and quiet of any family, neighborhood or person, such person or persons shall be deemed guilty of an offence.

Sec. 3. If any person or persons shall within the City Limits exhibit or expose themselves, naked or disguised, or in any indecent or offensive manner to the sight of any person passing the highway of the City, or to persons living in the neighborhood, or shall under any pretext or offensively accost any female, or shall relieve the coils-of-nature in any public plaza avenue, street, lane, alley or highway, or

The Household Tonic.

The efficacy of Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters as a specific for recruiting the enfeebled body and cheering the depressed mind has passed into a proverb.
In the United States, where this marvelous tonic has borne down all opposition and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased in a heavier and heavier ratio for years, until at last, the regular sales of this preparation exceed other stomachics combined. Eminent members of the medical profession and hospital surgeons without number, have candidly admitted that the pharmacopoeia of the family contained no preparation that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general debility and nervous diseases, as Hostetter's Bitters. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York: "The Bitters are the purest, strongest and the safest tonic we have. But the uses of the great vegetable aristotle are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a preparatory antidote to epidemic disease, a general stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, the medicinal preparation has deserved the reputation of Hostetter's Bitters.
It is the household tonic of the American people, and in all foreign countries will be in great repute for comfort and relief in every ailment of the system, and this it accomplishes by its stimulating and purifying action, and never increasing sales."

BLANK DEEDS.

For Sale at this Office.

Another Outrage.

We notice the following incident, as showing how attractive it must be to strangers to come and live amongst us:

On the 23d, an invalid, under medical treatment, on his way to dinner, had occasion to stop for a moment at a store—not on Commerce street—the boat was intense, and getting off his horse was an effort to be avoided, if possible; there were no passengers in sight—so no obstruction—this gentleman, as respectable as any citizen of the city, knowing nothing of our ordinances, to shield himself from the burning sun, urged his horse upon the sidewalk and for two minutes, not more, perhaps less, spoke to the merchant; at once a policeman appeared, arrested this sick man, as if he were a thief, and marched him off to the market house, where upon signing a document and naming a bondsman, he was released with instructions to appear at the Recorder's Court the next day.

When the case came up, the "prisoner" was asked whether he plead guilty, he replied that he certainly had unintentionally violated a City Ordinance and regretted it, but felt at the same time very much injured by the treatment he had received, as his name heretofore had never appeared on the records of any Police Court, a place where, as a gentleman, he had hoped never to have seen it.

The Judge, convinced by the very facts of the case, of his innocence as far as any attempt to break the law on the part of the "prisoner" was concerned, put the fine at the lowest possible limit which was 50 cts. The law whose dignity was insulted was assessed by the sum of fifty cents. Not so the officers of the court, whose severe energies, untiring zeal and hungry appetites were clamorous for more pay, no indeed, but a just recognition of their importance and advantage to this good city which was only to be satisfied at the following low rates.

Fine	Recorder's Costs
50 cts.	50 "
Warrant	75 "
Subpoena	25 "
2 Witnesses (additional)	30 "
Docketing	15 "
Judgment	70 "
Commitment	50 "
	$3.75
MARSHAL'S COSTS:
Warrant	75 cts.
Commitment	$1.00
Summoning witnesses	75 "
Bond	1.00
	$3.50
Total	$7.25

Any comment upon the above is simply unnecessary. It is with feelings of shame that we observe how far a man whom the Republican party has trusted, seeks to bring it into disfavor, simply that he may gorge himself with the spoils of office. As a republican, devoted to the righting of wrongs we ask that this incubus of a recorder be removed and a sensible impartial judge be placed in his stead; One who will lead a wholesome influence to our city, not an oppressive one.

Congressional Zeal.

