

Tornado Damages Three Way School

Mike Sowder, a teacher at the Three Way School, was sitting in his apartment south of the school complex grading papers. His telephone rang, and his mother, who lives a few miles down the road, told him they were watching a tornado which appeared to be bearing the location of the school.

He told his mother that perhaps he had better go outside and look. Mike Sowder didn't have time to go look, at approximately 8:29 p.m. Tuesday night the tornado slammed into the apartment complex. Sowder, who was alone in his apartment was not injured although his apartment received heavy damage, including tires from a mobile home slamming through his back door.

The mobile home, the residence of Tom Newton, coach and senior class sponsor at the school, disintegrated from the impact of the tornado, and was flung over a wide area. However, a dog house next to the mobile home was left untouched. No one was at the Newton home at the time the tornado blasted into it. The fast moving tornado had already taken out the football field clock and restrooms adjacent to the football field before it hit the Newton mobile home, and then the barracks-apartment complex.

Two apartments east of the Sowder apartment were demolished in the storm which then totally destroyed the ag building to the south of the main school building. Scattered debris bore mute testimony to the fury of the storm. Huge steel beams from the ag building were scattered across a field across from the school, and initial reports indicated a five mile long debris trail from where the tornado first struck down.

The main school building was apparently undamaged in the storm and no injuries were logged.

First report of the tornado was received at the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center at 8:28, when Mrs. Rudolph Moraw, who lives approximately two miles south of Needmore called to report spotting the tornado. At the time she was watching it, it was to the west of her home.

In less than one minute, other calls were coming in at the law center about the twister.

Then at 8:42, calls were flocking into the law agency reporting what had been 'hit' by the twisting storm. At that time, Civil Defense and the Bailey County Volunteer Fire Department, along with all local law enforcement officers had been notified.

In a hard driving rain, officers and emergency workers started into the area, only to find on their arrival that very little or no rain had fallen at the location where the tornado touched down, inflicting the heavy damage.

Members of the Three Way Senior class, who were at the school at the time of the tornado, started helping teachers move furnishings from the damaged and destroyed apartments. The seniors, who were at the school planning a senior trip to Padre Island, Wednesday morning, immediately cancelled the trip and contributed their trip money to Newton, who was senior class sponsor. He lost his home and most of his furnishings in the storm.

One man who lived just west of the school said he thought the tornado was a huge 'dust devil' and raised his daughter up to a window to watch the 'dust devil' when it struck the school complex and the man realized he was watching a 'real' tornado.

In Muleshoe, emergency measures were activated, and storm shelters were opened. Telephone lines were clogged at the Law Enforcement Center with individuals asking if 'bad weather' was in the area and wanting to know what the weather was going to do. Shelters were opened for the many persons who arrived at the law center seeking a safe place from the funnel cloud which was approaching the Muleshoe area.

The storm passed just east of Muleshoe and a tornado was reported to be on the ground for a short time approximately three miles southeast of Sudan. Weather spotters tracked the clouds which menaced the area, and in a short time, another tornado was reported to be on the ground just to the East of

Action Areas Listed For Development

In searching to further develop rural communities, leaders should look at the "action areas," suggests a community resource development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Richard Floyd cites the U.S. Industrial Outlook recently published by the Department of Commerce which shows anticipated product shipment gains for major industries. These include steel, 27 percent; automotive 21; aluminum 20; foundries, 20; paper and paper boards 17; computers and related equipment, 14; industrial and organic chemicals, 13; commercial printing, 11; drugs, nine; electric components, eight; meat packing plants, seven; construction machinery, four; and aircraft, three percent. Floyd contends that these are "action areas" for industrial prospecting.

The Extension specialist also points out that all of the major manufacturing industries project higher spending this year. The largest increases are motor vehicles, 38 percent; rubber, 27; and "other non-durables" 21. Increases of more than 10 percent are projected by the aircraft, machinery, textile, petroleum and "other durables" industries.

The industries that are anticipating growth and expansion should be prime targets for prospecting by community leaders, believes Floyd.

Enochs, 11 miles east of where the first tornado had inflicted the heavy damage. It reportedly lifted back into the clouds without any reported damage or injuries.

