"The Two Villages." Over the river, on the hill, Leth a village white and still, All around it the forest trees - Silver and whisper in the breeze; Over it sailing shadows go. Of soaring hawk and screaming crow, And mountain grasses, low and sweet, Grow in the middle of every street. Over the river, under the hill, Another village leath still. There I see in the cloudy night Twinkling stars from household light, Fires that gleam from the smithy's door, Mists that curl on the river shore, And in the roads no grasses grow, For the wheels that hasten to and fro. In that village on the hill Never is sound of smithy or mill, The houses are thatched with grass and flowers. Never a clock to toll the hours; The marble doors are always shut. You cannot enter in hall or hut - All the villagers lie asleep. Never a grain to sow or reap, Never it dreams or mourn or sigh, Silent and idle and low they lie. In that village under the hill, When the night is starry and still, Many a weary soul in prayer Leans to the other village there, And raising and sighing says he go, Up to that home from here below, Long to sleep by the forest wild, Whither have vanished wife and child, And harketh, praying, that answer fall: "Patience, that village shall hold you all!"

Mat Gaines and the Germans.

It has frequently been given as a reason for treating the utterances of vulgar and degraded persons with silent contempt, that the source from which they come should be considered, and allowance made therefor.

If we believed that a recent speech made by Mat Gaines, the colored Senator from Washington county, were the work of his own brain, we would not have mentioned his name at all but knowing that Mr. Gaines is an individual of limited education and very poor natural abilities, and taking the Democratic peculiarities of the speech into consideration, it is evident that certain Democrats, or disreputable Republicans who affiliate with them, have headed, backed and fired this great blundering blunderer. If the speech means anything at all, it means to abuse and vilify every one who will not fall down and adore the African race because Mr. Gaines is black. It is hard to tell where Gaines speaks his own rignarole and where he adopts the suggestions of admirers. But this rampant Ethiopian lies fly on negro that is clearly not from his quiver, when referring to the Germans, he says:

"They pay a man a salary of $3,500 per annum to bring Dutch here to work the land we cut from from and pulled the stumps out of. They sell land to the Dutch on credit, with ten per cent. interest, but a colored man cannot buy it on four months or forty months at fifty per cent."

the negroes against the Germans; hence we will attention to this last wriggle of the old serpent of Know-Nothingism.

The necessity of establishing free schools, that the negroes may be able to read for themselves, and to prevent their being used by designing demagogues, is becoming more apparent every day.

The Future of Texas.

Passing down Commerce street the other day we saw Jones. Jones saw us and went for us. Jones was rather a stout individual, of a frooked complexion, with a red eye, his hair, (a sample of which was sticking out through a hole in his hat, which was an aggravated Confederate slouch) was of a "glided yellow." He was in an advanced state of inebriation, but he recognized us nevertheless, and advanced on us with a fifteen inch grin on his face and an enthusiasm that was alarming. He damned our soul and eyes and hoped that his own might be so too, if he was not glad to see us. The last time we had seen Jones previous to this disastrous occasion, was in a Confederate camp on Red River during the latter days of the departed "so-called." He had been put on guard against some commissary stores, with orders to walk his post with his gun at a "support." The relief guard found him in a sound sleep, his gun leaning against a tree; there was a barrel of pine top Confederate whiskey among the stores, and private Jones had managed to let the whiskey run, after satisfying his more immediate wants, and the consequence was that about twenty gallons of the exhilarating fluid were "wasting their sweetness on the desert air." It is said that the corporal and the three men who first preserved the misfortune, wept like children at the waste.

As we said, Jones recognized us, threw his arm around our neck and directed his steps, as if by instinct, to a neighboring bar-room. Suddenly, without the slightest warning, he burst into a roar of laughter. "Don't you recollect the time you went along with us boys on the hog stealing expedition, and you wanted to know what I cut the critter's ears off for?" We failed to "recollect," and there was another explosion. After a few inquiries about some former acquaintances, Jones passed on.

Now, we should not inflict the readers of the Express with any detailed description of Jones, if it were not a fact that there are several hundred thousand men in the South, of whom Jones is an average sample. This was Jones in a good humor, but he has other peculiarities which he did not display on this occasion.

