SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXPRESS.

WASHINGTON, January 20.
Revenue 590,000.
The friends of Virginia are very much down in the mouth today, in regard to early action.

A dispatch from Jackson announces the election of Revell, said to be a full blooded negro, elected for the short term, ending in 1871, Ames for the term ending in 1873
and Alcorn ending in 1875.

SENATE—Virginia was resumed. The following is Wilson's amendment, which was defeated without division:—That the Constitution of the State shall never be amended, as to deprive any citizen or class of citizens of the United States of the rights to vote or hold office, who are now entitled under said constitution, except in punishment of crimes, nor exclude from service as juror any person on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. The amendment was not agreed to.
Drake renewed the amendment previously offered by him admitting Virginia to representation in Congress on the following fundamental conditions:—That the State constitution shall never be changed to deprive any citizen or class of citizens of the right to vote, who are now entitled to vote, except in punishment of such crimes as are now felonies at common law, whereof they shall have been duly convicted under laws equally applicable to all inhabitants of said State, provided any alteration in the State constitution prospective
in its effect may be made in regard to time and place of residence of voters.

The argument on Drake's amendment was continued at great length, the Senators displaying much contradiction of historical knowledge regarding the terms and conditions, whereby Virginia alienated the
the northwestern territory.

The Senate adjourned at half past five with the understanding that a vote be taken at four to-morrow. The vote was about being taken at 4 o'clock, when Howard received a dispatch, probably seven hundred words, regarding the condition of affairs in Georgia, and Howard refused to name another day.

Morton said he had received several messages, containing the assertion, that large funds had been raised to defend persons against the charge of perjury.

FORT MONROE, January 20:
Four guns with officers to fire a salute
of a hundred guns on Virginia's admiral left here today.

BREMEN, Jan. 20.

ment yesterday. The House votes to-day.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 20.
A Bill was introduced in the Legislature
to confirm the charter of the Berwick Bay and Texas railroad, giving one million and a half dollars if the road is completed in 28 months.

A bill authorizing the State to subscribe for one thousand shares of stock in the Mississippi Valley Navigation Company.

A resolution inquiring whether members of the House have received bribes for votes.

Copperhead Rejoicings over Republican Differences.

Our worthy cotemporary, the organ of the Austin ring, is jubilant over the threatened split in the Republican party at Washington upon the admission of Virginia—that is, as jubilant as one can be expected to be after so sore a defeat as the creature experienced in the late contest.

"The administration," says the organ, "was unable to see, how the Hamilton wing of the party in Texas, could differ from the Davis wing, without going over to the rebels."

We object to the constant reference to the "two wings," when the party really had but one. If it be still insisted upon, we demand to be shown the wings as well as the tail.

The Republican thinks, "if Virginia gets into the Union at all, it will be by the joint votes of the liberal Republicans led by Grant, and the democrats against the radical Republicans. Test oaths, disfranchisements and additional legislation, of which we heard so much during the late gubernatorial canvass, are now demanded in the national Legislature."

The Republican places General Grant as well as its own friends in Congress, in a very envious attitude, the former leading the democrats, and the latter following them. This is precisely the order in which the "wing" to which the Republican belongs, marched in the late contest—that is, at the tail of the democracy.

After recounting the revolt of the Senators and Representatives at the idea of further legislation upon the subject of Reconstruction, and the threat of General Grant to veto any additional tests which may be sought, to be applied, the crimination and recrimination which is rife in the ranks of the party, the plight in which poor Boutwell, Crosswell and Clinin appear as whippers-in of the Radical Republicans, the organ, as though it had been jesting on these grave matters, remarks:

"Seriously speaking, we are glad these questions are before the national Government."

Of course. Who doubted it Major! Did anybody ever know any one make the experiment to betray and mislead his friends or his party, and fail in the attempt, who was not glad of any and every indication, which promised the final disruption and ruin of those who refused to be betrayed?

"No matter how much quarreling is done now, it will have a salutary effect upon the party and the country. It will teach the leaders of the party, that, unless differences of opinion can be tolerated on minor questions, &c."