We notice in our Western Texas German newspapers various communications signed many citizens, urging the nomination and re-election of Mr. Degener to Congress, and our attention has been particularly called to a card in the last number of the New Braunfels Zeitung, (a disreputable copperhead affair) published in the German language) that any opposition to Mr. Degener's re-election is regarded as an insult to our citizens of German descent. We would call the attention of the over-zealous signers of the communication referred to—whoever they may be—that neither Mr. Degener nor Mr. Newcomb have as yet signified their intention of becoming candidates, and we presume that both are sufficiently Republican in their sentiments to await the action of the convention which has been called, and in which all the Republican elements will be represented. Any attempt to prejudice the public mind against the nationality of the future nominee, will injure no one but the candidate whose friends attempt it, and this contemptible effort to sow dissension and ill feeling where none at present exists, is eminently worthy of the paper in whose columns the communication referred to, appears.

Democratic Needs.

We have always asserted, in fullest confidence, that Democracy's saddest need was for a leader, and much of its time would be spent in a useless search after a man, who in the minds of the masses stood well, as one of mental attainments. Judging from the rapidly with which anxious Democracy turns from one man to another, in hopes of securing a man of weight, we opine they have not yet settled the vexed question, and are as far from having a representative man at their head, as they were when Brick Pomeroy, by use of slang and billingsgate, made an impression upon the roughs of the Democratic clans, and they swore by him, as a journalistic light that was to shine for them, evermore.

Not only have they failed in securing the representative man, but they tacitly acknowledge their despair of ever selecting one from their ranks, and are very anxious, to buy off some able Republican, and have him take the lead, forswear Republicanism, and they will reward him by offering him a full Democratic support in the next Presidential canvass.

The president of the devil taking our Savior upon the Mount, and offering him the wealth of the world around, for his homage, fealty and worship to him, is the most fitting parallel for this case, that we can think of, especially so, as like the devil, Democracy has no claim upon the gifts it offers as rewards.

Two peculiar cases, of the attempts of the Democracy to secure a leader from Republican ranks, will suffice at present to show the strength of our assumption. Chas. Sumner, one of the pioneers of Republicanism and an intrepid anti-slavery man, found himself not long since, at a dead lock with the party under whose banners he had done yeoman service, and considerable bitterness between his conditors and the opposing faction of the Republican party was evinced.

Instantly, Democracy, with a shallowness that is really criminal, sounded his praises to the sky, and even went so far as to fill the press (democratic) with calls for him to assume their leadership, and he who under the baleful glare of their hatred and prejudices, had only shown as a greater and purer light, was beset on all sides by democratic wiles and flatteries. Our people of course know the result. Charles Sumner is as pure in his integrity as he is weighty in intellect, and Democracy speedily found that they were but wasting themselves and their strength in trying to move a mountain.

For a while they rested, from their labors and their vain search for a leader, until Gen. Sherman boomed up in the distance, and they again became Republican hero worshippers. His words were perverted and distorted to suit their ends, and the Northern Democracy seized with avidity upon the claim, which they thought would surely bring them this time, a popular leader. They became even more frantic in their attempts to entrap and secure him to the espousal of democratic tenets, than they had been in their attempts upon Mr. Sumner, but to-day, all their hopes have gone glimmering and wandering, like some ignis fatuus, that shines only for evil, and to lead the unwary astray.

It has been clearly established that the sentiments attributed to General Sherman were never either uttered or endorsed by him, so Democracy is left to cast about for a leader in some other direction.

From the demeanor and style of the Southern press, we imagine that Mr. Greeley will be the next leading Republican upon whom they will concentrate their batteries of flattery and falsehoods, and try to secure him as a Democratic leader. We have no doubt but that they will be fully as successful as in their attempts upon Sumner and Sherman.

Perhaps, a few more disappointments will convince them of their folly in trying to corrupt and win over, Republican brains and induce to take leadership in Democratic management. Perhaps, they will continue the farce of leader hunting, and insist upon making themselves as ridiculous as possible. They will but be consistent with their record of the past ten years.

The Keynote of Republicanism.

