Nothing within its reach; many of the most powerful forces of nature are made subservient to its laws: the influence that has chained the lightning, rendering it the servile conductor of the behests of man, may yet be able to conquer the deadly climatic influences which render some of the fairest portions of the globe the graves instead of the cheerful habitations of man. It may be that the great secret of preserving the health, and perhaps even that of prolonging human life, are intimately and indissolubly connected with the knowledge of knowing how to detect and destroy the seeds of disease and death found in the water we drink. This is a subject worthy of serious inquiry, and of great interest to all; for disease, with its sad train of grief, mourning and weal, reveals as unrestrained and unchecked, on the shores of the Hudson as on those of the Rio Chagres.

EPISCOPAL SISTERHOODS. Sisterhoods of charity seem to be an object of attention in the Episcopal Church at this moment. There has been recently instituted a society which has adopted the name, "Evangelical Protestant Deaconesses." The object of these ladies is to visit the poor and nurse the sick. They wear white caps and aprons, with dark colored dresses and bonnets. This is not unlike the costume of the Sisters of Charity. They will, in addition to taking charge of hospitals, visit private patients on condition that they are addressed as sisters and have their expenses paid. They seek no personal remuneration. The conditions of sisterhood imply celibacy. Postulants must be between the ages of 17 and 35. They are supported from a common fund, but are permitted to have a private purse.

"Unstable as water, thou shalt not succeed," is the language of the Good Book. Whoever expects to succeed in any undertaking, must enter into it with a hearty and earnest will do his very best. When a trade or profession is chosen, obstacles, be they large or small, must not be allowed to stand in the way of mastering that trade or profession. However much we may deprecate the old time custom of indenturing apprentices, the system in its practical results operated always for the lasting good of the apprentice. Generally, it insured to him a good trade and a wholesome discipline that fitted him for success in business. At the present time, very many young men undertake to acquire a trade, and after a brief trial abandon it, because there are unpleasant duties to be performed, and obstacles to be overcome. They consider themselves accountable to no one, and go and come at the bidding of caprice, or an unsettled, uneasy mind. The result of this is to send out into the world young men who have not half learned their trades, of unstable character, who drift from post to pillar and who succeed in nothing but strewing along the highways of life melancholy wrecks of men. We would earnestly entreat every young man, after he has chosen his vocation, to stick to it; don't leave it because hard blows are to be struck or disagreeable work performed. The men who have worked their way up to the wealth and usefulness do not belong to the shiftless and unstable class, but may be reckoned among those who took off their coats, rolled up their sleeves, conquered their prejudices against labor, and manfully bore the heat and burden of the day. Whether upon the old worn-out farm, where our fathers toiled, diligently striving to bring back the soil to productivity, in the machine-shop or factory, or the thousand other business places that invite honest toil and skill, let the motto ever be, perseverance and industry. The baby training of the nursery was good in its place, but it won't answer all the demands of an active life. This is not a baby world. We must expect to be jostled and knocked about in the stern conflict, and get run over, if we are not on the lookout and prepared to meet the duties of life with a purpose not to shirk them, but to fulfil them. A young man with a good trade or honorable profession, as he goes forth into the world with his mind made up to stick to his trade or profession, is not obliged to ask for many favors. He will hew his way to success, while the unstable and shiftless will grow tired, despair, and fail.—Kennebec Journal.

Cholera—Its Causes—Remedies
The following important paper upon the causes and treatment of cholera has been forwarded to the Board of Health of New York by J. W. Carle, of Aspinwall.

ASPINWALL, June 19, 1869.
Metropolitan Board of Health New York:
In the summer of 1866 I transmitted to your board the following communication:
47 and 49 Liberty Street,
New York, August, 1866.
Metropolitan Board of Health:

To-day's papers contain the remedy you recommend for the cure of Asiatic cholera. During the prevalence of that disease in the West Indies, in the years 1809-51, the same remedy was successfully applied in several cases of cholera which came under my personal observation. However, there is still needed something more—a preventive—in order to enable the people to combat successfully that terrible disease.

Therefore, with this view, allow me to call your attention to the following: Five to ten drops spirits camphor, mixed in water, and taken morning and night, will be found to be an invincible preventive. This I tested, with others, and, although the disease carried off a large number of the inhabitants of the island where we resided, all who made use of the above preventive were not even troubled with the preliminary symptoms of the disease.