In the first place, he was ignorant of even the rudiments of a common school education, and had no fixed ideas of anything beyond his own immediate vicinity; books and newspapers were as much sealed documents to him as they were to the ignorant slaves on the plantations. A glimmering consciousness of this mental poverty compelled him to desert his dignity by a ridiculous assumption of Caucasian superiority until he was saten up, as it were, with self-conceit. He imagines that to live in a shanty, on corn bread and coffee, interspersed with whiskey and tobacco, and being in the saddle from one year's end to the other, his family growing up in idleness and vice, and he himself becoming more like an Indian than a civilized white man, is the most exalted phase of human development. His political views are moulded after those of some Confederate judge or colonel in his section, who is looked upon as a kind of demi-god, second to no created being except Jeff Davis and the prominent lights of the Confederacy. As, unfortunately for him, he cannot read a Republican paper, and would not if he could, he is as good a Confederate to-day as he was ten years ago; and, from his very nature, he is inevitably Democratic, and his vote and six shooter may be relied on whenever "the party" requires them. To him, the negro, who, generally speaking, is actually his superior in obedience to law, morality and temperance, is nothing but the same "damned nigger" that he was before the war, and were it not for a whole some dread of the State police, he would make himself dreaded where he cannot hope to inspire respect. The German, who has made the prairie blossom as a rose, and who is surrounded by the comforts and enjoyments of domestic civilization, but has no taste for the Arab proclivities of his neighbor, is regarded with malevolence and distrust, and still spoken of as "the damned Dutch."

Let a democratic president be elected in 1872, or give us a Democratic State administration, and the Confederacy is revived; perhaps not in name, but in deed and reality. Let these Confederate Democrats understand that we are to have the old-fashioned Democratic state of affairs back again and these half-tamed wolves will and the same remark will apply to their leaders.

Let the Democratic party again be in the ascendency, and such men as Davis, Toombs, and their more feeble imitators throughout the South give the key-note, and the entire hungry, bloodthirsty pack of wolves will chain in.

Dallas is to have a new court-house.

The building is to be 110 feet long by 60 feet wide with tower and dome in the center—two stories high; the first floor divided into eight offices, with hall-entrances, the second floor to have a court-room 60x60 feet—a public hall of the same size with two jury rooms and two closets.

Dallas has not more than one-third of the population of San Antonio if it has that many, and is already provided with a courthouse that is twice the size and superior in every way to our own; yet they are not satisfied with it and want that one more in accordance with the requirements of the place, while we are actually reconciled to the disgraceful obstruction of the Military Plaza.

Gallant Indian Fight.

On the 29th of June two parties of savages entered the settlements near Curry's creek, one band passing down the Guadalupe, the other moving along the divide between the Blanco and the Guadalupe. The first party were armed with the trail, to number about forty warriors, and were heading towards Blanco and Onion creek.

Can't Drink Moderately.

John B. Gough, in a recent lecture, said: "I cannot drink moderately. It is physically and morally impossible. If any man would give me whiskey by any means unknown to myself, it would be at the risk of my sinking back to what I was twenty-five years ago. You may call it weakness, or what you will, but it is the truth. We do not doubt it, for we once knew a gentleman in Boston, a man of the highest literary character and fame, who occasionally took to extreme drinking, who once said, when remonstrated with concerning his infirmity: 'I love my wife and children dearly, and devotedly love them; but when I've tasted liquor, were they standing on the brink of the bottomless pit, and the condition offered me that I should see them go to eternal destruction if I should drink another glass of brandy, I would take the liquor; I could not help the act.'"

At New York, last week, Dr. Connolly murdered his two children and then killed himself. Dr. Connolly was apparently in good circumstances, having a fair practice, and seemed devoted to his wife and children. Occasionally he would drink to excess, and this in time caused his practice to fall off. He became worse and was often for several days under the influence of liquor. He finally grew so bad that his friends deemed it best to send him to the infirmary, and he returned about three months ago, apparently cured. He soon relapsed into his old ways, and became worse than before. He had been for two or three days on one of his periodical sprees, and had become such as to lose himself and wife, taking the children with him and locked the door. The police were notified about an hour later, that something was wrong. The door was finally forced open, and the horrible spectacle presented itself.

ORIGIN OF THE TERM KU-KLUX.—An explanation of the origin and significance of the term Ku-Klux would, doubtless be gratifying to many curious readers. The following extract from an old poem will, perhaps, gratify it. It is from Weaver's Funeral Monuments, edition of 1861, quoted in Diracell's "Calamities and Quarrels of Authors," (London edition, 1807, p. 321.) The lines were written on the death of John Pentry, a Welsh non-conformist:

"The Welshman is hanged,
Who at our kirke flanged,
And at the state banged,
And brended are his bunks;
And though he be hanged,
Yet he is not wranged;
The devil has him fanged
In his kraked klunks."

