An April Violet.

Under the Larch with its tassels wet, While the early sunbeams lingered yet, In the rosy dawn, my love I met. Under the Larch, when the sun was set, He came with an April violet; Forty years—and I have it yet. Out of life with its fond regret, What have Love and Memory yet? Only an April violet.

International Railroad.

We had a call from Mr. J. Carroll Smith, who is devoting a part of his time as agent for the sale of property at Hearne. He gives a favorable report of the sales, and says that many new buildings are being rapidly erected.

He further gives us the gratifying report of the arrival of cars and locomotives, and that track laying commenced some days ago at Hearne, which work will progress until the Trinity river, some eighty miles, is reached, and he has no doubt but the cotton on the upper Trinity will be moved to market next season by the International road, thus giving the planters and merchants an early benefit of low transportation from competition with the steamers plying on said river.

At Hearne the company are preparing to erect a large and substantial machine shop, depot, round houses, etc., giving employment to hundreds of mechanics. Parties have a bill before the Legislature for a cotton gin. A cotton seed oil factory is in contemplation, and correspondence is going on with Northern capitalists with reference to the establishment of a cotton factory, etc. A well organized hospital, under competent physicians, to be assisted by the Sisters of Charity, has been established!—Galveston News.

From the N. Y. Independent. The Country needs the Republican Party.

The action and the human race never needed the Republican party more than they do now. We have only just come to understand that the war between slavery and barbarism on the one hand, and liberty and civilization on the other is not yet fought out. Beaten in the open field, the rebellion yet lives in the lawlessness of Southern scoundrelism. Beaten by ballots, and beaten by bullets, it shows, like other venomous creatures, a wonderful tenacity of life. Liberty is not yet established at the South. Freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of political action are yet hardly known there. If the Democratic party were to come into power to-morrow the whole work of reconstruction would be undone; the franchise would be taken away from the negroes, and under some form or other, slavery or its equivalent would be restored.

Let us remember one thing. The lost cause is not an abandoned cause; when the rebellion fights us again, it will be with the arms, the forts the ships, and the prestige of the Government itself. When we vote at the next Presidential election, we vote face to face and ballot to ballot with the rebellion. The battle of next year will be more decisive than the taking of New Orleans and Vicksburg and Richmond together. If under a Republican administration the whole South is full of lawlessness, what would be the state of things with Fernando Wood and Sunset Cox in the Cabinet? If mayors of cities are shot, banished and abducted while Grant is President, what will be done when Hoffman reigns? If they do these things in a green tree, what will they not do in the dry? The lesson of the hour is plain. Every patriotic consideration demands that Republicans should stand by the party of liberty and human rights. No dissatisfaction with the President, or with any other leader, can justify lukewarmness in the cause. And we warn the Administration that it cannot afford to divide the party by pushing any object, however desirable.

At Washington, Illinois, a man has got his neighbors to talk about him because he chased his wife up a tree and threw his children out of the window. He would have had to explain those suspicious circumstances if he hadn't jumped into a well and drowned himself, thus destroying all clue to his eccentricity. The family are getting their broken limbs set again.

A Bit of Fine Description.

In Mr. Parkman's "Conspiracy of Pontiac," just published in Boston, is the following descriptive passage:

"In the calm days of summer the Ojibwa fisherman pushes out his birch canoe upon the great inland ocean of the north, and, as he gazes down into its pellucid depths, he seems like one balanced between earth and sky. The watchful fish bask circles above his head; and below, farther than his line will reach, he sees the trout glide shadowy and silent over the glimmering pebbles. The little islands on the verge of the horizon seem now starting into spires, now melting from the sight, now shaping themselves into a thousand fantastic forms, with the strange mirage of the waters; and he fancies that the evil spirits of the lake are basking their serpent-forms on those unhallow shores. Again, he explores the warty labyrinth where the stream sweeps among the pine tufted islands, or runs, black and deep, beneath the shadows of moss bearded firs; or he drags his canoe upon the sandy beach, and, while his camp fire crackles on the grass plat, reclines beneath the trees and smokes and laughs away the sultry hours in a lazy luxury of enjoyment.

But when winter descends upon the north, sealing up the fountains, fettering the streams, and turning the green robed forests to shivering nakedness, then, bearing their frail dwellings on their backs, the Ojibwa family wandered forth into the wilderness, cheered only on their dreary track by the whistling of the north wind and the hungry howl of wolves. By the banks of some frozen stream women and children, men and dogs, lie crouched together around the fire. They spread their benumbed fingers over the embers, while the wind shrieks through the fire trees like a gale through the rigging of a frigate, and the narrow concave of the wigwam sparkles with the frostwork of their congealed breath. In vain they beat the magic drum, and call upon their guardian manitoes—the wary moose keeps aloof, the bear lies close in his hollow tree, and famine stares them in the face. And now the hunter can fight no more against the nipping cold and blinding sleet. Still and stark, with haggard cheek and shriveled lip, he lies among the snowdrifts, till, with tooth and claw, the famished wild cat strives in vain to pierce the frigid marble of his limbs. Such harsh schooling is thrown away on the incorrigible mind of the Northern Algonquin. He lives in misery, as his fathers lived before him. Still in the brief hour of plenty he forgets the season of want, and still the sleet and the snow descends upon his houseless head.

