Platform of the Republican party of Texas.

Resolved, 1st. That the Republican party of Texas hereby accepts the conditions of reconstruction embraced in the several reconstruction acts of Congress, and will in the future, as heretofore, fully sustain the same in word and spirit.
2. That the amendments to the Constitution of the United States, known as the 14th and 15th amendments, are necessary to the pacification of the country and the security of the equal civil and political rights of all classes of the people. The Republican party, therefore, pledges itself to the prompt adoption of those amendments.
3. That the regulations adopted by the Chicago Convention of May 20th 1868, where not modified by the proposed 15th amendment, are accepted by the Republicans of Texas as the embodiment of correct principles of public policy. That the Republicans of Texas, especially, condemn the spirit of the additional resolution adopted in that Convention at the instance of Hon. Carl Schurz, and will not accept the assistance of such of our fellow-citizens as served in the late rebellion, but who now frankly and honestly co-operate with us in restoring the peace of the country, and reconstructing our State Government on the basis of impartial justice and equal rights.
4. That the payment of the public debt, in preservation of the unity of the nation to the last dollar, is in our opinion the sacred duty of the American people, and the Republicans of Texas will condemn all attempts to evade in any manner, the payment of this debt according to the intent of the creators of the same.
5. That the Republican party of Texas earnestly desires the encouragement of internal improvement and immigration, and will as a party, press the adoption of measures having these ends in view. That in Convention herewith, we condemn the demagogical use of the term "carpet-bagger," and other terms of reproach applied to strangers who may come among us, as designed to keep alive the prejudices of the ignorant and deter immigration.
6. That while the Constitution submitted to the people is in some respects imperfect and objectionable, it is believed on the whole to propose the main object of Constitutional Government viz: The equal, civil and political rights of all persons under the law. This Convention therefore recommends the ratification of the same.
7. That the preservation of the unity and the organization of the Republican party is essential to the safe progress of reconstruction in this State, and they believe that to effect this reconstruction, a great work has yet to be performed. They therefore warn the loyal people of Texas that opposition to the organization of the Republican party, is the result of an insidious design of the enemy purposing the practical surrender of the State to the disloyal.
8. That the Republicans of Texas heartily express unqualified confidence in the administrative abilities, and integrity of the honored head of our Government—President Grant, and in the patriotism and wisdom of the majority in Congress.
P. W. Hall, of Robinson, offered the following independent resolution which was adopted:
Resolved, That the commanding General of this military district, Maj. Gen. J. J. Reynolds, deserves the approval of the loyal people of the United States, for his activity in ferreting out and bringing to justice the murderers of the patriot Geo. W. Smith, and for the measures he has adopted for the security of life and property, and the establishment of peace.
Johnson Reed of Galveston, offered the following, and moved that it be added to the resolutions, and he knows as resolution No. 9.
Resolved, That to this end we earnestly invite the co-operation and support of all good citizens, advocates of peace, law and order, and who believe in the principles of the party of union, progress, liberty and reform, which has done so much for the pacification and well being of this country. This resolution adopted.

Cure for Cancer.
THE CASE OF MR. MASON.