J. W. CARLE.

Your board endorsed the suggestions contained in the above communication and gave it to the press of the country for general publication. It is a well known fact that the ravage of the cholera in its late visit to northern parts of our continent was harmless, when contrasted with the former periods of its terrible visitations; and to whatever cause this fact may be assigned, be it to the use of effective remedies or to that of judiciously selected preventives, it is nevertheless consoling to know that the Asiatic cholera, that once formidable scourge of mankind, is now divested of its terrors.

A close examination of the water of the various localities the writer has visited revealed the fact that it contained more or less animalcules, imperceptible to the naked eye. In countries where epidemic diseases of a dangerous type exist the animalcules appear more numerous, larger, and apparently of a fiercer nature. When ever an epidemic disease, such as cholera, sweeps over the place, the local animalcule appear to be reinforced by others of different appearance that appear and disappear with the disease; and to water a few drops of spirits of camphor seems to benumb and render them harmless.

The object of the present communication is to call the attention of the board to other facts elicited by recent experiment. The boiling of the water found in the most unhealthy localities, using it afterwards with or without ice, divests it of all injurious properties, renders it perfectly healthy, and very often imparts to it medicinal properties. The epidemic diseases prevailing on this coast are various and numerous. When formerly a resident of this place the writer was continually troubled with fevers and diarrhoea; it is now nine months since his return, during the whole of which time he has used no other but water well boiled, and has enjoyed the best of health. Others residing here have adopted the same beverage; they all find themselves in the enjoyment of the best health, although previously they were continually ill. The writer has gained fifteen pounds in weight since his departure from New York, fifteen months ago.

These are facts, and every fact possesses its philosophy. It seems to be the destiny of the human mind to control nearly eve-

The Trial of the Jefferson Conspirators.
The Jefferson Radical in commenting upon the trial of the assassins of Capt. G. W. Smith says:
The Commandant of this Post, Gen. Buell has manifested an almost unparalleled positiveness and vigilance in the discharge of his duties in ferreting out and arresting these conspirators. No man can imagine the immense pressure that has been brought to bear upon him from every quarter by the friends of the prisoners. A few examples will illustrate this. For some time Judge H. P. Mabry was one of the counsel prisoners, and was a frequent visitor at the headquarters in their behalf, of course professing in the meantime to be an earnest friend of law and order. Maj. J. H. Pratt, another very distinguished citizen, made the same professions. Prominent Union men were making efforts to secure the removal of Judge Mabry's political disabilities, so great was their faith in his protestations. They were equally deceived in Pratt, whom Judge C. Caldwell regarded as a man of truth and honor. On the night succeeding the murder of Smith, Pratt entertained Judge Caldwell in his private room with the greatest apparent sincerity.

When it was first rumored that one of the prisoners had turned State's evidence, Pratt and Mabry fled to parts unknown just in the time to escape arrest. And the trial of the Jefferson prisoners has developed nothing more deeply damning than the evidence against those two men. Dr. Frith testifies that the crowd waited for Judge Mabry's arrival before moving on to the jail, and it also appears in evidence that Pratt sought the life of Caldwell with determined persistence.

While so many powerful influences are being exerted in behalf of the prisoners, no man with less than the iron will of Gen. Buell, can pave the way for the administration of justice. It is to be hoped that the Commission will exhibit a similar determination. "Fiat justitia, ruat cælum."

E. Degener for Congress.

In another place will be found the announcement of Hon. Edward Degener as a candidate for Congress from this District. Mr. Degener's announcement is set forth in the true spirit; as his object is the success of the Republican party, he desires it understood, that he will submit to the action of a District Convention of the Republican party.

Mr. Degener is the only candidate so far, who has announced himself as a Republican and we hope his appeal to other aspirants will not be in vain.

It is almost unnecessary for us to speak of Mr. Degener, he is so well known in Western Texas. An original unionist he became prominent in the politics of the State immediately upon the occupation of the federal troops. He was elected to the first convention held in the State and along with Gen. Davis made a splendid record upon the franchise question. He was elected from this District to the late Reconstruction convention and bore a prominent part in its history. He opposed all the nefarious legislation of the convention and was ever found upon the side of right justice and honesty.

Mr. Degener possesses fine legislative ability and is thoroughly identified with the interests of Western Texas. We await the decision in regard to the holding of a District convention. At present Mr. Degener has our preference in point of local interest, but we shall abide the decision of a convention.