The Irrepressibles.

The political campaign in the District of Columbia received to day a new and unique element. It has been known for some time that certain ladies were intending to take opportunity of the coming election to test the right of their sex to vote under the new territorial organization. At 3 P. M., while the board was sitting for the registration of voters, a large delegation of ladies appeared at the City Hall. The file leaders were Mrs. Dr. Lockwood and Miss Dr. Mary E. Walker, and each carried a bouquet for the gallant clerk who should register her. They were followed by Mrs. S. E. Edson, Dr. Caroline Winslow, and the whole array of petitioners advancing to the desk of Mr. Crocker, Chief Register, they presented the following petition:

"We, the undersigned citizens of Washington, D. C., believing it to be our solemn duty, a part of the allegiance we owe to our Maker, to our country, and to our homes, to exercise the right of the elective franchise, hereby earnestly petition that our names be registered as qualified in our several districts." To this petition were appended some 60 names, many of them prominent ladies in the district. The list includes Mrs. Lippencott, better known as Grace Greenwood, Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth, the novelist, Mrs. Carrie Ketchum, a new lecturer, Mrs. Bella Smith, artist, and Mrs. Josephine L. Griffing. After presenting the petition each lady advanced to the Registry Clerk of her district, and made a formal application to register. All

The names were taken for reference, but none were registered. Dr. Mary Walker then mounted the stand, and in a short blast violently denounced the registers and the laws under which they acted, after which the squad withdrew. The affair creates a decided sensation in the city, as the Board of Registration had already decided adversely upon the application of women to register. It is understood that the formal application to-day is made as a preliminary to entering suit in the courts to test the right of women to register and vote under the 14th Amendment of the Constitution.—Washington Chronicle.

A Lawyer's Puns.

In a recent sketch of the late Mr. Logan, a Scotch barrister and county court judge, who died at the age of fifty, in the year 1862, the following stories are told:

We have seen him with great wits and wags, distancing them all in the long run, and fresh and beginning when they were ended. We are only saying what all will say who have witnessed those rare occasions, when we say that the intellectual wealth of the man—his amazing memory and its precision—his fun, and wild appropriation of all thoughts and things for his ends made one of those mental delights we like to remember. It is not easy to give his jokes, for they were not shots—prepared and fired off—they were magnificent feux de joie, before which you fell in helpless laughter. Some one was explaining Carlyle's savage—but not so far wrong—political creed as to criminals, and telling of his advising the good old German fashion of carting the wretch out in a rough wagon into some wild place, then sticking a stout sharp stick through him into the ground, and "bidding him a grim good night." Mr. Logan said, "That was at least giving him a stake in the country." Now there is the true stuff in this impromptu. To some one advising him to read a bombastic book on a good subject, and saying, "Don't you like to expatiate in that field?" He replied, "I can not get over the style."

The superintendent asked me to take charge of a Sunday-school class.

"You'll find'em rather a hard lot," said he. "They all went fishing last Sunday but little Johnny Rand. He is really a good boy and I hope his example may yet redeem others. I wish you'd talk to'em a little."

I told him I would.

They were rather a hard looking set: I don't think I ever witnessed a more elegant set of black eyes in my life. Little Johnny Rand, the good boy, was in his place, and I smiled on him approvingly.

As soon as the lessons were over, I said:

"Boys, your superintendent tells me you went fishing last Sunday. All but little Johnny, here. You didn't go, did you, Johnny?" I said.

"No, sir."

"That was right. Though this boy is the youngest among you," I continued, "you learn from his own lips words of good counsel, which I hope you will profit by."

I lifted him up on the seat beside me, and smoothed his auburn ringlets.

"Now Johnny, I want you to tell these wicked boys why you didn't go fishing with them last Sunday. Speak up loud now. Was it because it was very wicked, and you would rather go to Sunday-school wasn't it?"

"No, sir, it was because I could not find the worms for bait."

Somehow or other these good boys always turn out humbugs.

A law student was reading Kent very assiduously, and used a bookmark to indicate each day how far he advanced. His fellow student secretly changed the place of the mark, so that he read the same paragraph over for ten successive days without discovering anything wrong. He finally remarked that Kent seemed a good deal alike so far as he had gone, when the laugh of some of his companions revealed the imposition they had played upon him.