A correspondent in Indiana wrote recently to us to inquire respecting the cure of a cancer by a Mr. Mason, which was published some years since in some of the city papers. The Springfield Republic has been furnished by a subscriber with the following extract from the Milwaukee Free Democrat, which, we presume, will furnish the desired information:
Our attention has been recently called to a cure for cancer, which is of so much importance that we wish to make it known as widely as possible. Some eight months ago Mr. T. H. Mason—who keeps a music store on Wisconsin street, and is a brother of the well known Lowell Mason—ascertained that he had a cancer on his face the size of a pea. It was cut out by Dr. Wolcott and the wound partially healed. Subsequently it grew again, and while he was in Cincinnati on business it attained the size of a hickory nut. He has remained there since Christmas under treatment, and has come back perfectly cured. The process is this:
A piece of sticking plaster was put over the cancer, with a circular piece cut out of the center a little larger than the cancer, and a small circular rim of healthy skin next to it was exposed. Then a plaster made of chloride of zinc, blood root and wheat flour was spread on a piece of muslin of the size of this circular opening and applied to the cancer for twenty-four hours. On removing it the cancer will be found to be burnt into, and appear of the color and hardness of an old shoe sole, and the circular rim outside of it will appear white and parboiled, as if scalded by hot steam. The wound is now dressed, and the outside rim sown together, and the cancer comes out a hard lump, and the place heals up. The plaster kills the cancer, so that it sloughs out like dead flesh, and never grows again. This remedy was discovered by Dr. Fell of London, and has been used by him for six or eight years, with unflinching success, and not a case has been known of the re-appearing of the cancer since this remedy has been applied. It has the sanction of the most eminent physicians and surgeons of London, but has not till recently been used in this country, and many of the faculty, with their proverbial opposition to innovations, look upon it with distrust. We saw Mr. Mason yesterday at church, and have since conversed with him, and took particular notice of the cicatrized wound, and can only say that if the cure is permanent—and, from the evidence of six or eight years experience in other cases, we have no doubt it is—the remedy ought to be universally known. We have referred to this case, because Mr. Mason is well known both here and at the east. The experiment excited much interest in Cincinnati, and we call the attention of the faculty in this State to the remedy. If it is what is claimed for it, this terrible disease will be shown of most of its terrors. The application is painful, but the pain is of comparatively brief duration, which any one so afflicted would cheerfully endure.

The volcano of Colona is in eruption after a half of some centuries, but up to the present time the eruption has not been on a large scale.

The preliminary operations for the next Congress were practically effected on the 27th, throughout the Republic. Government will have a majority.

The inauguration of the work for opening of the tunnel of Tequisquite, which is to be built for the draining of the Valley of Mexico, took place on the 14th. The preparatory work of this stupendous enterprise has been great, among which are numbered the opening of 34 sky lights, some of which are 100 metres in depth, and the putting up of six steam engines to pump up the water from below. The tunnel will be 10,000 metres in length, or nearly three leagues.

According to a Puebla newspaper, there are 124 newspapers published in the whole Republic.

In the district of Tenancingo, there are 26 schools sustained by the Public Instruction Fund, and also three private schools with 2,217 pupils.

It is expected that the Mexico and Vera Cruz Railway will be completed to Puebla by the 15th of September.

The Artesian Well Company of Matanzas has found the first still water at but a short distance from the surface. The work of the gas company continues active. The idea of reforming the port is not yet abandoned.

The newspapers speak of a case of longevity, in a native named Alonso Martinez, in the Huasteca, who has just completed 130 years.

The Two Republics says the prefect of Acapulco has been assassinated. The community is greatly shocked, the victim was a young man of promising talents, and was murdered in his sleep. Some attribute his end to a political necessity.

All Right.—It would seem from the following notice which we take from La Republica of Chihuahua, that Ahlerich and son are all right:

THE PROPOSED CANAL.—As is known, Mr. John Sealy, Mr. N. R. Yard, and other gentlemen interested in the Brazos Navigation Company have had surveys made by Mr. Abraham Hoxie, engineer, for an extension of that canal beyond its present termination to Matagorda Bay. Mr. Hoxie found the entire length of the proposed canal to be 21 1/2 miles, requiring an excavation of 1,702,000 cubic yards of the earth to make a canal 100 feet wide on the water line, and 3 feet deep. He estimates the cost at $200,000. He finds no serious obstacle to overcome, and speaks favorably of the character of the earth.—Flake's Bulletin.

Mr. C. H. Holtz, owner to be our Agent at New Braunfels, Comal county. A. SIEMERING & CO. San Antonio, July 27, 1869.

Between the two Men.

Republicans in the political contest now before us, have no choice. There is but one recognized organization of the Republican party in the State; there is but one Republican ticket in the field for the State offices. No Republican can mistake his way or be ignorant of his duty; it is plain and unmistakable. The man who calls himself a Republican, but refuses to support the party, either deceives himself or seeks to deceive others. The common law of political parties will read out every man who is only a partizan in name.

But the democratic or Conservative masses stand in the attitude of the doubtful sinner, or half-converted penitent—not yet declared through what church they will be saved, and to them it is our mission to propound the gospel of political salvation.