All mankind may be divided into two classes, namely: those who assume responsibility, and those who are afraid to. This division is observable, not only in great revolutions and reforms, but in all the ordinary transactions of life. Although a certain general agitation and condition of the public mind is necessary to the success of great political movements, this success is after all, the work of the comparatively few master minds, inspired by intelligence and courage, who are forced to the front, rather than from the inability of the masses to find substitutes for them, and from the eternal fitness of things, than from their own ambitious tendencies, and who therefore assume the leadership, control and direct the movement. In order, therefore, to find out the real views, intentions and aims of a party, we must look directly to these leading spirits, and their policy will be the policy of the party whenever the crisis arrives.

It is, therefore, of the highest importance to the public, to ascertain from the expressions and acts of the leading men of each political party, what the real sentiments of the party are.

That this is the regular manner of ascertaining the real intentions of political parties, is evident, from the result of the Connecticut election, which may be mainly attributed to the impolitic utterances of Jeff. Davis and A. H. Stephens.

The policy of the Republican party can be ascertained by observing the official acts of the government, and the expressions of the men who have weight and influence in the party; and some events small in themselves, sometimes assist us materially in forming our opinions. Straws indicate the direction of the wind, and as far as they so do, are useful.

The National Convention of the Grand Army of the Republic, held in Boston on the 10th inst., and at which a host of gallant generals, whose names are historic, were present, and which represents the sentiments of the Union Army, received the following telegram from the National Peace League, then in session in New York: "Our congratulations to the Grand Army of the Republic, in peace encampments. As veterans cannot you use your influence to prevent future war encampments."

The following reply was forwarded: "The Grand Army of the Republic is determined to have peace, even if they have to fight for it. Volumes cannot say more. This is the policy of the fighting element of the Republican party, and means that the situation as settled by the war, must be accepted in the full meaning of the word, and is but the re-echo of the words of their great leader, 'Let us have peace.'"

The Morgan and McComb Railroad.

From authority, which we deem reliable, we learn that the section to Cuero will be at once commenced with the intention to prosecute to completion without delay. From that point, they, the proprietors, are yet undetermined to what point it shall ultimately be directed, whether to San Antonio, or to Austin. If Austin manifests its public enterprise, by taking a larger amount of stock than San Antonio, they will run the road direct from Cuero to Austin, and if San Antonio should be the liberal subscriber, they will be destined to be the recipient of the Morgan & McComb locomotive.—S. A. Herald.

The above announcement is exactly what the people of San Antonio have been expecting. That, instead of Messrs. Morgan and McComb offering a fair and definite proposition to the people of San Antonio, they would build their road to a tantalizing point, and then speculate upon our needs and necessities, chuckling, in the meanwhile, at every additional thousand dollars bid, from either Austin or San Antonio, for their road. It is exactly what we have believed they would do; they have been taunting our people, answering all inquiries by such brusque replies, that it was equivalent to telling them to mind their own business—and now when we are in earnest about a road, they throw a disjointed, half-way proposition to us, and in matter of fact, tell us to take it or leave it, as we think best. The people of West Texas will be likely to leave it. They find that they can make through connection to New Orleans by rail, at the same outlay by which they would thrust themselves into the jaws of that monopolist, Morgan, who, with his road and his steamships, would have us more tightly bound than ever, in his toils.

We can, with safety to ourselves and our commercial interests, bid him defiance, for we have a plain, definite proposition before us, insuring us a road, in good running order, in two years, and we are going to accept that proposition, and encourage its construction.

And now a word as to the threat implied in the extract from the Herald, of running the road to Austin from Cuero, in case we do not come down with a superabundant amount of stamps. Morgan will not, and can not with financial safety to himself, run his road to Austin; for long ere he shall have thought of building the line from Cuero to Austin, the branch of the Central railroad line from Ledbetter, will be completed to Austin, and the competition of that line would be so strong that Morgan could not afford to enter the lists against it. Morgan, though worth many millions, and able to buy off lines of steamers, would find it impossible to buy out, or buy off the Central road, that for years has been run with profit, and that funds additional remuneration in tapping the West Texas interests at Austin.

