TO-DAY, the 5th, the exciting contest in Tennessee comes to a close.

ON the 3rd, Alabama had an election for members of the Legislature.

The Chinese Question.

The Chinese labor question has run through the entire press of the country, and from the full discussion given it, we are able to gather some important features. Ever since the downfall of slavery, the Southern slave owners have been hankering after some kind of a substitute for their lost slave labor, and the idea of introducing Coolies was agitated at an early day; but the completion of the Pacific railroad has given a new impetus to this question, and the "Labor Convention" held in Memphis on the 13th of July, last, has set the whole country to thinking and writing about it.

We find the plan of introducing Chinese or Japanese laborers, or Coolies into the South, is advocated and advised by the rebel papers and warmly espoused by leading rebel leaders. While Union papers and Republicans generally oppose the introduction of this species of labor on the Coolie plan.

At the Memphis meeting, the "Mississippi Valley Immigration Labor Company" was organized. The following extract gives something of the working of the proposed organization:

"When the company is thus organized it shall have, by its Board of Directors, the power to call in the stock subscribed, provided it shall not call in more at one time than ten per cent; provided, also, that it shall not call off more than once in each thirty days. All stock not paid in when called for shall be forfeited to the company. The Board of Directors shall adopt all necessary means and measures to further the objects of the organization, which is to bring into the country as many immigrant laborers as possible, in the shortest time.

In supplying planters with laborers, the president and directors shall give a preference to stockholders over those who are not; and in supplying stockholders with laborers, all other matters being equal, a preference shall be given to those who first apply for them to the board of directors by written application filed with the secretary of the company. But inasmuch as the successful working of the organization will require the active use of its capital, cash, and be required in all cases from those with whom laborers are placed.

Prominent in this convention was Gen. Pillow, and a letter was read from Gen. N. B. Forrest, subscribing $5,000 in behalf of the Selma railroad, who thought he could procure subscriptions along the road to the amount of $200,000. Rebel Comodore M. F. Maury, also sent a letter, in which he says: "Chinese labor is more intelligent than negro labor, and I consider the introduction of it, under proper regulations, would be highly beneficial to the South. * * * From the first that arrive I should like to have a cook and two house servants."

The speeches and resolutions made at this convention were highly complimentary of slavery and very malignant towards the negro.

There can be no doubt of the spirit and intention of this labor movement began at Memphis; it is simply to introduce a species of slave labor to displace the negro from the plantation and from every branch of labor in which he is now engaged. Mr. Boutwell fitly characterizes it "a new modification of the slave trade." The Chinese or Japanese would be very undesirable immigrants under any circumstances, but when it is proposed to import them in order to displace a portion of our working population, we consider it a fit subject for national interference. It is not proposed to open new lands, to increase the production of the South, but simply to supply our land lords with a species of slave labor, in order to enable them to perpetuate their feudal system.

So far as the colored people are concerned, if this ungrateful and unjust movement were carried out to the extent possible, (and we firmly believe that the Memphis movement is only the feeler to the inauguration of a universal conspiracy against all free labor in the South,) it would end in their good as it would force them to find and procure lands of their own, and be the means of making them independent of these slave lords. But we believe the question will meet a speedier solution. The spirit of the age, as well as the spirit of our government, is inimical to the introduction of slavery in any shape, into this country, and the next Congress will no doubt take the matter into consideration.

The kind of labor we want is free labor; the kind of immigration we need, is intelligent, liberty-loving Europeans, and it will be time enough when the stream from the fatherland becomes dry, to seek the Orient. Better let our waste lands remain as a reserve for the increase of our own people, than to lay them open to the inundation of the Chinese. China has 350 millions of people. She can spare a hundred million and feel much relieved. Senator Cole, of California tries to soothe our alarm by suggesting that Mexico is destined to be overrun by the Chinese, and that Mexico is our safety-valve. We guess Mexico will hardly allow John Chinaman to take possession so easily as the Senator imagines.

This question interests not only the colored man, but the white man. The Chinaman does not come here, but he is to be transported here at so much a head; he comes to take the place of some other laborers, not to make a place of his own.

We append the following protest against the further importation of Chinese into California, published by the Anti-Coolie Association, which is of special interest:

