School Board Increases '77-'78 Athletic Budget

ed for football in high school and junior high; $4,463.05 budgeted for junior high and high school basketball; $6,065. for girls' athletics; $1,707 for boys track and $450 for golf and tennis. The total estimated budget for all athletics for both boys and girls in junior high and high school is $36,283.45.

Monday night during their meeting, board members also heard all current financial reports and approved employment of McMorries and Co. to change School District property values over to Bailey County values for that part of Lamb County that lies within the boundaries of the Muleshoe School District. McMorries representatives will go through pre-hearings and sit with local Board of Equalization members on all of the Bailey County properties in the Muleshoe School District and will work with all commercial personal property.

Jack Eades Is Named Chairman

Jack Eades has accepted the chairmanship of the Annual Spring Event on behalf of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, according to an announcement by Richard C. Reader, chairman for the State of Texas.

He said Eades will be recruiting volunteers within the community to plan an entertaining activity to take place in the spring.

The purpose of the special event will be to provide the community with information about Cystic Fibrosis and to raise funds to support research, education and care programs for children affected by Cystic Fibrosis, and other lung-damaging diseases like severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, and bronchiectasis.

Eggsactly! Bad Egg Throws Good Eggs

If you were an employee of the Texas Highway Department and had to go out daily to wash eggs off highway signs - what would you do? Members of the local highway department office decided to put an end to the almost daily occurrence.

After making their daily foray to wash eggs off signs from Littlefield to the state line on Kakawata Road, the highway department set up a network of regular police 'stakeouts' to watch for the unknown vandal. They suspected a truck which had been seen making the route so they decided to wait for him.

Alvis Burge said, "I had taken a position on a hill west of Sudan on Highway 84 and saw this truck coming up the hill. It was the truck we had been watching. "Sure enough, when he got to a sign in the middle of the median, I saw him pop the sign with an egg. And eggs really pop when they are thrown."

He said the truck drive went on, and he radioed in to the highway department and told Elbert Estep what he had seen. Estep went to the Law Enforcement Center and told the local highway patrol office, Louis Cardinal.

Cardinal and Muleshoe City Assistant Police Chief J.R. Carpenter stopped the truck and brought the driver to the law enforcement center, where they

Construction Bids To Be Sought Soon

After months of meeting, discussion, and planning, the Bailey County Commissioners officially hired an architect Monday to draw up plans and specifications for the Bailey County Agriculture Center and Civic Center. They approved employment of Frank Donahue and Architectural Engineering Associates of Lubbock.

Bailey County Judge Glen Williams said members of commissioner's court signed a contract with the firm, who will work on drawing plans and specifications and get the plans ready to receive bids for actual construction of the building.

Judge Williams emphasized that the architects will only be getting the plans ready for bid and actual cost will be determined by bids received. He added that it is estimated bids can be received for actual construction of the building around April 1. The architectural firm will complete plans, and a legal must be published in the newspaper to conform to state law before actual construction begins.

"This is another step in the long process to acquire something as major as the agriculture and civic enter," explained the judge.

In other business, commissioners accepted the only bid for a county depository. On a motion by Commissioner Bob Sanders and second by Commissioner Rudolph Moraw, the bid of First National Bank was accepted to act as county depository for the next two years.

Also during the meeting, election judges were named for the next year. Named to the canvassing board were Connie Dale Gupton, Barry T. Lewis and Barbara McCamish. For voting box one, Mrs. Bill Taylor, presiding judge and Kathleen Hayes, assistant; Leldon Phillips, presiding judge and Ernest Ramm, assistant, for box two; for voting box three, Ross Goodwin, presiding judge and Doyle King, assistant; for box four, George Tyson, presiding judge and R.L. Davis, assistant; for box five, Mrs. J.G. Arnn, presiding judge and Charles Mayhugh, assistant; for box six,

Smart On Sales Series Beginning

Consumers can "get the cost of living down" -- instead of vice versa, according to a new letter series on shopping at sales -- currently offered to Bailey County residents by the Bailey County Extension office.

"Consumers can save as much as 30 percent by shopping wisely at sales -- and this letter series tells them how," Mrs. Robin Taylor, Bailey County Extension Agent, said this week.

"It explains why articles are on sale, which sales to expect throughout the year, and how to distinguish the real bargain from the 'lemon' -- so the consumer can plan to save at sales," she added.

The series, "S.O.S. - Smart on Sales", is available from Mrs. Robin Taylor, by writing to her at the courthouse, Muleshoe, or by phoning 272-3913 by March 1.

The "S.O.S." letters, mailed each month, will feature such topics as buying bedding, men's and women's clothing, gardening supplies and tires, along with a calendar of annual sales and a shopping log to help consumers "chart their sale course through rough economic seas", the agent added.

A stolen Marlin .44 magnum rifle was reported by Benny Bruns and Mrs. Raymond Martin reported she had lost a wristwatch while in Muleshoe last week.

Arrests include one for assault; one on drunk charges and one on theft charges.

Is Your Home Safe And Secure?

By Wayne Holmes, Muleshoe City Police, Crime Prevention Officer

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of Crime Prevention measures. Take a good look around your home. Check doors, windows, shrubbery, lighting, garage doors, and locks. If you were on the outside of your home, could you find a way to get in without a key? About 50 percent of all burglaries are made easy for the burglar because the doors or windows have been left open or unlocked. Another 40 percent of all burglaries were committed because of poor quality locks or inoperative locks.

