Outlook Good For Area Farmers

Recent Rains Aid Crops

The outlook for area farmers appears to be bright at this point in the season. Spencer Tanksley, the County Agent, says that the wheat harvest is about complete and will wind up the later part of the week if there is no more rain. The vegetable crops are in good condition and digging for potatoes and onions should start the later part of the week also.

Tanksley reports that yields on the dryland wheat is good but down to about twenty to twenty-five bushels per acre due to the lack of moisture. The yields on irrigated wheat is low at about fifty bushels per acre while it is usually around sixty to sixty-five.

Corn progress in the area is good and it and other crops, especially grain sorghum have been aided by the recent rains. Tanksley said that even though high winds accompanied the rains he didn't think there had been much damage, and added that most farmers were wishing for another inch or inch and one-half soon.

destroyed due to sand damage or hail but some 400 acres of this had been replanted.

Spencer Tanksley said that there were approximately one hundred thousand acres planted in cotton with sixty-five thousand being dryland, which is an increase over last year, and thirty-five thousand acres of irrigated lands. He added that the fields are in pretty good shape but though the extremely hot days were what the cotton needed it put pressure on the farmer to keep up with the watering of the fields. Tanksley said that about ten to twelve thousand acres had been damaged by sandburn and hail in May but almost all of this had been replanted so there had been no complete loss.

The Lamb County ASCS office reported that the total acres of cotton planted had increased from 138 thousand acres last year to 200 thousand this year. They had received a little hail damage but most of this had been during planting season and had been replanted.

The Parmer County ASCS office said that the cotton looked excellent right now and there had been no reports of sand or hail damage. The increase of total acres was from 19,600 to 38,400.

All in all the outlook for area farmers appears to be good and if Mother Nature continues to help, yields should be high.

Open house held between 2-5 p.m. Sunday, June 19 at the new hospital was termed a success after over 800 guests registered and it was estimated that approximately one thousand people actually toured the new complex.

Some of the special features are the new surgical complex, complete with an operating room, recovery room, surgical clean-up rooms and sterilized supplies accommodations. It also features a maternity ward, nursery and delivery room. The nursery can handle up to 18 infants at one time. An Intensive Care Unit with three separate rooms is also a feature of the new hospital.

One of the main hopes for the new hospital is to draw new doctors to the area. Already one doctor has decided to make the move to Muleshoe. He is Dr. Bruce Purdy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Purdy, Jr. of Muleshoe, who will arrive July 15 and will be associated with Dr. Charles Pummill.

Currently the new addition has twenty-one beds filled after admitting twelve patients June 20, the first day of business in the new addition. They also had four surgeries scheduled for the same day.

Rainfall Farming Of Wheat, Sorghum

"Rainfall farming" of wheat and sorghum alum forms the nucleus of a Bailey County, Texas farm and ranch enterprise in an area that is usually noted for grain sorghum, cotton, and corn production.

Conrad Williams, President of the 9500 acre Buffalo Farms Incorporated at Stegall in Southwest Bailey County prefers the term "rainfall farming" to that of dryland farming. He believes in conserving and using every drop of water that falls, an important consideration in an area that has seen years when only seven to ten inches of rain have fallen.

Conrad Williams heads the operation with able help from his son Carter. Williams noted that he and his family were no strangers to hard times. "I came to Bailey County with my folks in 1929," he said. "We started farming in the Stegall area in 1932 on a half section and in debt after three hard depression years." His wife, Mildred, moved to Stegall in 1924 with her family, the Charlie Phipps. The Williams now live about two miles from the old Phipps homestead. They reared three children there. Carter, the oldest, lives in Muleshoe and works with his father. Their only daughter, Wenonah, is a school teacher in Denver, and Wendell, their youngest son, is a commodities broker in Lubbock.

Williams feels that one of the secrets to successful farming in this area is to hold moisture loss to a minimum. Tillage on the 5300 cultivated acres is geared to maintaining most of the crop residue on the soil surface. "We don't farm with row crop equipment any more than absolutely necessary", he said. "We lease or borrow equipment to list up land when needed."

Buffalo Farms operates on the principle of the least plowing to do the most good. Plowing is limited to the operations that are absolutely necessary. "We don't plow unless rains bring out too many weeds," Conrad said. "Minimum tillage farming has worked for us."

Buffalo Farms owns four 4020 John Deere tractors but most of the tillage work is done with two powerful D-8 Caterpillar crawler-type tractors. One is almost 25 years old but still in excellent condition. The other is a 1972 model.

A new hitch system for the "72" D-8 was built in 1976. This new hitch will handle six-28 disk Krause one-way plows or seven Hoeme sweep plows. The newer D-8 pulling one of the massive tillage systems at five mph. covers a section of land in a twelve-hour day!

Carter Williams designed the hitch and built it in the farm shop with help from some of the other men. "This new hitch will let us better utilize the extra power of the newer D-8," Conrad said. "This will cut down even more, now, on our dependence on scarce hired help. The only reliable help we have is permanent year-round employees. We use five permanent employees including myself."

Buffalo Farms has been in the sorghum alum seed business since 1962 and has raised wheat since 1945. "We normally plan to plant about half to sorghum alum and half to wheat depending upon moisture conditions," Conrad said. "We have seen several rough years such as 1945 and 1964. Our best wheat production was in 1958 when we made 36 bushels per acre after having some hail damage."

Buffalo Farms has added quite a bit of native rangeland to their operation in the last few years. They now own over 4000 acres of grassland. "We just recently bought 235 purebred Herefords from a Tucumcari, New Mexico ranch," Williams said. "We feel that our operation is ready to handle several head because we have improved our grass and facilities since beginning a Great Plains cost-sharing program with the Soil Conservation Service." Buffalo Farms took over a Great Plains Conservation Program contract on 2700

Local Quartet To Present Gospel Program

The gospel quartet "The King's Kids" will present a program at the First Assembly of God Church, Friday, June 24 at 8:30 p.m.

