

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, AUSTIN, August 29th, 1870.

To A. Siemering & Co., You are hereby notified that I have this day appointed your paper, 'The San Antonio Express,' the official journal of the Twenty-first Judicial District.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at the city of Austin, this 29th day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and the Independence of Texas, the thirty-fifth.

EDMUND J. DAVIS, Governor. JAMES P. NEWCOMB.

REPUBLICAN STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Hon. J. G. TRACY, Chairman, Houston. Hon. J. P. NEWCOMB, Secretary, Austin.

Table with 4 columns: Dist., Names, Dist., Names. Lists names of committee members across various districts.

Texas Legislature.

I do not think there will be any more bills done in either house. Fan and frolic pre-eminence, and the effort to check it is fruitless.—Galv. News.

Making due allowance for the exaggeration of the above, (for Hand, of the Galveston News, is as notorious in his use of falsehoods as the San Antonio Herald) there are still grounds for universal Republican sorrow, in witnessing the abased condition of a set of so-called, intelligent men, who have been placed in a position that should be filled with dignity, by the people of Texas.

It is with mingled feelings of shame and indignation, that we see men who call themselves Republicans, so regardless of what is due the honor of their party, the pride of their constituents, and the fair name of our State, as to allow all the levity of some village tap-room, and the chicanery of a few pot-house politicians, to convert a legislative body into a scene of uproar, when an unprincipled democrat so far forgets himself as to attempt ridicule of the man, who, with purity of patriotism, and love for the State and its people, seeks only to be just, and preserve the State from all internal disorder, and external ruin of its fair name and financial credit. Much has the Republican party of our State submitted to, in the way of glaring wrong, from the legislature, in which it holds a majority, but the closing hours of this session, with its disgraceful procedure, is too much for all human patience.

That a dignified body should allow a Saucy Panza to ride, donkey and all, into the legislative chamber, and there expend a needless garrulity, and a miserable attempt at wit and satire, directed against the chief executive of the State, is not in keeping with the earnest Republican sentiment that at all times, should pervade the minds of those who are thoroughly honest in their espousal of our party doctrine; and yet the Hon. (1) George Slaughter, chief hostile washer of the factotum, who are ever alert for mischief, has become the pride of the Democracy, through his attempt to subvert the dignity and decorum of the house.

We honestly wish that the Legislature, just adjourned, were never to meet again. It has disgraced itself more than once in its career, while for absurd espousal of the policy of subsidizing the Tammany Legislature of New York is its only peer.

Republican interests have not been served at all, by the Legislature calling itself Republican. Not a single measure can it claim as the production of its own intelligence and assumed statesmanship. The responsibility of the internal peace measure hinges all upon the Governor. The Immigration bill, the Education bill, the Police bill, and the Military bill are all parts of a system that was framed by the mind of the Governor.

True, say the people, the Legislature passed those bills. They could not do less; they might have done a deal more. Every good action they did do, has been doubly counteracted, in the universal harm they have done. In the subsidizing policy, and the setting of a precedent dangerous to our credit, and oppressive to our people, through the immense burthen of taxation.

Doubtless, as we write this, the Legislature has adjourned. With bitter disappointments over its outrageous actions; with shame for its lack of firmness, dignity and Republican stability, we hope it may never assemble in such shape again. Give us an election, give us anything, so we rid ourselves of men so forgetful of the honor, interests, internal and external safety of the State.

A street in Peoria, Ill., which about a year ago was called Turtle Dove avenue, on account of the number of newly married couples living in it (it is reported) is now called Nursery row.

In elucidating the problem of the future destiny of the Democratic party, we must investigate the record of the party in the past ten years, and see if the sentiments of the bulk of the party have undergone any material change. In doing this we must study, not only the tone of the Democratic press, but the political acts and speeches of the leading members of the party.

For the purpose of condensing matters as much as possible, we will endeavor to classify the population of the South at the present time, and demonstrate that the desire of the Democracy to destroy the National Government is only limited by their power.

Living, as we do, in an eminently loyal section of the country, we have no opportunity to observe the peculiarities of the party, as we might have, were our lot cast in the less favored regions of Kentucky or Mississippi; in fact, we have had no real genuine Democratic vigor and party spirit since the days of the Confederate vigilance committees, the presence of United States soldiers having, in a manner, acted as a damper, but the people have had occasion in those bye-gone days, to remember sufficient to convince them that the picture we draw, is not too highly colored.

