The celebrated de la Vega vs. Lapsley case has been argued in the United States Circuit Court at Austin, and admitted. Messrs. Meina and W. Alexander were for the plaintiff, and Messrs. W. M. Walton and C. S. West for the defendant.

The Herald warns the Germans against social equality with the negroes. This kind of advice should first be practiced by the Herald men before they attempt to lecture our German citizens. Social equality and miscegenation are one of the old practices of the Southern people. The Germans need no lectures from Logan, Thompson and Deahill.

When you hear a man always preaching honesty, and praising up his own stock of the virtue, keep your hands upon your pocket-book; when you hear a democratic editor or candidate for office going into a fit of horrors over "negro social equality" and miscegenation, be certain he has a family of half-breeds in the back ground.

The Cincinnati Gazette commences a vindictive article on the Sunday Law with the words, "The giant with the spiked helmet is upon us." Well, he won't hurt you if you don't crowd him, and his drinking beer on Sunday is none of your business, if he does not interfere with your prayer-meetings.

The ravages of the cholera are increasing and a feeling of uneasiness is increasing in England and the large Northern cities of the United States.

We have received a circular announcing the candidacy of Mrs. Victoria Woodhull for the presidency of the United States. She is the candidate of the Victoria League, the object of which is obtaining from Congress the right for women to vote, hold office and everything else they want. Would it not be better for these rather premature females to attend to the nourishment and education of their children, if they have any?

The war on the Tamany ring in New York continues with unabated vigor. The Wall street brokers have taken active part in the exposure and denunciation of the unboard of morality that threatens to bankrupt the city. The debt of the city has been increased at the rate of five and a half millions a month, and the taxation has risen to an unheard-of figure, and it is the worst governed city in America; and this is the ring that is endeavoring to obtain control of the national government.

THEN AND NOW.

The Democracy of Texas consisting principally of the old slaveholding aristocracy and the autocratical republicans are endeavoring to make tax question a weapon with which to strike the republican state administration. They argue with a great affectation of disinterestedness that when the Democracy was in the ascendancy before the war that the taxes were light as naturally to be felt by the people, that the people had scarcely anything to pay, while under Republican administration they have greatly increased as to be almost unbearable and that no remedy can be applied, except it be to refuse to pay them. This is repeated over and over again, that by the mere force of repetition some few weak-headed republicans are beginning to borrow this democratic thunder.

But these loud-mouthed democrats are very careful not to tell the whole truth; they neglect to mention that the increased taxation is due chiefly to the state of affairs which they themselves have brought about; they forget to tell the people what the objects were, for which they collected taxes, and what they gave the people in return.

Let us investigate a little, and require of these gentlemen an account of their stewardship.

Did you ever give the people, whom you affect to love so much, protection and security in life or property; did you ever give the people an efficient administration of justice; did you ever make any provision for the rising generation? The unavoidable answer must be an emphatic "No!" Under your disgraceful administration of public affairs, the pistol, the knife and the rope were held in terror over the head of this peaceful citizen; such law was the order of the day; you made the school system a farce. You carry out the same policy to-day, when your Ku-Klux burn the school houses and whip the teachers; and your infernal policy finally resulted in the rebellion, which the Republican party snatched. The people knew whose the fruits of your system were to be found, in the shape of peaceful citizens hung on the trees, and in the bodies of the martyrs of freedom, who were found with their throats cut in our rivers. And yet you now come before the people of Texas with your bloody hands and hypocritical faces, and rail at the party that has done what you never did, never can, and never will do—that is, restore the supremacy of the law over the mob and the assassin.

The riotous and the ignorant, the vile and the base of society, may listen to you, but your howl about taxes will be futile with those who love liberty, under the law, more than they do the unwarranted expense of a good government.

It has been said that courage is a quality that never goes out of fashion and that it is applicable to parties as it is to men. The Republican party has never, and does not now, intend to pursue a timid, side, or vacillating policy but it will act in all emergencies that may arise. Its leaders are men of nerve and tried courage and it already numbers in its ranks tens of thousands of men who followed the banner of the lost cause but who ceased to follow it after it became dishonorable to do so.

On the other hand the Democracy is made up chiefly of an element that figured largely in the immortal peace militia during the war.

The cowardice of the party is plainly evidenced by the material they use. Con federate stay at home, men who filled easy positions as cotton agents, or speculators, or renegade federates are the chosen standard bearers of a party that proposes to check the systematic over-ambitious march of republicanism.

The republican is the only party that ever has had the courage to defy the cowardly element in Texas. The honest laboring people of the State have for thirty years longed for a party that would guarantee them protection, and the democracy has either allied with the desperadoes or else feared them too strictly to enforce the law.

Now, at this time comes a party that has hunted the hyenas to their holes and yet the democracy confidently expects that the people will go back on the Party that stands between them and these men; that in any other country would be chewing the end of reflection inside of grated windows.

Let the young men of Texas show by their actions that they are American citizens more than they are Democrats, and not give their allegiance to a party that has no use for them, unless they write for the dust and ashes of the lost cause and ignore the great living present.