The quartet is composed of local talent consisting of: Wayland Ethridge, who sings lead; Tom Lobaugh, sings bass; Mrs. Wayland Ethridge; and Mrs. James Kemp, also feature as lead. The group is accompanied by Mrs. W.T. Watson on the organ, James Mason on the rhythm guitar and W.T. Watson on the steel guitar.

"The King's Kids" will present an hour and a half of gospel music and there is no admission charge.

Heavy Rains Hit Area

Blowing winds and storms accompanied heavy rains that hit Muleshoe and the surrounding areas Monday and Tuesday evenings. The amounts of total rainfall varied from fifteen one hundredths at Lazbuddie to over three inches at the Lariat community.

While the Lazbuddie area received only a sprinkle Monday night up to thirty one hundredths was reported after the

City Sales

Tax Rebated

Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday his office has mailed checks totaling $39.3 million to 865 Texas cities for their June share of the one percent city sales tax.

The latest checks bring to $167.1 million the amount rebated to the cities to date this year, a 15.1 percent increase over the same period last year.

The City of Houston again received the fattest check--$7.5 million--while Dallas and Fort Worth received $4.8 million and 1.8 million, respectively.

Roanoke received the smallest check--$15.79.

Bullock also reminded Texas taxpayers of the following bills approved by the 1977 Legislature which will affect sales tax collections:

--- SB 110 exempts from the sales tax syringes and hypodermic needles for medical purposes. The bill is effective Aug. 29.

--- HB 694 exempts newspapers and subscription sales of magazines from state and local sales taxes effective Aug. 29.

--- HB 1831, now in effect, exempts from the sales tax the sale and rental of motion picture film to or by movie theaters and television stations.

Bullock said that the exemptions will have only minor effect on overall sales and use tax collections.

Openings In Class For FCC License At LCC

There are still openings in "Study for the FCC License," a new class starting June 27 in the Lubbock Christian College Industrial Technologies Division.

"The class is designed to help students prepare for either the first, second or third class Federal Communications Commission license exam, depending on how much work they want to put into the class," according to Charles Lee, head of LCC's Industrial Technologies Division.

Meeting from 6 to 10 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from June 27 to Sept. 12, the class will cover receiver and transmitter theory, an advanced study of amplifiers and power supplies, frequency multipliers and detection and communication systems.

A prerequisite for registration is a background in AC and DC electronics and electronic components.

Persons wishing to register or seeking further information can call Kenneth Johnson at (806) 792-3221.

around Muleshoe

One hundred and eighty-three students have been named to the spring semester dean's list at Cornell College. A grade point average of at least 3.6 on a 4.0 scale is required for this designation. Included in this number is Thomas Durham, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie W. Durham of Muleshoe. He had 4.0 and was classified as a senior.

Tri-County Striders Attend First Meet

The Tri-County Striders attended their first A.A.U. sponsored track meet Saturday, June 18 in Hereford.

"The results of the track meet were: in the Junior Girls Division consisting of girls ages twelve to thirteen the 440 Relay team won third place. The team consisted of Starla Black, Jill Turner, Robin Burgess, and Rhonda Dunham. Starla Black and Sherry Ellis tied for fourth place in the long jump.

In the Intermediate Girls Division, ages fourteen and fifteen, the 440 Relay team of Lori Burgess, Shelli Hawkins, Wendy Stice and Shelly Dunham placed second. Shelly Dunham took fifth in the 100 yard dash. In the 100 yard low hurdles Lori Burgess placed third and Brenda Dodd placed fourth.

In the boys Intermediate, ages fourteen to fifteen the Tri-County Striders came in second. The team is composed of Felix Norman, Russell Windham, Mike Northcutt and Jeep Shanks. In the 100 yard dash Russell Windham took sixth place and in the long jump Jeep Shanks took fifth.

In the Senior boys division Terry Shafer took second place in the 120 yard high hurdles; Marcus Beversdorf took second in the shotput and second place in the discus; and Oscar Hernandez took fourth in the discus.

Coach Gary Goodin said that they had about 65 youngsters in the Tri-County Striders and they took about 30 to the Hereford meet. He also said that if anyone wished to join they could come to the High School Track field any Monday, Tuesday, or Thursday between 6:30 and 8:00 which is when practices will be held. There is a seven dollar membership fee and the first work outs will be held this week.

National Congressional Council Completes Meetings

The National Congressional Council (NCC) completed its initial series of meetings Friday, June 17, 1977, in Washington.

The NCC, chaired by Representative Trent Lott (R-Miss), is a coalition of community leaders which provides counsel to Republican congressmen on issues of concern in the leaders' localities.

Jim Reese of Odessa, Texas, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Damron, a Co-Chairman of the NCC, commented on the meetings by saying: "This has been a very productive week for the National Congressional Council. It is important we in West Texas tell the leaders in Congress of the problems we face. All too often our leaders seem to be removed from the issues we deal with daily."

He continued: "In my conversations with the minority leaders in Congress, I emphasized the need for House members to listen to the citizens of America as they develop new programs, especially in the energy field. I firmly believe if the Congress listens to the advice of the people they represent, we can be sure new programs will be responsive to our real needs instead of simply more government interference in our lives."

House Minority Leader John Rhodes (Ariz) said: "This week the Republicans in Congress have had the privilege of hearing local leaders inform us first-hand of the issues concerning their communities. I hope we are able to impress upon the Congress the desire of the American citizenry to participate in government decisions."

Texas Water Plan Documents Need For Supplemental Water

A report just released by the Texas Water Development Board in its effort to update the Texas Water Plan documents the need for supplemental water on the High Plains, according to J.W. Buchanan, president of Water, Inc.

Entitled "Continuing Water Resources Planning and Development For Texas," the two-volume, TWDB study notes that the High Plains region is one of several areas in the state that will need additional water to meet projected needs through the year 2030.

In fact, of the 43 planning zones the state was divided into for purposes of the study, 31 are projected by the TWDB to have future water requirements in excess of the available supply.

Nowhere in the state, Buchanan said, is that need any greater than on the High Plains, which, as one of the nation's leading agricultural areas, depends on irrigation water from the declining Ogallala aquifer for much of its farm productivity.