Poor Jeff Davis is destined to outlive even his "martyrdom," and become of less valuable consequence than he appeared to be on that memorable morning when he donned his wife's water-proof and sun-burnet. His Atlanta speech has shown the South the utter folly of the man, and Southern journals do not hesitate to call him "crazy," "mischievous," "doting," etc.

The Greenville (Hunt Co.) Herald says that Conner denominated Throckmorton's speech at that place, on the 5th, as "the sewer through which the filth of the Radical party was being drained off." Rather hard on the ex-Governor, we think.—Eberman Patriot.

A traveler being in a coffeehouse with some gentlemen, was largely drawing on the credulity of the company. "Where did you say all these wonders happened, sir?" as a gentleman present, "I can't exactly say," replied the traveler, "but somewhere in Europe—Russia, I think, I should rather think it was," returned the other.

CANDIDATES.

We are authorized to announce the Hon. EDWARD DEGENER, as a candidate for re-election to Congress from the 4th District of Texas, subject to the nomination of the Republican Nominating Convention of this District.

We are authorized to announce LEWIS G. BROWN as a candidate for Congress from the 4th District of Texas, subject to the action of the Republican nominating convention of that district.

We are authorized to announce DAVID E. DIFFENDERFER, of El Paso, as a candidate for Congress, subject to the nomination of the Republican Convention of the Fourth Congressional District.

Caution!

We hereby warn everybody not to pay any money into the hands of R. F. Gosch, who for a short time acted as our agent, but failing to remit money collected, we hereby renounce any and all connections with him.

A. SIEMERING & CO.

See advertisement of Dr. Butts' Dispensary, headed "Book for the millions" MANAGE YOURSELF—in another column.

INFANTS—Much suffering to these tender little buds of the human family might be alleviated by using Mrs. Whitcomb's Syrup. See advertisement in another column.

The railroad excitement is over. The county of Bexar has done its duty, now let Messrs. Pierce & Co., do their duty as well.

There is a good deal of sickness in town at present, bilious fevers predominating. Children are the principal sufferers.

The San Antonio Ice factory has stopped manufacturing ice for the present, owing to a crack in a retort. Workmen are busy mending the break and it is hoped in a week at furthest that the delivery of ice will be resumed, as the use of it has become an actual necessity to our citizens.

Mr. JAMES CHILDERS, who lives on the Chupaderas, is the proprietor of a cotton gin, and will give out the first cotton of the season to-morrow. It was raised on the farm of Mr. Buchetti, on the same creek. We understand that this is very early for cotton.

The numerous friends of General James A. Ekin will be pleased to learn that he is gradually improving in health. He is at present sojourning among his relatives at Pflugburg, Pa. We trust that his restoration to health may be speedy and complete, so that his return to duty in San Antonio may not be delayed much longer. Few officers of the army have acquired as many and as warm friends in San Antonio as General Ekin.

As soon as the requisite two-thirds of the registered vote were cast in favor of the proposition, that information was telegraphed to Mr. Peirce, at Boston, and in reply the following answer has been received:

BOSTON, July 7th, 1871.

"Thanks and congratulations for your triumphant success. Hope to commence work at three points of the line by the first of October."

T. W. PEIRCE.

This looks like business, and confirms us in the belief that the citizens of San Antonio are dealing with a man of different calibre than Mr. Morgan.

We congratulate our citizens on the cheering prospect before them. Real estate will advance and business generally will receive a new impetus.

The disbursement of the company's money at this place, will, of itself, bring relief to the laboring class, whose wages are so low at present.

IN CONNECTION with the account of the Indian fight, in which three Indians were killed, we notice a letter from Henry Meyer in the last issue of our German paper.

The letter is dated at Spring Branch, Comal County. The writer after explaining that the credit of arousing the neighbors to the necessity of doing something, (after several unsuccessful attempts) was due to Mr. August Knibbe, who recovered Judge Cooley's attention and shut one of the red devils on his own responsibility, in the attempt to return to the scouting party, which he had left to give information to the people living at the Spring Branch settlement, he having come upon the Indians unexpectedly. Mr. Knibbe was however wounded in the foot and was obliged to go to the nearest house and procure transportation to New Braunfels to have the hurt extracted.

It seems that the scouting party under Patien afterwards came upon the Indians and had the fight detailed in the Journal. We expect the wounded man mentioned in that paper is Mr. Knibbe, and hope that his wound is not as serious as the correspondent supposes.