That no money appropriated by this act shall be applied to the payment of alleged claims against the United States in favor of George Chorpensing, now pending before the Sixth Auditor of the Treasury, or any part thereof.

Sec. 2. That the following sums, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be, and the same are hereby, appropriated for the year ending June thirty, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, namely:

For steamship service between the United States and Brazil, one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

For steamship service between San Francisco and the Sandwich Islands, seventy-five thousand dollars.

Sec. 3. That if the revenues of the Post Office Department shall be insufficient to meet the appropriations made by this act, then the sum of three million, nine hundred and sixty nine thousand three hundred and eighty three dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be, and the same is hereby, appropriated, to be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to supply deficiencies in the revenue of the Post Office Department for the year ending June thirty, eighteen hundred and seventy-two.

Sec. 4. That all bidders, upon every mail route, for the transportation of mails upon the same, shall hereafter accompany their bids (where they exceed five thousand dollars) with a certified check or draft, payable to the order of the Postmaster General, of some reliable banking house or banking institution, which check or draft shall not be less than five per cent on the amount that they would receive in any one year under such bid. In case any bidder, on being awarded any such contract, such bidder or bidders shall forfeit the amount so deposited to the United States, for the use of the Post Office Department; otherwise, such draft or check, so deposited, shall be returned to the bidder, to whom it belongs.

Sec. 5. That it shall be unlawful for the Newport and Cincinnati Bridge Company, or any other company, or person, to proceed in the erection of the bridge now being constructed over the Ohio River from the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, to the city of Newport, Kentucky, and the approaches thereon, unless the said bridge shall be so constructed that the channel shall be four hundred feet, as now located, shall have under said span a clear roadway, of low water, of one hundred feet below any point of said channel span, and in such case no draw shall be required in said bridge; all the other spans of said bridge, which cover the Ohio river, to low water mark, shall have a clear roadway of not less than seventy feet above low water mark, and the other spans of the said bridge, extending to each shore, may be made of less elevation than seventy feet above low water mark, to accommodate a less grade for the approaches to said bridge. And when the foregoing requirements shall have been complied with by the said Newport and Cincinnati Bridge Company, the location of said bridge, its structures and approaches, shall thereupon be deemed to be legalized, and declared to be lawful structures, and shall be recognized and known as a post road. The plans for changes in such bridge, made necessary by this act, shall be submitted by said company to the Secretary of War for his approval. And, in the event of the Bridge Company making the changes provided for in this act, it shall be lawful for the said company, after they shall have made the changes in said bridge, and the approaches thereto, as herein provided, to file their bill in equity against the United States in the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Ohio, and full jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon said court to determine first, whether the bridge, according to the plans on which it has progressed at the passage of this act, has been constructed so as substantially to comply with the provisions of law relating thereto; and second, the liability of the United States, if any there be, to the said company by reason of the changes by this act required to be made; and if the said court shall determine that the United States is so liable, and that said bridge was so being built, then the said court shall further ascertain and determine the amount of the actual and necessary cost and expenditures reasonably required to be incurred in making the changes in the said bridge and approaches as hereby authorized or required, in excess of the cost of building said bridge and approaches, according to the plan proposed, before the changes required by this act to be made; and the said court is hereby further authorized and required to proceed thereto in final decree as in other cases in equity. And it shall be lawful for either party to the said suit to appeal from the final decree of the said circuit court, to the supreme court of the United States in other cases, and the supreme court shall thereupon proceed to hear and determine the said case, and make a final decree thereon, and thereupon, if such decree shall be in favor of said company, the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States shall, out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, pay to the said company such sum of money as shall be the said supreme court so decreed to be paid to the said company; provided, nevertheless, that no money shall be paid by the Secretary of the Treasury to the said company until the supreme court of the United States, upon appeal taken as aforesaid, shall render a final decree in the case in favor of said company. Approved, March 3, 1871.

At all elections for directors, each share of stock shall be entitled to one vote, which may be given by the holders in person, or by proxy, who shall also be a shareholder. The directors shall hold their offices for any term not exceeding three years, as may be provided in the by-laws; and the annual meetings of stockholders shall take place as provided in the by-laws.

Sec. 3. (To be continued.)

There is a little story circulating in New York at the present time, to the effect that A. T. Stewart, some time ago purchased some property in Washington Place New York, directly opposite Commodore Vanderbilt's residence, and informed some of the Commodore's friends that he proposed to build a theatre on the grounds. When it reached the ears of the Commodore, he said that he owned some lots on Fifth Avenue, adjoining Stewart's marble palace at 34th street, and if Stewart built a theatre in Washington Place, he (Vanderbilt) would put a boiler shop on his lots on Fifth Avenue. The proposed theatre has not been built.