The Conservatives are, or they pretend to be, entirely convinced that the Republican party must reconstruct the State, and it is under this conviction they have consented to pick up Jack Hamilton. They opened bids for Republicans to receive their votes for office upon their conditions, and they have secured Jack Hamilton and quite a number of hungry office seekers, who have studied over the registration lists and concluded it would be safe to cut loose from the "nigger." By their bidding for Republicans, the Conservative party bought an assortment of elephants, all of whom must have far places.

The Democracy, or so called Conservative element, claim that the Houston platform suits them, and that they are willing the State should be reconstructed on such a basis. Jack Hamilton and his friends claim that he stands upon exactly the same platform as that occupied by Gen. Davis. If this be so, then the contest, so far as the Conservatives are concerned, is narrowed down to a preference between the two men.

Which of the two men are you willing to trust to fulfill their promises? Davis accepts his candidacy upon the regular Republican platform; he is pledged to its enforcement. Hamilton is bound by no party, he simply gives his word for his policy. Laying aside the moral character and habits of the two men. We ask, does not the straight-forward, consistent course of Davis, from the breaking out of the war, to the meeting of the recent convention, entitle him to respect among his political opponents. He fought like a soldier to put down the rebellion, and his arguments were convincing. While, on the other hand, the shifting, unreliable course of Hamilton, proves him unworthy of confidence. His word cannot be depended on. He fought like a demagogue to put down the rebellion, and left a black streak of abuse behind him. The people desire peace and reconstruction, and to the great mass it matters little who is Governor, so long as he is a man who is firm, calm and wise. A drunkard cannot fill the bill. Prosperity we want, and our ship of State must have a steady hand at the helm.

Again, if the idea of Conservatives in foregoing a political struggle for a man of their own party, to conciliate a Republican Congress, then the regular Republican candidate is their best man. You are appealed to now by Hamilton's partisans to elect a Republican Legislature, this you must do, they say, in order to get the Hamilton move through. Would it not be as well to go the whole figure? If the choice is simply between men, we have no fear of the result, even among the Conservatives.

Admitting that Hamilton and Davis occupied the same ground during the war; Hamilton exhausting his strength in windy speeches, Davis in hard blows upon the battle field; admit they both now express the same policy, which is the most reliable man? That is the question for Conservatives.

If you are honest, Mr. Conservatives, it is no excuse to say Davis was in favor of a different policy, and therefore you are against him—the same argument applies to Hamilton. Davis has been eminently a man of deeds, not words. Hamilton a man of words, not deeds. Which will you choose?

Pease-Flake's Correspondent.

Governor Pease is acting as traveling correspondent for Flake's Bulletin; in the Bulletin of the 21st, two letters are published from him, dated Washington the 12th and 13th of July, in which he details his interview with Grant and assures Haynes and Longley that they will not be removed. Pease thinks he made Grant understand our political situation, and in consequence of the state of feeling he met with in Washington, he says it is "vastly important that we elect in Texas a Republican Legislature; if we fail in that, it is very possible that Congress will keep us out." He winds up with the belief that he has done some good by going to Washington, in as much as he convinced everybody that Hamilton would be elected. This will, at least, be comforting news to those who made up the "pony purse." These letters are written to Flake, care of J. L. Haynes, with the sincere request that they shall not be published. How perfectly innocent and harmless, and signed by E. M. Pease, (Early Marrowfat.)

The citizens of La Grange have requested that further appeals for assistance be suspended, as there is comparatively no suffering. It seems that Ridge Paschal and some other Jack Hamilton politicians, got up the great hue and cry for help. Texas can stand a little flood, and not feel bad either.

The State Gazette denies that it is a Hamilton organ. Such duplicity will hardly do. You push Hamilton's claims upon the democracy and yet try to deny your position. Josselyn is an old Yankee, but that kind of a trick will hardly pass muster. A straight out Republican paper is shortly to appear in Galveston.

REMINISCENCES OF THE CONVENTION.—The Houston Union, in giving some of the reminiscences of the Republican Convention at Houston, publishes the following:

GALVESTON, June 9, 1869. CITY MARSHAL—Arrest M. Whilden, one of my employees, now drunk at Houston. Send him down on the train or boat this evening. F. FLAKE, Flake's Bulletin.