We shall confine ourselves to the Southern Democracy, as we all know that the Northern branch, like the reverse side of a carpet, is but a poor imitation, they have always been subservient to the Southern branch, and even now, the policy of that section must be advocated, to avoid a rupture; the failure of the Northern wing to come up to the scratch during the war, goes far to show that we are not to look in that direction for true types of the party.

We may place the adherents of the Lost Cause, into three distinct classes, or elements, viz: the prominent, the disreputable, and the passive.

1st. The influential element of the party is composed of the old slave-holding aristocracy, and are the veritable Bourbons of America, they have forgotten nothing, and they have learned nothing. This class previous to the war, ruled not only the slaves and the "poor white trash" of the South, but the entire United States, and revived in the 19th century, the feudal aristocracy of the middle ages; they monopolized all positions of honor and trust, and they saw in the establishment of the Confederacy an opportunity of organizing, sooner or later, a monarchial form of government, in which they would perpetuate, on a firmer basis, their own peculiar views; by their influence the Southern States were gradually lured to rebellion, in which they furnished the leaders and generals. The downfall of the Confederacy left them nothing but their inexhaustible pride.

These are the men that at the present day furnish the Democracy with brains and respectability. In many instances they are able, bold statesmen, lead irreproachable lives, and are possessed of high social qualification, but their hostility to the fundamental principles of republicanism, is the scelus ex ore, and they would not hesitate at any political movement that threatened to weaken or destroy the National Government. They have brooded too long over imaginary wrongs, and are too far advanced in life to change their views, and no reasonable hope can be entertained of their ever rendering a hearty allegiance to the government.

How hard, how very hard it is for a proud man to acknowledge, under any circumstances, that he was wrong.

2nd. The disreputable element—the men that compose this class are the legitimate offspring of slavery, and the resemblance to their progenitor, is marked. Before the war they found an outlet for their chivalrous nature, in border ruffianism in Kansas, and in the numerous filibustering expeditions to Cuba and Central America.

Generally speaking, they are poorly educated, but possessed of a painfully exquisite sense of honor; and as the chivalrous, high-toned gentlemen are frequently haunted with the image of some murdered victim, they are a dangerous class. It is from their midst that the gamblers and desperadoes that infest the South, are drawn. They are morally depraved, with a tendency to whisky and cards.

3rd. The passive element of the democracy, contains many peaceable and good men, but they are not sufficiently informed and independent, to act for themselves, but with a blind admiration for the heroes of secession, follow the party. They help to make up the count in an election, and are of no importance otherwise.

We believe that the large portion of the adherents of democracy may be placed under someone of the classes herein described. Their record in the past cannot be obliterated, and the present generation will not be likely to forget it. To their management and direction, the miseries and desolation of the rebellion must be attributed, and the American people will hesitate to turn the ship of State over to men who have proved themselves treacherous and incapable. Now, what sentiments can these men entertain favorable to republican institutions? The party leaders oppose with intense bitterness, all reforms, because they see that by these reforms the form of government they hate, is being more firmly established in the hearts of the people.

Free schools, suppression of crime, and fair elections, are as repulsive to the feelings of the lower order of democratic adherents, as sunshine is to a blinking owl.

Have the people of the United States any reasonable expectation of a strong and just administration of public affairs, should these men ever regain their former power?

Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles? The answer to these questions is found of the last ten years, too indelibly to be either effaced or overlooked by the nation.

IMPORTANT.

An Error Corrected.

In the early setting forth of facts and figures connected with the subsidizing of the Columbus route, we took the ground of the county of Bexar, being called upon to pay fifty-six thousand dollars yearly, for thirty years, as sinking fund and interest, whereas the bonds were to be sustained and ultimately redeemed.

We became aware of the extensive error into which we had fallen very shortly after that publication. Instead of three and one-third per cent, as a sinking fund to redeem the bonds in thirty years, two per cent per annum, the minimum amount prescribed by the law, will pay, and more than pay in its accumulation of interest through reinvestment in our own bonds, the entire debt of five hundred thousand dollars in twenty-one years, thus leaving our county at the end of the twenty-first year free from this debt, while fifty thousand dollars is the highest amount paid in any one year.