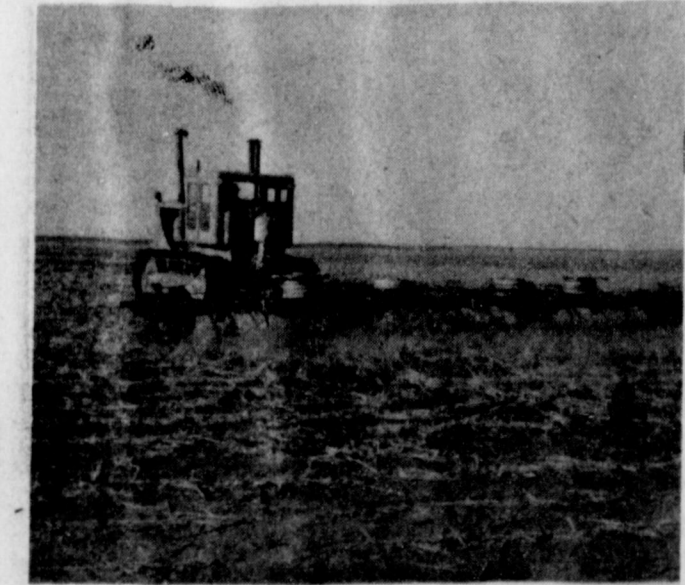

"We are facing a long-term problem with our groundwater supply," Buchanan said. "I really doubt we will ever run completely out of water, but eventually, as less and less groundwater is available, more and more land will have to be taken off irrigation with the resulting economic consequences to the state and national STORM CAUSES FIRE AT CORRAL...A fire was spotted at 8:30 Tuesday morning on top of the Corral Restaurant by a good samaritan a block away who saw smoke coming from the top of the building. The fire was apparently caused by a wire that had broken in the neon tubing around the building and been blown up on top of the roof by the storm the night before. According to Roy Dyer the building suffered some smoke damage and other damage was comparatively light. He stated that they got the people out safely and it had not affected business at all.

CATERPILLAR FARMING...A D-8 Caterpillar tractor is used to pull a large chisel plow on Buffalo Farms at Stegall rather than the conventional tractors.

Cattle Owners Sign For Beef Referendum

Voting in the producer referendum on the Beef Research and Information program will begin on July 5 and continue through July 15.

County offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) have been conducting the registration which began on June 6 and ended on June 17.

According to Terry Hill of the ASCS office 62 producers had registered to vote.

Producers eligible to register and vote were those who owned cattle during 1976 including 4-H and FFA members, men and women.

If the vote is favorable, a Beef Board will be appointed. This board is to consist of not more than 68 members, selected from the beef producer ranks by the Secretary of Agriculture as nominated by their producer organizations.

Representation on the board would be proportional to cattle production in each state or geographic area.

The program would be monitored through the Agricultural Marketing Service of the USDA to assure that it stays within the legislative authority and accomplishes the goals of the program as voted on by producers in the referendum.

Should producers approve the program, the initial board meeting might be held in the late fall of 1977.

It would likely be 1978 before a research and information program for cattle and beef could be fully developed and first assessments begin on sales of cattle.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Wilkams

AUSTIN — Gov. Dolph Briscoe cleared his desk of legislation passed during the regular session and announced he will call lawmakers back to work July 11.

Briscoe settled on the early July date for a special session on the complex issue of public school finance which evaded all earlier efforts at solution.

"I think it should be possible to accomplish the work of the session in a week to 10 days," Briscoe said. "There is enough agreement that we should be able to work out a good school finance bill in a relatively short period of time. . . I am giving everybody an opportunity to plan around the (July 11) date."

House Speaker Bill Clayton and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby have indicated they favor the legislature's early passage of something similar to the conference committee report which died on final night of the regular session. The bill provided about $900 million in additional school aid.

Briscoe saved some of the most important bills until last. Among the last measures approved were consolidation of three major state water agencies, the "sunset bill" providing for phase-out of outmoded state agencies and the new medical malpractice act.

Crime Unpredictable

Total "index" crime doubled during the last four years, and may do so again 1977-1980.

City areas with 78 per cent of the population reported 78 per cent of the crime, but the violent crime rate is higher in rural areas. The C.J.D. study also revealed these findings—

—Last year, a quarter billion dollars worth of property was reported stolen in the state.

—The typical murder victim was 20-35 years old and a white male. The typical person arrested in murder cases was the same age and also white male.

—Average take in robberies was $440. About 41 per cent of Texas robberies are solved.

—Nearly 20 percent of the 187,182 burglaries were committed without need for force, and more than half were committed in daylight —the vast bulk in private residences.

Allowable Set

Texas Railroad Commission set the July oil production allowable—again at 100 per cent.

Commissioner Jim Langdon noted the U.S. is importing 38 per cent of the crude oil it needs, but said the nation could become self-sufficient if "willing to pay the price."

Langdon also proposed storage of synthetic oils, and said he will spell out his plan in writing.

Total nominations of Texas crude oil purchasers for July were 3,915,851 barrels a day, a decrease of 26,543 barrels from this month.

AG Opinions

Bulk of a Mexia State School investigative report is not available to legislators or the public since it deals with personal medical records, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

—A telephone company is authorized to lay buried telephone lines within the right-of-way of a county road without the approval of the commissioners court. However, the company must place its lines in such manner as not to inconvenience the public in use of public roads.

—A county has no present authority to enact land use regulations for flood-prone areas unless it qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program of June 30, 1970.

—Political subdivisions which are self insurers under the Workmen's Compensation laws are liable for the gross premium tax on insurers.

—A soil and water conservation district may deposit its funds in interest-bearing accounts in a state or national bank, but it may not purchase certificates of deposit. Nor may it deposit its funds in a savings and loan association.

Courts Speak

The U.S. Supreme Court ordered an indefinite stay of execution for James Paul Burns, condemned Texas murderer, pending his appeal to the top court. Burns' stay by a state court would have run out June 24.

Short Snorts

Texas Water Development Board is monitoring cloud seeding operations in Castro, Swisher, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Bailey, Farmer, Deaf Smith, Randall and Lubbock counties.