At the Three Way School, it was noted that much of the equipment in the ag building, including large lathes, drills and other machinery, remained in place, some of it buried by debris. Members of the Bailey County Civil Defense and Bailey County Volunteer Fire Department stayed throughout the night, setting up lights operated from generators. From the time the tornado left the trail of damage from the Three Way School area, Lamb County officers reported as many as 11 tornadoes dangling and touching the ground at one time in the approaching storm. The storm system had built quickly during the late evening, and virtually sneaked unannounced into the unsuspecting area.

By midnight, most of the severe weather had cleared from the area, leaving Three Way School officials and teachers with a massive clean-up around the school, the ag building and the destroyed apartments just south of the building. Residents of that area were expressing their own 'thanks' that no one was injured in the storm as they prepared to put the school back into order enough to complete the school year.

In and around Muleshoe, moisture of up to one-quarter inch was reported. In the southern part of the country, almost one-half inch was received in a narrow band just south of where the tornado struck the Three Way School. DPS officers enroute to the tornado site reported brief, heavy downpours while traveling south.

Late Tuesday night, National Weather Service at Lubbock said much the same type of weather could be expected in the area on Wednesday, with possible severe thunderstorms, some high wind and small hail.

DeShazo School In Contest, Games

The students in Mrs. Kathleen Hamilton's Title I Reading and Math classes took a couple of weeks from their regular routine and had a contest.

The contest involved each student individually or in pairs, to make games to use in the classroom. The students looked at games already in the room, purchased through school supply stores. They also looked at games made by their teacher, Mrs. Hamilton, and the aide, Mrs. Olga Perez. Then the students set about to create their own ideas. The games had to teach or reinforce a concept learned in either reading or math. Planning materials was the most difficult task, for each student had to decide what things he would use for his game. The actual making of the game came after all plans had been made and approved. Spinners, markers, and gameboards are very time consuming if done neatly.

All students were enthusiastic about the games, which Mrs. Hamilton uses to supplement her program. Games are only used if they reinforce concepts learned in reading and math classes. One game may be the key that unlocks a difficult concept for some child. Children have unlimited supplies of

It wasn't heartstopping moments, as the game was tied 5-5 in top of the ninth. However, the Patriots scored four runs on the Royals, and held them scoreless to take the game.

In the second game, the Bovina Rebels found the going rough, but managed to defeat the Royals after the local team had led during most of the game. In the sixth inning, the Rebels came from behind and bounced six quick runs during the last three innings to take the game, 10-6.

May 1, the Royals played the Hereford Rancheros. Hereford scored eight quick runs as the Royals got off to a bad start in the first inning.

Errors again proved costly for the Royals, as they ended the game 20-8 losers to the Hereford team.

Muleshoe's Royals will play the Bovina Rebels Sunday in Babe Ruth Park in Muleshoe.

ideas, and the only answer is to take advantage of their thinking.

The contest was divided into two areas, reading and math. There were 15 entries in reading and 9 entries in math. The entries included students in third, fourth, fifth grades, and Special Education students at Mary DeShazo.

The games were judged by Mrs. Kathleen Francis, counselor; Bill Taylor, principal; and Mrs. Toni Eagle, physical education teacher. The judges looked carefully at each game and based the final decision on the game's:

1. Neatness.

2. Clear directions.

3. Appeal. What makes you want to play this game?

4. The concept taught or reinforced.

5. Storage of materials used for the game.

6. Playability. Is it easy to play?

The contest was very successful and the students are enjoying playing with the games they made. They learned many things with this program and now have an idea of what it takes to make their favorite games. They also know that a few scrap materials found in their own homes can make games for fun and learning, also.

The winners include:

Second Prize - Abelino Flores - Fourth Grade.

Third Prize - Greg Haney - Fifth Grade.

AF Highest Honor Presented Wittner

Gene Wittner was presented the Air Force Scroll of Appreciation last Friday during an award ceremony in the office of Brigadier General Edward Mendel, the commander of Reese Air Force Base's 64th Flying Training Wing.

The Scroll of Appreciation is the highest award that the U.S. Air Force can bestow upon a civilian.

Wittner was honored for his life saving actions following the mid-air collision of two T-38 Talon jet trainers from Reese on December 14, 1977.

Through a quirk of circumstances, Wittner actually witnessed the accident while working on power lines near Enochs, Texas. Upon seeing three parachutes open in the air, he immediately stopped work, began to contact the appropriate authorities to inform them of the accident, and, with his four co-workers went to the aid of the downed pilots.

