BLANK DEEDS.

For Sale at this Office.

The particulars of the New York riot still continue to fill the northern papers.

Miss Susan B. Anthony attempted to justify the murder of Judge Crittenden and was ignominiously biased down.

The Comptroller of Georgia reports that the value of the increase of real estate amounts to $50,000,000.

Northern Texas Democracy are furious at the nomination of Cannon. The man who plays with a dog can't complain if he gets his face licked.

The New York Citizen says that Mrs. Laura Fair should be told to go and sit in her place.

The Supreme Court of Massachusetts refuse to recognize the constitutionality of Governor Claflin's appointment of two lady Justices of the Peace.

Mr. Clark killed Mr. Archy who was acting deputy sheriff. It happened near Whiteboro; this was a foul murder and the murderer escaped.

About two weeks ago Thomas Harris was stabbed fourteen times by Harry Mun at Denton. Harris died and Mun escaped. Canoe—cards and whiskey.

GEN. BUTLER is maneuvering to be the next Governor of Massachusetts. His readiness to accept the nomination is not favorably received by the leading Boston papers, and the tendency seems to be to renominate Governor Claflin.

A MAN by the name of Joseph Phillipot was murdered in Austin on Saturday night. Phillipot and a traveling companion were on their way to this city to buy horses. Robbery was the object, as the trunk of the party was plundered of $1,500 in coin and $500 in greenbacks.

The celebrated chief "Red Cloud" is said to be on the war path. He is one of the chiefs that such a feat was made about at Washington a few months ago. A dispatch from the commanding officer at Fort Laramie to General King says that Red Cloud had said that he did not care a d—d for the beef, coffee and sugar, but that he was going to drive all the white people out of his country. Other indications are to the effect that the Indian war will be renewed at an early date.

The inspectors of the State Journal are very violently exercised about Mr. Degener. We learned during a personal conversation with that gentleman, that he does not intend attempting to influence primary meetings, but that he will be present at the meeting of the convention in New Braunfels, and will give satisfactory answers to those who have the right to ask questions.

We do not propose at this time paying any particular attention to the legislative questions propounded, but we think that Mr. Degener's almost universal endorsement by the Republicans throughout the District, should be sufficient evidence of the soundness of his republicanism.

From the tone of the Journal we should infer that the weather is having an exasperating effect on the minds of the editors of the "Journal."

GEN. NAPOLEON BONAPARTE FORESWORE before the Congressional committee that no such organization as the Ku Klux ever existed; but James Brownlow resurrected a letter which Forrest published in 1868, in which he boasts that there were in Tennessee alone 40,000 men bound by secret oaths to defeat reconstruction. Liars should have long memories.

Education in the South.

Although great improvement is visible in almost every branch of Southern industry, thanks to the fostering influence of Republicanism, and notwithstanding a healthier moral atmosphere pervades, we are still in a deplorable condition. To prove this we have to look, not to Republican Western Texas, but to the Democratic Southern States on the other side of the Mississippi. The fair, impartial accounts that are published from time to time in the New York "Tribune" and other prominent papers, go to show that in many sections of the South an amount of ignorance and degradation exists that fills the mind with horror and shame. In the first place, we have in many of the States more than half of the white adult population unable to read or write. The inevitable condition, morally and mentally, of a people that are destitute of the elements of a common school education is well-known. The "poor white trash" in the mountains of Arkansas and Virginia, in the swamps of Louisiana and in the "pine woods" of North Carolina, are as low in the scale of human progress as if they belonged to another race and a different age.

To deny that this is the actual condition of affairs in nearly all the Southern States is absurd. Carefully prepared statistics, the accounts of those who are in actual contact with these people (read the correspondence of the "New York Journal of Commerce," in another column), and actual observation, go to prove the truth of our assertion.

Now, the redemption of the South must to a great extent arise from the legislation of the individual States, as it is only possible for a people to be raised to a higher life through its own exertions.

