the people, by securing to them a free bul-lot, is a subject which enters largely into the discussions of our political campaign. A fair discussion is all very proper, for, the people having delegated the direct exercise of their soverignty, their voice can be heard authoritatively only at the polls, and whatever tends to prevent a free expression of the popular will, may fine and prison. The votes are counted in well be regarded as obnexious to our free institutions. It is only proposed bere to briefly notice same of the regulations that are intended to preserve the purity of the ballot-box,-to secure a free vote-and the objections the Democracy are making to such regulations.

In the first place they have gravely objected to a system of registration of voters, -"we had it never before the war ; and you are prescribing an additional qualifi-cation not required by the Constitution." then we did not need it nor want it

It would have been contrary to the genius of our institutions, as they then existed. If we had had it, scores of fraudulent non-resident votors equid not have been brought up by proprietors of cart trains, or otherwise, -to destroy the votes cast by the spirit of our constitution. enest voters, and so deprive them of a voice the election.

The Democracy profess a regard for the Constitution. That is all very commendable if they will only live up to it in letter and wirit, they will make very good citizens, but these captions objectors have officer as many tablets as there were cannot read the Constitutions or they would didntes, and one of these tablets he depos hold their tongues. Now this candidate probably voted for the Constitution as did thousands of Democrats, fourteen out of every fifteen votes cast were in favor of it. If those interested will look at Sec. 6. Art, 3: they will find that reads: "All, elections for State, District, and county officers, shall be held at the county state of the several counties until otherwise provided by law ; and the polls shall be opened for four days." Thus the place of voting was fixed at the county seats, by the Constintion when it was not known who would be elected Governor. True it can be changed but the first Legislature assembling, elected at the same vote, were not warranted in supposing that a change was desired when the law had just been fixed by fourtoen-fifteenths of the vote cast, and so they allowed the law to remain as it had been fixed by the people themselves. Whenever the people find that the inconvenience is greater, than it will be to have country elections and seems persons who can protest and conduct the elections, so that the vote will not be vold for informalities, then they can have law changed. The law we now have is the most strip gent the State has ever had for the protection of honest voters and the punishment of the counterfeit.

Full notice is given of all elections.

The voter must be registered. The bal-let is deposited under the eye of the voter himself. The ballet must be handed in by the voter.

The judges may swear the voter he has not voted elsewhere, and a false oath means penifontiary. It punishes illegal voting, or attempts. No liquers are sold on election day. Any unauthorized person handling the hallots or boxes, is subject to the presence of three judges, two clerks, a registrar-all sworn officers-and two respectable citizens of the county,-in all eight persons,-and yet we are told that we cannot have a fair count; that these eight persons, who know that they are subjects of the severest scrutiny by the public,-will all perjure themselves; not one of them honest, for that one would expose a bad count. With the same propriety the entire people can be subjected True we never had it before the war, but that event the officers are as honest as the people themselves. These opponents blow hot and cold; at one time the law is too strict; at another not strict enough.

Again the proposal to number each ballot so that the voter is known is plausible, but is contrary to law, being opposed to

You may well say "UNHARMED" for it is the truth. Black takes no other color.

According to a number of the Round Rock Sentinel, a copy of which was placed in our Post Office box, by mistake, we glean the following gems of thought:

Its Cure and its Preventive. By J. M. Schonck, M. D.

Many a numen being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason thus the neglect of known and indisputably powers means of any. Thus near and door to family and friend are sleeping the dramilens slumber into which, had they calmiy adopted

Dr. Joseph M. Schenck's simple Trentment, and availed themselves of his wonderful of-ficacions medicines, they would set have fallen, meacious medicines, they would ret have failen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever rufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into health fai vigor.

Is this statement there is nothing presumptious. To she faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the care by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, sulf-convicing.

The Seamend Tonio and Mandrake Pills are the first iwa weapens with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two thirds of the case of consumption originate

The second thing is, the patients must state in a warm room until they get small; it almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented, or a cure sakest be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter sensors, are all aring. Physicians who is commond that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they amust not set down quiet; they must walk about the
