EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

To I. Siemering, J. Co.,
You are hereby notified that I have this day appointed your paper, "The San Antonio Express," the official Journal of the twenty-third legislative district.
In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at the City of Austin, this 23d day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and the Independence of Texas, the thirty-first.
EDMUND J. DAVIS, Governor.
By the Secretary,
JAMES P. NEWCOMB.

Representative Locke.

This able representative of the interests of our people, comes in for a share of that low and characteristic imputation, by which without a committee of itself to set at naught, (one experience in paying fines as a matter of course, being enough,) the San Antonio Herald attempts to make warfare, in a most disgraceful style, upon a gentleman, who has the esteem of all good and honest men of our community.

Called from the walks of life, where he is regarded as a hard working, industrious farmer and stock-raiser, without experience as a legislator, the Hon. Mr. Locke has nobly proven the weight of good judgment and the worth of practical ideas, engaged in by him, by a sterling patriotism and a desire to serve the interests of a community where he lives. Within the State Legislature, there is no harder working man than Mr. Locke, and no legislator who is more universally respected than himself. Incorruptible, faithful to the interests of the West, absorbed in the study of the leading State principles of immigration, education, and encouragement and protection of state industries, his labors from the time of his first taking office, have been unremitting, and he is looked upon to-day as the hardest working man in the House.

The Herald, in its uncalculated and disgraceful article, instead of treating him with the respect that an honest man, a good citizen, and a faithful public servant, deserves, tries to be witty in its remarks about twenty dollar gold pieces and checks, but, however, leaves a hole by which it can crawl out. It opens with "a friend of ours tells me" and closes with "a friend of ours tells me" as even said, "Ae, showing the vile means by which an insignificant specimen of degenerate blackguardism, follows the eye of his corrupt and disgraced senator, and leads himself to the most demeaning of all human vices, that of slander and unwarlike and insubstantial detraction."

The trouble is, Mr. Locke is a fair type of the true and true of the Republican party. Were he a fifth-rate legislator, instead of an honest, hard working son of toil, had at the responsibilities of a body, able, amiable disposition, made him as thoroughly without social or moral integrity as it has the writer of the Herald article, the stars and stripes would never have appeared.

Malice and envy, combined with a natural and innate love of detraction, are the enemies that urge that writer to act the part of the viper that crawls within the sun of patriotism and attaining by questionable means access to the public ear, demands the vengeance of indignation by protesting in the bosom of us, the columns of the Herald.

Mr. Locke, in face of the proud record which he has made, can afford to look with contempt upon their sneers and slurs. Not only does the Republican party recognize him as an honest, practical, and valuable citizen, and adherent to its principles, but the masses of intelligent people throughout this district, and irrespective of party, give him their respect and are a unit in looking with contempt upon the venom of the slanderous serpent that, from his slimy perch, hangs "hissing at the nobler man below."

The Legislature.

It is presumed that the State Legislature will adjourn about the fifteenth of this month. Had they given us nothing else but the Educational and Immigration bills, we should still feel that they had done no noble service, in advancing the welfare and security of the State.

The stock law for the west, still hangs fire in the Senate, though why, we know not. The bill as framed, is a very good one, and meets the views of the stock raisers and cattle men pretty generally.

We are inclined to think that the balance of this session will be devoted to either fighting or fattening the lobbyists. The Southern Pacific subsidy scheme is up, and is attracting an immense deal of attention. Thus far the Texas press has been almost a unit in opposing the subsidy scheme, so we really have wondered why the Legislature has not taken its cue from that popular expression of opinion, and by a clear, straight forward expression of will, set its face against the subsidy policy.

Should the Pacific route subsidy pass, there are other bills equally as strong, and equally entitled to aid, whose claims must be considered, and who will stop short of nothing in the way of expense, to push through their claims and get a hold upon the public purse.