Did you know the greatest single deterrent to crime is good lighting? Are you aware that the average burglar given the right elements can enter a home, take about $2,000 in merchandise and be gone in five minutes or less. Giving the burglar the elements he needs to commit a crime is called opportunity. If you leave your house unlocked while you go talk to your neighbor, just to ask a question, if you don't use common sense in simple security procedures, if you leave valuables laying about, if you do not participate in operation identification and neighborhood watch, if you do not care enough to pick up the phone and call the police department and ask your crime prevention officer what you can do to increase your security, you can be the next victim. Crime does not always happen to the other guy. Sure you might have been lucky so far, but will your luck hold out? Talk with your family about it at the supper table, you may be surprised just how concerned they are.

If you want some suggestions on improving your home security, call Muleshoe P.D. at 272-4268, you will be surprised at what you can learn, and even if you only incorporate a few of his suggestions, you will certainly feel a little better. Remember, it is your family and your property. The police, sheriff's office, your neighbors and your community can help if you ask.

HOSPITAL WORK CONTINUES . . . Workmen have taken advantage of beautiful South Plains weather to rush construction of the new West Plains Medical Center. Here, a workman is installing tile along the front of the new hospital, which is expected to be ready for occupancy during the next few weeks. Construction on the facility started last summer. With the completion of the new facility, workmen will begin complete renovation of the old portion of the hospital, adjacent to the new structure.

From The Pastors Desk

by
Rev David Evetts

MEN WITH THEIR BACKS TO THE WALL: Daniel 3:17-18 "...if it be so, our Gos whom we serve is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace, and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king. But if not, be it known unto thee, O king, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up."

Many of the stories of Jewish History are so fantastic that many of the modernists of today are slow to believe them. They try to explain them away and mark them as allegories or fables because they cannot bring them into the context of modern scientific interpretation. But personally I am going to accept them and believe them as true historical records -- and messages from God -- and I'm going to present them as such until more proof is found for their denial.

WE CAN LEARN MUCH WHEN WE LOOK AT THE BACKGROUND OF THEIR FAITH: Nebuchadnezer - the King of Babylon had commanded that all the Jews worship the idols he had set up. But these three young Jews or Hebrew men refused to do it. The King called them in and told them he would give them a second chance - and if they refused this time - he would have them thrown into a furnace of fire. And they knew that he was brutal enough to do just what he threatened to do. But they answered him to the effect that it wasn't necessary to give them a second chance - their minds were already made up. If we had a hundred chances -- our answer would still be the same: "...if God chooses to save us -- we'll be forever grateful -- but if he doesn't -- we'll go down to death with a song on our lips and praise in our hearts." "So whether we live or die -- we will not worship your gods."

WE CAN LEARN STILL MORE WHEN WE LOOK AT THE FOUNDATION OF THEIR FAITH: They didn't try to bargain with God. And they didn't try to buy off the old King. But they rested their case entirely on their faith in God -- and they left it in His hands. Actually, they were not looking for some alternative - they were not interested in some legal loophole or an alibi. They made no plans for personal defeat - and they didn't even attempt to answer their critics.

They did the same thing that Martin Luther did many centuries later when he appeared before the "Diet of Worms" and said to his friends "... expect anything of me except flight and recantation". These three young men did what Job did many years before them when he said concerning his great sorrow and loss "... though He slay me, yet will I trust Him". They simply did what our Lord and Savior did centuries after them when He faced the Cross and said to His heavenly Father "... if it by Thy will, let this cup pass from Me -- nevertheless, not My will but Thine be done."

WE LEARN EVEN MORE WHEN WE LOOK AT THE MEASURE OF THEIR FAITH: The kind of faith they had was certainly not "fair-weather" type that is made for ease and comfort. But the kind of faith they had was fashioned for the storms of life. Theirs was the kind of faith for times of distress and persecution -- not for times of approval. They had the kind of faith that was good in times of sunshine and prosperity - but it was also what they must have in times of shocks, losses, disappointments and death.

These three young men hung everything they had -- every hope and every anxious moment on their faith. And they didn't stop to consider circumstances and conditions. If the conditions and circumstances with us were different -- things would be different with us -- but since they are what they are -- we have no alternative but to trust in God. And so trust in Him they did.

They simply accepted the conditions as they were -- let circumstances be what they will -- they said to the King: "... life or death, the answer is still the same." And as they stood with their backs to the wall -- they said to each other no doubt, "... We do not have the need for more time to think about this matter - we are not looking for a second chance - whether we have our freedom or whether we go through the fire - one thing we will not do - we will not bow down to the Idols of the King." This is something of the kind of faith that we -- those of us who call ourselves Christians - need today. Faith that is only good when the sun is shining - but is not sufficient when the storm comes - is not the kind of faith that comes from a Holy God. It's pretty easy to say we have faith when our pocket has money in it - we have a host of friends - and plenty to eat - a place to stay - and good clothes to wear. But when faith is all we have and we learn to depend on it - its a good sign that that kind of faith is real. Do you have real faith?

The transcontinental railroad was completed in 1869, joining the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific Railroads. A golden spike was driven at Promontory, Utah, on May 10, 1869.

Magazine Rates Increase
Subscription rates for the Texas Parks and Wildlife magazine increase March 1, 1977, to $5.25 for one year and $9.45 for two years, tax included for Texas residents.