We have observed many of our citizens have fallen into the same error that we did. They forget that eight per cent interest is compounding itself upon the sinking fund yearly by the prescribed investment in our own eight per cent bonds, so that there is a clear saving of six hundred and fifty thousand dollars, over and above all our previous estimates. That this may be proven to the satisfaction of all who can make figures, we give the result in figures of the calculations of the interest upon the two per cent sinking fund from year to year, and the result is, the sum of ten thousand dollars added yearly to that fund, and invested as the law prescribes, produces in twenty-one years the sum of $501,229.21, or nearly five thousand dollars more than enough to redeem the bonds. Thus at the end of twenty-one years, Bexar county ceases to be taxed further for the redemption of the bonds, and the interest for its bonds. Here is the table of figures which we have carefully prepared and thoroughly proven:

Table showing sinking fund calculations. Columns include 'Sinking fund 1st year, amt to be paid', '2d year', '3d year', etc., and 'Total'.

Posterior's red-hot New York Democrat has become cool again, after sinking $100,000, and Vallandigham advocates Republican principles. Where shall we look for the rip-roaring, straight-whiskey, and straight-ticket democracy if this is kept up!

TELEGRAPHIC

Latest from the seat of War.

VERMILION, May 27.—Favorable dispatches representatives abroad that the acts of the insurgents are criminal not political, and asks their extradition should any enter neighboring countries.

M. Picard to-day informed the Assembly that General Clinch occupies the whole left bank of the Seine; that Generals Vinoy and Douay, after capturing Place de la Bastille, occupied Fainburg and St. Antoine as far as Barrier de Troy; that Generals Clinch and Admiral had advanced to the fort heights of Les Battes Chantonnay, and that they will to-morrow, with sixty thousand men, occupy the last refuge of this monstrous insurrection. Picard also stated that no news had reached the government concerning the fires in Paris, or fate of the hostages held by the insurgents.

LONDON, May 27.—A dispatch from Soisy says that the Germans who have been seeking for the Archbishop of Paris and the other hostages, report that they cannot find them. It is supposed they have been shot.

It is calculated that there are over 50,000 dead bodies in the houses and cellars of Paris, many of whom are women and children.

It is said that the women are perfectly furious during the fights.

Executions are constant. The destruction of property is terrible. It is estimated that one quarter of Paris has been destroyed.

A dispatch to the Daily News says—Don Carlos is at Bayonne, causing great agitation in Andalusia and Catalonia.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Washington telegraphs to Fish that the insurgents still hold a small portion of Paris.

The Archbishop's fate is uncertain. PITTSBURGH, May 27.—Coal shaft here three hundred feet deep is burning. It is supposed the fire was caused by friction of the hoisting apparatus. Thirty or forty men and the engineer stood at their post holding away until the timber supporting the rope broke while the carriage was ascending. Those in the carriage were certainly killed. It is unknown how many are in the mine.

PITTSBURGH, May 27.—There is no hope for the thirty-five or forty men still in the mine. They must either suffocate or drown.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 27.—The scene about the shaft is one of great distress and anguish; two steam fire engines from Scranton and Wilkesbarre, are on the ground. It is thought that no water will be thrown into the shaft from the top, but we are told that the shaft will fill within the next twenty-four hours, so that if not suffocated, the poor men must drown—there is no escape for them.

LATER—The fire engines are pumping on the ruins which are so hot that no one can approach, probably not till morning. A dog was just sent down in the shaft of the mine and was brought up alive, which fact encourages the belief that the thirty-three men may yet be saved.

Assembly has referred the whole matter of the Sayre Institute to the Synod of Kentucky.

The Buffalo Commercial prints the following letter from one of its prominent patrons: "Please discontinue my paper from the time that I have paid up. I do not stop the paper because I do not want it, but to get rid of an intolerable bore that hinders himself into my house, and wastes my time and money, to sit for an hour or two, three or four times a week, to read my papers, and who is a thousand times more able to take a dozen papers for himself than I am to take one. If the nuisance is stopped I shall send for the paper again."

MARY, a discouraged mother feels her tired hands at night, and feels as if she had, after all, done nothing, although she has not spent an idle moment since she rose. Is something that your little helpless children have had some one to come to with all their childish griefs and joys. Is it nothing that your husband feels "safe" when he is away to his business, because your careful hand directs everything at home? Is it nothing when his business is over, that he has the blessed refuge of home, which you have that day done your best to brighten and refine? Oh, weary and faithful mother, you little know your power when you say "I have done nothing." There is a book in which a fairer record than this is written over against your name.—Exchange.