The aid and encouragement we to-day are willing to extend the Columbus road, is the secret of the force we bring to bear upon Messrs. McComb and Morgan to make them speedily build their road to this point, or else lose the value of 44 miles of road, which runs now to Victoria. Our people are not to be deceived, humbugged, or flattered by any special pleading, nor frightened by idle visions of Austin becoming the terminus of the Gulf, West Texas and Pacific railway. The straight course to tapping the Southern Pacific, and opening up a line through a country that is wealthy, and that offers proper grades for inexpensive building of a road, is not through Austin. It is through San Antonio, and Mr. Morgan has no idea of running his road to any other point.

WORTH TRYING.—A French chemist asserts that if tea be ground like coffee before hot water is poured upon it, it will yield nearly double the amount of its exhilarating qualities. Another writer says: "If you put a piece of lump sugar, the size of a walnut, into a teapot, you will make the tea infuse in half the time. This last we have tried successfully.—Exchange.

Latest from the seat of War.

Paris, May 22.—The Versailles army has occupied Paris.

The headquarters of Marshal McMahon are established at the new opera house. There was a great explosion near Disribles.

Paris, May 22.—A. M.—All is over. The Versailles have entered the city. They have not yet entered the city. The barricades are not being defended. No mines were exploded. The Versailles are now moving on Hotel de Ville, where the Communists will make their last stand.

The Versailles behaved splendidly, committing no excesses.

YERSAILLES, May 22.—Barricades under the Arch de Triomphe were carried by assault, the 45th, 68d and 81st regiments taking a conspicuous part.

Colonels Rendault and Le Favre are said to be mortally wounded.

Communists are represented as having fallen back from the barricades extending across Ave de Revol to the Place de la Concorde. Barricades are armed with metallics and light field pieces, and innumerable torpedoes, and other engines of destruction.

Palace de Industrie is surrounded by the government troops, and the Communists called on for unconditional surrender. A severe fight occurred in Rue St. Honor.

Yersaillais charged down the street with fury, and were fearfully cut up by crowds from the windows of neighboring houses.

Communists are concentrated along Rue de Revol, Rue Stauten, around the Hotel de Ville, and in Place Bastille.

VERSAILLES, May 22.—In the Assembly to-day, President Thiers made a congratulatory speech on the surprising success of the government arms. He said he did not expect to effect an entrance into Paris for three or more days, and gave assuring details of the march on to the city.

He announced that the government was determined to visit with vigorous punishment most of the criminals of the insurgents.

Bills were introduced to restore the Chapel of Expiration and Coligny of Place Vendome, the latter to be surrounded by a statue of France.

A vote of thanks to President Thiers and army was adopted.

LONDON, May 22.—The Prussians are occupying Vincennes.

Prussian outposts have received strict orders to drive back all insurgents attempting to pass through the lines.

Headquarters of the Prussians will shortly be removed to Campillague.

Guards will return to Germany by the end of the present week.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Colfax faintly during the session of the Senate to-day.

Baron Geroll, who has represented Prussia here for twenty years, departs this week.

Colfax, as required by law, has certified to the district attorney the custody of the Tribune correspondents, which will bring the matter to the cognizance of the grand jury. The Senate still holds them prisoners.

Nominations.—Mr. Bird Gray, Judge for Eastern Texas.

PARIS, May 23.—Noon.—The Versailles flag now floats over Montmartre. The whole city is evidently in possession of the forces of the Assembly.

Madrid, May 23.—To-day's session of the Spanish Congress was exceedingly stormy.

The Basilians presented a resolution for the establishment of a Republic.

The Carlists submitted a motion declaring the election of King Amadeus void, and Don Carlos, of Spain as the rightful King. The discussion was long and excited, but finally adjourned without vote upon either proposition.

LONDON, May 23.—A dispatch from Versailles Monday evening, says that the Versailles occupied a station of the Versailles Railroad on Boulevard Mont Passanne, within a short distance of the Luxembourg, and that Gen. Ullrich has turned the insurgents' position at the Tuilleries, and captured from them 100 prisoners.