Seeing that two of the pilots were uninjured, Wittner directed his attention to First Lieutenant Robert L. Jones, an instructor pilot with the 54th Flying Training Squadron, who had hit the ground harder than the two other pilots. Lieutenant Jones appeared to be unconscious and had stopped breathing.

Wittner began giving mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to Lieutenant Jones and continued to do so almost continuously for about 40 minutes until they were on the way by ambulance to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, Texas. Doctors at both the Reese AFB and Methodist hospitals credit Mr. Wittner's quick action with saving the life of Lieutenant Jones, who is now undergoing rehabilitation treatment at a Veterans Administration Hospital in Houston, Texas.

Wittner is employed by the Bailey County Electric Cooperative of Muleshoe, and works out of their Morton office. He resides in Morton where he serves as the Scoutmaster for Troop 601. Wittner, a native of Three Way, is a U.S. Navy veteran who has worked for the Cooperative for the past 18 years. He attributes his ability to react decisively in the emergency situation near Enochs to a combination of training received in the Navy, the Scouts, but primarily to the monthly safety programs conducted by Mr. Lawrence Stovall of the Texas A&M University Extension Service for the Bailey County Electric Cooperative.

The Air Force Scroll of Appreciation was first authorized to be awarded on August 30, 1948. Wittner was awarded by the Honorable Thomas C. Reed, Secretary of the Air Force at the time of Mr. Wittner's actions, and by General David C. Jones, Air Force Chief of Staff. The receipt of this award is a rare honor as only seven scrolls were presented worldwide during the past two years.

Following the award presentation, Wittner, who was accompanied during the day's activities by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wittner of Three Way, lunched at the officers club, toured the base facilities, and was hosted by the pilots of the 54th Flying Training Squadron in an informal "thank you" gathering at the squadron.

Senior Citizens Named To Board

Senator John Tower (R-Tex) today announced the names of the two persons who will represent Texas in the Senior Citizens intern program he is sponsoring in Washington, D.C. in May.

Noe P. Jimenez, a retired school teacher and administrator from Corpus Christi, and James P. Waldrop, a retired Naval officer and civil servant from Dallas, were chosen from more than 150 applicants by an independent panel composed of representatives of Senior Citizens groups from across the state.

Tower cited the work of Jimenez and Waldrop, both leaders in Senior Citizen activities on a local and state level, and said that he looked forward to tapping their experience during their two weeks on his staff in Washington.

"Both senior interns have demonstrated a concerned commitment to their peers -- retired Texans and those over 65 years of age. I know they will contribute much to my understanding of the needs and concerns of our senior citizens," Tower said.

Fifty three Congressmen and Senators each are bringing two senior interns to Washington for the program, which is authorized and funded by Congress. Tower is the first member of the Texas delegation to participate.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills

Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek comes out with a simplified tax system this week, surely with tongue in cheek, although you never can tell.
Dear Editor:
About this time of the year, a short while after income tax paying time, somebody comes out with a demand to simplify the tax forms and everybody agrees; that is, everybody except lawyers and other people who get paid for filling in the forms.

One economist who had trouble understanding the complicated 1040 instructions which send you from one page to another and then back again, in language not even clear to the man who wrote it, came out with a simple plan. He says throw out all the forms, the deductions, the credits, etc., and just tax everybody 10 percent of his income, regardless of what it is. He claims this will bring in about the same tax revenue as the present complicated system, not to mention how much coffee it'll save for people who stay up late April 15 sweating over the thing.

This plan is far too simple for the government to consider. The government isn't interested in something unless it's unreasonable.

The plan however is sound, only it doesn't go far enough. Instead of taxing 10 percent of your total income, it ought to tax 10 percent of what you have left at the end of the year. This would suit everybody except those with a million-dollar income. They like the present system.

Now the government will argue this wouldn't leave it enough to operate on. The same argument can be turned the other way: the present tax system doesn't leave some people enough to operate on either.

But we're all facing days of austerity, we've been told, and the government shouldn't be exempt, although this goes contrary to the fundamental principles of politics. When a politician tells us to tighten our belts, he generally shows us how belts are adjustable by loosening his. Congress just recently taught us how to fight inflation by giving itself a 29 percent raise.

Yours faithfully,

J.A.

Park Offers Fishing
Caprock Canyons State Park located just north of Quitaque is one of the newest parks in the Texas system and the clean, cool waters of Lake Theo are drawing many visitors.