The Daily Express

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE UNITED STATES.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF BEXAR COUNTY AND CITY OF SAN ANTONIO.

STANLEY WELCH, Editor.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, 3

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at the city of Austin, this 28th day of August, 1870.

Simon Says.

There is a very ancient game that passes under the above name, and is played by any number of persons, who are bound to follow the movements of a central head, who manipulates his fingers for the others to follow, remarking, in accordance with the gesture, "Simon says."

It is evident that, ancient and silly as the game is, it has its admirers. The democracy, South, are just now playing it extensively, and the blind worshippers of the game are following every motion of their political leaders, regardless alike of comfort, convenience, and a looking to the final results.

Senator Blair, of Brodhead letter notoriety, and who was one of the democratic leaders of the contest of 1865, concluded to try the effects of a rebellion on a less gigantic scale than the one of '61, and accordingly issued his flat against the constitutionality of amendments to the constitution, that are in themselves a safeguard to the national welfare, and the overthrow of which will bring upon our country the most disastrous results, proceeding from class legislation, four millions of people with no rights of citizenship, and the placing of power in the hands of a genuine Southern, fire-eating set of followers and fanatics.

Among the first to conform to the notions of the leader, is Jefferson Davis, who, with stretched arms and baleful hate yet burning fire within him, desires to embrace his "dear people," who still believe in State sovereignty, and who have suffered terribly from "Yankee injustice," without retaliating, and accepting such injustice in a meek and lowly spirit. True, that "noble specimen" of Confederate play-activeness forgot the little matter of the Ku-Klux Klan, and of twelve to fifteen thousand loyal victims of its secret plots and assassinations, but then men of the chivalric stamp of Jefferson D. look upon such small matters (I) as bits of humor and jests that the people "he loves" will show now and then.

The next to show his attention and allegiance to what "Simon says," is the shifting, changing individual who calls himself Alex. H. Stephens. The game of "Simon says" suits him exactly. His changes are rapid. We know him first as a man opposing secession. Next he accepts a responsible position at the very head of the secessionists. The war closes, and he accepts the situation, until Frank Blair cries "Simon says," when he flops over, and in a long string of verbiage and bold assertions, says he "always was a southern man," always believed in State sovereignty, and always will.

So Wade Hampton, and other "brilliant stars," that shone for a while in the C.S.A., all endorse what "Simon says," and the issue of the contest of '78 hinges there. The situation is truly a peculiar one, State sovereignty, and freedom from all National restraint; privileges to keep the Ku Klux and not keep loyal men, is what Southern Democracy wants, accompanied by such little (I) side issues as "freedom from paying taxes" or repudiation of the national debt, civil service reform, whereby only democrats can hold office, and a general immunity from all interference by which equal rights or equal justice is to be enforced throughout the country; these are the principles which Blair plays upon his fingers to the cry of "Simon says," while his fellow players follow.

The only drawback to their complete enjoyment rests upon the fact that the majority of the American people are in no humor to engage in trifling just now. They want good, honest, hard work, by which the effects of the blight of a disastrous civil war may be counterbalanced. Messrs. Blair, Davis, Stephens, Hampton, and others, will have to give over their little game of "Simon says," and make room for working material. The toying with a Nation's welfare is barred.

The Question of Subsidies to Railroads.

The passage, in the House of Representatives, of the bill granting a large subsidy to two railroads, commands discussion upon the question of granting subsidies.

The bill, which has passed the House by a two-thirds vote, grants to the "Southern Pacific" railroad and "Trans-continental" railroad a subsidy of $10,000 to the mile to the junction of three roads, a distance of three hundred and fifty miles each, or seven hundred miles of road to be subsidized.

The bill contains the provision if the constitution is amended, allowing lands to be donated to public improvements, then this subsidy is to be exchanged for lands at the rate of twenty-four sections to the mile. This subsidy is not to go into effect until the roads are finished to the junction.

The objections to this bill, now before the Senate, are numerous and should be well considered by the members of the Legislature and the Governor, before it is allowed to become a law.

In the first place, is it good policy to give subsidies to private enterprises? We believe not, however much those enterprises may benefit the general welfare of the State. And there is a limit, beyond which such a policy cannot be pursued without great disaster to the State, and certain disaster to the political party that engrains it upon its platform; because it comes home to the people in the shape of burdensome taxation, and no public benefits serve to alleviate the sorrows of a tax-payer's pockets.