A $200,000 community center and museum honoring the late former Gov. Coke R. Stevenson at Junction is being planned through a private solicitation of funds.

Texas oil and gas wells produced 663,043,946 mcf of gas in March 1977, down 19 per cent from field runs a year earlier.

Average calendar day allowable of Texas oil production as of June 15 totalled 3,607,813 barrels.

The Middle Colorado River Watershed Project covering 4.5 million acres of the Texas Colorado River basic mid-section has been named the nation's top special flood prevent project.

A Texas Aeronautics Commission hearing examiner has recommended that Chaparral Airlines, Inc. of Abilene be permitted to offer scheduled air passenger service between Abilene Municipal Airport and Dallas Love Field.

Man's future 'up in the air'

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Mankind's future is up in the air, a University of Texas astronomer believes.

Dr. Harlan Smith predicts that on a timetable of three to 25 years man will be colonizing space — beginning with the use of "erector-set technology" to build lightweight orbiting solar power satellites (to harness the energy of the sun and beam it back to earth) and continuing to huge earth-orbiting space colonies with trees, birds, streams, shopping centers, homes and wilderness areas.

The habitats Dr. Smith envisions for community living in space would be structures perhaps as large as five miles in diameter and 50 miles in length.

'Dial-a-help'

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — A popular telephone number (471-3313) at The University of Texas could be dubbed "dial-a-help."

It offers students 24-hour-a-day access to 150 short tape-recorded messages that help them with problems of everyday life — from coping with stress to the sophomore blues. The tapes, each five to eight minutes long, cover a variety of topics from health to studying difficulties. The most-called-for tape is "Love and Infatuation."

No less than 100 calls are received daily in the telephone tape program of UT's Counseling and Psychological Services Center. The program recently was judged the most innovative of its kind in an 11-state area of the South.

economies."

The High Plains accounts for 6.4 million of the 8.9 million irrigated acres in the state, a 72 per cent share, according to the report. Irrigated farmland accounts for 60 per cent of the market value of all crops grown in Texas.

The food and fiber producing sectors of the state economy are Texas' major water consumers. Agriculture and livestock sectors relying on irrigation account for 77 per cent of the state's total fresh water use.

Nonetheless, TWDB figures show the direct return from the irrigated agriculture sector in recent years has accounted annually for food and fiber production valued at more than a billion dollars, employment for over 49,000 people and tax revenues to all levels of government at almost $50 million.

"However," the TWDB report states, "the indirect production and employment in irrigated agriculture represents even larger impacts on the total economy. The value of output of irrigated crops in 1972, for example, is estimated to have induced over $3.9 billion in total economic output and supported over 101,000 jobs throughout Texas."

TWDB figures indicate that not only the High Plains, but also West Texas, Central Texas, South Texas and some coastal areas will face major water needs by the year 2030. Those needs cannot be met without importing water from other states, a proposition Water, Inc., has actively backed.

Duncan Ellison, executive director of Water, Inc., said, "The bottom line is simply that total water requirements for the year 2030 are estimated at 41.8 million acre feet, compared with the 17.4 million acre feet used in 1974. Texas just doesn't have all the water it will need. Water is going to have to be diverted to Texas from other states to meet the water needs of the High Plains and other water deficient regions of the state."

In a preliminary assessment of water import needs, the TWDB study states, "Alternative sources of in-state and out-of-state surplus surface water supplies are being evaluated and will be integrated into future phases of water resources planning for Texas."

Ellison, in explaining the TWDB planning process, said, "This new report is the first phase of a two-part process and simply brings together the figures and projections on water needs for every section of the state. It does not solve the problem; rather it merely states it. The second phase of the planning process is to draw up recommendations which can be implemented to meet the water requirements of all areas of the state."

Water Inc., is a non-profit corporation chartered in 1967 to promote water development for the state in general and the High Plains in particular.

next meet will be Saturday, June 25 at Canyon. It will be A.A.U. sponsored and the preliminaries will begin at 2:00 with the finals at 6:00. The group will leave at 10:30 from the High School parking lot and youngsters may join the Tri-County Striders up until that time to be eligible for the meet. Those attending the Canyon meet should bring a sack lunch and an entry fee of one dollar per person. In the Bantam, Midget and Junior divisions three events may be entered. In the Intermediate and Senior divisions four events may be entered. Team trophies will be given for first, second, and third places. Medals will be given for individual first, second and third places and ribbons for fourth and fifth places.

acres of new land in early 1973 and added the rest of their land to the program later that year. The funds have enabled them to install four miles of livestock water line and ten water storage systems to distribute water to isolated areas. Grazing pressure can be evenly distributed over the rangeland with plenty of water available to each herd as needed. The extra storage will allow them to concentrate several head in one pasture while resting other pastures.

Three hundred twenty five acres of old cropland was seeded to Blue grama, sidecoats grama, and Buffalograss in 1974 and 1975 with GPCP funds. The fields haven't been grazed in order to let the grass become well established. Plans have been made to "grub" about 1800 acres of mesquite infested rangeland in 1978, to help control the moisture-robbing plants. Buffalo Farms plans to handle a 300 cow herd on their 9500 acre operation when all conservation work has been completed.

The local Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District chose Conrad Williams as Outstanding Conservation Farmer for 1976 in recognition of his conservation accomplishments over several decades. Buffalo Farms is working proof of his common sense conservation practices. Williams has proven that perseverance, sound conservation farming and good judgement can bring success in an area where Mother Nature tries hard to defeat a man's efforts.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--The Texas Legislature has taken affirmative action toward getting people off the welfare rolls.

This action came in the form of a bill by Senator Walter Mengden of Houston and sponsored in the House by Rep. Stan Schleuter of Salado. The bill was passed after the federal WIN (Work Incentive Program) which mandates that recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children must either register for work or enroll in job training.

However, this federal program was being administered in only 13 Texas counties--primarily the metropolitan counties. The law enacted by the 65th Legislature expands this program on a statewide basis to cover all 254 counties.