Although the 15,000-plus acre park is not developed for overnight camping or extended backpacking, day-use picnickers, anglers and sightseers are enjoying the scenic caprock country.
"Fishing has been good for crappie with a few largemouth bass being caught this spring," said Marquis Robertson, park superintendent.
"There is no day-use or entrance fee since the park is not fully developed," Robertson continued.
The present day-use hours are from 8 to 5 daily but, the summer hours from 8 to 9 will go into effect on May 28.
Boaters are restricted to out-board motors under 12 horsepower and boats under 19 feet in length. All Texas water safety rules and regulations apply on the lake and are enforced by both parks personnel and Texas game wardens.
All persons requiring a Texas fishing license are asked to buy one before entering the park to fish as none are available at the headquarters office.

More information about Caprock Canyons State Park is available by writing the park at P.O. Box 204, Quitaque, Texas 79255 or by calling 806/455-1492.
Smallmouths Put In Area Lakes
Bass fishing received a shot in the arm last week as the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department stocked 350,000 smallmouth bass in two area lakes.
The inch-long bass were transported from the state fish hatchery at San Marcos and 40,000 were put in Mackenzie lake near Silvertown and 310,000 were stocked in Lake Meredith near Fritch.
The trip from central Texas was made without incident and very few bass were lost from the shock of transporting over the long distance. Agitators and bottled oxygen were used during the trip to keep the young fighters healthy.
These smallmouths are the offspring of Tennessee smallmouth brought to Texas two years ago. Several Texas lakes now have a catchable population of smallmouth bass including Lake Meredith where anglers are catching some nice one-pound fish.

Both Meredith and Mackenzie lakes have the required habitat that smallmouth bass prefer which includes rocky points, and deep, cool water.
Anglers are finding that the new import prefers about the same lures and bait as the native largemouth bass of the Panhandle and South Plains reservoirs.
More fish stockings in public waters are planned by the fishery division of the P&WD which is just one of the many benefits Texas anglers enjoy when they buy a Texas fishing license for $4.25.

New Protection Due For Insured Drivers

The possibility of a financial loss because of an auto accident with an uninsured Texas driver will be substantially reduced if a bill now before the Texas Legislature meets approval.

That's the view of Richard Geiger, Dallas attorney representing the Association of Fire and Casualty Companies in Texas (AFACT).

"Some estimates suggest as many as 20 to 25 percent of the Texas drivers are uninsured," Geiger said in a statement released this week in behalf of AFACT. "If these figures are anywhere near correct, this is a critical problem for the other 75 to 80 percent."

Geiger said House Bill 1281 by R.E. (Gene) Green of Houston, and an identical one, Senate Bill 1256 by Kent Hance of Lubbock, represent an "innovative, forward-looking approach both on the part of the Legislature and by auto insurers in Texas."

These bills expand the uninsured motorists coverage now available, include property damage protection with a $250 deductible, and offer a new concept of underinsured motorist coverages.

This is viewed by AFACT and others as the most practical means to protect insured drivers against the increasing numbers deciding to "go bare"; that is, without automobile insurance.

The uninsured driver problem has resulted in efforts to require insurance of all Texas drivers. Both Green and Hance have been associated previously with this kind of proposal, an approach opposed by the insurance industry. Now, however, there appears to be united support for Green's HB 1281 and Hance's SB 1256. AFACT, for instance, initiated discussion on the points which have evolved to HB 1281 and SB 1256 as an answer to the problem.

"The compulsory approach has been a miserable failure wherever it's been attempted," Geiger said, "because it's impossible to get full compliance, it's expensive to administer, and it's impractical to police."

Geiger said, "The more reasonable approach is to provide a means for responsible drivers to protect themselves adequately against the irresponsible."

In states with a compulsory law, Geiger said, total participation has never reached 100 percent, "and in fact the highest percentage of drivers with insurance is still under 90 percent. And uninsured motorist insurance is still offered because the states recognize it is needed for drivers to be fully protected."

The Green and Hance bills respond to this concept of fully protecting drivers.

"Where these bills differ from others we've seen," Geiger said, "is the fact that in addition to extending what's offered now, 'underinsured' motor vehicles are added, as is property damage. These are significant broadening of the available coverage."

"Underinsured motor vehicles and motorists" are defined as existing when someone has insurance, and thus is not uninsured, but whose insurance is not adequate in some cases.

An underinsured situation might exist because the policy was not written in a high enough amount in the first place, or if the amount was reduced to an inadequate level because of other claims against the policy arising from a single accident.