When the present administration went into office, the Governor had the foresight to see that our Legislature would be besieged by railroad propositions, asking aid from the State, and in his first message he advised against the policy of giving State aid to railroads, but intimated, that if the legislature felt compelled to aid some trunk road, in order to secure its speedy construction, to afford the commerce of our great State an outlet to the markets of the East and North, that such aid be given to a road running diagonally across the State, from northeast to southwest, as such a line could be tapped from all sections, and benefit a larger portion of the State than any other line suggested. Acting upon this hint, the "International" railroad was sprung upon the legislature, asking a subsidy of $10,000 to the mile. After a long and desperate fight, this bill became a law in the hands of the Governor.

During that session of the legislature, numerous other schemes were proposed, asking subsidies, until the amount reached the enormous figure of forty millions of dollars. The Governor opposed all further subsidies, and by his firmness kept back the tide of legislative liberality. Much bitterness arose out of this struggle between the Governor and the legislature.

At the opening of the present session, the Governor announced in his message, a determination to oppose all propositions asking a subsidy from the State. This announcement he made in the light of the "International," it was all the people were willing to bear, and the unpleasant rumors of repudiation on the part of the legislature itself, of the subsidy granted at the previous session, suggested the propriety of calling on that body to keep its faith with the International "but to go no further in the direction of subsidies. The policy announced at the opening of the session, seemed likely to remain undisturbed until the appearance of the "Southern Pacific and Trans-continental" subsidy bill. The popularity of this bill has arisen out of a desire to aid that great national enterprise, the "Texas Pacific," and the confidence inspired in its success by the men who have placed themselves at its head.

The objections to this bill are, that its very title denies that it is a subsidy to the "Texas-Pacific," that it is a subsidy to two roads, instead of one; that, even if it were good policy to give a subsidy, it should stop short the limits of the State; that the money subsidy is ruinous; and the land donation, depending upon a change of the constitution, is altogether too gigantic.

Did the bill simply ask for a donation of land, and that donation depended upon the ratification of a constitutional amendment allowing the same, then it would be a question with the people and the objections would not be so vital.

It is contended by some, that the door being opened by the "International," it must not be closed upon other equally important enterprises. In this there is no argument. The credit of the State should be maintained and not bankrupted at the bidding of railroad men, almost before it is fairly on its legs as a State. And if the door is not to be closed and kept closed, then we may as well surrender unconditionally to the mercy of moneyed monopolies, who will bandy our State credit about in the markets of the world, until there will be none so poor as to do us reverence. And who will be responsible for this? Most certainly the party now in power.

We cannot escape this responsibility, however much it may be asserted that the democratic representatives lent their aid to these subsidy schemes.

Is the Republican party prepared to place this subsidy policy, with its prospect of burdensome taxation, as a plank in its platform? We believe not; and we maintain that it is time to halt on the brink of the abyss that is now yawning beneath us. It will be time enough to aid these enterprises when the people have consented to give away the public lands. Pause, before you give away their money without their consent. Even this subsidy bill it is proposed to wait until 700 miles of railroad is built before the grant shall take effect, then there is no great hurry in the matter.

The Republican party of Texas has a bright future before it, when under its beneficent and wise control our great State enjoys peace and prosperity; and as that era approaches nearer at each sunrise, railroads will seek our remotest regions, as the rivers, rising in the north and east, force their way to the Gulf of Mexico.

The safest policy is on the side of economy and freedom from debt.

Give us an Election.

We observe that a bill has passed both Houses of the Legislature, calling for a Congressional election in October. We hope the Legislature will likewise introduce a bill declaring for a general election.

Attorney General Alexander is right in his decision, as to the time of the expiration of terms of the present Legislative assembly, and we look to see the Republican press throughout the State sustain him in that decision. We want an election. We desire to show the actual Republican strength of the State. We are confident of a victory, and we want to show the Democrats that we have no hesitation in coming to an election and meeting them fairly and squarely upon the issues of the two parties. Let us have a general election.

Austin Letter.

AUSTIN, April 27, 1871.

Congressional Election—Subsidies—Stock Bill, Etc.

The Senate Joint Resolution requiring the Governor to order a Congressional election on the first Tuesday in October, passed the House to-day. This postponement will cool the ardor of aspirants who have been on the warpath with the idea of an election in August. The lighter material will flake out before October.

The stock bill, which is of such great interest to West Texas, has a hard time getting through the Senate, and has again been referred to a committee.

There is very little work of any importance before the Legislature. The appropriation bill, and a few acts of a general character, is all that really detains this expensive body. But there are shadowy forms of subsidy schemes hovering about the Capital, awaiting the fate of the Southern Pacific Subsidy bill: if the Governor is overcome, then all these schemes will rush through the breach made. The Democrats are now a unit in favor of the subsidy policy, and so far have those Democratic Representatives carried their subsidy enthusiasm that they have refused longer to support the San Antonio Gazette, which opposes the subsidy policy. The Democrats claim the championship of the railroads, and there is some justice in their claim, when we consider that at times they have held the balance of power between opposing wings of the Republican party, on this internal improvement business.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—The Fair jury were out forty minutes; verdict—murder in the first degree.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 26.—Grant, Colfax and Morton are here participating in Odd Fellow festivities.