With communities, as with individuals, all true progress comes from individual exertion, and nobody helps those who are too lazy to help themselves. Much can be done by immigration towards advancing the real interests of the country, but after all the relief is only partial; the people must elevate themselves. Surely the terrible experience that the South has undergone should lead the more sensible people to pause before they advocate the same line of policy that has been the cause of so much suffering.

We think that no other conclusion can be arrived at than that one great cause of the present condition of the people is due to relying too implicitly on the dictum of Democratic politicians. There being no organized system of schools, they grew up too ignorant to form any opinion of their own and adopted that of some wealthy slaveholder, who was ignorantly supposed to be the incarnation of everything that made man great. These ignorant bullies, without owning a slave, were the most furious defenders of slavery, were trained to look upon everything that was not strictly Southern as an invention of the devil, and even six years after their degrading institution was crushed under the ever advancing wheel of progress, the same incredible ideas prevail. They hate newspapers, improved agricultural implements, and every other means of advancement simply because they are " Yankee innovations." They will gather around such blatant failures as Jeff Davis and Tombs and imagine they can bowl themselves back into the cheap whiskey, bigger-whipping days of the past.

The remedy for this disgraceful state of affairs can be found in one word—education. Let the people of the South sustain the free school system, and the next generation at least will be American citizens who will reflect honor, and not disgrace, on their country. A peaceable, hard, industrious race will grow up and take the place of the ragged element that now infests the land.

It is the Republican party that advocates and practically enforces the education of the people, and it is the Democracy that would keep the people in ignorance.

Observe the resemblance between the Southern bully and the material of which the New York mob is constituted, and it will be seen at once that the strongest supporters of the Democracy are to be found among the ignorant and the brutal. We, therefore, say, educate, that you may educate.

It has been officially announced by the Russian authorities that the Asiatic cholera has made its appearance in Poland. It is, of course, impossible to say how far it will extend, and it may take a trip around the world, as it has frequently done before. It should be brought to this country, we will be almost certain to have it San Antonio, sooner or later. The best protection against this scourge is to be found in the exercise of extreme vigilance in sanitary matters, and in the more general use of chlorine water for drinking purposes. The terrible visitation that the people of Buenos Ayres recently underwent from a similar disease, which was attributed to negligence in this particular, should be a warning to us.

The State Journal announces that its previous statement that the Governor had committed the sentence of the Indian murderers was premature.

By this we are led to infer, that they may yet be sent to Huntsville. These premature statements are of great advantage in incalculating the sentiment of the people on mooted questions.

The views of the Express are exactly those of the people, irrespective of party, in this section.

We would not be surprised if the several onslaughts on Mr. Degener in the same paper were not premature also.

The following is an extract from a late number of the Houston Union. It appeared in that paper as correspondence from San Antonio, and was dated on the day before the meeting of the Bexar County Convention. In this section both gentlemen referred to are too well known for any comment from us.

Congressional matters occupy the attention of Republicans here at present. A meeting will be held to-morrow to elect delegates to the Convention at New Braunfels. The actions of the delegates are to be left untrammelled, and not until a fair discussion at New Braunfels will the question be settled as to whom. The German influence tends naturally to a German—Mr. Degener—but the more careful adherents to the true party line are hopeful of the unanimous nomination of New Braunfels of Mr. Newcomb. The friends of unswerving Republicanism, and the admirers of Mr. Newcomb, feel confident that an almost unanimous nomination will induce him to accept; and I feel quite assured that the feeling in all the counties of the Fourth Congressional District is in favor of this unanimous show of appreciation of Mr. Newcomb's untiring zeal and unswerving fidelity to the Republican party. In the darker hours of Republicanism, Mr. Degener played the non-committal policy too far; while in Washington, where influence was most needed, he inspired a feeling of antagonism among strong and earnest Republicans by talking of "third party;" these things had a tendency to weaken him, and the "true and tried" Republicans of the 4th District would like to see one of the "true and tried" selected this time to represent them. Mr. Newcomb is the representative man of all Republicanism west of the Trinity. He is to-day what he was ten years ago—loyal, patriotic, a deep thinker, an earnest worker, and yet without so much that office seeks him, he never seeking office. I always think of Henry Clay and his abnegating of all selfish interests, as the fitting semblance of Mr. Newcomb. It is earnestly hoped among us, and I speak for from five to seven hundred voters in this county, that the nomination will be unanimously conferred upon Mr. Newcomb.