It was determined that currently only about 60 percent of our AFDC recipients were covered by the WIN program, and the remaining 40 percent were not required to seek employment. Under the new law, all AFDC recipients--except for mothers with pre-school age children, persons over 65 years of age, and mothers who are required to be caretakers for a disabled or handicapped individual--would be required to apply for and accept employment.

The program is to be administered jointly by the Department of Public Welfare and the Texas Employment Commission. Participants in this program will be required to accept employment if (1) the pay follows federal guidelines for the minimum wage (2) the place of employment is within a reasonable traveling distance, and (3) the work day falls within reasonable hours.

As defined by this act, "reasonable" has a more flexible interpretation than it does in the federal WIN program guidelines. We believe that this enhanced leeway will enable the Texas Employment Commission and the Department of Public Welfare to work together to move eligible AFDC recipients into job vacancies.

I believe that this legislation answers the cry we have heard from many Texans to get welfare recipients off welfare and into jobs. I believe also that this law follows President Carter's goals which speak to full employment. By moving welfare recipients into the work force, they will be better able to move into the mainstream of our society, off the welfare rolls and beyond the stigma of being tagged a "welfare recipient."

Tuesday rain. Mrs. Jack Smith said, "It fell just right and was greatly appreciated."

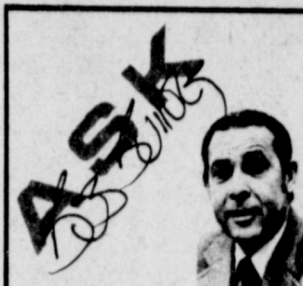

Jeff Peeler reported that Muleshoe had a total rainfall of eighty-one one hundredths for the two days.

The Lariat community received a big rain both nights. The Ernest Ramm farm received an inch the first night and two and two tenths on Tuesday night. Ramm said, "Every hole out here is full."

The Needmore community received about one inch and four tenths and Bula was reported to have received about two inches on Monday night. Pudd Wiseman, located ten miles toward Sudan on Highway 84, said they didn't have any on Tuesday night but got an inch and a quarter on Monday.

months after the death.

DEAR SIR:

Is rose food taxable?
No. All plant nutrients are exempt from the state and local sales tax.

MR. BULLOCK:

I haven't received my new store license for the past two years. What's the hold-up?
The store license law was repealed by the Legislature as of January, 1975.

SIR:

Is wood for my fireplace taxable?

Yes, firewood is subject to the state and local sales tax.

A little prominence doesn't go to the head of a really prominent person.

The Lonely Heart

MRS. RAYMOND GAGE

Mrs. Gage Speaks To Llano Estacado

The Llano Estacado Civic Club met Tuesday, June 14, at the First National Bank.

Mrs. Raymond Gage, of the Circleback community, presented a program on her travels abroad. She told of the flowers in and around Amsterdam, then to Belgium where they toured a linen factory. They visited the University of Oslo while in Denmark and Norway, where 80 percent of the students are American. From there she talked about Sweden, which is noted for lead crystal. In Germany they visited the Heidleberg Castle and saw the largest wine barrel in the world. She told of Switzerland and of its cheeses and watches. In France they saw the table on which the Declaration of Independence was signed, and in England they sat in on a session of the House of Parliament. Mrs. Gage also told of Scotland, Cuba, Mexico, the Bahamas, Canada and of a Caribbean cruise.

Mrs. Richard Kelton, president, presided over the business meeting. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and a treasurer's report was given. A letter was read from the Chamber of Commerce on the July 4 activities.

The club voted to hold a White Elephant Bazaar for the fall fund raising project. A booth will be set up for the July 4 events being held.

Members present were Mrs. Jess Bryant, Mrs. Carol Long, Mrs. Stanley Burreson, Mrs. Fred Clements, Mrs. Royce Harris, Mrs. Betty Hopper, Mrs. Richard Kelton, Mrs. Glen Morris, Mrs. Willie Reeder, Mrs. James Turnbow, Mrs. Keith Turner and Mrs. Raymond Gage, guest.

Speech, hearing

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Speech and hearing disorders are the most frequent handicapping conditions among children, says a University of Texas audiology specialist who advises early treatment for such disorders.

Dr. Frederick Martin says hearing loss has to be looked upon as a language disorder because it affects the development of normal speech and language patterns.

Speech patterns of a child with impaired hearing are developed late and poorly, he says. Children often are diagnosed as being emotionally disturbed or mentally retarded when actually they have language disorders that stem from hearing loss, he adds.

Flag Day Observed By El Portal DAR

Members and guests of El Portal Chapter, National Society Daughters of the American Revolution met at Oasis State Park on June 14th for a Flag Day Breakfast.

Mrs. Vernal D. Tuttle, Regent, gave recognition as the 200th anniversary of the adoption of the flag, and also on June 14th, 1775, that the United States Army was organized. Mrs. J. Albert Stewart, Chaplain, gave the invocation.

The Sons of the American Revolution were represented by Lawrence L. Little, Missouri Chapter and Floren Thompson, III, New Mexico Chapter, both of Portales.

Paint Workshop Slated At Taos Ski Valley

A painting workshop for beginning and advanced students with emphasis on developing personal style and techniques in landscape painting will be held July 25-29 and again September 26-30 in Taos Ski Valley with Jean Lyles. There will also be demonstrations in palette knife and serpia-tone painting.

Students may enroll for a period of one week or for two weeks. The fee for each week is $50.00. Each class will be limited. Supplies will be available. Students may register on Sunday. Each student is to bring an easel, paint rags and a sturdy TV tray.

She studied at West Texas State University in Canyon with noted artists as Ronald Howerton, Merlin Enabnit, Stephan Kramer and Sinithia Guzevich. Her paintings are being shown with the Texas Gallery in Hereford and by the Conquistador Gallery in Taos, N.M.

Soviet oil, gas

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — While many eyes are on the oil of the Middle East, the eyes of two Texas scholars are on the oil and natural gas potential of the Soviet Union.

An economist, Edward Hewett, and a geographer, George Hoffman, of The University of Texas have begun a research project to assess the role of the Soviet Union in the future of world oil and gas markets.

