PEOPLE WILL TALK.

You may get through the world, but you will be very slow. If you listen to all that is said or written, you'll be worried and troubled, and sleep in a stew.

For meddlesome tongues will have something to do.

For people will talk.

If quiet and modest, you'll have it pre-

That your humble position is only assum-

You're a wolf in sheep's clothing, or else you're a fool.

But don't get excited, keep perfectly cool.

For people will talk.

If generous and noble, they'll resent our fair speech.

You'll hear some loud hints that you're sel-

If upright and honest, and fair as the day, they'll call you a rogue in a sly sneaking way.

For people will talk.

For people will talk.

And then if you show the least boldness of heart,

Or a slight inclination to take your own part,

They will call you an upstart, conceited
and vain;

But keep straight ahead, don't stop to explain,

For people will talk.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

The San Antonio Express is the appointed Official Organ for the 24th Judicial District, composed of the counties of Bexar and Wilson; also for the 25th Judicial District composed of the counties of Medina, Uvalde, Bandera and Maverick.

Also for the 26th District, composed of the counties of El Paso and Presidio.

The San Antonio Freo Press is the commissioned Official Organ for the 27th Judicial District, composed of the counties of Conal, Blanco, Kendall, Kerr and Gillespie.

The Governor's reception at Navasota was glorious and triumphant. It exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the republicans in that section and furnishes proof as to how generally the people of Texas are rallying to the republican standard. Not less than 6000 people from the county of Grimes, Washington, Brazos, Austin, Montgomery, Madison, and Walker greeted the arrival of the Governor with enthusiasm.

Speeches were made by Gov. Davis, Judge Caldwell, Maj. Tom Oshlitz, Dr. R. K. Smith, Gen. Clark and other prominent republicans. In the third District the Stevenson faction has ceased to exist, and the republicans are carrying everything before them.

FORT CLARK, Texas, Aug. 21st 1871.

Editor of the San Antonio Express:

SIR.—Observing in your last issue, that there has been no raid made by Low the poor Indian, the last moon, allow me to inform you, that on the 10th instant a raid was made on the Pedro-Pinto seven miles from Fort Clark by the Kickapoos Indians at Mr. Joye's Ranch. He having lost about fourteen or fifteen head of horses, and thinking that the poor Kickapoos had made him a call, he at once hunted for the trail; finding it he returned to the ranch and dispatched a messenger to Fort Clark for aid.

Whereupon Lieut. Radetzki Co. E. 9th cavalry with a scouting party, accompanied by Mr. J. Cox as guide, was immediately dispatched from the post in pursuit, starting by way of the Losmoros river for the Rio Grande, while Mr. Joye with two American and three Mexicans started on the trail.

Arriving at the Rio Grande, they saw a spy on the opposite bank of the river, on a horse, who on perceiving them immediately started for the purpose of giving alarm to his comrades.

The pursuers plunged in, and crossed the Rio Grande and found the Indian camp, with almost all the horses hobbled. The Indians fled and the horses were recaptured, along with two or three of their own, with saddles and bridles.

On the return of the pursuers they met Lieut. Radetzki and his men on this side of the Rio Grande; after making a ride of twenty miles in two hours.

From hence I should think that the few men of this vicinity should take it in their own hands to recapture their stock whenever they may find them, be it on this side or on the other of the Rio Grande.

One cow in ten years in Texas with ordinary attention will produce from 15 to 20 head of cattle. Multiply that by ten cows and see the profit.—Houston Telegraph.

Divide by ten enterprising neighbors and we find there would not be much left to carry. The State Police is the salvation of the stock interest and the services of these hard working men are no where better appreciated than in the stock raising districts.

A Frenchman by the name of BORIN, in Philadelphia, has instituted a remarkable innovation in gastronomy. He has solved one of greatest problems of life because he has demonstrated the fact that it is possible to live without killing oneself in the effort. Borin keeps a restaurant par excellence. He is a great cook, philosopher and financier.

For forty cents he gives you a dinner fit for an American Prince. For twenty-five cents he gives you a breakfast; and for forty cents he gives you a bottle of superior Claret wine, and these prices are currency. Oh! for a Berlin in San Antonio.

The Democracy and Taxes.