Now, all this talk about the "toleration of differences of opinion on minor questions," is bosh. Does the Republican expect to bring the Republican party or the conservatives, or the outside world to the belief, that the letting into the Union with full power to vote and hold office the whole rank and file of Jefferson Davis army, whipped but yet only half conquered, is a matter of minor importance? If the Republican party does not want to give up its hold upon the territory and people south of the Potomac, then it had better look well to the admission of Virginia, Mississippi and Texas. The only way to hold what the party has achieved, in the past, is to keep the old rebel element under the ban, until after the liberties of the loyal people of the rebel States shall have been abundantly secured.

Miss Marshal, who has been lecturing in Memphis and other Southern cities, upon Woman's Rights, Tennessee, &c., was arrested in Brownsville, Tennessee, last week, and sent to jail, for being a "dead beat" generally.

[From our Sp'el Wash'ton Correspondent.] The Document of the Austin Ring to U. S. Senators—Its false assertions—Its effect and fate—Poetry for Haynes—A promised "contrast" by the Ring—What can be disproven and what can be proven—The "Ring's" epitaph written by themselves—They are a modest crowd, but absolutely dead—Good advice to them, if heeded—Read.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6th, 1869. Editor of the San Antonio Express:

The most unique and perhaps the most curious document or "protest" which has for many years appeared upon the arena of politics, at this centre of politics, is that recently come to light, dated, "Austin, Texas, November 29th, 1869"—two days before the election—and signed by the full "Ring," consisting of E. M. Pease, Esq., A. J. Hamilton, ("I") G. W. Paschal, James H. Bell, Colbert C. Caldwell (?) and the E. B. Turner! It is a splendid document, and is addressed "to the Republican Senators of the United States." It very coolly asks: "that any action upon the appointments which have been made in Texas, upon political grounds, may be deferred, until the whole subject can be duly considered, and although the above mentioned worthies, disclaim any intention of making "a factious issue with the administration," yet their acts belie their words. There is, however, something decidedly refreshing in the impudence of these men making such a request—men who have denounced the members of the President's Cabinet, from one end of Texas to the other, as mere "clerks, hirelings and oppressors." It is a huge joke, this document! The "constitutional advisers of the President," thought so, and knowing that "A. J." of Texas, had previously insulted the President by abusing his Cabinet ministers, and being posted as to the omens which prompted their being addressed "collectively," in such an elastic fashion as the document referred to, proceeded at once to exhibit their appreciation of the "Ring" and their document, by confirming all the President's appointments in Texas, made "upon political grounds," without a dissenting voice, after having duly considered, that the signers, E. M. Pease, Esq., & Co., were politically defunct. Such are the facts.

Had the signers to this spacious document confined themselves to truth, they might not have subjected themselves to such a decisive and signal rebuke from the Senate of the United States; but, the glaring and palpable fiction in said document worked its immediate condemnation, and caused the veracity of the six individuals, who were so self-sacrificing as to sign it, to be seriously questioned and doubted. No Republican here in Congress, or out of it, would believe them when they said: "and now we assert, without any fear of mistake, that Hamilton will be elected by a majority of 30,000." Who could believe this?

The Davis Texans in Washington soon got hold of this spacious document, and as is their usual way with anything having the names of "E. M. Pease, Esq., & Co.," attached, issued one or two facetious squibs about it, and killed a' effect it might have had, the first shot. Some postical Texan wag, in connection therewith, got off a pretty good joke upon poor old Haynes, thusly:

"When we want fiction told with pains we give the pen to-mexas old Haynes."

Being so apropos and truthful, it created a roar amongst the assembled Texans, and the fiction in that document is so pure and unalloyed, that the friends of the appointees had no trouble in establishing its unreliability, and in gaining evidence that the "antecedents" of the gentlemen whom the President had appointed to office upon political grounds, were far superior to those men whom the President had relieved from office, and in whose interest this fiction was penned.

During these dull holidays, and for amusement, it may do no harm to follow this document a little further, and let the "Austin Ring" see themselves as others see them. The "Ring" is bursted. It has come to grief, and somebody must be pail bearers, and although said ring never possessed many qualities over which any but a Bourbon could grieve, yet, we wish to see it decently interrped. Before this unparalated "Austin Ring" died, its own epitaph was written by the signers of that "protest," for they died saying "that neither States, sovereigns, church, parties nor men can afford to be unjust or ungrateful to their faithful friends." The "ring" was particularly unjust and ungrateful, and these qualities killed it.