Dr. Hewett will develop an econometric model to predict Soviet exports in oil and gas in the next decade. Dr. Hoffman will explore the impact of Soviet exports on Western Europe and the probable competition from future North Sea exports.

Medicine has made great progress in the past decade; people live longer even if it costs more.

To hide thread ends when sewing, leave ends long. Knot thread close to fabric. Thread ends through a needle and slip them between layers of the fabric. This hides them, and they don't pull out as easily, says Margaret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Your friendly 'repairwoman'

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — A University of Texas management professor wants to promote the idea that if your doorbell rings, it may be your repairwoman calling.

Prof. Albert Shapero believes women are letting a lucrative job market — that of making repairs to TV sets or small appliances in the home — go untapped.

He reasons that properly trained repairwomen would have a special appeal to women alone in their homes who "may feel a little uncomfortable with strange men tromping around the house." Also, he says the limited number of places where small appliances can be repaired opens up to women the field of repairs in the home.

A government, administered for the good of all citizens, should recognize no privileged class.

Bonus With Man-Made Oil

There'll be something extra for motorists planning to switch to a new "man-made" auto engine oil said to conserve energy as well as save gasoline and oil changes.

For six weeks beginning June 1 at participating Mobil service stations, motorists can get a free oil filter with a lubrication and complete change to the new synthetic engine oil, Mobil 1.

Extensive testing shows Mobil 1 "enables the average car to go up to 10 extra miles per tankful of gasoline, reduces oil consumption in engines in good mechanical condition, provides faster sub-zero starting and excellent hot weather performance, keeps engines cleaner, and reduces engine wear."

Nuclear waste

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Under a $265,000 federal grant, The University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology will begin studies in the Texas Panhandle to locate deep salt beds in which nuclear wastes might be isolated safely in the future.

The U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration is considering salt beds as a repository for nuclear wastes because water cannot penetrate them and carry wastes into surrounding formations.

Dr. William L. Fisher, director of the UT bureau, says geologists will be looking for sites with salt beds at least 200 feet thick and from 1,000 to 3,000 feet deep.

Work hard and hang on to your money—your children will have the time of their lives spending it.

Laboratory testing was supplemented by more than two million miles of road testing, including an around-the-U.S. trip by production-model 1977 cars driven by a test team of The United States Auto Club. In one series of tests, Mobil 1 was used 15,000 miles, including 5,000 in a highway police car, then 5,000 in a city taxi, then 5,000 in a Cadillac. Tests for metal-wear particles, chemical stability and other features showed that the used Mobil 1 still protected that engine as well as new conventional premium oil.

The offer of a filter with a change to Mobil 1 is timed to coincide with motorists' preparing for the summer driving season.

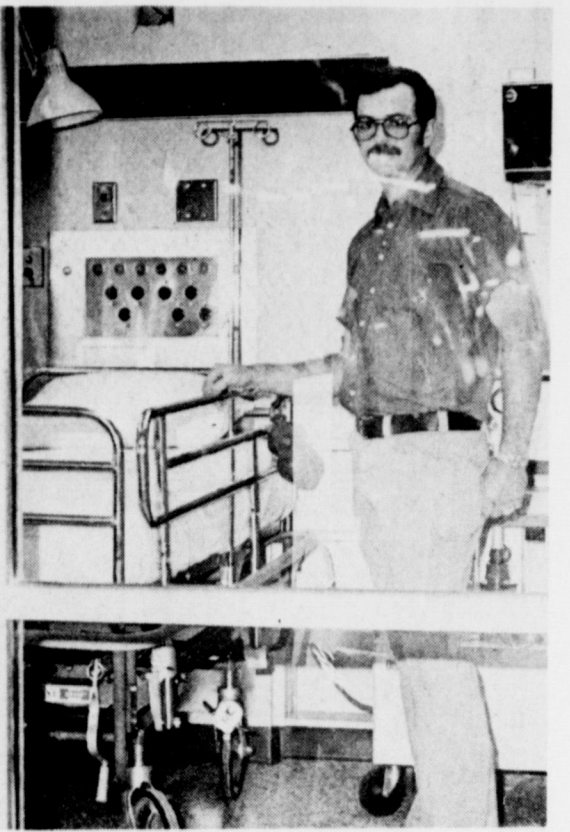

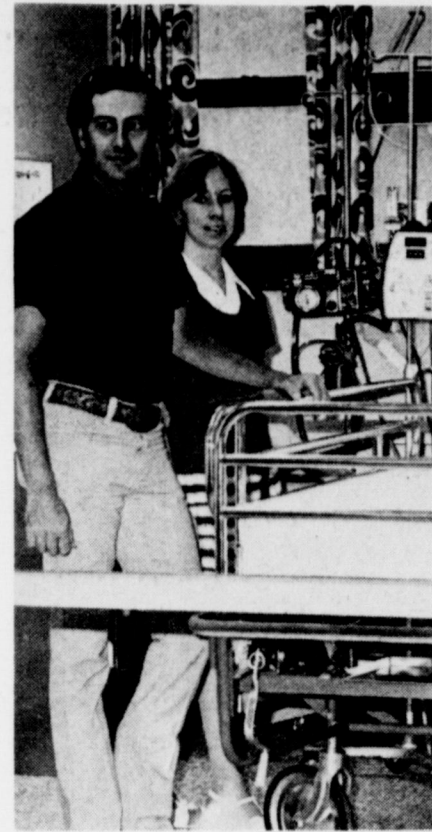

In buying a side of beef, remember it is only about one quarter steaks—the rest is about evenly divided among roasts, hamburger or stew meat and waste, advises Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

