LAW
OF THE
UNITED STATES,

Passed at the Third Session of the Forty-first Congress.

CHAP. II.—An Act relating to Money and for the Courts of the United States.

That it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That all moneys in the registry of any court of the United States, or in the hands or under the control of any officer of such court, which were received in any cause pending or adjudicated in such court, shall within thirty days after the passage of this act be deposited with the treasurer, an assistant-treasurer, or a designated depository of the United States, in the name and to the credit of such court. And all such moneys which are not after paid in such causes shall be withdrawn in like manner. Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to prevent the delivery of any such money upon security, according to agreement of parties under the direction of the court.

Sec. 2. That no money deposited as aforesaid shall be withdrawn except by order of the judge or judges of said courts respectively, on term or in vacation, to be signed by such judge or judges and to be certified and recorded by the clerk, and every such order shall state the cause in or on account of which it is made.

Sec. 3. That at each regular and stated session of said courts, the clerk thereof shall present an account to said courts of all moneys remaining therein, or subject to the order thereof, stating in detail in what causes and payments are deposited and in what cases payments have been made, which account and the vouchers thereof shall be filed in court.

Sec. 4. That if any clerk or other officer of any of the United States shall deposit any moneys belonging to the registry of such court, in violation of this act, or shall retain or convert any such moneys to his own use, or the use of any other person, he shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be punished by fine not less than one year, or by imprisonment, or by both, at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 5. That if any person shall unlawfully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 6. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 7. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 8. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 9. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 10. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 11. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 12. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 13. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 14. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 15. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 16. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 17. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

Sec. 18. That if any person shall unlaw-
fully receive from a clerk or other officer
of any of the United States, any money
belonging to the registry of said court, as
aforesaid, he shall be deemed guilty of
embezzlement, and he shall be liable to be
punished by fine not less than one year,
or by imprisonment, or by both, at the
discretion of the court.

The Failure of the New Departure.

The Democratic party in the North seems to have made up its mind to return to its old position before the war, and follow the Southern Democracy wherever they may choose to lead. It is believed that the re-adoption of the old system of toadying to Jeff Davis and those whom he represents, will become more evident every day, for it is very plain now that the new departure has not survived its originator. The Democracy of ten entire States are united in their laudation of the lost cause, and out spoken in their intention to revive it as soon as practicable, and the separatists are returning to the old moorings, and are very sorry that they ever cut loose from them. They have been given to understand by their Southern brethren that they must not be "toadying to Radical hatred in the South," that they must cease referring to Jeff as "a worthless piece of self-sufficiency, that merited an ignominious fate," that more circumspection must be used in speaking of "traitors and rebels," or the consequences will be that the coming Democratic candidate will not be sustained, and that another departure down South may be looked for. The tone of the Southern press already reminds one of the old time crack of the plantation whip of the overseer, and the indiscreet departures will have to smart for their temporary adoption of Radical views; and in order to prove that their sorrow is genuine, they will be obliged to eat their own words, and to roll in the dust before them in a manner that excites both pity and contempt. The position of Union soldiers in the South who are not Radical, simply because they are afraid of being called carpet-baggers, is most pitiable. If they would entertain hopes of eating any Democratic chicken in the future, they must eat a great deal of dirt first, and humble themselves before the old secessionists in a way that must leave no doubt in the minds of "old secesh" that he has entirely given up his self-respect as a soldier and a yankee, before he can take his chance for political spoils from the Southern Democracy; and after he has sufficiently "humbled himself" that he might be exalted, the probabilities are that the claims of some ex-Confederate official will outweigh the flunkism of the defender of the old flag.

Therefore, the Democracy of the North and the Union men in the South who have become disgusted with the teachings of Radicalism, and who are trying so hard to please the rebels, will please take notice, that your masters, "the chivalrous defenders of a noble cause," are displeased at any disparaging or ungentlemanly utterances in reference to their maligned and persecuted leader; no more lofty looking down on "rebels" and "secesh," no more of your personal experiences on the battle-fields of the South, unless you are thoroughly ashamed of having fought against so proud a people, so worthy a cause; otherwise you will excite the distrust and enmity of the Democracy in ten entire States, and your presidential and other schemes will be knocked endways. We believe the lines have been drawn, and that the next presidential election will show that a second march to the sea on a larger scale, is merely a question of time, and that the time is not so distant as many suppose.

A "Bone of Contention."

A dark and significant cloud has arisen on the horizon of the European political sky. Bismarck has made a demand on the English Government for the purchase of the island of Heligoland, which has been abruptly refused by England, and the question now arises, will there be any European complications in consequence?

The island lies 46 miles off from the German coast, and directly in front of the mouths of the two great German rivers, the Elbe and the Weser, and is admirably situated to be of great service to England in case of a war with Germany, and is a standing menace to the latter country. Otherwise, it is nothing but an insignificant sand hill, containing about twenty-five hundred people. The inhabitants are given to fishing and gambling (it is a watering place) and are not very particular to whom they belong if the business thrives. It never belonged to Germany, or any of the States of Germany, but was wrested from the Danes during the wars of Napoleon, and the only title that England has, is that of fifty years' possession upon an original seizure from a weak neighbor.