A story is told of a young couple in Hartford who wanted to hear Dickens read. They could hardly afford it, but secured up their extravagance to the necessary pitch. As they had concluded to invest, they were brought themselves of a poor family near by who were suffering from lack of work. So they gave up Dickens, and paid the price of two tickets to their impoverished neighbors. The poor people took the money, bought tickets and attended the readings.

An editor in Alabama, having read an article in Hall's Journal of Health advising that husband and wife should sleep in separate rooms; says Dr. Hall can sleep when and where he chooses, but for himself, he intended to sleep where he can defend his wife against rats and all other nocturnal foes as long as he has got one to defend.

ALL really great and honest men may be said to live three lives: there is one life which is seen and accepted by the world at large, a man's outward life; there is a second life, which is seen by a man's most intimate friends, his household life; and there is a third life, seen only by the man himself, and by Him who searcheth the heart, which may be called the inner or heavenly life.—Mary Fuller.

To do the simplest work is to save religion from the most aggravated misanthropy. For a man to light his last candle and set it in the window of his cot, with the hope that it may catch the eager eye of the struggling man, who would give the world for light, is to please God more than to perform the most stately ceremony, as if the earth were no longer the abode of suffering humanity.—Joseph Parker, D. D.

MAN is strong, woman is beautiful; man is daring and confident, woman diffident and unassuming; man is great in action, woman in suffering; man shines abroad, woman at home; man talks to convince, woman to persuade and please; man has a rugged heart, woman a soft and tender one; man prevents misery, woman relieves it; man has science, woman taste; man has judgment, woman sensibility; man is a being of justice, woman of mercy.

Some genius has succeeded in perfecting an invention which consists of condensed seeds water put up in boxes, containing material for sixteen glasses of pure soda water as can be drawn from any fountain. The powder is charged with gas as extended and flavored with pineapple, orange, lemon, etc., ready for use, and a picnic party can carry their soda fountain in their pockets.

VALLANDIGHAM advertised a new suit of principles for the democratic party. On giving it turned to be only of republican sold clothes. He is a steady market for the worn garments of the republican party. James VALLANDIGHAM will make the party a democratic outfit. In many no fear that "You look at this beautiful suit. The fashion only last year, I had him from the publican party. Cost me fifteen dollars. Take him for mine. Must have a rustic broil."—Chicoutiqui Gazette.

An aneurism of the carotid artery was cured in London, lately, in a very ingenious way. The subject was no less a personage than the Lord Mayor. The danger of attempting removal by the knife in such cases are very great, while the application of pressure by mechanical means is impossible. But the genius of the surgeon, Mr. Burton Shillitoe, was equal to the emergency. He organized a corps of medical students, who should, by relieving one another, keep a pressure on the artery by their fingers and maintain it for weeks, until the aneurism was obliterated and the artery recovered its normal condition.

A New York letter says: "The latest bridal present appeared at a recent wedding in novel style, for guests were attracted to a piece of paper pasted on the wall, and when examined it was found to be marked. From paper—it was a check for $500, which the bride feared might not be seen, and therefore escaped the usual discussion, considered embarrassing by all young ladies of a similar cast."—

An unpleasantness recently occurred between two knights of the bed at Bridgeport, Ct., caused by plucking noses on the other. All sorts of hard names were called, and finally the most robust of the two put an abrupt end to the dispute by summarily placing his opponent's head down in an empty barrel, where he fixed and fretted to his heart's content. On his extrication the difficulty was compromised by a mutual shaking of hands, and the work went bravely on.

"You want nothing, do you?" said Pat. "Bedad, an' if it's nothing you want, you'll find it in the jug where the whisky was."

TOMATOES, the first of the season, have made their appearance.

A LARGE corps of workmen were yesterday fast pushing to completion the erection of the new bridge.

OUR legislators ought soon to return home; they adjourned the Legislature Wednesday.

ALL persons desirous of hearing an eloquent and lucid exposition of the doctrines of the Catholic Church, should attend at St. Mary's Chapel this evening.