Longley, the editor of the Austin Republican, took great pains to get Whilden drunk, so as to prevent him from giving a fair report of the Convention.

APPLES.—Who says that apples will not grow in this part of Texas? Our friend Atwood has sent us from the country some fine specimens, and we are told that his few trees are loaded down with them. Apples will do well in this vicinity if proper ground is selected for them and proper attention given them. Let our people plant orchards and try it.—State Gazette.

We learn that Mrs. Bracket of this city has Apple trees bearing heavily this year, and the fruit very fine.

"THE San Antonio Herald is informed that Gen. Hamilton will receive almost the entire vote in the southwestern counties of Texas."—Houston Telegraph.

The Herald never gave the name of its informant, and nobody believes the Herald.

Prepared for Galveston News. Directions for Making Wine of the Native Grape of Texas.

At the request of some of our correspondents, we give the following directions for making wine of our native grape. They embody the practice of our most successful wine makers up to the present time. The grapes should not be gathered till ripe; they need not be stemmed. It is well to let them lie a day or two or even longer, as after being gathered they ripen or sweeten thus more perfectly. Mash the grapes in a barrel or cask with a maul, taking care not to mash the seeds. To be more sure the end of the maul may be guarded by a thick cloth, nailed up around the sides. An expensive grape-press is wholly unnecessary except for very large operations. Let the grapes so crushed stand for twenty-four hours, when the skins and pulps will separate and float on the surface. Draw off the must from a tap or spigot near the bottom of the cask. Set the must aside in a cool place, and let it stand undisturbed, taking care that the vessel that contains it be kept full, with a small bung or vent for the escape of the gas evolved in the vinous fermentation; the bung should be affixed as little access as practicable to the external atmospheric air. The evaporation of the must is considerable; to meet this the barrel or vessel containing it should be filled up every day or two with fermented juice or a little sweetened water, for to insure good wine the vessel must be kept full. The vinous fermentation will be completed in two or three weeks. This is known by the quiet condition of the must and its becoming settled and perfectly clear. The barrel or demijohn containing it should then be bunged or corked, and laid on its side and left unmoved for several weeks, till cool weather. It should then be carefully racked off or decanted and again preserved in full vessels on the side as before, or it may be bottled and the bottles laid on the side. This will make the best wine.

We go back now to the pulp and skins. These may be pressed at the time of drawing off as above, and the must now expressed added to that first drawn off; but the wine will not be quite so good, for the tartaric acid in the skins. It is better to treat the last must expressed from pulps and skins, separately, and in the same way as the first quality. A good press is made as follows: Put a box perforated with small holes in another box, tight at its sides and bottom—both open on top—the mashed grapes in the inner box, pressure should then be made by a bar 15 feet long or more on a follower block on the mashed grapes—like the old tobacco press. The must is to be drawn from the outer box by a tap near its bottom. No expensive press is necessary; the box and lever as good as the best.

If a heavy body is wanted for the wine; at the time of the first drawing of the must, from one to three pounds of sugar may be added to the gallon of must—one pound is ample; a better and lighter claret is made without any sugar. Take care that the Sugar is dissolved and does not settle in mass at the bottom of the vessel. Nothing else whatever should be added, and least of all no spirituous liquor—but absolutely nothing beyond or besides the sugar. Filtering is utterly useless; it does not add to the clearness of the wine. No Fining is necessary. The essential points are—full vessels, absolute rest and complete exclusion of atmospheric air—is practicable without preventing the escape of the gases of fermentation; a cool place, where vines ferment, is to be taken place. Afterwards cease stopping of the vessel and laying it on one side, with repose until it is time to rack off or decant. All additions whatever to the must except sugar, only make it worthless.

After the mashed grapes have been pressed, water and sugar may be added to them, at the rate of a blue bucket of water to a bushel of grapes before mashed and a good wine is made of the must treated as directed for the pure juice. It must not, however, be expected that this will be equal to the first. Galizing, after the name of the gentleman who brought the practice into vogue, is adding water and sugar to the must. A good way of excluding air during vinous fermentation is by placing an empty black bottle, neck down, in the bung-hole of the cask, this permits the exit of gas of fermentation but no considerable ingress of air.

