People who lack positive opinions are said to be profitless and tiresome; but, for our part, give us the man whe has no opinion at all, in preference to one who knows precisely how the English differ from the French, and the Hallan from the Spanish, and can give the exact reason why he prefers the one race to the other. Now, in our opinion, there is no race of men which does not transcend the suslysis of the finest-mind. Every race has 'deep lasts in eternity,' and will, no doubt, continue to develop its peculiarities through the eternal years. France is just as mysterious in her humilistion as Germany in her triumph. All we know is that it is our duty and should be our pleasure to fliener all men."

Collector-Wood is a native of Maine; originally entered the army as secondlieutenant of the Eighteenth Infantry in 1966 and was honorably discharged December 31, 1870, under the reduction order by Congress. Collector Wood was at one time chief clerk of the dispursing branch of the Provest Marshal General's office, which position he alled with eminent credit to himself and the appointing power. In the position to which he has been called, we feel satisfied he will equally prove his efficiency and worth.

Let us try and see ourselves as others see that

The level prairies are of good quality, though not equal in the average to those just spoken of. They may average a food of dark mold, generally overlying clay. They are generally left in a state of nature, and devoted to the rearing of cattle, which are seld at three or four years old for $10 to $20 per head to drovers or packers. Tens of theusands in good condition have been slaughtered for their hides and tallow, the fiesh, after yielding all its tallow, being fed to awine. This, I trust, is ended; it certainly will be when the first railroad shall have connected the valley of the lower Colorade with that of the dissouri or the Ohie. As yet the State is full of cattle, and will be for a few years longer; but they must ultimately give place to tillage. Whenever lands devoid of stump or stone, equal to those of the Connecticut valley, and within four days he wall of Naw York. Whenever lands devoid of stump or stone, equal to those of the Connecticut valley, and within four days by rail of New York, all be worth $5 per acre, these prairies will be gradually inclosed, broken up by the steam plow, surface-drained by gigantic machines, and cultivated for-corn, cotten, wheat or some choice grass, and then cattle will gradually disappear, or be reared in some more civilized fashion. At present they simply hold the ground till cultivation shall be ready to claim it. Whether it be a recommendation or not.

Whether it be a recommendation or not, I judge that it has required less effort to live in Texas than in any other State of the Union. The common saying, "It costs no more to rear a cow here than a hen at the North," is literally true. The cow was never fed, never sheltered, no matter how the North, is iterally true. The cow was never fed, never sheltered, no matter how cold or stormy the weather; and you might have ten thousand head of cattle ranging the prairies and openings without owning an acre of land on earth. Many a man has thus grown rich without effort and almost without thought.

Rich, but to little present purpose. His home was a rude cabin, with little or no glass in its windows and nothing but dirt on its floors. His children grew up unschooled and rude-mannered. His wife was slatternly, deprived of society and rendered such apply by memories of better times and more congenial associations. Man lives as a hordsman mainly on horseback, in the open air, often meeting acquaintances or strangers. Woman, being sonfined to her small, rough cabin, found therein no solace, no comfort, but in her children. The partnership was not an equal one; there was no similarity in its conditions. There are proud and happy wives in Texas as elsewhere, but the rancher's life her part tended to make them. ounditions. There was no similarity in its conditions. There are proud and happy wives in Texas as elsewhere, but the rancher's life has not tended to make them so. I am glad that I can see to the end of it, and I trust that the ranchemen's wives are even gladder than I am..

While slavery lasted in Texas any decided change was scarcely possible: The tillers of her soil were slaves. White men almost uniformly refused to "make piggers tillers of her soil were slaves. White men almost uniformly refused to "make niggers of themselves" by plowing and hoeing; but they did not hesitate to mount a horse and gallon after a herd of cattle. Boyse early learned to lasso a steer or celt: they liked the herdsman's life, with its excitements and adventures; it was the next thing to a buffale hunt. Land had no value; products, unless near navigable water, next to none. Many a man has been unable to sell his corn at 25c per bushel in one county when no better corn was wanted at six times that price in another, impassable streams and unfathonar ble roads separating them. So the owner other, impassable streams and mirathona-ble reads separating them. So the owner-of five thousand cows was eften for weeks without flour bread, and very rarely had either cheese, butter or milk; "hog and hominy" were his staples for diet; fruits he seldem tasted; tebacco and whisky were his only inxuries. So much for the past. I will speak of the future in my next.

How the trenty was stolen.

Here it is found that he had only been tricking them, even keeping good men from having their disqualifications removed, that he might awing en to the official teat awhile longer, they are becoming disgusted, and Mr. Conner will have the pleasure (f) of rowing up Salt river this year.