The Governor will in all cases where it is proposed to subsidize, veto such bills, and we hope that a Republican Legislature will not be so foolish as to place itself on record against this perfect principle of Republicanism. Internal improvements, we as a party, are committed to; but not at the expense of our State credit, nor at the expense of saddling a people for twenty years to come with an immense debt, paralyzing, thus, one branch of prosperity and advancement, at the expense of another.

Democracy lacks Cohesion.

In the address put forth by the democratic members of Congress, at the close of the last session, is additional and important evidence, showing how thoroughly the need of centralizing or rather cohesion is manifest in democratic ranks. A document, arraying Democracy in the robes of spotless purity, is sent before the country, and partakes rather of the nature of a comedy or farce rather than what it was intended to be, the reflex of the opinions of a so-called strong party. Aiming at nothing, composed of nothing, founded on nothing, it is inconsistent with the ideas of its leading press; is controverted by overwhelming evidence; and an imposing array of facts; leaves the most advanced of the party at an open issue with its precepts, and on the whole is a very extravagant piece of nonsense. In the sensible utterances and advice of such papers as the New York World and the Louisville Courier Journal, a dispassionate view of the situation has been taken, yet the congressional democrats ignore both those influential journals in their make up of this address, inasmuch as they ignore the confessions of those papers, and instead of harmonizing the Northern and Southern wings of the democracy, they throw all their weight with the Southern extreme democracy, the Southern idea of opposition to the amendments, and the Southern idea of state prerogatives closely bordering upon state sovereignty. The utterances of Jefferson Davis and A. H. Stephens could hardly need a more emphatic endorsement than this address gives them.

The factions opposition of Senator Blair to issues already settled by the amendments, is encouraged by their address; to the great disappointment of thousands of far-seeing democrats, who hoped to see the democracy become a national party, once again, rather than being sectional lines.

The truth is, the address is a catch penny for the Southern people. It is a raking over the ashes of issues that are yet hot from the heat of prejudice and hatred over defeat of reasonable schemes. The principles enunciated are, lips to Carlism, and the growl and snarl, that the big Southern dog puts on, is alarming the democrats of the North, who find themselves forced to take issue against their own party address, or else stand committed to a reverse position to that assumed by a majority of them during the war. To sum up in a few words the situation, we find that there is a lack of cohesion between Northern and Southern Democracy. There is no man of ability to take the leadership and bring them in harmony. They are divided on the tariff question; they are divided on the national debt question. The Tammany ring of New York, inscriptions of it, is no faithful democracy, as found in Southern North Carolina or Tennessee. Republicanism by a close adherence to their original, national safety, and prosperity principles, has had an easy victory over divided and sectional democracy.

Baked Eagles.

John Phoenix once was walking along one of the principal streets of San Francisco, when a wagon drove past bearing the inscription, "Eagle Bakery." Phoenix immediately hailed the driver, and going up to him when he had pulled up his horse, asked for a baked eagle. The astonished driver gazed at the stranger, and in having such a preposterous want, and informed him, in a most decided manner, that he knew nothing about eagles, but was a vender of bread. "Now, see here, my good fellow," said Phoenix, pointing to the inscription on the side of the wagon, and putting sternness in his voice, "you give out by your sign, that you ate a dealer in baked eagles, and yet when a purchaser appears you coolly inform him that you know nothing at all about eagles. Now, if you don't alter your sign, or get in a stock of eagles, I'll have you indicted as a swindler, with your 'eagle bakery'—good morning." And Phoenix, with face full of indignation, moved on, leaving the poor baker in a high state of alarm, and a firm conviction that his light leaves were caught but unlawful, hypocritical dough.

"Papa, stand on this hearth," said a little triennarian to his dotting parent, who objected that the hearth would be scratched and his mother would not like it. "Yes, papa, do; I wish you would!" "But, why, my child?" remonstrated the father. "Because mamma'll give you fits if you do, and I want to see her." He had been inconsiderately told by Bridget that mamma would give him fits if he did it, and he sagely preferred to face it per aliam rather than face it per se.

A Ghost Story.