Men of Mr. Knibbe stamp are not so plentiful that we can afford to have them even maimed.

The letter of Mr. Meyer concludes with the remark that, seems to apply everywhere on the frontier at present, that the people are destitute of protection against the incursion of the red robbers.

VOTING closed yesterday evening at 2 1/2 P. M., 1137 votes had been cast, all in favor of the proposition, with the exception of about 20. Such unanimity in voting for ply the people are alive to the peril of allowing ourselves to be distracted by neighboring towns.

PREMIUMS.—If the Singer Machine was awarded the blue ribbon at the Houston Fair, the Grover & Baker showed her superiority by being awarded the first and only premium for best Family Machine, the wonderful Singer's blue ribbon was only an honorable mention. The report of Fair committee will prove so. (7-7-71) 28

The Universal Safeguard.

It is useless for State Legislatures to pass laws for the preservation of the public health, if the great law of self-preservation, which depends for its enforcement upon the will of the individual, is suffered to remain a dead letter.

There is scarcely an adult member of the community, of either sex, in the country, who has not seen the testimony in favor of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, furnished over their own signatures by persons of acknowledged eminence in science, literature, art, commerce, and every department of business and professional life. These witnesses have declared in the most explicit terms that the preparation is a safeguard against epidemics, a sovereign remedy for dyspepsia, a valuable antibilious medicine, a promoter of appetite, a genial and harmless stimulant, a good-acting medicine, a strengthener of the nerves, a general invigorant, a protection against the deleterious effects of malarial and impure water, and that it imparts a degree of vigor and activity to the vital forces which is not communicated by any other of the tonics and stomachics in use. Under these circumstances the self-preservative law of nature should teach every rational person who, either by reason of inherent debility or in consequence of exposure to unfavorable influences, is in peril of losing the greatest of all temporal blessings, health, the importance of using the Bitters as a defensive medicine. Dyspeptics who neglect to give it a trial are simply their own enemies. It is guaranteed to cure indigestion in all its forms, and the bilious and nervous will find nothing in the whole range of official and proprietary medicines which will afford them the same relief.

THE Princess de Metternich sent a footman to a banker at Vienna soliciting subscription to the French relief fund. The banker was in bed, and yawningly replied that he would give nothing, but if the princess had come herself he would give 5000 florins. The next morning the princess came and reminded him of his promise. The banker found that he would have to come down, and he descended gracefully.

Its Cure and its Preventive,
By J. H. Schenck, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of a simple and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friend, are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they early adopted

Dr. Joseph H. Schenck's simple Treatment, and availed themselves of his wonderful medicinal medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. No faith of the invalid is made or representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and viable works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing: its philosophy requires no argument—it is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the mind is assailed. Two thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition, the bronchial tubes, "sympathetic" with the stomach, they respond to the morbid action of the liver. Here then comes the eliminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of Consumption. The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-purifying, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"Leave no Sting Behind." The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels, and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A Supply of Good Blood. The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and stimulates with the food. Chylification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and in a very short time the mucus is evacuated, the system thrives, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the unobscured or womanhood that was.

Given up as Lost. The second thing in the patient's must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but must be prevented on a cure, and the object of fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients; if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the winter, they must not cover their faces; they must have a room for room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep in good spirits, and determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words: "Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me, as seemed to me that I could feel their penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

As soon as that began to subside my cough, fever, pain and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so good that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed an uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., will continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged 50c. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniment than the simple directions that accompany them: First create appetite. Of respiratory health, hunger is the most valuable symptom. When it comes, as it will, beware of the despairing at once be of good cheer; blood shed at once follows, the rough loosen, the night sweats are abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a curer of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a peptic, electric, specific consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills constructed, the most symmetrical in design, of any implement of its class. Farmers run CLIPPERS in the Horses' Friend, and you cannot afford to ignore their value. Send for samples, investigate. See or write to some one who has used THE CLIPPER. See the Machine yourself, before you buy any other.

WONDERFUL RAPIDITY.
Perfectly Regular and Even Distribution of the Seed. Cahoon's Bronzest
Seeder. For Sowing all Kinds of Grain and Grass Seed.
The unprecedented success of this Seeder the past season is without a parallel in the history of Agricultural Implements. The farmers of the Country have no longer got to wait in the busy of Sowing time for the imperfect process of Hand Sowing, nor for the "Slow Coach" called "Combined Seeders, &c., &c."