The county mass meeting on Saturday was not so fully attended as it should have been, and it consequently fell partially under the influence of disorganizers and factionists. The business before the meeting not being disposed of, an adjournment was ordered until Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, when we hope to see Travis county Republicanism more fully represented.—State Journal.

Unless the climate of Austin has undergone some material change lately, two o'clock in the afternoon is just the hour when no attendance at all may be expected. Two o'clock in the afternoon is no "premature."

The South Carolina Sand-Billers.

A correspondent to the New York Journal of Commerce writes from Columbia, South Carolina:

About three miles from here, in the pine barrens, live a class of white men called sand-billers; the most abject people I ever saw. They are deemed much less respectable than the negroes, and in fact the negroes consider them their inferiors, as they are, in intelligence and general appearance. They cannot raise much on the land they have, and are so lazy that some of them do not even raise vegetables for their table. They get a precarious living by the sale of wood. Every morning you can see them in town, driving a small, delicate cart containing about a bushel of wood as a string man carries on his shoulder. They go to the grocer's for enough money to keep the family a day or two. Then they go to the grocery store and buy, first, whiskey; second, tobacco; third, corn meal. On these they seem to live. A grocer told me the order he the order given is the order of their purchases. They buy bread with the money they have left after paying for whiskey and tobacco, and are seldom known to buy meat. I saw one of them this morning walking up Main street with his wife and two boys, aged about ten and twelve, and a girl behind a stick, well and as bright as any other child to watch them. The man drew from his bosom a flat bottle, evidently containing whiskey. He took a long draught, then handed the bottle to his wife who did the same. He then put it to the mouth of the larger boy, who took a drink and made a wry face for it. The smaller boy also drank some and smacked his lips with evident satisfaction. My friend said that they had just bought the whiskey in the store, and probably drank it all before they got home.

At a certain church in Texas an Episcopal clergyman was last year treated with contumely by the ecclesiastical officers, because he dared to perform the marriage ceremony for two persons of doubtful color. The unfriendly, superstitious, pharisaical, so-called religious sentiment, that never failed to utter its protest against the legalized brotherhood of a race, under an institution that made the ceremony of Christian marriage impossible to millions, rose up in a prudish protest against a clergyman for performing the church ceremony on a legitimate connection. But the world moves, and we were reading to-day an account of the Rev. Mr. Love, a colored clergyman of Florida, who has been preaching in the richest and most "congregative" church in New York, that called the Trinity, and his white congregation received with acceptance his instruction and exhortation. In view of the experience of Mr. Love, we hope, that Mr. Love will make a missionary tour through the churches of Texas.—State Journal.

We would like to know why official journals in Texas are so weak-kneed in exposing the unfathomable treachery and damnable rascality of the legislative corruptionists and profligates, who have been trampling the people of Texas under foot, in spite of the remonstrances of the Governor and the Republican party. Last fall several Republican papers came to the rescue but now the disposition seems to be to ignore the wishes of the Radical masses, and let the Governor fight the battle single-handed. Shame on such cowardice.—Jefferson Herald.

The San Antonio grave yard is in a disgraceful condition. There is no attempt at an enclosure; the tombstones are defaced by bad boys, and the cattle wander unrestrained over the ashes of former respected citizens.

In the name of common decency something should be done to stop this.