It would be very valuable to Prussia as a naval station, as in the late war with France it was made the base of coaling and supplies for the French fleet that kept the blockade of the German coast. The possibility of this question arising has frequently been speculated on by the English papers of late, and the news of the demand having been made creates no great surprise. It is not improbable that the demand will be followed up, and the probabilities of a war are imminent, for which England is hardly prepared.

Gen. Sheridan.

Gen. Sheridan endeavored to persuade the French commanders to allow him the privilege of accompanying them into the field for the purpose of observing the operations of the late war in France, but was refused. He subsequently made the same request of King William, and was permitted to accompany the German army. He was received with great kindness and consideration by the king, Count Bismarck and Gen. Moltke, and was afforded opportunities and advantages which were granted to no other foreigner.

On his return, one of the first things he does is to send forth to the world, through the medium of the Army and Navy Gazette, an account of his experiences, which are calculated to excite emotions of astonishment and contempt.

We have nothing to say about his military criticism. He may really believe that the Prussians are to blame for the war, and that it was forced on France. It is not impossible that he may be under the delusion that "the war from the Rhine to Paris was nothing but a skirmish," and he may charge inhumanity and ignorance upon the German general; and although one may deplore his judgment and the pitiful exhibition of prejudice, he has not as yet acted unworthy of the American name. But when he says that the heroic old king is a vain old coxcomb, and that the crown prince hardly ever exposed himself to the enemy's fire, he states what is not so, and commits a breach of good manners that gives the American people cause to regret that the United States had not, on this occasion, been represented by some one of the numerous officers of high rank in the army, who are quite as brave as Gen. Sheridan, and not quite so ignorant of the common civilities of life that pass between gentlemen everywhere.

According to the Elmira (N. Y.) Advertiser, a drug clerk in Williamsport recently put up a prescription for a young lady friend of a dose of castor-oil. She innocently asked how it could be taken without tasting. He promised to explain to her, and in the meantime proposed to drink a glass of soda water with her. When he had finished he said: "My friend, you have taken your oil and did not know it." The young lady was nearly crazy and cried: "Oh, dear, it wasn't for myself I wanted the oil; it was for my mother."

There are nine cities in Germany and two in Italy which possess Lincoln streets.

WHITE LABOR IN SOUTH CAROLINA.
The Agricultural and Mechanical Society of South Carolina seem determined to introduce reliable labor into the State, and accordingly we find that one of the most gigantic enterprises ever undertaken in the South is now on foot in Charleston. As will be seen by an advertisement in another column, an Immigration Association has been organized for the purpose of securing settlers upon their lands, and in order to raise the necessarily large capital required, they have adopted the expedient of a series of Gift Concerts, to begin in Charleston, in October; the ticket-holders of which will be participants in the grandest opportunity ever offered to become rich at a small risk and with a clear conscience. The number of tickets issued is 150,000, and the price is five dollars each.

The first prize is the Academy of Music, including stores, music halls, &c., built at cost of $250,000. The second prize is one hundred thousand dollars in cash, the third is twenty-five thousand dollars; the fourth is ten thousand dollars and the fifth is five thousand dollars, besides which, there are twenty-four hundred gifts varying from ten to one thousand dollars. The scheme has the unqualified endorsement of the best citizens of South Carolina, men known in all parts of the United States.

Generals Butler and Gary were both distinguished officers in the Confederate service, the former having lost a leg at Brandy Station one of the most hotly contested cavalry fights of the war. Both belong to old families in Carolina, and have been doing their best since the war to restore peace in their State under the United States Government, Gen. Butler having been a candidate Lieutenant Governor under the Reform party, which acknowledged the political equality of the races. Mr. Chadwick is a Northern gentleman of large means, who has settled in Charleston, and devoted his wealth, energy and enterprise to the recuperation of the South. He is at present the owner of the Academy of Music in Charleston and other valuable real estate in South Carolina.

The Rev. Mr. Cheney, who attempted to alter the creed of the Episcopal church to suit his own notions, has been expelled from the ministry, and in his expulsion, like Lucifer, he has carried off a number of followers. Sixty ministers have signed a letter condoning with the recalcitrant preacher, and proposing to stand by him. This is the only church in the South that reports to the last refuge of all aggressive minds and start a church of his own! This is what he ought to have done when he first discovered that he could not subscribe to the faith of the Episcopal church. Instead of seceding, as he had a right to do, he attempted to revolutionize the church, and failed. Now for the new denomination.

It may surprise many people to be told that in Georgia, one of the most enlightened of the Southern States, there are not less than 60,000 native adult whites who cannot read or write. Not only is the native white population grossly ignorant, but a strong prejudice exists against common schools. When we consider that the great bulk of the colored population has been purposely kept in mental darkness, we can understand something of the depressed state in which education now exists in the South. It is encouraging, however, to know that a better time is coming, and that whites and blacks alike are sharing in the benefit of a more liberal system of primary instruction.