Since Judge Hancock and his supporters have made the subject of taxes the theme of apparently never-ending denunciations of Republicanism, we shall take up the gauntlet and show that in this as in other respects they are unworthy of belief, and intended only for those who are too ignorant to understand the true merit of the question, or else too prejudiced to follow any other view than that dictated by party malice. The question of taxes has always been the last resort of the demagogue, and the poverty of their cause is plainly exposed when they can oppose nothing to the republican policy of reform but this senseless cry of taxes. If the ignorant can be persuaded that taxes are actual robbery, then, argue the democratic wire-pullers, we may be able to elect our man. Now let us look into this argument of the democracy, that the taxes are enormous, and see if the conclusions they draw are justified by the premises. In the first place the amount of the entire tax is but two dollars on the hundred, and not, as you broadly assert, 4 or 5 per cent. Now the great majority of tax-payers, be they laborers in the cities or farmers in the country, are men whose taxable property scarcely ever amounts to more than from $1500 to $2000. The lot and cottage of the laboring man in the city of San Antonio, or the ranch of the farmer in the country, will hardly reach the last named sum. The larger portion of our citizens would therefore have to pay next year about 36 dollars for State and county taxes.

Here the democracy steps in and says, formerly you had to pay but $5.00.

That may all be so, but let us proceed a little further and see what we get for the $5.00. In these good old democratic days the mechanic in the town or the farmer of limited means in the country had to pay for the tuition of each child at least one dollar and a half a month, which in the year amounted to the neat little sum of 30 dollars, supposing him to have but two children to educate; and in many instances the above amount is much too small. If there were three or four children to send to school it amounted to between sixty and seventy dollars. Now, here, we see that the man of limited means pays 30 dollars and receives from a republican administration, security for life and property, a prompt and effectual administration of justice, and in the frontier counties his stock is protected by the recent stock law, and in addition to all this he has his children educated at the expense of the State. We have then the whole affair in a nutshell. The Republican party requires of the man of limited means 30 dollars, but saves him from 30 to 60 dollars in the item of the education of his children. On the other hand, the democracy gives him no protection from the desperado, who is usually the tool of the party, nor that peaceful and law-abiding condition of affairs so necessary for the prosperity and happiness of the citizen.

The only argument they can advance is, well, then, you overtax the owners of large tracts of land and the mercantile interest of the country.

To this we have a short but a complete answer. He that has much should pay much, and in exact proportion to the wealth of the individual should be the amount of taxes required of him. If he is rich and owns hundreds of thousands of acres of land, and he holds it at a price that prevents the poor man from purchasing at all, and this is generally the case, then he should pay a heavy tax. It is not more than fair that, as the State protects the great landed and mercantile interests and makes them what they are, by security and protection, they should pay in proportion to support the government and educate the children of their poorer neighbor. There is one other argument that is frequently advanced by the advocates of the sham government we were cursed with before the war, and it is this, that the citizen who has no children is taxed in undue proportion, insomuch as he is taxed to support institutions from which he derives no benefit. This is an argument of the most contemptible selfishness, and it too will fall to the ground when viewed a little closer.

The school system is for the benefit and welfare of the entire people, and the education of the rising generations has the effect of diminishing crime and developing the resources of the country, and here we see that the property and security of every body, whether he have children or not, is benefited.

We believe we have made out our case and shown that the arguments of the democracy are intended solely for those who desire no progress.

Judge Hancock's Painful Position.

Judge Hancock's troubles increase in the ration of compound proportion.

When he attempts to conciliate the negroes he finds that his ill-advised, ignominious comparison is dung in his teeth. If he has any remarks to make on the subject of mixed schools, he does it with the consciousness that his audience are in a giggle, caused by the patent absurdity of a man denouncing in unmeasured terms an exaggerated danger, which is generally avoided by all except the General and his political associates. If he dares occasion and States' rights the democracy will desert him. If he adheres to those exploded theories his words make the hollowness of the new departure more apparent, and the radical papers will ventilate his inconsistency. It is therefore not to be wondered that "he lets sleeping dogs alone" and hangs long and low on the harp of one string—"high taxes." But even this last resort has failed him, as the Journal with praiseworthy diligence has exposed his falsehood; not to use a harsher word, in this particular. The same fatal inconsistency is here, too, observable, and the Journal has fastened on the judge the charge of giving in his taxable property at less than one-third of its real value.