A later dispatch says the Versailles occupied Place Vendome, Tuilleries and Hotel de Ville.

Assey is certainly in custody, and it is reported that Felix Pyotte is also arrested.

Another dispatch says that the insurgents abandoned Place Concorde yesterday.

General Landmirault has surrendered Montmartre. The complete overthrow of the insurgents is imminent.

BOSTON, May 23.—The Supreme Court decides constitutional the law publishing permits for contempt in refusing to answer questions before a legislative committee terminating themselves.

TORONTO, May 23.—The town of Bradford burned to ashes over half a million of dollars.

STREETS muddy, sloshy and not favorable to pedestrianism.

Our thanks to Col. J. C. De Gress, for a printed copy of Rules and Regulations for the government of the public free schools.

SEVERAL very large loads of TEXAS lumber came in from the upper country yesterday.

Mr. P. C. TAYLOR is in receipt of a very fine lot of English Iron-Stone-China, which he offers at low prices to the public. Call and inspect his assortment, for yourselves.

SUNDRY bath horses, tired of the sun and heat of San Antonio, took advantage of the heavy rain of Wednesday night, and floated off to the Gulf of Mexico.

We learn that the "San Antonio Schutzen Verein" have their annual test of skill, with prizes for the best shots, on next Sunday.

We believe some energetic knight of the shoe brush would find large profits by setting up a stand on Main street, where the number sixes and twelves of "feet kivers" could be brushed into lustre.

At least twelve fine stores and dwelling are in course of erection in our city. Everybody is afflicted with a building mania. Our city improves accordingly.

We learn that some of the temperance folks in our city are about to form a butter-milk brigade. They will ultimately offer premiums to the one who can drink the most of that temperance article.

It would be a great disappointment to a large part of our population, if the expected visit of the Hon. Horace Greeley to our city, should be prevented by the bad condition of the roads, or rising of the creeks between here and Austin.

We understand that conveyances have been sent to Austin for the convenience of the distinguished guest.

It is not improbable that our worthy Secretary of State may honor us at the same time.

SEVERAL very large catfish were caught in the river on Thursday. The muddyness of the water after rain makes the fish hunt fool by smell, and they are more easily caught. We saw one that weighed at least twenty-five pounds, taken out just above the bridge.

The paper mails that arrived yesterday, were soaking wet, and of course, most of our exchanges ruined. We wonder what it is, we can have no protection from such an outrage. It would be an easy matter to give shelter to the mails. The carriers are paid enough for it.

The heavy, soaking rain, has not only caused a change for the better to come over the face of Nature, but has likewise shortened the equinoxes of our farming and stock-raising friends. We understand, too, that the farmers on the Colorado, and in the neighborhood of New Braunfels, have had fine rains during the past week.

The river is rising rapidly, running over the foot bridge at the mill, and apprehensions are entertained of the possible carrying away of the old bridge on Paces street, which would ruin our prospects for communication on that street for another year or so, as the new iron bridge is being placed in position, and resting on the old one, which is being used as a platform.

As we have had no rain worth mentioning, during the last eight or ten months, we should not be surprised by having continued rainy weather for the next two or three weeks.

We were shown a natural curiosity yesterday in shape of several apples grown together upon the end of a small branch. They had grown in the shape of a cone, and were so balanced in their formation, that in rolling them in any direction the cone would recover itself and assume an upright position, with one apple at its very apex. We learn from the farmers that the apples upon their trees are so plentiful, that to keep them from falling off before ripe, they have had to thin them out nearly one half.

As usual, everybody on horseback yesterday, went at a full gallop, regardless of the bespattering, right and left, of pedestrians. Hacks too, went by crowds, at a full trot, bent on throwing as much slosh and mud upon those on foot, as possible. We saw one gentleman standing in front of the post office, receive a dose of alms mud full in his face, from a passing equestrian. He "cussed" considerably.