GENERAL Ames opposes the movement to Judge Dent Governor of Mississippi. He says that the same issues are not made in his State which were made in Virginia; that there are but two parties, Democratic and Republican, loyal and disloyal.

General Reynolds can well assume the same position towards Hamilton.

GRATEFUL.—An epitaph is a rural graveyard reads thus: "Here lies Bernard Lightfoot, who was accidentally killed in his forty fifth year of his age. This monument was erected by his grateful family."

INTERESTING TO PLANTERS. H. J. Baker & Bro., Castor Oil Manufacturers, 215 Pearl street, New York, furnish us with the following information in regard to the usefulness of the Palm Christi, or Castor Bean Plant, besides the oil properties of the bean. It is said to be a preventive against the destruction of the cotton plant by the army or cotton worm, by planting it as a fence around the field in which cotton is planted. The fibre of the castor bean plant is also said to be good for making paper and the leaves good for the silk worm to feed on.

We are also informed that the leaves are a panacea for rheumatism, and for promoting lactation by a local application. H. J. Baker & Bro., have published a pamphlet on the cultivation of the castor bean, which they furnish gratis to those who apply, as to Box 2434, New York Post Office, or 215 Pearl Street, New York. 31-7-69131.

AUCTION.—Fish & Hammerstein have another splendid offering to make on the 3rd of August. Read their advertisement.

CITY PROPERTY AT AUCTION.—We call attention to the valuable property to be sold on the 3rd of August, at administrator's sale, situated on Soledad and Rivas streets.

AUCTION TO-DAY.—We call attention to the auction sale to-day at the house of Sampson, Sawyer & Torrey. See the advertisement in another column. The articles are good and of great variety.

TOO SHORT.—The ingenious editor of the Herald has discovered that the new iron foot bridge is "too short." He should have explained the cause—"too short from shrinkage, by exposure to the sun," then everybody would have believed him.

CAMP MEETING.—A camp-meeting of the Methodist Episcopal church will commence on Friday August 5th. The camp ground will be near Mrs. Durbin's place on the Colorado. All are invited, as well as preachers of other denominations uninvited to take part. Rev. Larkin Cooper, presiding elder, Rev. Alfred Jones, local preacher.

TOM'S.—Mr. Tobin found his business so much on the increase, that he determined not to abandon the Plaza House, and has fitted it up in extra style, and continues his Restaurant and Hotel as usual. He has also opened a new Restaurant in Stumberg's new building, on Alamo square. We are glad to note the prosperity of a deserving gentleman.

THE CONCERT.—The first concert of the opera troupe of Senor Partido was given on Thursday night at Muench Hall. The selections were mostly from "Il Trovatore," and were received with general satisfaction and applause, especially the Terzetto. The performance on the crystals was indeed astonishing, and as such performance is entirely new in San Antonio, we predict it will prove a great attraction. On account of the short notice given the public the audience was not large, but we predict this company will win favor with the public and secure good houses.

NOTICE.—On Tuesday, the 3rd day of August, 1893, will be sold in front of the Court-house door of Bexar county, two valuable city lots, near the corner of Soledad and Rivas streets, one 25 by 98 feet, fronting on Soledad street, the other 25 by 100 feet, fronting on Rivas street; the property of Emily and Wallace Mitchell, Minors. For full description see advertisement on Court house door.

THOMAS WHITEHEAD, (Child of E. and W. Mitchell. 21-7-93434.

THE IRON BRIDGE AND HOW IT BECAME TOO SHORT.—At a private party of gentlemen the assertion was made that the Herald would pick up any rumor having a tendency to injure the city administration that might be set afloat. To test this assertion it was proposed to start the rumor that the iron bridge was two feet too short. This occurred on Wednesday; the rumor circulated around town on Thursday, and sure enough, Friday's Herald had it, and swore that such is the case. The bait caught, but a poor fish it is that bit.