Out-of-state residents, including APO and FPO addresses, will pay $5 for a single-year subscription and $9 for a two-year subscription. Foreign subscriptions will be $6 for one year and $11 for two years.

The P&W magazine, which has won the national award four times for outstanding publications from various state fish and game departments, has felt the climbing cost of production. The cost of paper and quality pictures, which have made the magazine so popular, necessitates the increase. An added feature is the new update news section in the center-fold of the magazine.

Subscription forms can be obtained at all P&W offices or write P&W, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Texas 78744.

Officials of the P&W said after March 1 no subscriptions will be accepted at the old rates and the subscription fee will be returned to the owner creating a delay in receiving the first issue of the magazine.

Articles of interest to Panhandle-South Plains readers in upcoming issues of the P&W magazine will include: spike buck studies; school camp-out; spring flowers; bank fishing; extension biologist reports; and requirements for becoming a Texas game warden.

The King James version of the English Bible was first published in 1611. It was ordered by James I in 1604.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

Under current sentencing laws Richard Speck, the convicted murderer of eight nurses in 1966, is now eligible for parole. Whether he will continue serving his prison sentence or be released is at the discretion of the parole board.

With the system of "indeterminate sentencing" that has existed in our country during the past decade, people who have committed minor offenses may be kept in prison, while dangerous prisoners are often released on records of good behavior.

The federal government and every state now employ "indeterminate sentencing" for most serious crimes. For example, judges are allowed to set prison terms for bank robbery at anything from zero years to 20 years under current federal law. And, at the discretion of the parole board, often only one-third of the sentence is ever served.

This means that the amount of time a convicted criminal will actually serve is ultimately determined—not by the legislature or the sentencing judge—but by an administrative agency or parole board.

Our judicial system lacks standards and guidelines. The disparities in the sentences imposed under the present system force us to recognize that the use of indeterminate sentencing is neither fair nor effective. By all accounts the concept of trying to rehabilitate by promises of early parole for good behavior is not working.

What it all boils down to is that punishment for the criminal offender in this country is no longer swift and by no means sure.

An adult burglar knows that he has only one chance in 412 of going to jail for any single burglary he commits. The robber arrested in England is more than three times as likely to go to jail as the robber arrested in New York.

Because I believe the concept of indeterminate sentencing has helped make punishment for criminal violations far from certain, I introduced a bill last year to provide for tougher sentencing in federal courts. I am reintroducing the bill in the new Congress.

My proposal is for a new system of presumptive sentencing. In addition to a maximum sentence, this approach sets a middle or "presumptive" sentence to create a uniform standard of justice for all.

For example, under my plan, a four-year presumptive sentence would be set for first offense bank robbery, with virtually no eligibility for parole. If the judge goes above or below this "presumptive" sentence, he would have to present his reasons for doing so in writing, subject to appellate review.

The presumptive sentence increases sharply for repeat offenses.

Too often too many officials are too hesitant to even face the issue of criminal justice squarely, preferring to speak in terms of "rehabilitation" rather than "punishment." There has been too much concern for criminals and too little thought for the victims of crimes.

We should work toward a system of criminal sentencing that is, as John Greenleaf Whittier once described justice, "The hope of all who suffer, the dread of all who wrong."
This legislation is one step forward.

The gun goes off February 17 in the race to beat a May 15 deadline for reporting a new farm law from the House and Senate Agriculture Committees.

New budgetary procedures require that a bill be reported by May 15 if it is to be considered in the current session of Congress. Preparations have been under way for months, but the first official hearings have been scheduled by the House Agriculture Committee for February 17. Senate Ag Committee hearings will begin February 24.

Representative Thomas Foley (D-Wash.), Chairman of the House Committee, has reserved the first day of hearings for members of Congress. Nineteenth District Congressman George Mahon of Lubbock, barring a conflict, will appear before the Committee on that day. There is a chance that Mahon will be busy at that particular time with the business of the House Appropriations Committee, of which he is Chairman. If so, word from his office is that he will ask for an alternate date.

Mahon has requested input for his testimony from various High Plains agricultural leaders and organizations, including Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. of Lubbock. PCG represents cotton producers in a 25-county area surrounding Lubbock which on average produces about one-fifth of the U.S. cotton crop.

A copy of the official PCG legislative policy, adopted by the organization's 52-man Board January 18, was sent to Mahon along with a letter from Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President.

Johnson's letter summarized the PCG Board's positions in the following paragraph.

"The overall objective of a cotton program for the future should be to assist our industry in its efforts to increase the volume of cotton that can be grown in the U.S. and sold at a profit both here and abroad in competition with other cotton growths and synthetic fibers. And we believe such assistance can best be provided under a market-oriented program similar to the 1973 through 1977 program.

Johnson went on to ask the Congressman to stress the need for (1) a CCC loan period of at least 18 months at a level based on average market prices, (2) continuation of the disaster provisions of present law with improvement in their administration and (3) a target price not too far above the loan price.

He pointed out that the present system of setting the loan at 90 percent of the three-year average price of U.S. cotton in world markets has worked "fairly well," but suggested that loan level calculations be made "simpler, more objective and less subject to error." One approach to this, he said, would be to set the loan, by law, at a percentage of average U.S. Spot Market Quotations.

In asking for an 18-month loan period, as opposed to the present 10 months, Johnson said producers should have the option to hold cotton long enough to bridge at least two harvest seasons. "Such a program," he said, "would increase the producer's marketing alternatives, expand the period over which each crop must be sold and help to alleviate the drastic price movement that seriously hampers our efforts to compete with synthetic fibers and their relatively stable prices."