REV. FARR lectures this evening, at half past seven o'clock, at the Methodist Church, on the question of "The Coming Church." Price of admission, 50 cents.

MORE than one hundred thousand persons annually die in this country from Consumption, which is but the child of Catarrh. $500 is offered by the proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy for a case of Catarrh he cannot cure. Sold by druggist, or send sixty cents to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and get it by mail. A pamphlet free. 14-17-d31.)

THE decree of the County Court regarding the vote upon the railroad question was made final on Monday, but nothing has been heard of it since. The parties having it in hand evidently consider the public are not interested, as the Press has not yet received any intimation of the affair. In other cities, copies of the decree of such interest to a community, would have been sent to the press at once. The people will remember these things.

WE ARE glad to perceive that the indignation regarding the actions of our Recorder, is general, and that the citizens of our community have all set themselves against a further encouragement of retaining him as a judicial officer. We believe in all reason that a change will be beneficial not only to the people, but especially to the Republican party, for by his obstinate actions he has become a drag and burden to it.

THE poor man's friend at this hour is a railroad. A railroad that will cheapen his food and clothing, reduce his rent, enable him to build a homestead with a few hundred dollars, instead of its taking a thousand, and that will in the additional enterprise and growth of our city and county, enable him to always obtain remunerative employment.

WE DON'T understand our Mayor's policy of paying two dollars and a half per hundred pounds for the transportation of lumber for city use. By asking for bids, he can have that lumber at less than the price he pays now for transportation, and encourage home enterprise, too. We find no fault with the transportation of the iron work or the bridge. There is no other chance of getting it. But to pay two dollars and fifty cents per hundred pounds for lumber is an extravagance that any city can fully afford. The same lumber can be furnished here by merchants at $30 per thousand feet; it costs $140 by the city transportation. This state of things will never do.

WE spent a pleasant twenty minutes in conversation with our well known fellow citizen and first class Engineer, Captain Scheffler, on yesterday, and from him learned the principles of construction and of erecting the new iron bridge. The Captain is already pretty well advanced in his work, and will probably have the last iron fitting in its place the last of this week. The new bridge is perfect in the completeness of its fittings, every bolt being turned to the greatest nicety, while the supporting power of the trusses is almost twice the amount necessary to make the bridge safe and durable for a century. While in the neighborhood we took a look at the reason work of the abutments, and think it will stand safely the tests of time and strain. We are sorry we cannot say as much for the side walls, but we cannot, for they have already given way and will have to be built anew, or else leave time to throw them down, and we don't think it would take a very long time. As the city Engineer was not called into the superintendence of the construction of these walls, we cannot blame him, but we do blame our Mayor, who getting too many irons in the fire, has evidently allowed at least one of them to burn. We know our Mayor's zeal and earnestness to do the best for the city, but he should not assume duties outside of his sphere of office, as in this case. The City Engineer is the man who should have charge of all works of a constructive character.

Editor San Antonio Express.
I observe in the Herald of June 1st, an article referring to a "lively race across the Plaza." I am the man referred to as the one running the race, and for the best of reasons.
The man, who under certain peculiar circumstances, left behind him a fine gold watch and other little articles, is requested to call and secure a return of his property within the next two days, otherwise his name and certain matters intimately connected with his reputation, will be made public.
G. H. LAWSON.

FRUIT VENDORS are retailing apricots by the dozen. Our people are blessed with plenty of fruit this season.

THE RUMOR that the San Antonio post office is to be removed to powder house hill is hereby contradicted. It is to be set up at the race track below town.

WE VISITED the public schools yesterday, and the bright intelligent faces of the scholars, and their worthy emulating of each other in intellectual improvement, speaks well for the earnest effort of the teachers and the promising future of our section. It will be but a very short time now until new and commodious school houses will be distributed throughout the county and there will be no more progressive locality in the state, as regards educational matters than San Antonio. The public schools in our city should at once be placed under the control of the State for thereby an expense of many thousand dollars will be lifted from our peoples shoulders as a municipal tax. The State is able and will support in fine style all public institutions of learning.

A smart boy in one of the public schools having been required, to write a composition on some part of the human body, expended as follows:

"A throat is convenient to have, especially to roasters and ministers. The former eats corn and crows with. The latter preaches through his'n, and then ties it up."