An "underinsured motor vehicle," as presently defined in the law, is when there is no insurance on the vehicle, as required by the Texas Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Act.

This financial responsibility act requires motorists to have a minimum of what is described as "10/20/5" -- or $10,000 to cover injuries to one person; $20,000 to cover all injuries in one accident; and $5,000 for damage to another person's property.

Geiger said the bills in the House and Senate add a further change in the present law which may be of interest to the public.

"As it stands now, if there is a dispute whether a vehicle is uninsured, the burden of proof on this issue is on the policyholder," Geiger said. "The proposed bill would transfer this burden to the insurance company -- and this is a benefit to the consumer which shouldn't be overlooked."

Geiger said the cost for the new coverages as proposed by Green and Hance would be nominal, in contrast to the expected result if compulsory insurance were to become law.

you can BANK on it!

Bill Loyd, President Muleshoe State Bank

Two major reasons banks exist are 1) to protect your money, and 2) to lend money. This pertains to the latter reason.

Having the information necessary for a loan is relatively simple if you will prepare three things for the loan officer: a general financial statement, a projection and a personal financial statement.

The general financial statement applies to a business or a specific project and includes a balance sheet and an income and expense statement.

The projection is usually an estimate of future income and expenses. It also shows the banker that you have goals and visions and a way of putting dreams into reality.

The third is the personal financial statement, a useful tool because it provides the banker with the information he's looking for to make his judgment upon.

For personal loans on cars, refrigerators and the like, the personal financial statement would certainly help speed the paper work.

If you need help making one up, come by. We'll be happy to assist you.

Telephone, CWA In Agreement

Negotiating committee chairmen for Communications Workers of America and General Telephone of the Southwest reported Friday (April 29) tentative agreements have been reached on 20 to 58 items introduced by both parties. Sixteen proposals had been introduced by the company and 42 by the Union.

The spokesmen said additional research on remaining administrative and lesser benefit proposals is still underway. Once these have been resolved discussion of major benefit items will be discussed.

The items agreed to by both groups to date are tentative until agreement is reached on the total package.

Talks to date have centered largely around non-economic issues. Both parties agreed earlier that non-economic items would be resolved before proceeding to economic items.

The present contract expires May 15. However, the spokesman explained if talks are not completed, negotiations can continue after that date under an "evergreen clause." An evergreen clause states as long as negotiations are progressing activities will continue under the existing contract.

Every business that offers men and women an opportunity to make an honest living is an asset to the entire community.

THE PERFECT PAIR

FOR THE SOUTH PLAINS

PIONEER BRAND 8311

The Proven One

PIONEER BRAND 8272

The New One

This matched pair of heavy yielders can produce a profit in spite of increased cost of farming. They both have in-bred yield potential which gives you a profit even with expensive water and fertilizer. 8311 has dominated yield results in this area for three years. 8272 promises even more. They both have sturdy stalks and good roots... they can take a lot of punishment and still be standing at harvest. And if you split big acreage between the two, you're going to have as pretty a field as you've ever seen... good exertion of heavy, uniform heads, all at the same height... beautiful... and profitable.

A four-year-old, disease-safe, high test weight yellow endosperm hybrid which is now a proven champion. Bushel weights normally run two to five pounds above other hybrids... and that's pure profit. Classified as a medium-late variety, it adjusts its maturity to make full use of growing seasons. A relatively short hybrid with good standability, 8311 has sturdy stalks, good roots and good head exertion. It has outstanding height uniformity and semi-open heads of golden bronze grain. This great hybrid has good tolerance and good resistance to post-freeze lodging.

This new full-season Pioneer hybrid is recommended for this area where adequate water and fertilizer are available. And though it responds to water with super yields, it can also take a little moisture stress and still produce well. It has good roots and stalks and excellent tolerance to MDMV. It has a beautiful appearance... the grain will be dark red on semi-compact heads. Plants are short like 8311 with good exertion and uniform head height for easy combining.

Texas Arson Attack Fundraising Begins

A Texas group organized to reduce arson has initiated a statewide fundraising campaign to pay for its 1977-78 public awareness and education programs.

Houston Fire Marshal Alcus Greer is president of A Texas Advisory Council on Arson, a non-profit group of organizations and individuals with an interest in arson prevention. Greer, on behalf of the council board of directors, is asking insurers, arson investigators, cities and city officials, law enforcement groups, prosecutors, fire service representatives, business and consumer interests to contribute.