Proceedings of the 3d Congressional District Republican Convention—Gen. Clark the nominee.

The Congressional Convention for the 3rd District met in Bryan on the 3rd inst. and nominated General W. T. Clark as the Republican candidate for Congress in that District.

Sixteen out of the twenty-two counties were represented on the floor; no proxies were admitted. It was a very harmonious meeting and the 3rd District may be put down as safe for the Republican party.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That as Republicans of the 3rd Congressional District of Texas, in convention assembled, we do most heartily endorse the platform of the late Republican State Convention, which assembled at Houston the 17th of June last.

Resolved, That we acknowledge the living infallible truth, that every man is entitled to the right of suffrage, and we pledge our very effort to accomplish that desired end.

Resolved, That we look with disfavor upon efforts of persons, claiming to be Republicans, to destroy and disintegrate the party; and that we here pronounce the principle, that every man who is not with us in active efforts, is against us.

Resolved further, That we pledge our united support to the nominee of this Convention.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Texas Mails—Cold comfort for Pense, Paschal & Jack Hamilton.—What Grant says about the Texas election—Complicated state of affairs in Virginia, &c.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 30, 1869.

ARRIVAL OF MAILS.
After a suspension of all news from Texas, excepting scant telegrams concerning the terrible floods which have destroyed so much, we were yesterday favored with about three week's mail in a lump. Much dissatisfaction has been felt on account of the scanty news furnished us in regard to the deluge, but now probably we shall begin to hear something about the true condition of the deluged districts. All parties feel that Texas has sustained a very heavy loss that bears particularly hard upon her just now.

POLITICAL.

The President has been for some time domiciled at Long Branch, occasionally running down here for a day or two to clear up business and then returning. Of course he is by no means free from official cares and officious bores while at the seashore. Some delegation or other is perpetually after him. Virginians of the Walker stripe, are getting very anxious about certain complications in their State. They have elected Walker, and now begin to feel like the man who drew the elephant. Walker does not purpose going back on his record as a soldier, and considers that as he wanted Governorship while the Virginians wanted a Governor, that both parties having achieved their objects are independent of each other, and are at liberty to do and go where they please—be to the gubernatorial chair, and the party that elected him to their ultimate destination, and now comes the rub. They have elected a Governor who is eligible and will be installed.—A northern man with northern ideas, but they swallowed him because they hoped to gain otherwise. They have elected a Legislature that cannot take the test oath, and there is very strong reason to say that it will be required of them, notwithstanding the evident intention of Gen. Canby to let everything go as it may.—Congress learned a bitter lesson in allowing the Georgia legislature to assemble without requiring the test oath of members, and have since seen the bitter fruit of this great blunder. Gen. Grant who gave the order to Meade to let the legislature assemble without requiring the test oath, has seen his mistake. This time we have not only harmony between the Executive and Congress, but we have this terrible warning of Georgia and her condition today to guide us in our action upon the admission of Virginia, Mississippi and Texas. They must come up with clean hands or do their work over again. I have strong grounds for saying that those who represent the ideas of the Republican party of Congress upon Reconstruction matters will insist upon thorough reconstruction, and will not allow the degenerate and bad men who carried on the war to control the destinies of the unrepresented States. They say, "if Virginia or Mississippi or Texas choose to elect demagogues for Governors or Congress, well and good; so long as they can take the oath let them come on—it is their loss, not ours. We cannot stop them and we are not responsible if they get cheated, as they surely will. But when it comes to their scheme of smuggling in with eligible knaves, infamous traitors, we put our foot down squarely against it; it won't do, it shall not succeed."

At Long Branch the other day the President stated to a delegation, in the most emphatic terms, that a fair election should be held in Mississippi and Texas; and that if the military commanders by any act of omission or commission failed to make all and necessary preparation for such fair election, that they should be promptly removed. This is cold comfort to Jack Hamilton, Pense, Paschal and Co., who have been moving heaven and earth to get a little executive help and patronage and retain what they have already secured under false pretenses. The President, Secretary Boutwell and Postmaster General Creswell at all events, if not the rest of the cabinet, are beginning to understand thoroughly the character of the Jack Hamilton movement, and see in the rear of Jack, who affects to wear the blue and fly Republican colors, a very suspicious looking crowd of gentlemen in gray uniforms. It won't do my Confederate friends. Whenever you honestly and loyally elect an honest and loyal man we shall be glad to welcome him and you back. But while you wear the gray-back uniform we cannot unlock the gate of the Citadel because you are led by a rascally demagogue like Jack Hamilton, whose only earthly qualification is that he can take the test oath.—"Somersault Jack" is too well known here—and he ought to be in Texas too—to give standing to any suspicious movement.

