 HAYATI, May 14.-Private letters from rebel sources, have been received, giving an account of a battle on the 31st inst., at Las Moras. The Spaniards numbered 2100 under command of Leslea. The revolutionists were commanded by Quasada.
 One report says that before the fighting commenced Quasada posted the native Cubans in front, protected by intrenchments, and placed 400 Dominican and American volunteers, in their rear, with orders to fire upon them if they ran. This placed between two fires, the Cubans fought with desperation. The Spaniards attacked the intrenchments three times, with bayonets; the two first assaults were repulsed by the Cubans, the third was very determined and severe, and the Cubans began to waver, when Quasada ordered the rear guard to the front. They advanced, driving the Cubans into the front rank of the enemy. A hand to hand fight ensued, in which the butcherery of the Cubans was horrible. The Spaniards finally gave way and retreated, but in good order. Their loss is estimated at 160 killed and 300 wounded. That of the Cubans, 300 killed and 200 wounded. The force of Rucadia, after the fight, marched to San Miguel, and burned the town of night of the retreating Spaniards.

 It is generally believed that the revolutionary leaders have abandoned their tactics, and will fight instead of retreating to the mountains on the appearance of any considerable force of the soldiers of the Government.
 The charges of atrocities, assassinations, and crimes are made by the journals, and by private letters. Altogether, that war news so far received, is mutilated.

Gundalope Valley.
 There is no valley in Western Texas more capable of giving to the inhabitants laborer a handsome competency than the Gundalope Valley. A railroad from Indianola to San Antonio would enrich the valley fold; it would give an additional wealth to Western Texas heretofore almost worthless. In the West, capable of producing anything known to the agricultural world. To the immigrant who wishes to grow rich there is not, in our opinion, a better or more productive valley, producing corn, cotton, vegetables and fruits in abundance. For the small farmer, Victoria affords a market unrivalled anywhere, situated as it is, in the heart of the rich valley. With the railroad completed, it is anticipated, from Indianola to the junction of the S. A. & M. G. railroad, already built from Laredo to this place, it is expected, would be an additional incentive to people to settle more thickly in this vicinity, which we hope will be done in a very short time. We understand Mr. French, of San Antonio, is down on the business of presenting either to sell the road or dispose of in some way that will make it of more service to the country than it is at present. Energy is all that is necessary to build railroads in any country.
 When it is once known that a people are determined to go ahead, to improve their condition, capitalists are not backward in lending a helping hand, on the contrary, they are inclined to seek investments for their capital, and when it is once known that the people of the West are determined to wake up from their Rip Van Winkle snooze, and push matters to an issue of commercial importance, while could be done in this very valley, and surrounding countries, there will be no lack of aid from abroad. Besides our rich country, we are bounded on either side by equally rich countries, Louisiana and Jackson, on the one, and Dakota and Kansas on the other, all are valuable for agricultural purposes, and well timbered.
 Now, if our large land owners would grow rich without exertion, let them give one third of their rich lands to be cultivated by the industrious man, thereby enriching the other two thirds, and an amount that would overbalance the portion thus given away, thereby doing a charitable act to himself and heirs, and aiding the industrial man, the man that builds railroads, towns, cities, and good society, which is indispensable to the well being of any locality. -Victoria Advocate.

Frontier Protection.
 A writer to the State Gazette says: In 1851-2 when Gen. Persifer F. Smith was in command of the Department of Texas, with about one-half of the number of companies of U. S. Troops now in Texas, he succeeded in affording better protection to the frontier than Indian depredations than ever before or since.
 The plan adopted was simply this: All of the troops - infantry, artillery, and cavalry - were ordered into the field. Every commissioned officer in charge of a party; only ten men, and one officer to remain in garrison. The garrisoning parties were only to return home, to replenish supplies. Each officer was required to render at certain intervals, a written report of his operations, together with a topographical sketch of the country, over which he had marched, giving details of each day's work.
 At first some ridicule was excited at the idea of infantry or artillery marching on foot after mounted Indians. But the correct forecast proved the wisdom of the orders. Few Indians were killed or captured, but they soon found out that the country they had been raiding over unimpeded, was now impassable in many directions, by large and small parties of soldiers, with long shooting guns, and anxious for a chance encounter, any day or night they might stumble on each other. It was time to quit, and the Indians did quit, just as long as the scouting continued, and for many months afterwards.
 If it be impossible now, as it was then, to cross the Rio Grande, on a trail, the same orders now would produce the same results. Frontier people could live in peace, and the best stock country in the United States made available in adding to the wealth of our nation.