There has been much talk in Washington and elsewhere of replacing disaster payment provisions of current law with an expanded crop insurance program through the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. PCG is strongly opposed to such an action. Johnson's letter said FCIC crop coverage as it now exists is a very poor bargain for producers, and continued by saying "The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation would require a major overhaul, to the extent of recreation, before it could offer protection even approaching that given by the disaster program."

The target price provisions of current law, except for their effect on disaster payment rates, have had no effect on producer income since the program took effect. But under other circumstances, Johnson pointed out to Congressman Mahon, "the target price could trigger direct payments which in turn would bring the abominable payment limitation . . . back to prominence." A wide spread between the loan level and the target price could mean that substantial direct payments would be called for, Johnson stated, which would help small growers but would "leave commercial-size producers in serious trouble."

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—In an effort to help Texas citizens keep informed, there is again a toll free telephone service available which will give information on any bill or resolution under consideration during the 65th Legislative session.

The Legislative Information System of Texas in conjunction with the Legislative Reference Library, and funded by the Texas Legislative Council, provides accurate up to the minute data on the current status and/or history of legislation introduced in either the House or the Senate. Bills are listed by either subject or author. Also, names of committee members and committee schedules, along with the topic to be discussed, can be obtained. It is the right of every Texas citizen to be able to obtain information on proposed legislation that may affect their daily lives. The 140-day session which began January 11, is undoubtedly going to be one of the most innovative and eventful sessions as far as long term effective legislation is concerned. This makes it doubly important that citizens have their questions answered.

Since adjournment of the 64th legislative session in 1975, special task forces, committees and individual legislators have been hard at work studying and developing programs aimed at solving problems that the House will face this session.

The majority of legislation is presently still in the committee stage, but by the end of the session most legislation will have had the opportunity for thorough scrutiny through public hearings. Public input is pertinent and essential. By being able to determine at what point in the legislative process bills have reached, interested persons can better stay abreast of measures in which they have concerns.

The service, which began in 1973, merely makes it easier for citizens to keep up with government.

The toll free number is 1-800-252-9693. During the first two weeks of February, there were a total of 481 calls compared to the full month of January's total of 566 calls. The number of calls will continue to increase each month through the end of the session in May.

Telephone lines, manned by seven research specialists, are open from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday throughout the session. The service will also operate any time the Legislature is meeting on nights or weekends.

South Plains Archeologists Plan New School

The South Plains Archeological Society will conduct an archeological field school during February and March of this year.

The field school will be under the direction of Rick Alvey, a graduate student in the Department of Anthropology, Texas Tech University, and will be held over three weekends at the Mitchell Site.

The Mitchell Site is an open campsite in northern Martin County, Texas, about 25 miles south of Lamesa.

The weekends of February 26-27, March 5-6, March 12-13, and March 19-20, have been scheduled for the field school. One weekend is optional due to winter weather conditions. One weekend may be used as a laboratory session.

A Saturday night lecture will be presented at a local meeting hall in Lamesa each weekend of the excavation as a part of the training.

The purpose of the field school is to offer training in archeological field methods with the recovery of artifacts being secondary in importance. Artifacts will be placed in the Dawson County Museum after the site report on the investigation is completed.

The general public may attend by submitting an application to the site director. Those attending will furnish their own water, food, and personal digging tools. A list of supplies needed and a list of motels in Lamesa will be furnished upon request.

The fee for attending this field school will be as follows: Adult, all weekends, $10.00; Family, all weekends, $15.00. Students may attend at a weekly rate of $2.00 per weekend.

All persons wishing to attend this field school should contact Rick Alvey, 2111 Seventh Street, Rear Apt., Lubbock, Texas 79401 or at the Department of Anthropology, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409 Phone (806) 747-0048.

Farm-facts

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News
Compiled From Sources Of The TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
John C. White, Commissioner

Prices About Steady . . . More Cattle . . . Less Sheep.
If there is any good news in the latest Texas farm and livestock price report, it is this: parity remained steady and overall farm prices are about steady to somewhat higher in a few categories.

Crop prices declined four per cent but livestock prices increased one per cent during the past month, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

A big exception in the crop price picture is cotton. That commodity has been showing gains in recent months, but for the period ending Jan. 15, cotton declined 3.5 cents to average 58.5 cents per pound. Parity for cotton is 81.62 cents per pound.

Wheat, grain sorghum, and corn all showed increases. Wheat averaged $2.43 compared to $2.40 a month ago. Corn averaged $2.40 compared to $2.34, and grain sorghum averaged $3.66 per hundredweight compared to $3.50 a month ago.

Most livestock prices showed slight gains. The price for wool was unchanged at 93 cents, and the price for mohair was also steady at $3.55 per pound.

THE STATE'S CATTLE AND CALF population increased in 1977, even though nationwide there was a marked reduction.

All cattle and calves on Texas farms and ranches totaled 15,800,000 head; this is up only one per cent from a year ago.

These included 6,800,000 cows that have calved (unchanged from a year ago), 1,710,000 head of cattle on feed (down nine per cent from a year ago), 5,740,000 stocker cattle (up nine per cent from a year ago).

The 1976 calf crop was estimated at 5,800,000 head; this is down three per cent from the 1975 crop.

The average value per head of cattle in Texas for 1977 is $170 compared to $155 last year.