Lord Brougham tells the following ghost story on his father:
On all subjects my father was very skeptical. He was fond of telling a story in which he had been an actor, and which he used to say, in which unbelief of opinion had been the means of demolishing what would have been a very pretty ghost story. He had been dining in Donu's Yard, Westminster, with a party of young men, one of whom was his intimate friend, Mr. Calmel. There was some talk about the death of a Mrs. Nightingale, who had recently died under some melancholy circumstances, and had been buried in the abbey. Some one offered to bet that no one of those present would go down into the grave and drive a nail into the coffin. Calmel accepted the wager, only stipulating that he might have a lantern. He was accordingly led into the cathedral by a door out of the cloisters, and there left to himself. The party, after waiting an hour or more for Calmel, began to think something must have happened to him, and they sought to look after him; so my father and two or three more got a light and went to the grave, at the bottom of which lay the apparently dead body of Mr. Calmel. He was quickly transported to the prebend's dining-room, and recovered out of his fainting fit. As soon as he could find his tongue he said, "Well, I have won my wager, and you'll find the nail in the coffin; but, my Jove! the lady rose up, laid hold of me and pulled me down before I could scramble out of the grave." Calmel struck to his story in spite of all the scoffing of his friends; and the ghost of Mrs. Nightingale would have been over the town but for my father's obstinate incredulity. Nothing would satisfy him but an ocular inspection of the grave and coffin; and so getting a light, he and some of the party returned to the grave. There, sure enough, was the nail, well driven into the coffin; but hard fixed by it was a bit of Mr. Calmel's coat tail. So there was an end of Mrs. Nightingale's ghost. This grave afterward became remarkable for a very beautiful piece of sculpture, by some celebrated artist, representing Mr. Nightingale vainly attempting to ward from his dying wife the dart of death.

Miss Susan B. Anthony was lobbying at Lansing last week. She converted the legislative reporter of the Detroit Free Press, and the ingenious young man tells how it was done, as follows: Susan—"Are you the Free Press reporter?" (Looking to see if she had a club.) "I am." Susan—"Then let me introduce myself to you as Miss Susan Bartha Anthony, of Massachusetts." (Blushing very red.) "I hope you have—have no design against me—by chance—against me?" "None whatever, I assure you." Both extended right hands. Both squeeze. Both blush and squeeze harder. Both enter into conversation during which the fact was developed that I always favored woman's rights, and always shall.

An exchange thinks those postal cards, which have the letter all written out in plain sight, are going to prove a drawback to the rapid distribution of the mails, as every post-office clerk will have to wait until he reads the letters before distributing them.

Black silk stockings are the style of aristocratic ladies' wear, in London.

A new style of ear-ring is in the shape of a tambourine, the bell of which jingles pleasantly at every movement of the wearer's head.

The Vienna Common Council has decided to have gymnastic exercises introduced into the female department of the public schools, as a necessary branch of education. Ladies are now being drilled with a view to their becoming teachers of gymnastics.

The votes cast in Wisconsin at the recent election for Supreme Judge was as follows:
For Lyon, Republican, 67,423
For Pilling, Democrat, 55,436

Republican majority, 11,987
The vote was not a full one, but the Democrats turned out as strongly, comparatively, as their opponents. Wisconsin is a pretty solid Republican State.

Preventive Medication.

A radical change has been introduced in the practice of medicine. Physicians have ceased to torture and prostrate their patients. Instead of pulling down, they build up. Instead of assaulting nature, they assist her. Copping, leeching, blistering, emulsion, calomel, antimony, staphylococcus, and various purgatives, once the favorite resources of the faculty, and now rarely resorted to except by the most ignorant members of the profession. The object was that disease was something that must be expelled by violent artificial means, irrespective of the wear and tear of the vital organization, to the process. The new school recognizes the improvement of the general health as essential to the cure of all local ailments. Hence it is that Hostetter's Stomach Bitter, the most potent vegetable tonic that pharmacy has ever brought to the assistance of nature in her struggles with disease, has been cordially approved by practitioners of the modern school. It is pleasant to reflect that reason and philosophy have at last been victorious over the errors of the past, and that thousands, and tens of thousands, of human beings are alive and well to-day who would indubitably be mouldering in their graves, had they been subjected to the pains and penalties which were deemed orthodox and indispensable thirty or forty years ago.