Hon. (?) Morgan Hamilton and Major Moore may be regarded as head ducks in the pond from now, henceforth and forever more.

Instead of patting botlers and democratic wolves in sheep's clothing on the back, and endeavoring to destroy the perfect harmony that now exists among all true republicans, it would be more creditable for Major Moore, considering what the Republican party has done for him, to put on sackcloth and ashes and try and reform his Reformers. Now it is plain that the old spirit of hatred and disloyalty is as active as ever and threatens to overwhelm the country, the republicans that bolt or fails to render unflinching support to the administration deserves the scorn and contempt of both parties.

This "Herald" does not say much, but like the Irishman says, it keeps up the devil of PERSONAL.

Warr—Lieut. Gen. M. Wentz, 18th U. S. Infantry arrived in town a few days since with recruits for the 24th and 25th Infantry. He has been ordered to turn over those of the 24th Infantry to Lieut. Henshaw, who will take charge of them on route to Fort McKavett. Lieut. Wentz left here on yesterday for his station at Jackson Barocks and New Orleans.

Hempstead—Captain J. Lee Hempstead, 9th Cavalry U. S. A., arrived here on route for his command, on Thursday, from a leave of absence of four months. Capt. Hempstead is a genius as he was brave during the war.

Henshaw.—We had the pleasure of meeting on Saturday, with Lieut. E. C. Henshaw, Acting Commissary of Subsistence at Fort McKavett. We knew Lieut. Henshaw in the stirring times of war, when he commanded one of the crack batteries of artillery, of the great State of Illinois. His battery, (Henshaw's) as well as himself, did signal service during the war, in the armies of the Tennessee and Cumberland. It remains to this day which were "fall of hope, and yet of heartbreak," when we met with such gallant love of freedom as Captain Henshaw.

Lewis.—Dr. J. S. Lewis, of New Orleans, who has been adjourning in this vicinity for the benefit of his health, for several months past, and who accompanied Captain Webb's command to Fort Richardson, returned to the city on Saturday. He reports that the rear guard of Gen. McKenney's column, which started on a protracted scout, left Richardson on the 2d instant. The fine condition of the troops warranted the presumption that they will do good service on their expedition. Dr. Lewis, we are happy to notice, returns from his trip much improved in health and spirits.

Walker.—Our highly esteemed young friend, "Sam" Walker, trader at Fort McKavett, gladdened our vision by his presence among us on Thursday last. Sam is well known among the community as the former capable clerk of Col. Terrell, paymaster. It does not surprise us to learn of his growing prosperity and popularity in his new field of operations on the frontier, as it was ever thus with him in his old and well-known one. We are not only glad to see him again in our midst, but of personal consideration for his worth, but also because of the commercial benefits he and his fellow-merchants of the army contribute to this community. "Ever be happy," Sam.

Farrell.—Col. G. M. Farrell, Paymaster, returned to this city Saturday evening, after a tour of forty days, in which time he visited the troops at Fort Concho, Fort Davis, Stockton, McKavett, Lancaster, Hudson and Clark.

Attention to the case of the unfortunate girl the Herald says: "We refer to this revolting subject merely to make a brief comment, viz: That political equality with negroes must of necessity lead to social equality and miscegenation." How does this tally with the "New Departure?"

"Yet the races must be kept distinct,"—San Antonio Herald. It must have cost a sigh to have come to this conclusion.

Help for the Nervous. Where is it to be found?—the trembling victim of nervous debility. Not in the tavern dram; that from the attention for a moment, and is succeeded by collapse. Not in purgative pills, or a Lenten diet, but in an invigorant and restorative in which the tonic elements are united with gentle spirit and alterative properties. When Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was introduced nearly twenty years ago, this important object was first attained. This powerful and active vegetable specific is so justly celebrated for the cure of nervous diseases, as for the absolute certainty with which it relieves distress and biliousness. The hot weather toward the close of summer generally aggravates diseases of a nervous type, creating a degree of feebleness which is beyond measure distressing. Under such circumstances fully the bodily energies with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all tonics, it is the most satisfactory in its operations, and the least exciting. It braces the nervous system to their natural tension, but not beyond it, so there is no reaction. It has other properties, however, than those of a nerve, and as a blood purifier, and moderate aperient, is superior to any other medicine of the day. Fraud, however, is on the alert. The celebrity of the original medicine has given rise to scores of counterfeits and imitations. Examine the label, and for some of the signatures of the firm; see that the spelling is all correct, and thus make sure of the genuineness of the article you buy.

F. S.—Hostetter's Bitters are never sold in kegs or barrels, but in bottles only. Is Lewis and Thompson will look more closely after their own family affairs, they will have no time to look after other people's social arrangements.

Heuben Richards, formerly of company A, 1st Texas Cavalry, is requested to call at the office of the City of the San Antonio Express, with his discharge papers. (30-5) Vid. wit.

TRUTH.—The powers of Mrs. Whitcomb's Syrup for children are as positive as the sunlight from heaven, and gentle and soothing as an angel's whisper.

San Antonio has but one hospital, the Catholic hospital of Santa Rosa. It should be supported by all, as it is open to all.