—Dolpho Wolfe, Esq., Present: Dear Sir: I have made a chemical examination of a sample of your "Schiedam Schnapps" with the intent of determining if any foreign or injurious substance had been added to the simple distilled spirits.

The examination has resulted in the conclusion that the sample contained no poisonous or harmful admixture. I have been unable to discover any traces of the deleterious substances which are sometimes employed in the adulteration of liquors. I would not hesitate to use myself, nor to recommend to others, for medicinal purposes, the "Schiedam Schnapps" as an excellent and unobjectionable variety of gin. Very respectfully yours,

Consumption,

Its Cure and its Preventive,

By J. H. Schenck, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those dear and dear to family and friend are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which had they only adopted

Dr. Joseph H. Schenck's simple Treatment, and availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing pre-emptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is so simple as it is un-failing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the best two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition—the bronchial tubes—"sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbid action of the liver. Here then comes the eliminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of Consumption.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-purifying, alterative properties of cologne, but unlike cologne, they

"Leave nothing Behind."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A Supply of Good Blood.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic-syrup comes in to perform its functions, add to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impure and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten tissue that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was lost.

Given up as Lost.

The second thing is, the patient must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in the season of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients; if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has again been to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words: "Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel these penetrate my whole system. They soon opened the matter in my lungs, and I could spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside my cough, fever, pain and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I thus gained my strength, and have grown in look ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton, my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continues to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Spirometer will be charged $5. The Spirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines have no other accompanying than the simple instructions that accompany them: First create appetite. Of returning health, hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough lessens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

DIRECT IMPORTATION.
 JUST RECEIVED,
 A large lot of the celebrated German Study Lamps.
 The Study Lamps produces an intense pure white flame, with more effect than two ordinary Lamps.
 The Chimneys are made of the best tint annealed glass.
 The wick does not require cutting as the capillary attraction fully supplies the want of the flame until every drop of oil is consumed.
 The manner of trimming is simply to rub
 the slight crest from the top of the wick.
 The greatest advantage of the Study Lamp is its freedom from odor, showing perfect combination and leaving the atmosphere pure and healthy.

The Great Fire in Richmond.
Herring's Safes
 IN THE SPOTSWOOD.
$23,500 in Currency,
 and the Banks, Papers, Silver and Valuathe Adams and Southern Express Companies, are SAVED IN HERRING'S SAFES.

OFFICE OF ADAM'S EXPRESS COMPANY,
 No. 25 Broadway,
 New York, Dec. 31, 1870.
 Messrs. Herring, Farrel & Sherman—Our Agent at Richmond writes: "We got through to-night drying and fixing up the money from the late fire. The contents of the safe—$23,500 in bills, we recovered. It was a Herring's safe, and a good one, certainly. Yours, truly,
 J. C. BARCOCK, Treasurer."
 Messrs. Herring, Farrel & Sherman, New York
 Gents: The two safes of your manufacture, which we had in use on the morning of the 25th inst., at the disastrous fire which destroyed the Spotswood Hotel and adjoining block of buildings, have given full satisfaction, and served to prevent the destruction of some $23,500 in currency, besides the valuable papers and books enclosed therein. It was responsible for workmen to examine the safe until nearly 24 hours after the fire. Respectfully,
 J. F. GIBSON,
 Ass't Sup' for Adams & Southern Ex. Co's.
 Richmond, Va., Dec. 29th, 1870.
 LETTER FROM J. M. SUBLITT & CO.,
 Proprietors of the Spotswood.
 RICHMOND, VA., Dec. 29, 1870.
 Messrs. Herring, Farrel & Sherman—Gents
 On the morning of the 25th inst. we were fortunate enough to have one of your Herring's Patent Champion Safes, which fell into the column among a burning mass of ruins. After the fire, to our utmost surprise, we found the contents, consisting of valuable papers, money and some silver ware, all in good order. Had it not been for your Herring's safe we would have lost everything.

 The great field trials at Sedalia, Mo., and at Xenia, Ohio, in the Summer of 1869—where "The Clipper" met some 400 competibuilt, and was awarded the First Premium have been able to sustain in the field their claims of superiority for the Clipper Machine over all others. Its extraordinary lightness of draft takes one-third of the labor of the team. The adjustability of the finger-bar, to cut high or low without stopping the team, is worth $25 on any machine. It is the only mowder that has the true center draft in