THE MILK AT LAST.—The steady blower of the Herald, MacAnderson, over the signature of 'Republican' has reached his last ditch—and the milk in the cocoa nut is perfectly accounted for in his attack upon the city administration in the matter of the law suits. They should have employed 'Republicans,' then all would have been lovely. We believe the administration gave him a fair trial, and although the fee was a moderate one, $500, yet they found it very expensive. This challenge to 'Republican' came at a time when he most needed it, and when the city had very little need of two city attorneys, but as neither of the candidates for the position of character are known to 'Republican,' he now suspects and starts at noon he knows to be free from the charges he trumped up against them. Although a very poor lawyer, he knows well that the city has pursued the very course to settle the railroad claims which threaten to swamp it in irretrievable ruin. He also knows that the present administration has not carried out the work begun by the previous administrations. He knows well that the arrangement made by the administration and Paschal. But because the administration did not see fit to pay the most important law matters to a local jack-leg lawyer, why, forsooth, it did a very naughty thing in his eyes. We imagine the community at large, who are interested, and out of whose pockets this immense claim of the railroad bonds and interest is being paid, will have to be paid, if the city is not successful before the courts, will thank the administration for its action. Had the administration sought to gain local popularity of course it would have taken 'Republican' into its confidence.

Pled and Pluck.

Henry Ward Beecher spoke the other day at commencement exercises of a business college in New York. We quote a passage on pled and pluck:

I do not believe a business man who says that he has asked for employment and cannot get it. I know many out of employment, but they are drowsy; they are not business men of the world. A business man may lack a good many things, but he will get on if he has pluck. [Applause] There is no business man who has not got pluck, and it is the business of Mr. Packard to teach you all pluck in life as the first incentive to business; and I hope that he teaches you another word, which is the greatest business word in the world—I name it in its homeliness, and it is an old Saxon word—it is called pluck. [Great applause] "Oh," says somebody, "he is only a plodder." Only a plodder! Ah! there never was a man—the most brilliant genius in the world, who did not owe much to this process of being a plodder. [Applause] It is very well for genius to consecrate and light the path of life, but it must be pluck and pluck that carries a man over the path of life. I would have had these words inscribed over the life, the pluck of life. [Great applause.]

At the late Commencement of Williams College, William Collier Bryant was called up at the annual dinner after the President of the institution had spoken. After a few words by way of preface, he proceeded:

It has occurred to me, since I, in the decline of life, come to visit once more this seat of learning in which our youth are trained to succeed us on the stage of the world, that I am in the situation of one who, standing on a spot desolate with winter and dim with twilight, should be permitted by a sort of miracle to look upon a neighboring region glorious with the bloom of spring and bright with the beams of morning. On the side where I stand are herbless fields and leafless woods, pools sheeted with ice, a frozen soil and the shadows of approaching night. On the side to which I look are emerald meadows, fields of spring wheat, orchards in bloom, transparent streams, and a genial sunshine. With me, it is too late for any further hopeful tillage, and if the plough were put in to the ground, its coulters would be obstructed by the ice-bound sods. On the side to which I look I see the tokens of judicious cultivation and careful husbandry, reaped by a free and promising growth. I rejoice at the kindly care thus bestowed, and my hope and prayer is that under such auspices all the promise which meets my eyes may be amply fulfilled, and that from these luxuriant fields a harvest may be gathered richer and more abundant than has ever yet been stored in the granaries of our land.

Musical Digest — Since Mr. Waters gave up publishing sheet music, he has devoted his whole capital and attention to the manufacture and sale of Pianos and Melodians.
He has just issued a catalogue of his new instruments, giving a new scale of prices, which shows a marked reduction from former rates, and his Pianos have recently been awarded the First Premium at several Fairs.
Many people of the present day, who are attracted, if not confused, with the flaming advertisements of rival piano houses, probably overlook the modest manufacturer like Mr. Waters; but we happen to know that his instruments earned him a good reputation long before Expositions and "honors" connected therewith were even thought of;
indeed, we have one of Mr. Waters' Piano-fortes now in our residence (where it has stood for years), of which any manufacturer in the world might well be proud. We have always been delighted with it as a street tone and powerful instrument, and there is no doubt of its durability; more than this,
some of the best amateur players in the city, as well as several celebrated pianists, have performed on the same piano, and all processed its superior and first class instrument.
Strong endorsement we could not give.