"There are about 110,000 Chinese in California, 100,000 of whom are in a state of penance or slavery, and are rented out by the Companies owning them to the various parties by whom they are employed, in gangs of from 50 to 5,000, as they may be required—their wages being paid to the agent of the Company, who is responsible for the performance of their labor, and for the return of the slaves, dead or alive, in the Celestial Empire. The bulk of the female portion of them are scattered through our towns and cities for the purpose of prostitution, demoralizing our youth and laying the foundation of future disease and sorrow to an unlimited extent. The importation of these heathen slaves has already led to scenes of conflict on our wharves, between the rival Companies owning them, and threatens to assume gigantic proportions. The employment of these slaves displaces a like portion of white labor, and more particularly of the rising generation. There are in San Francisco about 18,000 to 20,000 boys and girls, of from 10 to 20 years of age, the majority of whom are brought up in idleness, as slaves, or employed out from their parents, and are preparing for the future in such a manner that they will be ready to enter the mills, factories, stores, workshops, &c., that is elsewhere done by apprentices, is here done by Chinese slaves. The consequence is that our boys are preparing for the State Prison, and a vast number of girls must, alas! ultimately sink to the lowest depths of degradation. By the general employment of this slave labor in every branch of industry, immigration of deserving white people from the East and Europe is retarded, and will ultimately cease, while many now here must leave. We may instance the cigar-makers, 500 of whom, with their families, who were earning good wages, and investing and spending them here to the advantage of the country, were compelled two years ago to retire before Chinese labor and leave the State. In this connection, it is a noticeable fact that the introduction of cheap labor has not cheapened the price of a blanket, a cigar, or any other article of home manufacture; one single cent to the consumer. The employment of Chinese on the Central Pacific Railroad may have expedited its completion a few months, but we contend that the injury done our State can never be balanced by the gain in time. Had white labor been employed, hundreds of acres would even now have been reclaimed from the waste and become the homestead of happy families, which would have purchased the land and increased the revenue of the Railroad Company, and also of the entire State, while the money paid to Chinese labor has been drained out of the country for export to Asia, and on the retirement of the Chinese slaves from their field of labor not a vestige of improvement will remain—yet even a lone of them will be left in the soil. For twelve months an epidemic has been raging in our midst, which for a long time baffled the skill of our medical men and the sanitary regulations of our city; and this small-pox, or black plague, is generally attributed to the Chinese. From the density of their population, and their peculiar mode of living, they are subject to many diseases almost unknown among the Caucasian race, to which we are rendered peculiarly liable by the introduction of Chinese into our hotels, restaurants, and private dwellings as cooks, washers, and domestic servants. It has been objected to our Association that it is an Irish crusade against cheap labor; but, on the contrary, we embody in our own ranks all classes, creeds, and political parties, imbued not with hostility to the Chinese as a race, but fully believing that all the vast resources of California can be fully developed, and her railroads, canals, and other public works can be as well and profitably completed by free white labor as they have been in the Eastern States, and that the future greatness of California depends more upon the general prosperity of her industrial classes than upon the vast accumulations of a few capitalists.

By order of the Central State Council of the Anti-Coolie Association of the Pacific Coast. F. R. J. DIXON, Sec'y.

Election in Kentucky.

The election for State Treasury and Legislature took place in Kentucky on the 2nd inst. The telegrams of yesterday, Wednesday, are certainly incorrectly worded; it should be Democratic by 50,000 majority, instead of Republican. We know the Republican party has been steadily gaining in Kentucky, but we can't believe the immense rebel majority has been overcome in that State. The 15th amendment will give us Kentucky as it will enfranchise the colored men of that State, 30,000 of whom fought in the Union armies. These men are now disfranchised, while the rebel soldiers vote.

INTERESTING TO PLANTERS.

H. J. Baker & Bro., Castor Oil Manufacturers, 215 Pearl Street, New York, furnish us with the following information in regard to the usefulness of the Palm-Oilnut, or Castor Bean Plant, besides the oil properties of the bean.

It is said to be a preventive against the destruction of the cotton plant by the army of cotton worms, by planting it as a fence around the field in which cotton is planted.

The fibre of the castor-bean plant is also said to be good for making paper and the leaves good for the silk worm to feed on.

We are also informed that the leaves are a panacea for rheumatism, and for promoting lactation by a local application.

H. J. Baker & Bro. have published a pamphlet on the cultivation of the castor bean, which they furnish gratis to those who address us at Box 2434, New York Post Office, or 215 Pearl Street, New York. 31-7 d1f

The Latest Market Report.
HONOR—Scarce. Old stock exhausted and the new still in the mire.
Virtue—Old growth nearly consumed; young growth, prospect very promising.
Honesty—None in the market.
Patriotism—First quality scarce and none to be disposed of. Second quality easily bought on speculation at 100 per cent. discount.
Prudence—All in the hands of old stockholders, and held close.
Modesty—Stock badly managed. None for sale to street speculators.
Vices—Market overstocked.
Pride—Market glutted.
Polltiveness—Cheap. Holders unwilling to dispose of any at the present rates.
Scandal—None at wholesale. Dealt in chiefly by peddlers at retail.
Religion—Very little of the general public on hand. Stock nearly all unimpaired.
Money—None on hand, except greenbacks.

In the Wrong Box.
A few days since a young couple, just married at Waturbury, Ga., got on board a train on the Naugatuck road, bound for Bridgeport. They had a sweet time, billing and cooing in proper style, until the train reached the junction. While waiting there the groom took a stroll on the platform, and the bride also improved the time to walk to the forward end of the car. As the train started she returned, and seeing her husband, as she supposed, seated comfortably, she popped into the same seat, and lovingly rested her head on his shoulder, while the cars passed through the covered bridge. Unfortunately she had mistaken her man, and, as the cars emerged from the bridge a trembling voice whispered in her ear that he didn't quite know her.
The young lady, who had been blushing youth, while her liege lord was standing in the aisle, with a look of blank astonishment on his face, not knowing what to make of such conduct as these. The error was corrected at once, but the fun was too much for the other occupants of the car, and every sleeve contained an enormous, though quiet, laugh.

Until mentioned in connection with the French Atlantic cable, there was probably few who remembered that France retains possession of three little islands on the Southern coast of Newfoundland. The easternmost of these is St. Pierre, or, in the English form in which it usually appears on our maps, St. Peter's, where the Western is to land. The other two islands of this little French group, situated near the entrances of Fortune Bay, are Miquelon and Langley, or Little Miquelon. The three islands contain an area of eighty-one square miles, and a stationary population of 2220. They are fishing stations, and France is supplied with an abundance of fish from this quarter. Four hundred vessels and twelve thousand men (non-residents) are said to be engaged in these fisheries. This little foothold in, we believe, all the former territories of her former territorial possessions on the North American continent.