Nationwide, cattle and calf numbers were down four per cent from a year ago.

This is the sharpest percentage decline since 1948 and represents the second consecutive year of herd reduction in the current cattle cycle.

All cows and heifers that have calved are down four per cent nationwide; beef cows are down five per cent; milk cows are down one per cent.

SHEEP NUMBERS IN TEXAS continue to decline. All sheep and lambs as of Jan. 1 are estimated at 2,520,000. This is the lowest total since 1918. It is a three per cent decline from the previous year, and is the sixth consecutive year of decline.

The average value per head is $37 compared with $31.50 a year ago.

The number of sheep operations in Texas is estimated at 9,000; this is down five per cent from a year ago.

The inventory of all goats and kids in Texas shows an increase of 16 per cent from a year ago. This was the first year to year increase since 1973. Average value of all goats and kids is $25 compared to $19 a year ago.

Gifford-Hill's 360. Good to the last drop.

Whether first or last, that little drop of water is more important than you think.

Gifford-Hill came up with a fine, mist-like drop that penetrates the soil quickly.

In fact, the 360's entire sprinkler spacing and water pattern concept was computer designed to provide efficient distribution and a smaller drop that could virtually eliminate compaction, puddling and runoff.

But all that wasn't enough. They went ahead and built in more automation, more control and more plain old durability than you can find in any other system.

All things considered, Gifford-Hill's 360 Pivot Sprinkler System is the most sophisticated system available today.

Texas Moves Toward First In Agriculture

Texas agriculture continues to show its muscle, and Texas is making steady progress toward becoming the leading state in agricultural income.

With the conviction that "we can do it", Texas agricultural leaders in 1974 set their sights on becoming the No. 1 state in agricultural income by 1980. And a current look at the situation indicates that progress is steady toward that goal.

The goal of reaching for the top spot in agricultural income, with the slogan "On Our Way to No. One", was projected by Texas Governor Dolph Briscoe. Because of the success of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in mapping out an earlier campaign which achieved the projected goal of increasing the state's agricultural income by $1 billion four years ahead for schedule, Governor Briscoe requested that the Extension Service assume leadership for this second thrust.

"Looking at current figures, we are making excellent progress toward reaching the potential goal of Texas being the No. One state in agricultural income by 1980," says Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, who took over the reins of the Extension Service last June following the retirement of Dr. John E. Hutchison. "This program is based on income projections through 1980 made by our economists."

Pfannstiel emphasizes that while the effort is pointed to increasing gross income, the truly important thing is increasing the net income of Texas farmers and ranches. Of course, this hinges on more efficient use of all resources.

"Agricultural income in Texas for 1976 is expected to total $6.618 billion when the final figures are in," notes Pfannstiel. "This is second only to 1973 and almost $600 million above 1975 figures. Looking ahead, our goal for 1980 is $8,436 billion. Assuming the normal rate of growth for the states currently leading Texas, we feel that reaching our 1980 goal should put us in the No. One position."

Actually, the base period for gauging the rate of progress toward the Extension Service goal goes back to 1968 when an initial program was launched called "3.76 in '76". However, that goal of $3.76 billion was surpassed in 1972, thus causing need for a new goal to be set.

Mississippi was the last state to give up the prohibition law.

A breakdown of Texas agricultural income as estimated for 1976 looks like this (compared with 1975 figures):

-- Meat animals, $2.492 billion (2.466 billion); Texas is now the leading state in the total number of cattle and calves, beef cows, cattle feeding and cattle slaughter.

-- Dairy products, $326 million ($299 million).

-- Poultry and eggs, $367 million ($354 million).

-- Other livestock products, $48 million ($37 million); major commodities in this category include wool and mohair.

-- Food grain, $530 million ($714 million); the big decrease was due to poor markets for wheat and rice.

-- Feed crops, $992 million ($998 million); income was down slightly due to somewhat softer prices.

-- Cotton, $1,087 billion ($516 million); this gigantic jump came on the heels of a strong market.

-- Oil crops, $164 million ($160 million); peanuts are the leading cash crop in this group, which also include soybeans, sunflowers and flax.

-- Vegetables, $203 million ($257 million); most crops suffered from lower prices, especially onions, cabbage, cantaloupes, potatoes and carrots.

-- Fruits and nuts, $42 million

($46 million); a poor pecan crop was a big factor in this drop in income.

-- All other crops, $107 million ($79 million); this includes such crops as sugar beets and sugar cane, nursery plants and legumes.

-- Related income, $261 million ($217 million); income from farm-based timber, fish farming, horses and recreation continues to show a marked increase.

What does this $6.618 billion agricultural income mean to the Texas economy?

"The effects of the agricultural industry on the Texas economy is tremendous," notes Pfannstiel. "We call it 'agribusiness', and it added more than $23 billion to the Texas economy in 1976."

Substantiate All Charitable Contributions

All charitable contributions of property must be substantiated to be claimed as a deduction, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Any deduction claimed for property donated to an organization must be verified through a statement to the IRS listing the dates and amounts of each contribution, the type of property donated, and the method of determining the property's value.

If used furniture, clothing or other property, for example, is donated, it may be claimed as a deductible contribution to the extent of its fair market value. Fair market value is the price at which the property would change hands between a willing buyer and seller.

For each piece of property valued over $200, the original cost or other basis in the property, fair market value, appreciation, conditions of the gift and a copy of the gift's appraisal must also be included in the tax return. This required information must accompany the tax return, according to the IRS.