WILDLIFE PLANTINGS
The American farmer and rancher is striving to produce enough food and livestock to feed the world and he is doing a good job but these efforts many times encompass drastic land changes including destruction of natural wildlife habitat. To help supplement this reduction in cover and food for native birds such as the quail, pheasant and prairie chicken, it is sometimes necessary to plant a fence row or corner of the field to wildlife plants and cover. Quail, for example, depend on three factors: cover, food and weather. The adverse High Plains weather can be minimized if the food and cover conditions provide for winter survival and for spring nesting. A strip of domestic grain along a wheat field will do wonders for upland birds and migratory birds such as dove. Most domestic grains are grown for early maturing seeds and the stocks are usually soft for ease of harvesting. These factors dictate a combination of domestic grain and wild plant food for wildlife. Some of the more common wild plants that furnish seeds for upland birds include; wild sunflower, Russian thistle, broomweed, ragweed, and smartweed. A few plants furnish both cover and food such as the Russian olive, aromatic sumac, and black locust. Planting instructions for all wildlife food whether specialty seed such as the game bird pea, WGF sorghum, bob white soybean or domestic grain such as corn and maize, should include good soil preparation. On cultivated land, use normal plowing and seed bed preparation. On pasture sod, disc strips two or three times to break up the hard-pan surface. Since most birds eat insects in spring and summer till the first hard frost, the unnecessary use of insecticides should be eliminated. Consumption of these sick or dead insects by game birds will reduce the bird's natural ability to fight disease or escape from their enemies. It is often difficult to convince a good farmer to plant only one-half the normal seed rate he would use for normal production crops. This lower seeding rate is important as birds need room to maneuver freely through a food strip. The underplanting will also allow weeds to reach maturity furnishing a variety of food lasting through winter until next spring. Assistance from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is available by contacting Richard DeArment, Extension biologist, P.O. Box 122, Wheeler, Tx. 79096.

On cultivated land, use normal plowing and seed bed preparation. On pasture sod, disc strips two or three times to break up the hard-pan surface. Since most birds eat insects in spring and summer till the first hard frost, the unnecessary use of insecticides should be eliminated. Consumption of these sick or dead insects by game birds will reduce the bird's natural ability to fight disease or escape from their enemies. It is often difficult to convince a good farmer to plant only one-half the normal seed rate he would use for normal production crops. This lower seeding rate is important as birds need room to maneuver freely through a food strip. The underplanting will also allow weeds to reach maturity furnishing a variety of food lasting through winter until next spring.

Bill For Determining Cotton Allotments

A bill updating procedure for determining upland cotton allotments will be introduced in the House of Representatives this week.

The National Cotton Council has been advised by Rep. David R. Bowen (D-Miss.), chairman of the House Agriculture Subcommittee of Cotton and author of the bill, that a subcommittee hearing on the proposal has been scheduled for 10 a.m., June 28. The bill incorporates recommendations developed by the National Cotton Council's Producer Steering Committee and

Standard Financial Management System For Texas Counties

Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday that his office has developed a standard financial management system for Texas counties to help them track the flow of taxpayer dollars more accurately and safely. Bullock said the system was developed initially for Duval County after a Comptroller's Office audit in 1976 showed that inadequate accounting procedures had contributed to the loss of public funds in past years.

"To develop the standard system we asked for and got help from counties across the state," Bullock said. "In the process, we learned that many counties need to and want to improve their accounting systems but haven't had the resources to do so." The Comptroller said his standard financial management manual for Texas counties—developed with the help of the County Auditors and County Treasurers Associations and the Texas Department of Community Affairs—sets out minimum standards which all counties should meet in their day-to-day bookkeeping.

In addition, he said, the manual includes two model accounting systems based on accepted accounting practices which could be adopted by any county. The Comptroller's Office is holding a series of regional meetings this summer with county officials to explain the manual and offer to provide any further assistance necessary, Bullock said.

He said the first two meetings were attended by a total of 31 counties. Eight more such regional meetings are scheduled, he added.

The Comptroller said two counties have already implemented the simplified accounting system designed for smaller counties and a dozen others are either scheduled to do so or have expressed an interest. In addition, five counties are receiving general help with their financial management from the Comptroller's Office. "We are happy to offer this help to any county and its taxpayers," said Bullock.

authorized by Council delegates in a mail ballot.

The House Agriculture Committee had updated allotment systems for wheat and feed grains when it reported the farm bill in mid-May. However, at Bowen's suggestion, it deferred action on cotton allotments pending completion of the producer study. The Senate-passed farm bill includes an amended Administration proposal for all crop allotments.

The Producer Steering Committee proposal for cotton follows the House and Senate bill concept for wheat and feed grains by basing "farm allotment" on acreage the farmer decides to plant. Under this concept, government payments would be made to farmers only when the average price they receive during the calendar year is less than the established "target price."

Under the proposal: (1) The national program acreage for cotton would be announced no later than Dec. 15 for the next year's crop.

(2) If payments are to be made, the allocation factor (not to exceed 100 percent) would be obtained by dividing the national program acreage by the estimated harvested acreage.

(3) To obtain the acreage on which payment may be made, the allocation factor would be applied to cotton acreage planted on the farm. However, the factor would not be applied to any farm where acreage was voluntarily reduced from the previous year by as much as the recommended percentage. These exemptions would be taken into account by the Secretary of Agriculture in setting the allocation factor.

(4) Program payment yields would be established each year on the basis of a farm's actual yields per harvested acre for the preceding three years. Adjustments would be made for abnormal weather and conditions, with appraisals where yield data are not available.

(5) The Secretary would be empowered to require producers to set aside a prescribed acreage of cropland on their farms (not to exceed 28 percent of the current cotton acreage). He could also permit planting and other use of set-aside acreage under certain conditions.

(6) Should additional allotment adjustments become necessary, the Secretary would be authorized to limit cotton acreage planted on farms by applying a factor to the highest acreage planted—including prevented planting—on the farm in the preceding five years. Penalty for farms not complying would be ineligibility for loans and payments.

As in the Senate bill, producers would be eligible for payments if plantings are prevented. In the case of low yields due to disasters, payments may be made on the farm's entire planted acreage.

Persons wishing to testify at the June 28 hearing on the proposed Bowen bill should contact the clerk of the House Agriculture Committee.

Leadership Conference Held At Glorieta

The first of three consecutive Sunday School Leadership Conferences was held June 11-17 at Glorieta Baptist Conference Center.

These week-long conferences are designed for Sunday School age-group workers and general officers, church staff workers and associational leaders. The three conferences focus on the theme, "Better Teaching...for More People."