"Every time a fraudulent insurance claim is paid because of an arsonist's work, we all pay ultimately through higher insurance rates," Greer said. "Every time fire fighters respond to a call because a fire has been purposely set, everyone's tax dollars are spent."

"But even worse than the dollar loss is the danger to human life—both to firefighters and individuals who may be innocently trapped by the fire," Greer said.

"Because this is a crime that affects everyone, we are going to everyone in the state for support, not just insurance companies and fire fighters," he noted. "In this way we can attack arson on the widest possible front."

Greer said that in the past six years incendiary has been responsible for more than 50 percent of the fire losses in Houston alone. The statewide losses are impossible to measure. Some authorities estimate arson is responsible for as much as one-third of the paid insurance claims for property losses nationwide, he said.

A federally-funded study recently reported that arson is second only to war in its cost to society. The researchers said that in 1975 arson cost the lives of 1,000 people, injured 10,000 others and caused $1.4 billion in property damage.

"The council is convinced that with expanded education, tougher laws, public education and awareness, plus a broad-based attack on arson, the dollar loss as well as human suffering can be reduced," Greer said.

Frank Hanlon of Austin, claims specialist for State Farm Insurance Co., is vice president of ATAC on Arson and chairman of its finance committee.

Other officers are Secretary Garland Fulbright of Austin, executive director of the Texas Commission on Fire Protection Personnel Standards and Education and Treasurer Jack Boon of Austin, assistant attorney general, enforcement division.

Members of the board include: J. Bruce Aycock, Corpus Christi city attorney; Richard W. Brainerd of Vega, president of the Texas District and County Attorneys Association; Scurry County Sheriff Keith Collier; James E. Lewis, Mesquite fire chief; Charles B. Lohr, Jr. of Dallas, assistant vice president, Republic Financial Services, Inc.; Chester A. Shelton, Beaumont fire chief; J.C. Rabuck of Houston, accident prevention manager, Gulf Oil; Charles Sanfilippo of Yoakum, immediate past president, Texas Association of Mutual Insurance Companies; John R. Rauch of College Station, associate training specialist, Texas A&M Fire Protection Division; and Capt. W.D. Wilson of Austin, senior captain, Texas Rangers.

There are about 300 people presently identified with the ATAC on Arson.

A free pamphlet telling of the inception, organization and goals of the council is available to anyone upon request. For a copy of the pamphlet titled "Arson in Texas: It Should Burn You Up!" or other information about the council, its budget or needs, write: A Texas Advisory Council on Arson, 1011 Congress, Suite 501, Austin, Tx. 78701.

Support Is Asked For 'Clean Air'

Charles K. Barden, Executive Director of the Texas Air Control Board, is encouraging every citizen of the State to observe Clean Air Week in Texas, May 1-7.

"Now, especially," states Barden, "is the time when everyone must realize the importance of the damaging effects of air pollution, when our nation is being called on to sacrifice in order to conserve our depleted energy resources."

"Governor Dolph Briscoe has designated this period by proclamation, to reflect this State's determination that the problem of air pollution can and must be solved," said the Executive Director.

Even though significant progress has been made, the most difficult part of the task lies ahead. According to Barden, it has become apparent that efforts must be directed toward additional research and analyses of the basic components of air pollution if they are to be dealt with effectively.

"In many areas, policies have forced us beyond the limits of known technology," he emphasizes. "The production and use of our energy and the protection of environmental quality are too often viewed as mutually exclusive and opposing issues. In reality, energy and environment are the same issue. Both our energy supplies and our air are natural resources which must be managed for the common good. It is imperative that we all realize that we can no longer afford to misuse our air resources just as we cannot afford to use energy in a wasteful manner. We must find a balance between energy and environment and use both resources wisely."

This must be a unified effort if Texas and the nation are to succeed. This means that cleaning up the air is not just the job of the Texas Air Control Board, it is also the responsibility of everyone that is willing to help, including: industry, educators, and private citizens.

According to Barden, "Even then, immediate solutions to all of the problems cannot be assured, when such aspects as continued economic growth are weighed against environmental quality. Still, with the cooperation of all Texans, the Texas Air Control Board can make application of sensible control measures that will lead to significant reductions of air contaminants, and individual citizens can help by keeping themselves informed and supporting the cause of Clean Air Week in Texas all year long."