NEW ORLEANS, April 26.—It is officially stated that the Bonnet Carré crevasse was 1100 feet wide at five this evening. Immense volumes of water are pouring through the break. At the twelve mile post on the Jackson railroad, the water is running six inches over the track. The engineers who came down cribbing, report Walker's swamps completely submerged with water, coming into the fields around Kennerville, and the swamps back of this city are commencing to fill up from water backing in from the lake. Nothing received at this hour from other crevasses.

The following is from the official report of the Chief Engineer of State, Thompson: "2 p. m.—Upon my return from Bonnet Carré crevasse this evening, I found very limited news from other crevasses. Nothing definite or worth publishing. By telegrams, I learn the river has fallen three inches at Vicksburg, and two inches at Baton Rouge. It is now eight feet eight inches below the high water mark of 1867 at Vicksburg, and thirteen inches below the high water mark this year at Baton Rouge. I found Bonnet Carré crevasse eleven hundred feet wide to-day, but the current and waves had decreased in proportion as the back lands became fuller of water, and the surface of the river lowered. The high water mark at Lagous is almost twenty-two feet above the level of Lake Pontchartrain. The levee beyond is twelve feet high. The natural surface of ground at Forches, where the crevasse commenced, is but ten feet above the level of the lake. To-day the river had fallen and the plantations were covered with water to the base of the levee only, therefore I report the current through the crevasse has decreased, and probably no more water passes to-day than yesterday. I am indebted to Colonel Walton for a circulation of the volume of water passing that he made the morning before our arrival, which shows one hundred and eighty thousand cubic feet per second, or one-sixth the whole volume of the Mississippi. That the joint work of saving the ends of the levee is progressing slowly on account of the want of experienced labor, and the changing conditions of field operations. The steam pile driver got hard aground away from work. The land pile driver is only working, doing good service at the lower end of the break. The temporary works at the upper end washed away and are now exposed to the current, and are caving gradually. Financial arrangements must be made to prosecute the work with systematic concentrated labor, or what we are doing will be simply thrown away. In my opinion it is utterly useless to attempt to close the crevasse, for the preparations could not be made before the river falls, and damage will yet be done. It is a question of months duration, and not much in extent. He closes by hoping that the means will be provided to save the ends of the levee, so that less will have to be rebuilt.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Sales of bonds at par for gold today, the first advance since issue.

The city of Ottumwa, in Iowa, can not be accused of any lack of appreciation of the local press. The senior editor of the Ottumwa Courier is Supervisor of Internal Revenue, its next editor is Postmaster, and its third man is Assistant Assessor of Internal Revenue, and the city editor is City Clerk.

A gentleman who owns a country seat nearly lost his wife, who fell into the river which flows through his estate. He announced the narrow escape to his friends, expecting their congratulations. One of them, an old bachelor, wrote as follows: "I always told you that river was too shallow."

For Bronchitis, severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty by its wonderful cures, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. Sold by druggists. (30-4-71dt)

There is a dearth of all kinds of poultry in San Antonio markets. We should think it was time that spring chickens were ready for consumption.

THE Turner Association have a grand illumination and fireworks this evening, at the San Pedro grounds.

AND now comes in, one of the farmers from the Guadalupe, and says that a worm or weevil of some kind, is eating the heart out of the corn he has just planted. His first planting the frost killed. We don't believe it is a weevil. It must be the devil.

A MATCH game of base ball is to be played to-day by the O'Connell and the Unknown Clubs, at the grounds just east of the San Pedro Springs enclosure. The game will commence at one o'clock. An interesting and closely contested game is anticipated.

CHANGE OF TIME.—From this date mails on the Austin route will leave every Monday, Thursday, and Saturday at 7 o'clock a. m., instead of 6 a. m. as heretofore.

On Victoria route, the mail will leave this office every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 6 P. M.

All mails close 30 minutes before leaving.

NUMEROUS complaints have come to us from the back streets, of a lack of facilities afforded for the hauling away of waste material, dirt, rubbish, &c., that city ordinances provide for. As the number of scavenger carts has been increased to four, we think the city might have a little more attention given to the people who live towards the suburbs, and who are taxed their full amount in support of the city.

Two, three, or half a dozen streets, have no better right to the use of the city carts than all the rest, so we caution a looking to an equal distribution of facilities to all our people. The summer months will be soon upon us, and it behooves the administration to give the utmost care and attention to the policing and cleansing of the city. Weeds and grass are now overrunning portions of our streets. The city ordinance provides for their removal. Give us a clean city, and let it be kept clean and fevers and cholera will stand but little chance of introducing themselves into our midst.