An old man named Thornton, living in Atascosa county, has been murdered by two Mexicans, one of whom he had recently hired in town. He was an old man living by himself, and it was probably suspected by the murderers that he had a large sum of money in the house. The ranch was plundered, and the Mexicans are supposed to have left with everything of value that could be transported in the ambulance. Parties have gone in pursuit, and will probably overhaul the murderers, if they stick to the ambulance.

"DEAREST: You boots are inside the garden fence, at the south-east corner, covered with a piece of old carpet. Don't come any more, for heaven's sake, for you swear he'll blow the top of your head off if he ever catches you around the house again." YOUR DARING.

How to Dent with Children.

It is a great loss of positive pleasure for children to outgrow too soon their childish feelings. Keep them at their simple playthings as long as you can. Their enjoyment of these has a relish which nothing else can supply to those years. It is like the keeness of their appetites for a winter apple, skin and all. Never laugh at them for amusing themselves an hour and a half a day with a string, or a mud dam, or a paper doll, but laugh with them. If your boy jumps into a snow drift by his chin, the glow on his cheeks is only a faint flush to that of his rollicking spirits; and the blood throbbing to his finger points will keep the chill out of his bones and soul alike. Advocate's Guardian.

A Painless Season.

Glorious and delightful as the Summer weather is, its tropical heat is a severe trial to the vital powers. Even the strongest are sometimes prostrated by its effects. The common phrase applied to this condition of the body is "General debility." Now, general debility arises from, and includes a variety of ailments. The liver is more or less affected, the bowels are either constipated or too much relaxed, the stomach but half performs the work of digestion, the appetite is poor, and the spirits depressed. This is what is called "General debility." It is a general disarrangement of all the physical functions, and requires as a remedy a medicine that will regulate them all. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is specially adapted to this purpose. Its general operation is not confined to a single organ. If the liver is affected, it restores its tone. If the stomach is torpid, it regenerates it. If the nerves are tremulous and weak, it braces and reinforces them. If the mind, which ever sympathizes with the body, is gloomy and despondent, it relieves the difficulty, and soon brings the whole mechanism of the body into harmony with the laws of health.

There is no civilized nation in the Western Hemisphere in which the utility of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a tonic, corrective, and antibilious medicine, is not known and appreciated. Throughout the Tropics it is considered, both by the people and the profession, the standard specific. While it is a medicine for all seasons and all climates, it is especially suited to the complaints generated by the weather, being the purest and best vegetable stimulant in the world. Beware of the Bitters made of acrid and dangerous materials, which unscrupulous parties are endeavoring to foist upon the people. Their name is legion, and the public has no guarantee that they are not poisonous. Adhere to the tried remedy, Hostetter's Bitters, sold only in glass, and never in kegs or barrels.

Consumption,

Its Cure and its Preventive, By J. H. Schenck, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friend are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they only adopted

Dr. Joseph H. Schenck's simple Treatment, and availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own "case" proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthy vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-evident, self-convincing.

The Sea-weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbid action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of Consumption. The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Fluitans. They possess all the blood-purifying, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"Leave no Sting Behind." The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and noxious deposits in the bowels and to the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsibly, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A Supply of Good Blood. The Sea-weed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Oxygenation is now progressing without the previous tortures. Digestion becomes just, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and throws the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the good blood of womanhood that was!

Given up as Lost. The second thing in the patient's journey in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent talking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this season of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much as they can as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep his good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To testify of your after-ward evidence of its possibility is the witness, and moral certainty all others is sinful. Dr. Schenck's original statement is the testimony of his own cure was in these modest words: "Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon opened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

As soon as that began to subside my cough, fever, pain and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I good gain my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton, my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He of his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continues to see patients at his office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The diseases following the physicians are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, steady appetite. Of returning health, hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the desponding at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough lessens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in store at thousands of families, as a preventive or positive, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Trials of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea-weed Tonic, $1.00 a bottle, or $1.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and chemists.