The political tide will assist his progress considerably to the head of that wide witness Hinton know anything about this business ff Jack responded in a list the oration of about half an hour, that was interrupted by the Honorable Conk lin waking up and telling him to stop that. He then asked liinton' to say yes or no, and Hinton said "yes or no," which so infuriated the Honorable Conklin that he bonneed up and reduced the question to writing. When sufficiently recovered, poor Jack went on to say that he appropriated into the room in the case of a bass viol. Upon which that mad wag. Charles Summer, set the committee in a roar by saying

Jack said as they understood that the treaty was to be set to music and chanted when signed, they had in this way secured an admission. They had been somewhat excharrassed by being set on their heads in a corner for a while, but Jack said they didn't mind it after they got used to it; rather thought it quickened their senses and improved their memories. In this way Jack and his friend Copeland heard the whole treaty and wrote it down, subsequently, in shorthand which they have not been able to read since. They telegraphed, however, to the New York Tribune and Cincinnati Commercial with some inaccuracies, caused by the introduction of "God save the Queen," and "John Brown," sung as a duett by Earl de Grey and Judge Hoar, General Schenek tried Yankee Doodle, but failed diagracefully.

(From the Prois Presse.) The railroad question excludes all other questions from ordinary conversation. X meeting took place on Wednesday evening in the Fireman's hall, in which several speakers claborated the donation question. That the friends of the donation are gaining ground, is evident to every one, and even those who looked upon the donation as a bad speculation and an unreliable business transaction, and who still think so, are beginning to be converted to the new faith; they consider that the danger San Antonio runs of being deprived for years to come, of all railroads, justifies them in making the sacrifice. We have no doubt but that the offer of Mr. Pierce will be accepted. In the first two days of registration not quite 300 voters have had their names placed on the list; and we hope that the interest in the railroad question may excite a more lively registration during the next two days; 1,800 or 2,000

THE people have at last become aroused to the great question of the hour: shall we have a railroad, or shall we allow the village of Austin to distance us in the great race? You can hear nothing but railroads verywhere. You step in a bar room and ask for a lemonade (with a fly in it) and the gentleman that dispenses the benzine got a joke off on certain antiquated local old fossil. You ask a friend what o'clock it is and he wants to know if you have registered yet. Kampmann's whistle door to arrive.

should be the lowest number on the list.

Two determined anti-raifroad men who went to the meeting the other night to contradict the speakers, and raise a row generally, were found early on Thurday morning, reclining on the cold pavement in front of Braden's hotel weeping, and refusing to be comforted. Judge Upson's speech had the effect of opening their eyes to the incredible depravity of opposing the public. good by opposition to the Columbus road. They will be admitted to registration this morning, and will immediately proceed to convert an opponent of the road who has hitherto resisted all the efforts that could be brought to bear on him.

A MUD turtle is proverbially a slow animal, and sometimes can't be made to move at all, but if you lay a live coal on his back, you will be astonished at the time he will make. When Mr. Pierce's proposition is accepted by the citizens of Bexar county, the Indianola road that eems to travel even slower than a turtle will receive an impetus that will be as astonishing as that of the mud tartle.

At any rate let us see what effect a live al will have on the old snapping turtle.

Compulsory Education in Ger-

As to compulsory education in Germany, the police officers of the commune keep a list of all the children, who have arrived at school age. This list is put into the hands of the school board, which now becomes responsible for the attendance of all those marked in the register. The master of the school program predically a list of the school program predically a list of of the school prepares periodically a list of absentees who are "unexcused," and it then becomes a duty of the board to call upon the parents or guardians of each child and admontal them. If the offence be repeated the name of the child is communicated to the police, and the offending parent is muleted in a small fine for each parent is mulcted in a small fine for each day's absence, non-payment being followed by inversorment. In Berlin and other towns, where the school board has more control over the school, a countities of the board assesses and collects the fine, subject to the right of appeal by the delinquent to the magistrate. In Wurtemburg the measured absences are rure; and in Sax ony hardly a child, we are told, is overlooked. Here the days the child is absent from school are recorded, and have been from school are recorded, and have been made good under pain of refusal of the right of confirmation at the expiration of eight years schooling.

These men have had several disputes concerning the respective merits of the troops of France and Germany, but on the whole have remained on pretty good terms. Last evening one of the strolling bands armed with cornets and other matruments of torture, slapped in front of the German's place and struck up the "Marseilles Hymu." The Frenchman in costacles rushed to his neighbor's door with. "Dutchy, zis is for high how?" The German didn't feel comfortable, especially as the Frenchman took the band to his place and treated them to cigars and things. The musicians lit their cigars and went out in front of the Frenchman's place and struck up "Die Wacht &m Rhein." A Most Startling Truth.