There was, however, one admirable quality which remained with the Austinites until the last, and that was modesty! We, us, and our are prevailing expressions in that remarkably absurd document under consideration. "We have been party leaders," we inaugurated the Southern Loyalists convention; "we chose candidates," our State; "obligations to us," we write in behalf of 20,000 men, who remained true to the Union; are expressions freely indulged in to tickle their vanity, and to display their modesty! Any one knowing the peculiar traits of this "Ring," cannot help sympathizing with them in their modest, but deluded belief, that the State of Texas belongs to them "collectively."

Their modesty permits them to assert, in the document now before me, that in them is concentrated the "great body of organized Republicans"; but the 30th of November—two days after it was penned, and following days, proved that in, them—the ring—no modesty or no "great body of organized Republicans were concentrated."

They are now the defunct "Austin Ring" in which nothing but corruption is concentrated, and who, by their peridy and treachery, have been rebuked by the Senate of the United States and rejected and rebuked by the "great body of organized Republicans in Texas."

It would be entertaining to notice many other of the assertions E. M. Pease & Co., have, "without fear of successful contradiction," made in this modest, egotistical, document; but in the opinion of your correspondent, some degree of charity ought to be extended, and we consider they were in a leading mood, or inebriated, when they signed it, as it is so easy to disprove that the "Austin Ring" never did, or ever will own Texas; that the 4,000 Union soldiers of Texas, did not vote solidly for Hamilton; that the Davis men did not "secede from a regular organization of the Republican party"; that "let us have peace," does not mean a peace dictated by rebels, and that these words "never sank deep into the breasts of thousands who hitherto opposed the Congressional plan of reconstruction"; that the Administration did not consider the "Austin Ring," the "safer representatives of the Republican party," or that they were "responsible for the success of our Constitution," or the ratification of the 15th Amendment; that Gen. Davis never tried to defeat the Constitution; that without "any fear of mistake," Hamilton is not elected by 30,000 majority; that "every well informed friend of restoring Texas," did not vote for Hamilton; that said Hamilton is not the "only means of accomplishing the reconstruction of Texas"; that the fifty thousand colored voters of Texas, never will acknowledge their obligations to us,—"the Ring"; and finally, that the persons suspended, but now permanently removed from office, "upon political grounds," did not raise or officer regiments in the Union army, nor shed their blood in the Nation's cause, or give much of their "time, talents and money to the Republican party," although they may be amongst the most "cherished" of the "Austin Ring." These assertions can all be found in this Pease & Co.'s protest, and every one of them, together with many other unblushing ones, can easily be disproved. Did Haynes, the renowned ex-Collector of Galveston, raise and officer regiments in the Union army; did he ever bleed or even fight for the Nation's cause? It was never so recorded of him, but it is recorded, that during the war, he made one campaign, in an ambulance, and this was the total of his military bleeding or service! Raising regiments, service, or bleeding, was not his forte. Somebody raised for him the 9th regiment of Pádra Negras Mexican cavalry, which corps, however, never "properly" belonged to Texas, they being Aztecs or Mexicans. Longley, the removed Internal Revenue Assessor, the other valiant knight of the "Ring," who raised so many regiments, and bled so profusely for the Nation's cause, is recorded as having been the Captain of a fancy company known as the "Hamilton Body Guard," whose military exploits, are, to this day unknown.

Among the other persons removed from office "upon political grounds," not one can be found who "raised and officered regiments in the Union army, and few who left "home and family," to escape the impositions of the Confederacy. In fact, the entire "Austin Ring," have only two or three of such individuals with them, and they are demoralized.