Two free IRS pamphlets, Publication 561, "Valuation of Donated Property", and Publication 526, "Income Tax Deduction for Contributions", discuss contributions and can be obtained from most IRS offices.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek gets riled up over a new scientific idea this week, more or less.

Dear editor:
One trouble with scientists is that if one of them thinks up an idea the rest of them rush headlong into the project without considering the effect it may have on the rest of us.

For example, a scientist has come up with the idea of putting a giant mirror into orbit, positioned so that it could reflect the sun's rays down to earth at night. Given enough money, he claims, a mirror could be built and launched via satellite that's big enough to shed ten times the light of a full moon, just about eradicating darkness.

The main advantage of this, he claims, would be to give farmers enough light to work at night.

Well I'll tell you, any scientist who's spending his time thinking up some way to get farmers to work more, hasn't got enough work to do himself. On top of that, it'd ruin the potato crop, as you'd never when it was time to plant in the dark of the moon, or is it the other way around?

Before Congress appropriates the money for this moon-lighting project I hope it'll write in a provision requiring the orbiting mirror to be equipped with venetian blinds so I can keep that blamed light off this farm out here.

Somebody is always coming up with a new and unsettling idea. For instance, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi over in India, where they can make an atomic bomb but haven't figured out how to make a farm tractor, made a long speech the other day before a crowd of over 100,000, and when the speech got boring and the crowd started to leave, she had her police make them stay and listen.

It's one thing to deny the people the right of free speech, but to deny them the right not to listen to a speech, that's a brand new twist. This reminds me of the argument some people make against televising sessions of the U.S. Congress from start to finish. They say it would damage the image of that body. I don't think it would hurt Congress, but it sure would kill television.

Yours faithfully,
***** J.A.

The body of John Wilkes Booth, who shot Abraham Lincoln in 1865 at Ford's Theatre, was originally buried under the stone floor of a naval prison in Washington, D.C. Later, it was moved to the Booth family plot in Baltimore.

One Horse of a Hybrid for Bailey County

If you ever cowboied for a living, you had one horse you liked best. It may not have been the prettiest or fastest but it rode easy and got the work done no matter what.

Pioneer brand 3306 is that kind of corn hybrid for a lot of farmers in this area. It's the hybrid that brought corn back to this country ten years ago and there is nothing to beat it yet for good steady production no matter the weather, insects, or disease.

NO HEAD SMUT.

In the big Texas Ag Extension Service Head Smut Test west of Dimmitt last year, they compared everything that would sprout to 3306. This included the new glamour girls that look so good... until it gets a little dry or a little wet or the wind blows. 3306 showed no head smut. It was still standing straight up with ears firmly attached when the big judge — the combine — got there.

TAKES STRESS IN ITS STRIDE.

3306 is the most dependable corn hybrid ever grown on the High Plains. It can adjust to almost any kind of stress... over planting, drought, extreme heat, early freeze, high winds, bugs, disease... you name it and 3306 has been there and produced a good corn crop.

If you're not farming in a greenhouse, tell your Pioneer dealer to save you some 3306.

Telephone Designated For Emergency Use

A nationwide emergency telephone number -- the 911 system -- is in the planning stage, and some areas of Texas already have it.

Dave Porterfield, field supervisor with the Emergency Medical Services Division, says 13 cities in Texas have the 911 emergency number now and other cities and counties are moving toward the system.

The 911 telephone system is a three-digit telephone number which has been designated as the "Universal Emergency Number", for use by the public throughout the United States, said Porterfield.

It is intended as a nationwide telephone number giving the public direct access to a Public Safety Answering Point (PSAP) from which appropriate action can be taken.

The concept dates back more than 30 years to a 999 number in Great Britain. Other countries in Europe and around the world have since provided their citizens with similar uniform emergency telephone numbers.

Impetus in such a number in the United States, said Porterfield, stemmed from a 1967 recommendation of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice. In 1968, American Telephone and Telegraph Company announced that it would make the digits 911 available for national use.

In 1973, provision was made for the establishment of a Federal Information Center to assist units of government in planning and implementation.

"You can see the beauty of such a system," said Porterfield. "Now, in an emergency situation, more than one number may have to be called to reach the proper emergency agency. But with the 911 system, a simple, easy-to-remember telephone number could be in reach of any citizen at any time. Just one call would make available such agencies as the police, fire department or an ambulance service."

Porterfield also noted that calls from pay telephones could be made without the necessity of using a coin to make the emergency call.

The 911 numbers in Texas are in service in Alice, Commerce, College Station, Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, Galveston, Hearne, Huntsville, Irving, Lamesa, Odessa, Quanah, Sherman and Victoria.

The Alamo Area Council of Government is attempting to get the number set up in and around the San Antonio area, said Porterfield. Porterfield said there is a problem of implementation in Texas because of the large number of telephone companies in the state. And, he said, some of the telephone company boundaries don't correspond with the political and governmental jurisdictions.

"The ultimate goal," he said, "is to cut down the total response time to emergency situations." Lessening the time between the detection of an accident and notification of the proper emergency service figures into this response time, he said.

Through its work with local areas Council of Governments and Public Health Regions the EMS division is seeking to upgrade EMS systems throughout the state, and the implementation of the 911 system is one facet of this upgrading process.