The punishment of vice and intempersance does not end, says the New York Tribune, with the vicious and intemperate, but the great human family is so constituted that one member of it cannot sin without pulling down the others. Thus, in an appalling degree, are parents answerable for the weakness and vices of their children. A man drinks moderately, but steadily all his life, with no apparent harm so himself; but his daughters become nervous wrecks, his sons epileptics, libertines or incarable drunkards, the hereditary tendency to crime baving its hereditary tendency to crime having its pathology and unvaried laws—as scrotula, consumption or any other purely physical disease. These are saule truths with medical men; but the majority of parents even those of moderate intelligence and even those of moderate intelligence and culture, are apparently either wicked or ignorant, or wickedly regardless of them. When our people are brought to remove gin-shops and gin-sellers, for the same reason that they would stagnant ponds or unclean sewers, there will be a chance of ridding our jails and alms-houses of half their tonauts. We have urged this point until it has grown fackneyed and tedious; but how can we be silent, se long as a fresh murder or suicide every day exemplifies the ghastly peril and its cause?

A Southern correspondent, writing to a Northern paper, says that the women of the South unlike the men, entertain the most profound regard for Jefferson Davis, and are as enthusiastic for the lost cause to das as they were while the fate of the rebellion was a matter of doubt. "Even ask for a lemonade (with a fly in it) and the gentleman that dispenses the benzing wants to know if you heard how Austine got a joke off on certain antiquated local old fossil. You ask a friend what o'clock it is and he wants to know if you have registered yet. Kamphann's whistle does not have the same setud it used to have, it is more like a signal that the train is about to arrive.

Two determined asti-railroad men who woman. A United States naval officer lay off Charleston for two years, and helped to batter down the mansion of a gentleman in the suburbs of the city. When the place was taken, he went on shore and married the young mistress of the ruins, brought her North, and from that day to this she has been one of the most entimaliastic Union women in the country. The officer in question held a very important command on the Tennessee during her late trip to San Domingo.

> Rarely has it been the fortune of a colitical party to receive from the oppo political party to receive from the opposition party an acknowledgment of ite-prescience and success, and of their own total error. This tribute is paid to the Republican party by the Democratic new departure plotform, ratifying the great Republican achievements, and confessing the blunder and iniquity of their opposi-tion.

A Pittiful Condition

It is a sad thing to pass through life only half alive. Yet there are thousands whose habitual condition is one of languor and debility. They complain of a specific disease; they suffer no positive pain; but they have no reliah for anything which affords mental or sensuous pleasure to their robust and energetic fellow-beings. In nine cases out of ten this state of lussitude and torpor arises frem a morbid stemach. Indigestion destroys the energy of both mind and body. . When the waste of nature is not supplied by a due and regular assimilation of the food, every organsis starved, every function inter-

Now, what does common sense suggest under these circumstances of depression? The system needs rousing and strengthening ; not merely for an hour or two, to sink afterward into a more pitiable condition than ever, (as it assuredly would de if an ordinary alcoholic stimulent were resorted to,) but radically and permanent-

How is this desirable object to be acomplished ? The answer in this question, founded on the unvarying experience of a marter of a century, is easily given. Infuse new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Do not waste time in administering temporary remedies, but wake the system up by recuperating the fountain-head of phy-

By the time that a dozen dozen that great regetable tonic and invigorant have been taken, the receive frame of the dyspeptic will begin to feel its benign influence. Appetite will be created, and with appetite the capacity to digest what it craves. Consumption, Its Ours and its Preventive,

By J. M. Schenck, M. D. Many a human being has passed away, for whose death, there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of our. There near and dear to family and friend are alreping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted fallen.

Dr. Joseph H. Schenck's simple Breatment, and availed themselves of his wonderful ef-ficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr.

ble works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenok's medicines is as simple as it is un failing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convious.

The Scaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition, the bronchial tubes, "aympathize" with the atomach. They respond to the morbils action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of tressing symptoms of Consumption, The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's nebiest gitts—the Pudophillum Peltatum They pussess all the blood-searching, alterative praperties of calomel, but untike calomel, they

"Leave no Sting Behind." The work of cure is now beginning. The itiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A Supply of Good Blood.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeales and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing wishout its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite

Now comes the greatest Bleed Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schench's Pulmenic syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be chested. It collects and ripens the impaircheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo I in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the retten through that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was.

Given up as Lost.

The second thing is, the patients must stay is a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the image are diseased, but it must be prevented or a sure nament be effected, Presh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country is the fall and winter. section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all arring. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep ingood spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

of his own cure was in these modest words a a Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought the I could not live a week ; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them pen-

It seemed to me that I could feel them pos-etrate my whole system. They soon ripen-ed the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a plat of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside my rough, fever, pair and night sweats all be-gan to leave me, and my appetite became as great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much, I goon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh over since." "I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like wmere skeleton; my weight was cally nine-ty-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed unintermpted health."

health.

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Poston. He or his son, Dr. J. H.