In this document the ring threateningly announces, that "at the proper time we will show the contrast with some who have been appointed to supersede them." This is good. When this proper time arrives, we will show the hollowness of the pretensions of the ring of Austin, in presuming, that only in them is centered "antecedents," which entitles a citizen of Texas to Federal position. We can show that under the ratings of the national Republican party they are entitled to nothing. It can be shown from the list of delegates to the Southern Loyalist Philadelphia Convention of which this Ring boasts so much, that the men in that body from Texas, who have supported General Davis all through the campaign, were the men who supplied back-bone to the antiquated fossils of the ring there assembled. It is easily proven, that amongst their whole crowd, Haynes thrown in; they cannot name a single, solitary man, who, during the war, shed his blood in the nation's cause, or even did his duty as became a soldier and patriot, and it can be further proven, that after the war was over, to maintain themselves in office, the members of the Ring were remarkably slow in supporting the cause of the nation against a usurping and traitorous President. When the persons who signed this document come to "contrast" the respective merits between the suspended of the ring, and the Republicans appointed in their places, upon political grounds, they will find that the soldiers of which they boast—Haynes included—never was in a battle, never was seen on the skirmish line, never spilt any blood, and never gave time, talent and money to the Republican party since the close of the war. When we come to review this promised contrast, we shall conclusively prove, that the whole posse of the Austin Ring, all through the war, were either in soft places, in Confederate bomb-proofs, or making money out of their assumed loyalty to the North.

Take, for instance, the signers of this document referred to—all able bodied men. Where was Pease, Bell, Caldwell and Paschal during the war? In the confederacy, the whole time, tied all up and in complicity with rebellion. Where was A. J. Hamilton and E. B. Turner? Not raising or officering regiments in the Union army, although none too good to do so. Jack cried for money and position all over the North, and Turner hid his worthless carcass, in some secluded nook in Michigan. When the war ended, however, he valiantly came to Texas, loud in his professions of loyalty and entered into the Pardon Broker business under Andy Johnson, declaring, "he was in for nothing else, but to make money."

He made it in this nefarious traffic, and may this member of the Ring enjoy the fruits of his patriotism. With such a record upon them, we shall be delighted to see the "proper time" arrive, when the promised contrast appears. One opinion, however, we will venture upon in advance that these six members of the Ring, can never prove, they may assert, that any of their number, ever fought in the Union army. In conclusion, we desire to whisper a word in the ear of Messrs. Hamilton, Pease, Paschal & Co., and ask them to get good names attached to the promised contrast. They are played-out and about as much attention will be paid to their promised documents, as was paid to Andy Johnson's vote messages, and the sooner they recognize that they are politically dead, the sooner they will quit making fools of themselves. Ad'ns

The Election in Texas.

We give the following extract of a letter to General Dent, the President's private secretary, from General Reynolds, dated December 14, 1869:

"Our election is over, returns come in slowly on account of the imperfect mail facilities. But we have received enough to enable me to announce one of the most complete triumphs that has occurred in our country. The race between Davis and Hamilton is very close, but the Davis ticket for State officers is elected beyond all doubt.

"The Legislature will be Republican certain. The Republican Congressmen are probably all elected. The day before the election, Pease, Paschal, Hamilton, Bell and company stated in an appeal to the Republican Senators that Hamilton would be elected by thirty thousand majority. This appeal may not now be presented, but I have a copy. Texas will present a Republican front, and will strengthen the Lands of the administration."—Washington National Republican, Jan 6th 1870.

Members of the Ecumenical Council have their little difficulties. The Bishop of Sura, it is said, had a warm reception the instant of his arrival in Rome. As he was waiting, with two other bishops at the station for his carriage, the Bishop of Thun attacked him with a violence that threatened personal collision, denounced his audacity in intruding on the holy ground, and had to be forcibly withdrawn.

Two hundred and thirty two coolly apprentices, on board a French ship, destined for the West Indies, which started from Macao, in February last, out of three hundred, committed suicide by jumping overboard and by other means, before arriving at Havana. Such was the horror of these poor creatures of the Spanish taskmasters in Cuba, that they preferred death, and sought it in every possible available form.

Local Intelligence.

Miss VIOLETA GUERRERO, the shooting of whom, by Nat. Henry, we noticed the other day, it seems was not so seriously wounded as we were informed. The ball merely grazed her cheek, doing no serious damage. Henry was bound over to appear at the next term of the Criminal Court, in the sum of $200.

In the examination before his Honor the Mayor, the young lady exhibited great reluctance to attribute any intention to do her harm on the part of her lover. Love, no doubt, prompted her to forgive the strange method of courting adopted by her jealous lover.