THIS RAIN will help the fruit trees that have been suffering from drought.

SEVERAL boats were on the river yesterday, creating the effects of high water, which created an eddy upon either side of the river, through which a boat is easily moved.

NOTWITHSTANDING the rain, large quantities of vegetables were in market yesterday.

THE NEXT nuisance will be an invoice of mosquitoes.

THE NECESSITY of lighting the streets was apparent to all who chanced to be out between eight and ten o'clock on Wednesday night. It was so dark that pedestrians could only make their way around by waiting for flashes of lightning to show their situation. We do hope some action will be taken by our city to provide lamps of some kind for our streets. We venture to assert no other community numbering eighteen thousand souls is without either guide boards on its streets or lamps at night.

"Schnapps" is a remedy in chronic catarrhal complaints, etc.

I take great pleasure in bearing highly commendable testimony to its efficacy as a medicinal agent in the diseases for which you recommend it. Having a natural tendency to the mucous surfaces, with a slight degree of stimulation, I regard it as one of the most important remedies in chronic catarrhal affections, particularly those of the genito-urinary apparatus. With much respect, your obedient servant.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 18, 1867.

I have made a chemical examination of a sample of your "Schiedam Schnapps" with the intent of determining if any foreign or injurious substance had been added to the simple distilled spirits.

The examination has resulted in the conclusion that the sample contained no poisonous or harmful substance. I have been unable to discover any trace of the deleterious substances which are sometimes employed in the adulteration of liquors.

I would not hesitate to use myself, nor to recommend to others, for medicinal purposes, the "Schiedam Schnapps" as an excellent and unobjectionable variety of gin. Very respectfully yours,

Consumption,
Its Cure and its Prevention,
By J. H. Schenck, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of a cough and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friend are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they only adopted the treatment of Dr. Joseph H. Schenck's simple and available medicine, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his instructions for their use, is quenched into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicine is as simple as it is un-failing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Sarsaparilla and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes sympathize with the stomach. They respond to the morbid action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the settling in, with all its distressing symptoms of Consumption.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's subtlest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-purifying, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"Leave no Sting Behind."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It crosses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A Supply of Good Blood.

The Sarsaparilla, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing without the previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more faintness, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent Father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impure and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gathering, it prepares them for expectoration and in a very short time the mucus is discharged, the rotten tissue that it occupies is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the unclouded or womanhood that was Given up as Lost.

The second thing is, the patient must stay in a warm room until they get well—it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter months, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, before they see in the house they must not expect a quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep in good spirits—no determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and mortal certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words: "Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a Jeweling man, seeking a cure, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon opened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

As soon as that began to subside my cough, fever, pain and night sweats, all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I then gained in strength, and have grown fatter than ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only seventy-one pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., continues to see patients at their office, No. 16 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Responder will be charged $5. The Responder declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence and condition of each. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses, the three medicines, not so other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them; first create appetite. Of morbid health, hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good bread at once follows, the cough ceases, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or a purge, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup, 25 cents a bottle, $1.25 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

 cluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements to menting and investigating as to the most

The great field trials at Sedalia, Mo., and at Xenia, Ohio, in the Summer of 1882—where "The Clipper" met some 400 competitors, including all the leading machines built, and was awarded the First Premium, and Gold Medal—proves that the Proprietors have been able to sustain in the field their claims of superiority for the Clipper Machine over all others. Its extraordinary lightness of draft takes one-third of the labor of the team. The adjustability of the fingers, or to cut high or low without stopping the team is worth $25 on any machine. It is the only mower that has the true center draft in accordance with correct mechanical principles.
 In short, it is the lightest, the most durable, the least complicated, the most perfectly constructed, the most symmetrical in design, of any implement of its class. Farmers who cannot afford to ignore their welfare—Send for pamphlet—investigate. See or write to some one who has used the CLIPPER. See the Machine yourself before you buy any other.