We have heard of the judge as the mortal, the military hero, the rampand knowing nothing, the warm Confederate, the Union refugee, the colonel of colored troops, the practical miscreant, the unwilling candidate, hesitating to drink the bitter cup of secession candidacy, the malinger of Germans and insult of negroes, and in various and sundry other unpleasant capacities, but it was reserved for him to be exposed as a scoundrel, call it an indiscretions.

He swears to his improved farm being worth about one-third of its real value.

He swears to the statement that his city lots in Austin are worth one-half of their real value.

He swears to the statement that Durham cattle are worth $15 a head, &c.

This, republicans, is the best man the democracy can find in its ranks to represent us in Congress; we ask pardon, to represent them in Congress.

We shall henceforth refer to this representative type of the democracy as "the poor man's friend."

DRÖGER.—Hon. Ed. Degener, the candidate and unwavering standard bearer of the Republicans party of this Congressional District, is still here, in patient waiting for the man who tried to raise a negro brigade to invade Texas but did not make the trip—Gen. John Hancock. Mr. Degener proposes to meet and discuss the political issues with Mr. Hancock on the stump here and elsewhere, whenever and wherever it is possible. So pitch out 'quire Hancock! and while you're at it, you may as well trot out your issue of "miscegenation."

NEW YORK got excited the other day over a cholera case, but it turned out to be nothing but that disorganized condition that is peculiar to people that will eat green peaches and drink buttermilk afterward.

The Governor has thought proper to re-appoint Captain A. W. Kempton, city marshall, and the joy of the wicked, who expect therein to witness another split in the Republican party, is prodigious. We reiterate our advice tendered on a former occasion: gentlemen, moderate your eccentricities or the re-action will be overpowering.

The reason given by the Secretary of State for this unusual step, is the absence of Mr. Gregory, who, we believe, has gone to some post on the frontier on private business. Captain Kempton applied to the Mayor on Tuesday morning, presented his commission, and enquired the amount of the bond that would be required, whereupon the Mayor called a meeting of the common council, at which the following gentlemen were present: Messrs. Norton, Gross, Duerler, Callaghan and Motzen. Messrs. Pentenreider, Elmendorff and Bell were absent from the city. The city Attorney, Julius Van Slyck, Esq., read the sections of the city charter that have a bearing on the case in point, whereupon a resolution was passed protesting against the attempt of the State administration to force Captain Kempton upon the city authorities as marshall.

Captain Kempton has given the bond usually required of the city marshall, but the Mayor refused to recognize him. The appointment of Capt. Kempton is distasteful to many Republicans, but at the risk of displeasing them and the entire Democracy, we shall refrain from any extended criticism in this affair, until it shall have been definitely settled by the proper authorities. We are confident that the discretion of the Governor, and the good sense of the Republicans are guaranteed for the speedy and just settlement of this disturbing question, at any rate we shall furnish the enemy no encouragement by opening fire on our own party, on account of an affair that can be adjusted without the blowing of horns and trumpets.

We would have been better able to give our readers the facts of the case, if the city council had sent us a copy of the proceedings, as is customary.

MEETING OF THE AGRICULTURAL, INDUSTRY AND STOCK RAISING ASSOCIATION.—Last Wednesday night this really live association held one of its regular public meetings. We wished that there could have been a large attendance of the farmers as well as all classes of our citizens.

The report of the committee on Artesian wells was full of interesting and valuable information.

An abundant supply of good water for stock and irrigation, is a question of the very first importance. It is believed that Artesian wells can be now cheaply bored anywhere in Western Texas, and that the problem will be solved.

We cordially ask the hearty co-operation of all landowners, stock raisers and farmers with this association in its efforts to thoroughly test the practicability of Artesian wells.

Mr. Howard's essay on Tea Culture, was interesting and instructive. He thinks, after having many experience in the business in India, that tea can be successfully produced in Western Texas.

At the meeting of the Association next month, we expect to see a full attendance of people of all trades, and profession, including, of course the ladies. Let it not be said of San Antonio that only a circus or some tenth-rate theatrical performance can bring people together.

For the benefit of some anonymous scribblers we will state that the editor of the EXPRESS was in the Confederate army but has done no democratic duty since that time. Please send us your name.
