees, and looks, with its two repaired bellies, over the richest valley of the west. It is well known that this Mission and those below, were built by the order of Jesuits, at a time when Texas, from the Rio Grande to the Sabine, was in undisputed possession of the Indians. The labors of the pious men were attended with danger, but religious zeal rose superior to peril, for the sake of the church, which at that time was considered the pioneer of all civilization. While here and in Mexico and South America, the church labored as the advance guard of a new era; another civilization broke into this country from the north, and opened the road to the southwest, in the spirit of liberty and independence. The result of the one and the other gives evidence of the value of both. A down trodden, over-crowded people in Spanish America, fighting hundreds of abuses, inherent in its former government, and a great powerful free nation, in the Anglo-Saxon American, whose every motion is felt in all parts of the world. But let us stand on the right and pay our attention to the present. We are in the midst of a fine world, close by the river, but situated on a high bank, thousands of people are making or making under the stately shade trees, children are searching for flowers, young men are looking out for their acquaintances of the other sex; the lively colored droness of the ladies appear to the best advantage in the midst of the dark foliage. The Turner's have put up their apparatus and are now jumping, swinging and climbing. Dinner is ready, and families congregate in little groups and spread their tempting viands on the grass. In a few minutes it is covered with tables of all kinds; fires are kindled and the coffee is boiling. After the meal is taken, the Turner's begin their interesting plays, in which all males participate. The most comic situations occur and create general merriment. All things are joyous. The band commences playing and dancing goes on. The singing associations of the city make their appearance and they rival each other in good songs. So the day goes on and the sun is sinking, and more and more people are coming, until the place is crowded. There was Lager-beer and soda water, and plenty of wine on hand, but no whiskey or brandy, and there was not a single individual amongst the many thousands of whom it could be said that he had taken too much. No quarrel occurred, no disturbance whatever, all was joy and peace. So may it always be.

D. APPELTON & CO., Publisher,
90, 92 & 94 GRAND ST., N. Y.,
Commenced April 3d,
APPLETON'S JOURNAL
A WEEKLY PAPER,
Devoted to Literature, Science, and Art.

Uniting ordinary news, and avoiding party advocacy, both political and sectarian, the JOURNAL will be devoted to general literature, to science, art and education, and to the diffusion of valuable information upon subjects of public importance.
It is intended to make use of all resources, original and selected, domestic and foreign, which can give interest and variety to its pages; and neither exertion nor expense will be spared to secure the aid of the best talents of the time. Who abstain from the large professions and the pursuit of organicious names so common on these occasions, and, trusting to the intelligence of the people, shall be content to let the Journal speak for itself.
The department of literature will embrace:
Fiction, in the form of both Social Novels and Short Stories;
Essays on Literature and Social Topics;
Sketches on Travel and Adventure;
Dissertations upon Art, Books and Kindred Themes;
Papers upon all the various subjects that presents to the pursuits and occupations of the People, whether of town or Country; and Poems by our foremost Poets.
Illustrations will form an important feature in the plan of the Journal. Nearly every number will be accompanied by either an

Illustrated supplement on some popular themes a steel engraving in the best style of the art or a large cartoon engraved on Wood.

No. 1.—Contains an cartoon of the Grand Drive in the Central Park, a Spirited and Animated Scene.
No. 2.—Contains an Eight Page Supplement of Underground Life and Mining, with 10 Illustrations.
No. 3.—A Steel Engraving of Noon on the Seashore, from a Picture by Kennett.
No. 4.—An Art Supplement, containing
New York Illustrated with 13 1/2 or Illustrations.
No. 5.—A Superb Cartoon of the Love at New Orleans.
Novelty, freshness, and continual change will be aimed at in this department. The Illustrations will usually be valuable as works of art; those on steel, and the Cartoons, consisting of views of America scenery, by our most distinguished painters, and illustrations of character and life, by our foremost draughtsmen. They will be printed with extra care on separate sheets, and may be either bound in the volume at the close of the year, or framed to hang upon the wall. The Journal, in this feature, will be unequalled by any other.

Testimonials.
The Waters' Pianos are known as among the very best.—N. Y. Evangelist.
We can speak of the merits of the Waters' Pianos from personal knowledge as being of the very best quality.—Christian Intelligencer.

The Waters' Pianos are built of the best and most thoroughly seasoned material.—
Advocate and Journal.
Our friends will find at Mr. Waters' store the very best assortment of Pianos, Melo-deons and Organs to be found in the United States.—Graham's Magazine.
MUSICAL DONOR.—Since Mr. Waters' gave up publishing sheet music, he has devoted his whole capital and attention to the manufacture and sale of Pianos and Melodions.
He has just issued a catalogue of his new instruments, giving a new scale of prices, which shows a marked reduction from former rates, and his Pianos have recently been awarded the First Premium at several Fairs.
Many people of the present day, who are as satisfied, if not confused, with the spurious advertisements of rival piano houses, probably overlook the modest manufacturer like Mr. Waters; but we happen to know that his instruments earned him a good reputation long before Expositions and "honors" conferred therewith, were even thought of; indeed, we have one of Mr. Waters' Piano-fortes now in our residence (where it has stood for years) of which any manufacturer in the world might well be proud. We have always been delighted with it as a sweet-toned and powerful instrument, and there is no doubt of its durability; more than this,
some of the best amateur players in the city, as well as several celebrated pianists, have performed on the same piano, and all pronounce it superior and first class instrument.
Stronger endorsement we could not give.—