The citizens of San Antonio have formed a company under the name of "The Bexar County Railroad Association," which has for its object, the construction of a road to connect that city with the Gulf coast as speedily as practicable. Two committees have been appointed - one to place themselves in communication with railroad operators, and the other to call upon and collect contributions from the citizens, in proportion to their ability to contribute, for a fund sufficient to meet the necessary expenses of the Association.
 We see in this movement a determination to build a road to the Gulf, and if the people of San Antonio and the West are wise, and wish to build up San Antonio as the great depot for Western Texas, it is plain to be seen what point on the coast of Texas should be their terminus.
 Indianola is that point, being her nearest and best connection to an outlet to the the Gulf, and efforts should be made by this Association to form a connection thereto as the best important point, and one that will give to San Antonio a permanent position as an interior central point of concentration. -Indianola Bulletin.

EVERYBODY is expecting an influx of excursionists, immigrants and capitalists, to Texas, the coming season. Let them come—if they know what's good for 'em.

If you haven't business, advertise; if you have business, advertise. People go to places that are advertised, and they go to those that are not. A place that advertises corals the cash trade.

OFFICERS of the U. S. A. are requested to attend their Club meeting this (Tuesday) evening, by order, PONCE DE LEON.

GALVESTON is rejoicing in the presence of an "Inspirational Medium," who, at the shortest notice, sports prose or "pomes," in bona-wah, wah, everlasting flood. Is gal so rare a gift in this country, that we must run crazy over it, and style it "inspiration"?

We are pleased to announce, on good authority, that the prospect for the retention of the Government Depot at this place, is satisfactory. The causes that have made San Antonio so long the distributing centre of Government supplies, are founded in the nature of things, and have not ceased to exist.

The Rocky Mountain Herald of Denver, Colorado, comes to us marked for exchange. It is one of the best edited journals in the far West. To the stock men of Texas, who want to keep posted as to prices in Colorado, we recommend this paper, from which we quote as follows:

"Lips stock here is high; a good span of mules or horses can't be had for less than $450; and a decent yoke of cattle fetches from $150 to $175. Ponies are pretty high and scarce also."

We have received from Austin, a prospectus of a new weekly paper, called the Austin Record. Of its political character, nothing is said, and we infer that it is to be devoted principally to forwarding the material interests of its section. Such a paper is needed, and we hope it will have success.

Pro-Nic.—The children of the German, English School held their festival at the San Pedro Springs, on Saturday. The day was fine; the children, their parents and friends gathered by hundreds, and every Hack and Carriage in the city was busily engaged in transporting the well-dressed and merry crowd; The oblationary exercises and singing, were well rendered by the pupils, and gave evidence of careful instruction. Refreshments of the nicest quality were offered to all in profusion, and the rustic tables were spread with every luxury. Hospitality, dancing and enjoyment, were the order of the day, and when at an early hour in the evening, the children, with smiling faces, wended homeward their various ways, the children of a larger growth lingered till a later hour, prolonging the joyous time with game and dance.

VELOCEPES.—Our young bloods appear to be as tickled with their Velocipedes, as children are with toys. Another public trial is announced as soon to take place. But the toy is some times expensive. A man in Hornellsville, New York, recently bought one, for which he paid one hundred dollars; broke a plate glass window, for which he paid forty dollars, cut his face and neck, for which he paid the doctor five dollars; raised one pair of pantaloons, for which he paid eleven dollars; frightened a horse so that the animal ran away and broke a buggy, for which he paid damages amounting to sixty dollars; and finally smashed his Velocipede by running into a brick wall, leaving him two hundred and sixteen dollars out of pocket, and a court-sentence to show for it.