We referred to a recent festival as an Episcopal entertainment; we are requested to correct that impression, as it was for the benefit of a private school.

THE FESTIVAL AND SOIREE AT THE PLAZA HOUSE.—The entertainment given at the Plaza House under the auspices of Mrs. Peck and Edmonds for the purpose of raising funds for defraying the expenses of repairs needed in the fitting up and completion of St. Mary's Hall as an Educational Institute, proved a most enjoyable affair to those who had the good fortune to attend. The entertainments were all first class, consisting of dancing, music, singing and refreshments.

There were a goodly number of ladies and gentlemen of our best families present, but the greater portion of the assemblage was composed of the juvenile element, among whom were seen the prettiest young Misses of San Antonio and vicinity.

As to the success of the enterprise in a financial point we were not able to judge, as it may have been that many bought tickets who failed to attend. But if this be true, it does not speak well for San Antonians with respect to appreciations of high moral and intellectual exercises and performances; since both the object in view, as well as the announcement of the presence and services of talented and amiable ladies Mrs. Guion, daughter and pupils should have been sufficient inducement to have attracted a large assemblage.

The programme pursued was: in the first part of the evening dancing, which was indulged in by the young people with much enthusiasm notwithstanding the effect of vigorous exercise at this season.

Among the ladies present who evinced the scene with their graces and attractions we noticed:

Miss Ida May, in green grenadine, with white satin sash and bow, (much admired for her graceful dancing.)

Miss Alice Guion, in white Swiss, with her beautiful ringlets of golden-brown, shown to advantage in the simple sweet costume.

Miss Lena Tobin, in lemon colored organdy, white polonaise, and Miss Annie Tobin, green tulle and white polonaise, the daughters of the generous and popular proprietor of the Plaza House, appeared to much advantage; Miss Adie Jackson of New Orleans, a medium blonde with suit of splendid hair that hung in heavy braids down her back, in white Swiss (short) and overskirt of same material, made quite a sensation by her pretty girlish personal and graceful dancing; Miss Ellen Finn, in white Swiss, green plaid sash and bow, onyx jewelry, made a pleasing appearance; Miss Helen S. Nelson, whose golden curls hung in graceful profusion over her shapely shoulders appeared in white tulle and overskirt trimmed with pink dots. Among the married ladies were seen that splendid specimen of matronly womanhood, Mrs. Guion dressed with her usually becoming taste, black, with white stripes, grenadine; Mrs. Prinstall equally attractive and lady-like in black grenadine, high collar, and head ornamented with dress cap of purple lace; Mrs. Dr. Howard also appeared to much advantage in purple striped barege; Mrs. Carroll wore a lavender silk en train with black lace panther and lace trimming.

Many other Misses and succeeded ladies, equally as deserving of mention, evinced the scene but whose names we were unable to learn.

At 10 1/2 P. M. the Company adjourned to the parlors where they were treated to some choice music and singing. "I must be gone, love" a duet by Mrs. and Miss Guion was rendered with marked skill and sweetness. The soft low voice, "that would fall a spirit to a dream of Miss" of Miss Guion was executed in a sweet little ballad "Tell me why Robin" but not until the audience was favored by a solo "Va, from Robert le Diable" by Mrs. Guion was displayed those admirable musical powers and taste of this talented and remarkable lady.

Miss La Costa, a very pretty young lady sang two solos, in which, although accompanied with evident timidity, she displayed a voice of more than ordinary power and sweetness, her last effort was certainly regarded with no uncommon force and beauty. A gentleman whose name we did not learn also contributed to the entertainment of the audience by his musical talents. The musical portion of the festival was concluded by Mrs. Guion singing several very pretty ballads, when the company again returned to the dancing hall and renewed their devotions to the "light fantastic," which concluded the entertainment.

Refreshments of a choice character were served in the anti-room or office.

The affair was a perfect success so far as merit is concerned (but of its profits we are not advised,) and hope for a frequent repetition of the same.

Among the gentlemen present we noticed Mr. A. L. Wicks, Mr. Muller, Dr. Howard, Major Minter, Mr. Wm. Ekin, Rev. Mr. Guion, Judge Noonan, Mr. Eday, Mr. John Shafter, and later in evening Col. J. C. De Grass and others.

Consumption,

Its Cure and its Prevention,

By J. H. Schenck, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friend, are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted

Dr. Joseph M. Schenck's simple Treatment, and availed themselves of his wonderful, efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is un-failing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Sorewood Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition, the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbid action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating point, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of Consumption.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's richest gifts—the Pepsiphilum Pelatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"Leave no sting behind."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A Supply of Good Blood.

The Sorewood Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Dyspepsia is now progressing without its previous torments. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more fatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering sons. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the system shows that it occupies its renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was.

Given-up as Lost.

The second thing is, the patient must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that people lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his university was in these modest words:

Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon dispersed the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

As soon as that began to subside my cough, fever, pain and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown as fresh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton I my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is in the hundred and twenty five (255) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional duties in New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them. First create appetite. Of returning health, hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough lessens, the night sweat is abated, in a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a curer of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sorewood Tonic, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and Dealers.