The conferences, which were planned and coordinated by the Sunday School Department of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tenn., are being directed by A.V. Washburn, secretary of the Sunday School department.

Simultaneous conferences for youth, bus outreach workers and workers with the mentally retarded were held during the first Sunday School week. Similar conferences will also be held during the second leadership week, June 18-24. During the third week, June 25-July 1, additional conferences will be offered for workers with deaf adults and deaf children.

Special features of the Sunday School Leadership Conferences include the introduction of the Children's Worship Resource Kit, seminars conducted by Broadman Press, the general publishing arm of the Southern Baptist Convention and special receptions and services honoring Washburn's 44 years of service with the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board.

Serving as program guests during the first Sunday School Leadership Conference were James R. Maples, pastor, First Baptist Church, El Paso, Tex., conference pastor; Ralph Murray, consultant, Sunday School department, conference Bible hour leader; Charles A. Downey, Quitman, Tex., conference minister of music, and Bill and Linda Cates, Nashville, Tenn., conference guest musicians.

Mosquitoes.. Uninvited Guests

Mosquitoes have a way of turning up as uninvited guests--at picnics and backyard cookouts, for instance. But you don't have to let mosquitoes take all the fun out of your summer fun. There are some measures you can take to ward off their attacks, says the Texas Department of Health Resources, an experienced authority in this field. Bountiful--and frequent--spring rains throughout most of Texas have left the state ripe for mosquito infestations in practically all areas. Perhaps you've already seen and felt evidence of a mosquito hatch in your own yards, or in a camping or picnic area.

It only takes a little standing water and some adult mosquitoes to bring on the pain, discomfort, aggravation and sometimes disease from the pesky insects.

Water in which to pass their early life stages is a necessity for mosquitoes. Adult flying mosquitoes frequently rest in grass, shrubbery or other foliage but they don't develop there. In walking through such areas you can run into a swarm of them, leading you to believe they hatch out there.

Some mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water where they hatch in a day or two. Other mosquitoes lay their eggs in old tires, tin cans, or other water-holding containers in which they may remain unhatched for weeks or months until they are covered with water.

With both types of mosquitoes, the wigglers or larvae grow quickly and turn into tumblers or pupae. Soon the skin of the tumbler splits open and out climbs another hungry mosquito--looking for you as its victim.

In addition to being pests, says the Texas Department of Health Resources' General Sanitation Division, mosquitoes can spread disease. Such diseases as encephalitis, yellow fever, dengue fever and malaria are common diseases spread by the flying insect. They are major health problems in other parts of the world.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm in the Sandhills examines a couple of topics this week in his own peculiar way. Dear editor:

You've seen commercials for new cars on television. First the brand new car comes on, preferably with a movie star at the wheel or at least leaning against the hood, sometimes even singing if you want to call it that. Finally the price flashes on the screen: Only $5,000, or some such figure. But if you'll look close enough and fast enough you'll see in small letters: Excluding taxes, license, transportation and dealer prep.

That's the way the Alaska pipeline was swung, only the piping people beat the car people about 50 to 1 in using small type. When the pipeline was launched, the builders estimated it'd cost 900 million dollars. When it was finished, the cost had soared to over 700 billion dollars.

In other words, it cost over 700 times more than they'd figured. This just shows what teaching kids New Math will do. We'd better get back to basics.

Changing the subject, I haven't read this anywhere but I believe science is approaching a major crisis. I mean, it may be running out of something to do.

In recent years scientists have found so many things that're harmful to human life, like saccharin, sword fish, tuna, tobacco, sugar, asbestos, lead, roach powder, dandelions, baby pajamas, and a lot of other things I've lost track of, that before long they're going to run out of something they can discover is dangerous. And if you can't discover something that's dangerous, how're you going to get your name in the paper? And if you can't get your name in the paper, how're you going to get a government grant to hunt up something else that's dangerous? Yours faithfully, J.A.

Waterfowl Breeding Ground Hit By Drought

Markedly poorer breeding ground conditions and lower duck populations than last year in key waterfowl breeding areas of western Canada and adjacent portions of the United States were noted in the May 1977 waterfowl breeding ground surveys conducted by the Interior Department's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Canadian Wildlife Service, and State agencies.

While it is still too early to draw firm conclusions, it appears now that the outlook for ducks in some of the important breeding grounds of western Canada and the United States is much less favorable in 1977 than last year.

Additional information from the breeding ground surveys will be released as soon as available.

The changes are due to a major drought that has afflicted much of western Canada and the United States since last summer. Precipitation over large portions of this area from September 1976 to April 1977 was approximately 50 percent below normal, according to meteorological reports. Conditions were reported to be the driest ever recorded at some locations within the drought area.

This situation was substantially changed in mid-May by heavy rains that provided at least temporary relief from the drought and significantly improved conditions for agriculture. However, they may have been too late to be of major benefit to waterfowl.

The waterfowl surveys conducted so far show that the number of wetland basins containing water in the prairies and parklands of southern Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta are generally 40 to 50 percent below last year and, depending on the area, breeding duck populations are down 25 to 50 percent. Conditions are similar in important waterfowl breeding grounds in Montana and North Dakota. In South Dakota a slight increase in water areas is reported, but duck populations are below those of last year. Early reports from Minnesota indicate that the duck population is somewhat higher than last year in spite of a decrease in water areas.

In contrast to this picture, duck populations in some areas to the north of the prairies and parklands, where water conditions are more stable, show significant increases over last year. This indicates that large numbers of ducks moved in early

May from dry areas to areas where water is more abundant. Surveys in these northern areas are still underway and will not be completed until mid-June. The overall size of the 1977 spring duck populations will not be known until then.

Except for some areas in southern Saskatchewan, no increases in the number of wetlands or the number of ducks were evident after the May rains. However, water levels appear generally improved in wetland basins that had water previously, and many ducks that were previously in flocks were observed to be more widely dispersed in pairs. This suggests that the rains may stimulate some nesting efforts that otherwise would not have occurred. The success of these efforts will likely depend on additional rains later in the summer.

Many a live wire would be dead without connections.