We are currently working with COGs on grant applications to obtain funds made available under the 1973 EMSS Act. These applications are required to address a central communications center which includes the 911 System, said Porterfield.

Several states have passed legislation requiring the 911 system. These include California, Florida, Louisiana and Illinois. Other states introduced legislation during the past legislative years and will do it again this year, said Porterfield.

AUSTIN— Highway finance legislation rolled through the House with unexpected ease and moved to the Senate for a showdown decision.

Representatives finally passed the measure (HB 3 by Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville) 121-27 after beating back a series of efforts to postpone or reduce the amount of aid.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe tagged the bill an emergency to prevent slow-downs in state highway building due to declining revenues and inflation.

Opponents argued unsuccessfully the measure should be delayed until after the general state budget is considered so legislators can get an accurate reading on how much money would be left for school finance, teacher pay raises and possible tax cuts.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby expressed little enthusiasm for the more than $600 million package in the Senate. (Another $168 million, under Briscoe's plan, would come from federal revenue - sharing funds).

Hobby favored a $240 million highway allocation proposed by the Legislative Budget Board -- mainly from general revenue -- and questioned whether priorities were out of joint in pushing highway funding to the top of the emergency calendar.

The bill would dedicate three-fourths of the state motor vehicle sales tax and all the sales tax on auto parts and tires to highway building and maintenance. It would increase road money another $76 million during the next biennium by limiting Department of Public Safety's share of the constitutionally-dedicated highway revenues to $30 million a year.

Controls Approved The State Senate passed a bill giving consumers the right to sue to protect themselves against monopolies, price fixing and restraint of trade.

Under the measure, the attorney general could join in actions where the state has been damaged.

An amendment stripped from the bill a provision for automatic treble damage recoveries, leaving that avenue discretionary with courts.

Hearing Set The Railroad Commission called a March 21 public hearing here on request of 28 railroads for a four per cent general increase in the rates and charges fixed for freight.

The railroads said their request would provide the same increase for intrastate traffic as was effective for interstate freight hauling January 7.

Increased costs of labor, fuel, material, and supplies were blamed for the rate hike proposal.

A five per cent increase request from the railroads heard last November is still pending before the commission.

Hatcheries Busy Texas fish hatcheries will provide more than 24 million fish this spring for stocking public and private waters in Texas during 1977.

About 21.7 million fish will be stocked in public streams, lakes and waterways. Another 2.5 million will be distributed for private water stocking.

Fish production beginning next month will include 1.5 million striped bass, 500,000 hybrid striped bass, four million Florida bass, 700,000 smallmouth bass, 637,000 blue catfish, 31,000 flat-head catfish, 128,000 sunfish and 14 million walleye secured from out-of-state sources.

Courts Speak An Austin district court upheld constitutionality of a state law requiring illegal aliens to pay tuition in Texas public schools.

The State Supreme Court affirmed an intermediate court finding that a Falls County water corporation is entitled to $345,555 damages as a result of a thousand leaks on a 178-mile water line.

In another case, the high court upheld lower court findings that a Houston doctor did not misrepresent on purpose alleged benefits of a little-remembered emphysema operation.

Conviction of an Upshur County woman and a 28 year prison sentence for an alleged attempt to hire someone to kill her husband was reversed and dismissed due to faulty indictment.

AG Opinions Atty. Gen. John Hill said bringing a slot machine into a Texas port aboard ship violates state law even if they are electronically out of commission and locked in a room.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A county hospital may not appoint a husband and wife as joint superintendents of a county hospital, since the law provides for only one superintendent.

A marriage license may be issued where one applicant has been divorced by oral pronouncement of the court more than 30 days. County clerks also may issue marriage licenses to applicants who have been divorced from one another within the last 30 days.

Sugar cane, raw sugar, molasses and bugasse held by a cooperative marketing association are exempt from ad valorem taxation.

A person who performs solid waste disposal services may be regulated by the Railroad Commission as a motor carrier.

Ordinances Out Texas Railroad Commission wiped out ordinances of seven southeast Texas cities reducing Southern Union Gas Company rates and ordered them to pay more as the company's supplier raises prices.

Cities involved are Port Arthur, Port Neches, Groves, Lakeview, Nederland, Griffin Park and Pear Ridge.

Meanwhile the Public Utility Commission recommended a $2.69 million revenue increase for Gulf States United Telephone Company which serves 26 east and central Texas counties.

Short Snorts President Jimmy Carter has been invited to a symposium at The University of Texas Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs here in September.

Briscoe named Oscar Brookshire of Lufkin to the Finance Commission of Texas.

Sen. John Tower announced he has nominated 36 Texans to four military academies. Selections will be made by the admissions boards.

Texans can get information on legislation by calling toll free telephone line 1-800-252-9683.

Joe E. Briscoe of Devine has been nominated to the board of directors of Nueces River Authority.

Seven applications for permits to sell $11.2 million in securities in Texas were filed with the State Securities Board recently.

Legislators Will Speak At Meeting

"Food and Fiber for a Hungry World: A Decade of Progress" will be the theme of Water, Incorporated's 10th Annual Membership Meeting at the Hilton Inn in Lubbock Saturday (February 19).

About 300 persons are expected to attend the meeting and a hearing scheduled by the Texas Water Development Board Friday (February 18) in conjunction with the Water, Inc. session.

Speakers at the Water, Inc. gathering will include Congressman Jack Hightower, TWDB Executive Director James Rose and Dr. Gerald W. Thomas, president of New Mexico State University. State Senator Kent Hance and State Representative Pete Laney also will address the meeting.