HORSE THIEVES.—We learn that on the night of the 29th inst., two horses were stolen on the west side of the San Pedro, the property of Mr. Briggs. The time of the theft gives rise to the supposition that the thieves were the murderers of Mr. Richards, an account of which tragedy was given in our columns a few days since. As soon as informed of the facts Capt. Bonnett started in pursuit, but up to the time of going to press had not returned. It is believed that he has gained information which will lead to the capture of the villains. The Police are keeping a sharp look-out in the city, and every effort is being made to ferret out, and capture the murderers of Richards.

SHOP LIFTING.—Two women giving their names as Sarah and Trickey Grounds, walked into the store formerly occupied by Bloomberg & Frank, corner of Main street and the Main Plaza, Friday evening, and while the clerks were occupied in attending to other customers, secreted underneath their clothing some remnants of flannel and departed. Mr. Frank, one of the clerks, perceiving something unusual in their conduct, followed them some distance, and saw them retire behind a neighboring building, where they secreted the stolen goods underneath their dresses. He went to them and demanded the goods, when Sarah gave up her piece, protesting that it was all they had taken. Mr. Frank informed Capt. Kempton, who started in pursuit, and came in sight of them near the Commissary building, when discovering him, they commenced to run, and Trickey was seen to throw a piece of flannel over the fence, opposite the Catholic school.

Friday they were brought up before his Honor Judge Paschal, of the Criminal Court, and discharged on giving $100 bail each.

Facts for the Ladies.

My Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine has been in almost daily use, Sabbath excepted, for over ten years, doing the work, both coarse and fine, for a family which, for SEVEN YEARS, consisted of more than forty persons. During the whole ten years it has needed no repairs of any kind, and its condition is so good now that I would not exchange it for a new machine. So perfect is its running order that it has not required a second needle in over three years.

A NEW DISCOVERY!! PHALON'S "VITALIA;"

Salvation for the Hair. For Restoring to Gray Hair its Original Color

PHALON'S "VITALIA" differs utterly from all the "dyes," "colorers," and "restorers" (7) in use. It acts on a totally different principle. It is limpid, fragrant, and perfectly innocuous, precipitates no muddy or flacculent matter, requires no shaking up, and communicates no stain to the skin or the linen. No paper curtain is necessary to conceal its turbid appearance, for the simple reason that it is not turbid. It is, to all intents and purposes, a new discovery in Toilet Chemistry.

Phalon's "VITALIA" is warranted to effect a change in the color of the hair within 10 days after the first application, the direction being carefully observed.

IT IS AS CLEAR AS WATER! AND HAS NO SEDIMENT. Price, One Dollar, per Box, CONTAINING TWO BOTTLES.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS. If your Druggist has not "Vitalia" on hand, write, enclosing $1.00, and we will forward it immediately.

PLANTATION BITTERS This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Wherever it is introduced it becomes a standard article—a medicinal staple. It is to-day the best and purest tonic, and the most popular medicine in the civilized world—be sure and get the genuine. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and Country Stores.

Testimonials.
The Waters' Pianos are known as among the very best.—N. Y. Evangelist.
We can speak of the merits of the Waters' Pianos from personal knowledge as being of the very best quality.—Christian Intelligencer.
The Waters' Pianos are built of the best and most thoroughly seasoned material.—
Advocate and Journal.
Our friends will find at Mr. Waters' store
the very best assortment of Pianos, Melo-deons and Organs to be found in the United States.—Granham's Magazine.
Merritt Dutton.—Since Mr. Waters gave up publishing sheet music, he has devoted his whole capital and attention to the manufacture and sale of Pianos and Melodeons.
He has just issued a catalogue of his new instruments, giving a new scale of prices, which shows a marked reduction from former rates, and his Pianos have recently been awarded the First Premium at several Fairs.
Many people of the present day, who are satisfied if not confused, with the flaming advertisements of rival piano houses, probably overlook the modest manufacturer like Mr. Waters; but we happen to know that his instruments earned him a good reputation long before Explosions and "honors" connected therewith, were even thought of;
indeed, we have one of Mr. Waters' Pianos fortes now in our residence (where it has stood for years), of which any manufacturer in the world might well be proud. We have always been delighted with it as a sweet toned and powerful instrument, and there is no doubt of its durability; more than this,
some of the best amateur players in the city,
as well as several celebrated pianists, have performed on the same piano, and all pronounce it a superior and first-class instrument.
Stronger endorsement we could not give.—