HUNDREDS of our citizens availed themselves of the opportunity of calling upon Gen. Sherman Friday night, and shaking hands with that distinguished hero.

The elegant parlors of Gen. Reynolds were, at an early hour, filled with a throng of our citizens and officers of the army, the two phases of life forming a most effective contrast. The brilliancy of full uniform, the more sober garb of citizen's dress and the elegant toilets of the ladies presented had all the effects of a handsomely drawn picture, with delicate light and shades.

General Sherman and Major and Colonel Tourtelotte were introduced, severally, to all callers, and they by their affability and pleasantness succeeded in placing every one at ease. Right royally Gen. Reynolds did the honors of the house, and everything passed off most pleasantly. The citizens of San Antonio will not soon forget the advent to their fair city of General W. T. Sherman.

Editor San Antonio Express.

Dear Sir:—A mistake occurred in sending to you for publication the minutes of a called meeting of the city council, held yesterday, to consider the report of Gen. Sherman.

The following are the committees:

For Finance Committee—Messrs. J. S. Lockwood, H. Green, D. Bell, W. W. Garfield, and J. T. Thornton.

For Committee of Arrangements.—Messrs. W. C. A. Thielepape, E. D. L. Wickes, J. H. Kampmann, J. P. Minter, and Gus. Darler.

For Floor Committee.—Messrs. J. Withers, C. Upson, M. Sproun, T. H. Stribling, and W. C. A. Thielepape.

W. C. A. THIELEPAPE, Chairman Com. of Arrangements.

ALWAYS READY.—The world-renowned Singer's Sewing Machine, with all the very latest improvements and attachments. The champion machine of the world. The largest assortment ever offered in this market, and "always ready" at the Furniture warehouses of Reed & Mather, agents for the same. [28434wt]

Try It.

It is amusing that the feeble should totter, with uncertain steps, over the face of the earth, in danger every day of falling victims to the morbid influences by which we are all surrounded; when a tested and proven vegetable tonic, capable of endowing them with the vigor they need, is procurable in every city, town and settlement. It might reasonably be thought that after the twelve years experience that the world has had of Hostetter's Bitters, all would know that its effect is to prevent disease.

At certain seasons the atmosphere is surcharged with the seeds of intermittent remittent, rheumatism, pulmonary disorders bilious complaints, and the like. Persons whose nervous systems are relaxed are the first to succumb to these distempers. Brace up the physical energies then with this potent vegetable tonic. It is the most powerful recuperant which the botanic kingdom has ever yielded to patient research and experiment. Try it. The blindest discipline of the old medical dogmas will at least admit that a tonic and alterative, compounded of approved herbs, roots and barks can do no harm, while the testimony of thousands invites a trial of its virtues.

Vigor is the thing most needed in these cases, as well as in dyspepsia and nervous affections, and Hostetter's Bitters is the safest, strongest and most wholesome strengthening preparation that human skill has yet concocted.

Hundreds of physicians have abandoned all the official receipts and prescribed this harmless tonic as a preventive and cure for all cases of chills and fevers.

There are nine persons living within three miles of the Hudson Mass. Postoffice, whose united age is 819 years, or an average of 91 years. Their names and age are as follows: Mary Gates, 100 years; Lucy Sawyer, 98; Mrs. Dakin, 95; Ethan Darling, 92; Mrs. Fay, 90; Levi Carter, 87; Mary Noyes, 87; Alice Gates, 85; Prudence Worcester, 85. Who can beat this?

BOB CARSON, the famous mountaineer and trapper, who has had as many adventures as his brother, Kit Carson, still lives on the Missouri river, near the town of Arrow Rock, and is hale and vigorous, and fond of stirring scenes and intense excitement as in his early youth.

A New Hampshire widow, who sold a neighbor some hay, and then concluded that she had not charged him enough, ordered him away when he came for it, and on his refusal to go, attacked him with a cudgel, and pulled his hair, until by flight he saved himself from annihilation.

TIM GOURLY'S CELEBRATION.—Tim Gourley came over on Monday from Jersey to see the procession. He found his way into the City Hall Park, and took up a position immediately in front of the muzzle of the big gun. Just as the gunner was about to apply the match, an officer shouted to Tim:

"Get out of the way."

"Get out the way ye self," indignantly responded Tim.

"Don't you see where you're standing?" said the officer.

"Sure, I know where I'm standing!" pompously replied Tim.

"Look at that hole in front of you."

"An' what hole is that?"

"Touch her off, and blow him out of the way," said one of the gunners.