The Water, Inc. program will examine the role of the High Plains of Texas and New Mexico in food and fiber production for the state, the nation and the world, provided adequate water resources are supplied the region.

The meeting will begin Saturday at 8:50 a.m. in the ballroom of the Hilton Inn. The session is open to the public.

Water, Inc. is a non-profit organization which encourages long-range water resource planning and development with an emphasis on securing supplemental water for the High Plains.

The TWDB hearing is set for Friday at 2 p.m. in the Hilton ballroom. The TWDB is currently revising the Texas Water Plan, the topic of the hearing.

Good News Texas Sweeps The State

Texas Baptists are about to sweep the state with "Living Proof", an unparalleled media evangelism campaign featuring testimonies by well-known Americans who have experienced changed lives through commitment to Jesus Christ.

Among celebrities spotlighted in the $1.5 million media campaign are Billy "White Shoes" Johnson of the Houston Oilers; actor Dean Jones; former militant Eldridge Cleaver; and Country and Western Star Jeanne C. Riley.

Living Proof will move across the state in four-week periods of intensive multi-media advertising beginning February 20 in North Texas; March 6 in South Texas; and March 27 in West Texas.

Before ending in April, the campaign is expected to reach every Texas resident at least 40 times through TV, radio, newspaper, magazine, outdoor display and transit advertising.

With nondenominational appeal, the 2.1 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas seeks to raise spiritual and moral awareness through the program, according to Dr. Lloyd Elder, co-chairman of Living Proof.

"People featured in the media testimonials are Living Proof that Jesus is real and that He can make a difference in our lives. By communicating these personal experiences, we intend to provide people with insight that will allow them to determine intelligently whether or not Christ can fill a void in their lives, as he has for so many others," Elder said.

For example, Pro Football Player Billy "White Shoes" Johnson reveals in his testimony that Jesus provided "a satisfaction with myself; a secure feeling in the world and most of all, a quiet peace of mind, way down deep, where the (fans) cheers don't reach."

When successful businessman Allan Mayer, of Oscar Mayer Co., was confronted with his daughter's serious illness he realized it was something he couldn't handle with a phone call or a memo. In his testimony Mayer tells how Christ proved "I could trust him with my daughter's life, and more. He gave me a greater sense of purpose and joy, to prove I could trust him with my life, too."

Other noted individuals unveil in Living Proof testimonials how Christ helped them return meaning, hope and purposefulness to their lives. They include Miss Teenage America Rebecca Ann Reid; Country and Western Singer Connie Smith; Rosargentina Pinel, Consul General of the Republic of Honduras, San Antonio; Paulino Bernal, former band leader; and Antonio Mendoza of the U.S. Office of Equal Employment.

The media campaign is designed to support the evangelistic efforts of various groups and organizations in 4,400 Baptist congregations across the state. Dr. L.L. Morriss, chairman of Living Proof and BGCT Director of Evangelism, explains that the local church is at the heart of this movement.

"The Living Proof media campaign will spur public awareness that will be met by local churches with activities illustrating the value of Christian fellowship," Dr. Morriss said. "Our goal is to lead new converts and inactive Christians back to all the local churches."

One plan for enhancing public attention includes urging mayors of cities and towns throughout Texas to lend civic recognition to the program by proclaiming "Good News Week". A period focusing on sharing the gospel, Good News Week would correspond with the beginning of the media campaigns in North, South and West Texas. Such civic recognition of Living Proof will allow churches to invite public participation in activities such as rallies, open houses and meaningful public service projects.

Although the Declaration of Independence was signed on July 4, 1776, it did not reach the three existing New York newspapers at that time until July 11. The news did not reach the Boston newspapers until two weeks after the signing, July 18, 1776.

Jefferson Davis was elected president of the Confederate States of America in October, 1861, and took office the following February. He was graduated from West Point in 1828.

The Olympic motto "Citius, Altius, Fortius", was coined by French educator Father Didon in 1895. The modern translation of the Latin phrase is "swifter, higher, stronger".

Water Hyacinths May Aid Sewage

Use of water hyacinths in treating municipal sewage may prove to be very valuable for smaller towns in some parts of the state, but such treatment ponds should not be installed until more research has been done, warns Hugh C. Yantis, Jr., executive director of the Texas Water Quality Board.

"Two or three such ponds have been established by small towns in South Texas," Yantis said, "and we are watching them closely to see how well they work and what further research needs to be done. However, those ponds were built with the knowledge of the Water Quality Board and thus are perfectly legal. If we find, after considerable experience, that they are a viable method of treating wastes from smaller towns, the procedure would, of course, represent a saving of considerable money for the municipalities that can use them."

"We do know that the plants, by a process of metabolism, literally eat up the wastes in a pond. There is a problem, however, of harvesting the plants when ponds become overcrowded, and they multiply rapidly. There also is some question of plants breaking off and finding their way into downstream waters where they could become a serious nuisance, and we still need to learn what volume of wastes ponds of certain sizes will treat adequately. Such ponds, of course, could be used only in those parts of the state where the hyacinths will live throughout the year."

"There is a great deal yet to know about the process, and smaller cities should not become enthusiastic about the possibilities of such treatment to the extent that they might build ponds without legal authorization. It should also be understood that water hyacinths are considered a noxious weed and that the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has jurisdiction for the control of such plants," Yantis added.