Charles Escher was executed at Fonda, New York, for the murder of Thomas E. Berdick in July last. The prisoner was by no means one of the sentimental order, but neglected religious matters and preserving his stoicism to the last. As the officer was about to draw the black cap over Escher's head, the latter evinced considerable feeling, protesting against the act, because he "wanted his spirits to fly away like a butterfly."

The Pall Mall Gazette says that there is no country in Europe in which the Republican spirit is more prevalent than in England; that Republican clubs are being organized all over Great Britain; that the English Democrats are in alliance and conference with similar aspirants in France, in Germany, and in almost every nation in Europe, and that, in view of the spread of the Republican feeling in the United Kingdom, the Government and the "loyal" press cannot afford simply to ridicule it.

- Recently, at Rockport, Coosa County, Ala., during a thunder-storm, a dog was killed by a flash of lightning, whilst being fed by a child. The child was not hurt.

A paper says that a man the morning after he has been drunk, feels as if he had the rheumatism in every hair of his head.

One man, reprimanding another, said that he talked like a fool. "True," was the reply, "but it is that you may understand me."

A professional beggar-boy, some ten years of age, ignorant of the art of reading, bought a card to be placed on his breast, and appeared in the public streets as a "poor widow with eight small children."

A little boy who had imbibed more of the Young America spirit than of politeness, was reproved last Fourth of July for picking his nose. "It's my nose," he replied, "and this is the day of American independence, and I'll pick-thunder out of it if I'm a cent!"

The census for Prince Edward's Island has been published. It sets down the population of the colony at ninety-three thousand five hundred. Of these, forty thousand, or very nearly one-half, are set down as belonging to the Catholic church.

"Strange, that the prisoner on trial for his life should appear in court with such a smooth countenance!" exclaimed Jones. "O, he was ironed just before he was brought in," explained Jones.

The spoken language of China so differs in every separate province, that people living within a hundred miles can no more understand each others' dialect than an Englishman can understand a Spaniard. The Mandarin or court dialect is more common than any other, and is used at the capital and among officials throughout the empire.

A fellow who was accused of attempting to swindle in Providence, a few nights ago, was released because "no warrant could conveniently be obtained at that late hour."

The county Executive Committee will be duly announced and are requested to call their conventions before the first day of August next, and that the utmost good feeling and fairness be exercised in order that the Congressional Convention may be the unanimous and honest expression of the wishes of the Republican party of the district.

The approaching canvass is one of great importance, not alone to the State, but to the nation at large, and should awaken the liveliest spirit of emulation and patriotism in the breasts of all Republicans and advocates of peace and good government in the State. With an ordinary effort our victory is an easy one—let nothing necessary to be done be left undone.

JAMES P. NEWCOMB,
Chairman Republican Executive Committee, Fourth District.

Consumption,

Its Cure and its Prevention, By J. H. Schenck, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of health and indisputably proven means of cure.

Those near and dear to family and friend are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they early adopted Dr. Joseph H. Schenck's simple Treatments, and availed themselves of his wonderful and efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that, wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible facts.

The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfeeling. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-evident, self-convincing.

The Sarsaparilla and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malarial is assailed. Two thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver.

With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbid action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of Consumption.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-purifying, alterative properties of colomet, but unlike colomet, they "Leave nothing Behind." The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucus deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A Supply of Good Blood. The Sarsaparilla, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Obstruction is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand.

There is no more flatulence, no caseation of the stomach. An appetite sets in. Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions, and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impure and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gathering, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malarial is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was.

Given up as Lost. The second thing is, the patient must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented, or a cure cannot be effected.

Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all trying. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the hours they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood.

The patient must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This is a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain. To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful.

Dr. Schenck's annual statement to the Faculty of his own cure who in the most modest words—Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and as our time my physician thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man, catching at straw, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me.

It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

As soon as that began to subside my cough, fever, pain and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since.

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continues to see patients at his office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses. In these medicinal need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First create appetite. Of returning health, hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough lessens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time half of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of cough and cold, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sarsaparilla Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and Dealers.

E. HART & CO. 73, 75 and 77 Tehonopolis street, New Orleans. Wholesale Agents.

The great field trials at Sedalia, Mo., and at Xenia, Ohio, in the Summer of 1869—where "The Clipper" met some 20 competitors including all the leading machines built, and was awarded the First Premiums and Gold Medal—prove that the proprietors have been able to sustain in the field their claims of superiority for The Clipper Machine over all others. Its extraordinary lightness of draft takes one-third of the labor of the team. The adjustability of the finger-bar, to cut high or low without stopping the team, is worth $25 on any machine. It is the only mower that has the true cutting-draft in accordance with correct mechanical principles. In short, it is the lightest, the most durable, the least complicated, the most perfectly constructed, the most symmetrical in design, of any implement of its class. Farmers who clipper is the Horse's Friend, and you cannot afford to ignore their welfare. Send for pamphlet—investigate. See or write to some one who has used THE CLIPPER. See the Machine yourself before you buy any other.