Tim's eye lit upon the red hot iron and followed it toward the piece of artillery. Just then a man in Gourley's rear hit him in the back. Tim's eyes gave a spasmodic jerk as he exclaimed:

"Be dad, I'm hit!"—New York Sun.

IN THE dressing-room: "Mary, dear, aren't you well? why don't you come down stairs?"

"Oh, I've got one eyebrow blacker than the other, and I can't find a pencil any where, and it won't wash off, and I don't know what to do at all."

THE heathen Chinese has just broken out in a new spot. One of the almond-eyed pagans recently eloped to China with an Oregon lady. A further proof that the celestials are an imitative race.

Josh Billings, the kindly old humorist, has withdrawn his card announcing that he will lecture no more, or "milk" the public, as he called it. He is preparing, after the manner of Dickens, to give "readings" from his "works."

Twenty years ago Leland Stanford arrived in California with "only one shirt to his back." Since then, by managing always to retain a situation, and close attention to business, he has contrived to accumulate a trifle of $10,000,000.

A Scotchman who had put up at an inn was asked in the morning how he had slept. "Ah, mou!" replied Donald, "nae vera well either; but I was muckle better off than the flays, for de'il a one o' them closed an e'e the hale night."

A London correspondent says that Queen Victoria visits Prince Albert's tomb every day at Windsor, places a basket of fresh flowers near it, reads a chapter in the Bible, kneels down and offers up a prayer that she may meet him in the world to come.

There is a curious dilemma in one of the courts of Georgia. The son of the murderer is the Solicitor General of the district in which the murder was committed, and he insists upon conducting the prosecution. He and the Attorney General of the State were discussing the question a few days ago, when he became enraged and hostile, and was at length arrested and imprisoned.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no medicine is so universally required by every body as a cathartic, but was ever any adopted so universally as Ayer's Cathartic Pills. The reason is, that it is a more powerful and more certain remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; and those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends; and all know that what it does once it does always. It never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of its remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such certificates are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither opium nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their stimulating properties are ever fresh, and make them pleasant to take, a high being purely vegetable, and having no other effect than their use in any quantity. They operate by their powerful influence on the internal vessels to push the blood and stimulate it into healthy action in the large and small arteries of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, any derangement of the system. Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure: For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Stomachic, Constipation, Biliousness, Flatulency, and all the various symptoms of a disordered stomach. For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge. For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Pains in the Back and Loins, they should be continued as long as required, to change the diseased condition of the system. With such change these complaints disappear. For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge. For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Pains in the Back and Loins, they should be continued as long as required, to change the diseased condition of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Incurable cases of Scrophulous disease, where the system is generally diseased, and the various humors are in a state of corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrophulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrophulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses. Scrophulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfeeling enemy of the organism undermines the constitution, and induces the attack of various fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one of the hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vital. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is desirable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and are cured by the use of this Sarsaparilla: St. Anthony's Fire, Itch, Scabies, Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or scurfy forms of Scrophulous disease. Also in the more chronic forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Piles, and other chronic affections of the various Fibrous and Muscular and Nervous systems. Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long-continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhoea or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are given in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of scrophulous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it. Consumption, Its Cure and its Preventive, By J. H. Schenck, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friend are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they only adopted and availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is un-failing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Sea-weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functional disorder of the liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbid action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of Consumption, The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-purifying, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"Leave no Sting Behind." The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A Supply of Good Blood.

The Sea-weed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more indigestion, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impure and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the melody is vanquished, the rotten throug that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the sun-ood or womanhood that was.

Given up as Lost.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well. It is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fr. air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that you lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear. To get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to be Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words: "Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man, catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside my cough, fever, pain and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then I was like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continues to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 2 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that on some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them; First create appetite. Of returning health, hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough lessens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families, as a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea-weed Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers. E. J. HART & CO., 75, 75 and 77 Tchapeloula street, New Orleans. Wholesale Agents. 1-11-70dly.

The great field trials at Sedalia, Mo., and at Xenia, Ohio, in the Summer of 1869—where "The Clipper" met some 40 competitors including all the leading machines built, and was awarded the First Premium and Gold Medal—proves that the proprietors have been able to sustain in the field their claims of superiority for "The Clipper" Machine over all others. Its extraordinary lightness of draft takes one-third of the labor off the team. The adjustability of the finger-bar, to cut high or low without stopping the team is worth $25 on any machine. It is the only mower that has the true center draft in accordance with correct mechanical principles. In short, it is the lightest, the most durable, the least complicated, the most perfectly constructed, the most symmetrical in design of any implement of its class. Farmers who cannot afford to ignore their welfare—Send for pamphlet—investigate. See or write to some one who has used "THE CLIPPER." See the Machine yourself before you buy any other.