Preventive medication was scarcely ever thought of then; but now it is considered of paramount importance, and the celebrity of the standard invigorant, alterative and restorative of the age, (a title which Hostetter's has fairly earned by their long career of success,) is mainly due to its efficiency as a protective preparation.

A course of the Bitters is urgently recommended as a safe and certain antidote to intermittent and remittent fevers, diarrhoea, dysentery and other maladies.

Our city has resumed its wonted show of business activity now that the round of festivities of early May is over. The past week has been almost exclusively devoted to parties, pic-nics and social gatherings.

WE learn the San Antonio Schutzenverein are in a flourishing condition as a society. We presume their prize shooting match of the year 1871 will come off soon.

EVERY sale of property, either in or contiguous to the city of San Antonio, shows an increase in the valuation of real estate, a pleasant index of the future before our thriving little town.

WE are anxiously looking forward to the time when our city administration will make it the imperative duty of property owners to construct good sidewalks in front of their property, and thus do away with the execrable and unsafe traps that now grow under the assumed name of pavements.

WE would like to see guide boards upon every street corner with the names of the streets upon them, so that our people would soon become familiarized with all the names of our thoroughfares, and a stranger be directed clearly to given points.

At present, no description serves to give intelligible directions, the streets being without names or numbers. The expense will be trifling, the convenience considerable.

MAY the shadows of our very thoughtful friends who serenaded us the night before last, never grow less.

THE new bridge has arrived in our city, and will be at once placed in position, and the thoroughfare leading to it once more opened to trade and travel.

THE want of means of crossing at that point has been pretty seriously felt, and the one bridge at Main street has had to bear all the strain and immense travel of trains and wagons, for months. The new structure is a fine iron roadway bridge, of very handsome pattern, and extra strength, and will, when placed in position, be a source of pride as an ornament to our city, besides being a monument of the right spirit of enterprise, that has animated the Board of Aldermen and the City administration.

PROPERTY in its neighborhood will be enhanced in value, and the interests of the stores and the very stable near there will be considerably advanced. We hope that a year from now, our city will be graced with more of the same kind of structures.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps.
Is good for Colic and pain in the stomach.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps
Is imitated and counterfeited, and purchasers will have to use caution in purchasing.

I beg leave to call the attention of the reader to testimonials in favor of the Schnapps.

I feel bound to say that I regard your Schnapps as being in every respect pre-eminently pure, and deserving of medical patronage. At all events it is the purest possible article of Holland gin, heretofore unobtainable, and as such may be safely prescribed by physicians.

DAVID L. MOTT, M. D., Pharmacist Chemist, New York.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 1. I feel that we have now at article of gin suitable for such cases as that remedy is adapted to.

DR. J. W. BRIGHT.

"Schnapps" is a remedy in chronic catarrhal complaints, etc.

I take great pleasure in bearing highly creditable testimony to its efficacy as a powerful agent in the diseases for which you recommend it. Having a natural tendency to the mucous surfaces, with a slight degree of stimulation, I regard it as one of the most important remedies in chronic catarrhal affections, particularly those of the genito-urinary apparatus. With much respect, your obedient servant,

CHAS. A. SEELY, Chemist.
20 Pine Street, New York, Nov. 21, 1867.

Utopia Wolfe, Esq., Present: Dear Sir I have made a chemical examination of a sample of your "Schiedam Schnapps" with the intent of determining if any foreign or injurious substance had been added to the simple distilled spirit.