STAND FIRM UNDER.
There is good reason for saying that a certain Postmaster who runs a Jack Hamilton newspaper, will soon experience the full sensation of decapitation. He will be accompanied in his misery by a certain Assessor of Internal Revenue. The official axe is being sharpened up for a thorough clearing out of all Hamilton brushwood in Texas. M.

Republican Mass Meeting in Burleson County.

At a Republican mass meeting held at Calvert, in Burleson county, on the 31st day of July, 1869, Hon. J. E. Boatner was called to the Chair, and Dr. S. M. Haslea was chosen Secretary.

After a short address by P. W. Hall, explaining the object of the meeting, in connection with the meeting of the Republican Congressional Convention, to be held at Bryan, Texas, on Tuesday, the 3rd day of August, 1869.

On motion, P. W. Hall, S. M. Haslea, B. Thornton, Hardy Gray and Rev. Christ Young were appointed a committee to draft resolutions expressing the sense of the meeting.

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the platform adopted by the Republican State Convention held in the city of Houston, Texas, on the 7th day of June, 1869, and pledge ourselves to support the nominees of the same, and will endeavor to the utmost extent of our abilities to secure their election.

And that the commanding officer of this military post, 1st Lieut. John B. Guthrie, deserves the thanks and approval of all law abiding citizens for the fearless and impartial manner in which he has discharged his duties, and for his efforts in behalf of peace, law and order.

J. R. BOATNER, Chairman.
S. M. HASLEA, Secretary.

SAN ANTONIO, August 10, 1869.

Editor San Antonio Express:

I herewith authorize you to publish my name as a candidate for Congress. The success of the Republican party being the paramount object I have in view, I wish it distinctly understood, that I consider myself candidly subject to the decision of a full Congressional Convention of the Republican party, and sincerely trust that other Republican candidates, who may be willing to serve the people, will co-operate with me in securing such a convention in this district. E. DEGENER.

President Grant for Davis.

The Houston Union publishes the following dispatch from Washington:

WASHINGTON July 22, 1869.
J. G. Tracy: President Grant in his interview with the Mississippi Delegation to-day, expresses his preference for Gen. Davis for Governor of Texas.

W. A. SAYLOR.—We see by the Bryan News Letter, that Capt. Saylor is the Republican Candidate for the State Senate from the 17th District. A splendid young man, and a genuine Republican.

LONGLY of the Austin Republican thus describes the true status of the Hamilton party:

In Texas there is not more than a semblance of opposition to the Republican ticket. A few Democratic Bourbons of the rampant secession stripe, still remain to plague the State, and allied with them are a handful of men, formerly connected with the Republican party, who, ambitious to the last degree, and hopeless of legitimate preferment, desire a division in the loyal ranks.

STILL ANOTHER REPUBLICAN CHAMPION.—The Bryan News Letter comes out a Republican paper and flies the true colors. The Union says:

The Bryan News Letter has passed under the editorial control of Dr. W. H. Farner, an ex-Confederate, but sound and zealous Republican. His son, W. H. Farner, Jr., assumes the business management. Dr. Farner is an old editor, an able writer, and will bring the News Letter from out of the quagmires and bogs of old fogy Democracy into which it had sunk so deeply through the agency of its former proprietors, into the front ranks of the army of progress. Democratic papers are dying and those of liberal ideas springing from their ashes. So mote it be.

THE Lavaca Commercial spreads itself over the completion of the channel, which secures to Lavaca steamship navigation. The Commercial declares that all vessels that can come over the bar can discharge their freight at Lavaca instead of being compelled to pay tribute to Indianola. The people of Lavaca deserve great credit for their enterprise.

The New York World says that Butler winters in Washington, summers in Massachusetts, but where he will fall it does not profess to know. Would it not be well to pursue the subject further—and ascertain, if possible where he will spring?

INTERESTING TO PLANTERS.