The examination has resulted in the conclusion that the sample contained no poisonous or harmful admixture. I have been unable to discover any trace of the deleterious substances which are sometimes employed in the adulteration of liquors. I would not hesitate to use myself, nor to recommend to others, for medicinal purposes, the "Schiedam Schnapps" as an excellent and unobnoxious variety of gin. Very respectfully yours, (Signed) CHAS. A. SEELY, Chemist.

Chemical and Technical Laboratory, 15 Exchange Place, New York, Nov. 25, 1867.

Utopia Wolfe, Esq., Dear Sir: The undersigned have carefully and thoroughly analyzed a sample of your "Schiedam Schnapps," selected by ourselves, and have found the same free from all organic or inorganic substances, more or less injurious to health. From the result of our examination, we consider the article one of superior quality, healthful as a beverage, and effective in its medicinal qualities. Respectfully yours, (Signed) ALEX. TRIMPEL, Chemist.

TESTIMONIALS.
From Geo. C. Scott's "Report of Fashion," "Residing at the fountain-head of American enterprise, and basing the interests of the tailoring business from many years' experience, we most unhesitatingly pronounce the Shuttle stitch, last in order, as being the best of Grover & Baker, one of the best machines—if not the very best—in the world for tailors' use, or for the use of any trade, requiring a light, seam, or cloth or leather."
"We have used the Grover & Baker Shuttle Machine, No. 1, and find it admirably adapted to our business. It runs lighter, makes less noise, and is in every way preferable to the Singer machine for either light or heavy manufacturing." Manufacturer of Clothing,
No. 340 Broadway, New York.

I am the fortunate possessor of one of your best Shuttle Machines, which you designate as No. 1. I have used many different machines in my business during the past eight years, and it gives me great pleasure in asserting that this one is far superior in all points to any that I have ever used. I want no better.
SEBASTIAN BLESS, Boot and Shoe Maker, 191 South 2d Street, St. Louis Mo.

Having used the different kinds of Sewing Machines in the market, including Leavitt's Singer's and Howe's, have finally adopted your No. 1 Grover & Baker Machine; and having used it the past two years, can truthfully say it proves to be the best machine, and superior to any we have used.

Consumption,
Its Cure and its Preventive,
By J. H. Schenck, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friend are slipping the dreadless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted

Dr. Joseph H. Schenck's simple Treatment,
and availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr.
Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach.
They respond to the morbid action of the liver. Here then comes the eliminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of

Consumption.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's subtlest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the bloodpurifying, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"Leave no Sting Behind." The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and the alimentary canal are ejected.
The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting on his feet.

A Supply of Good Blood.
The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Oxidation is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flaccidity, no exacerbation of the stomach. The appetite returns.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an intelligent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be overated. It collects and ripens the imperfect and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was.

Given up as Lost.
The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased—both must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected.
Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommended that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep in good spirits—he must be determined to get well. There is a great deal to do with the appetite, and in the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and mortal certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr.
Schenck's personal statement to be Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:
"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at a straw, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me.
It seemed to me that I could feel them permeate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I could spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.
As soon as that began to subside my cough, fever, pain and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown to fish ever since."
"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "and finding I was a mere skeleton, my weight was only nineteen pounds; my present weight is one hundred and twenty-five pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and London. He is now residing at J. H. Schenck, Jr.'s office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respi-rometer will be charged $5. The Respi-rometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them; First create appetite. Of returning health, hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer.
Good blood at once follows, the cough becomes, the night sweat is abated, in a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cough and cold cure, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen.
Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

Dr. Wells
having become aware of the extraordinary medicinal properties of the South American Plant, called

JURUBEBA.

Sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formulated by its great reputation, has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular supply of this wonder-ful Plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating, and to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time used in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurubeba and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic temperaments.

have been able to sustain it. The field trials showed its superiority for the Clipper Machine over all others. Its extraordinary lightness, of draft takes one-third of the labor of the team. The adjustability of the finger-bar, to cut high or low without stopping the team is worth $25 on any machine. It is the only mower that has the true center draft in ac-