H. J. Baker & Bro., Castor Oil Manufacturers, 214 Pearl street, New York, furnish us with the following information in regard to the usefulness of the Palma Christi, or Castor Bean Plant, besides the oil properties of the bean.
It is held to be a preventive against the destruction of the cotton plant by the army or cotton worm, by planting it as a fence around the field in which cotton is planted.
The fibre of the castor bean plant is also said to be good for making paper and the leaves good for the silk worm to feed on.
We are also informed that the leaves are a panacea for rheumatism, and for promoting lactation by a local application.
H. J. Baker & Bro. have published a pamphlet on the cultivation of the castor bean, which they furnish gratis to those who address them to Box 2434, New York Post Office, or 215 Pearl Street, New York. 51-7 dtf

How to Raise Sugar From Sorghum.

As many of our farmers have crops of sorghum it will be important to know how to make sugar from their cane. We copy from the report of the Secretary of the Iowa agricultural society for 1866 published in the reports of the Agricultural Department at Washington for 1867:

For SUGAR.—The party receiving the first premium gave the following as his mode of making it. Strip, cut, and work up the cane the same day, if possible. Take sorghum (Onoceras) when just fairly in bloom. In no case do I allow the seed to mature when I wish to make sugar; but for No. 1, strip I let the seed mature. For sugar, I boil the strip very heavy and rapidly; drain thoroughly and cool quickly. For the thick evaporation, I run it through a screen made as follows: A tin pipe six feet long, two inches in diameter, immersed in a box of cold water; at the receiving end is a funnel turned up at right angles with the main pipe. The strip, when passed through the pipe, is cool enough to run into a barrel, where I leave it to granulate; set the barrels on end, and remove the top head, and if possible, keep the room at about 70° to 80°. When sufficiently granulated, mix a little water with the mush sugar, and drain the mush with Hunt's centrifugal sugar drainer.

From the reports received from nearly every section of the State it appears that the "Chinese" first introduced into the State from the Patent Office, makes the best sugar when the seed is pure; and that any of the leading varieties, not corrupted by the hybridizing with brown corn, will do very well if grown in the northern counties, because it ripens early; that no chemicals are used; that ripe cane makes the best sugar; that no sugar is made worth mentioning; that the product per acre averages 100 gallons; that it sells at average of 50 cents per gallon; that high rolling prairie produces the best crops for making sugar; and that the sorghum is not grown to the same extent as in former years.

A RIGHT FIGHT is going on in New Orleans between Charles Morgan and the Chattanooga Railroad Company. First the Chattanooga Company bought a right-of-way for what privileges and ground back for a depot. Then Mr. Morgan bought a track between the two to cut off the Chattanooga Depot from the river front. Then Mr. Morgan, President of the Chattanooga Company, arranged to purchase the franchise of the Opelousas Road from Brashear to the Texas line. Just before the contract was entered into, Commodore M. took out an injunction for blocking the sale. The Times says: Mr. Morgan, in contriving the flank movement upon Mr. Morgan, has shown tactics worthy of Vanderbilt. The plot thickens. Oh, ye braves! The rivalry renders it certain that the railroad to the Texas line will soon be completed.

WATERS' PIANOS,
New Scale
The Waters' Pianos are known as among the very best.—N. Y. Evangelist.
We can speak of the merits of the Waters' Pianos from personal knowledge as being of the very best quality.—Christian Intelligencer.
The Waters' Pianos are built of the best and most thoroughly seasoned material. Advocate and Journal.
Our friends will find at Mr. Waters' store the very best assortment of Upright, Melodions and Organs to be found in the United States.—Graham's Magazine.
Musical Donor.—Since Mr. Waters gave up publishing sheet music, he has devoted his whole capital and attention to the manufacture and sale of Pianos and Melodions. He has just issued a catalogue of his new instruments, giving a new scale of prices, which shows a marked reduction from former rates, and his Pianos have recently been awarded the First Premium at several Fairs. Many people of the present day, who are attracted, if not confused, with the glowing advertisements of rival piano houses, probably overlook the modest manufacturer like Mr. Waters; but we happen to know that his instruments earned him a good reputation long before Expositions and "honors" bestowed thereon, were even thought of; indeed, we have one of Mr. Waters' Pianos in our residence (where it has stood for years), of which any manufacturer in the world might well be proud. We have always been delighted with it as a sweet toned and powerful instrument, and there is no doubt of its durability; more than this, some of the best amateur players in the city, as well as several celebrated pianists, have performed on the same piano, and all pronounce its superior and first class instrument. Stronger endorsement we could not give.—Home Journal. (feb 19 '87 d.f.)
