THE PEAL OF BELLS.
In olden times, beside the Rhine,
There dwelt an artisan, who wrought
A peal of bells, and made them take Sweet music from his thought.
So soft, so musical they were,
So touched with thoughts of other years,
The voiceless air grew eloquent
To melt the heart to tears.
And where the convent crowns the crag
That rises from the vine-clad dells,
And turrets to the summer dawn,
They hung that peal of bells.
And, when the eve had hushed the dells,
And lowing kine did homs repair,
A benediction soft and low
They breathed along the air.
And he who wrought their bells, hied by
A lonely way, when all was still,
That he might hear at morn and eve,
The bells he loved so well.
Ere long, his head upon his breast,
With blissful tears the sweet eyes dim,
A fair maid listens at even-song,
To those clear bells with him.
And soon glad children's voices blend
With them, mirth that no cares destroy;
Dear chimed, that to a father's heart
Bring back his childhood's joy.
And thus, with those he loved on earth,
He lived calm days with blessings fraught,
Days that in music swan-like dirge,
Wept by the bells he wrought.
Till in his absence came a foe,
Who that fair convent overthrew,
And bore away the peal of bells,
His wife and children slow.
No groan nor murmur uttered he,
But straight the pilgrim's staff he took;
To alien countries bent his way—
His home, his land forsook.
He wandered East, he wandered West,
Crazed by a sleepless inward woe—
A poor, heart-broken, homeless thing,
With feeble steps and slow.
Until it chanced green Erin's shore
He reached, and down the Shannon's tide
The still and halcy summer eve
Past Limerick's tower did glide.
Then suddenly the vesper chimes
Came on the breeze in fitful swells;
He knew the voices—they are, they are,
His own beloved bells.
Folding his arms upon his breast,
He held a little drooped the while,
He listened—all the woe-worn face
Lit by a quiet smile.
Old scenes, old faces, old friends, grew in Upon his brain, from happy times,
And little children's laughter, low
Bled in between those chimed.
His face turned towards the waning towers,
His arms still folded on his breast,
The boatman found him cold and still—
The weary heart at rest.

M. Rochester had his troubles increased by the elopement of his daughter, aged 15, with a young man of 18. She was at school in Jersey, it is said, whence the pair went to London and were married.
The mother of the bridegroom, however,
followed them, seized her son and bore him off to the colonies, while the bride was sent back to Jersey.

It is said of "Old" Lincoln that when hecy, obeying only his own accord, gave a pledge of total abstinence from all sorts of intoxicating liquors and tobacco, to which he unflinchingly adhered—refusing all offers of wine, even at public dinners and elsewhere, with politeness, but with the decisive answer, "I am pledged to total abstinence."
A correspondent of an Illinois paper published at Galesburg, says that he has cured several colic and cures that had been bliven on the nose by rattlesnakes, by rubbing spirits of turpentine on their heads.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.
A dressing which is at once agreeable,
healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Fed up gray
hair is soon restored
to its original color, with the gloss and
freshness of youth.
Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed.
But such a result can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a fatty sediment, it will keep it clean and supple.
Its general use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It varies merely for a HAIR DRESSING,
nothing else can be found so desirable.
Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The man who undertakes to deny the existence of the Ku Klux is either very badly informed or worse.

It is by fraud and gigantic bribery, that the democracy endeavors to hold its own in the North, but it is by Ku Klux intimidation that they expect to carry the Southern States.

The people of Western Texas know nothing about the Ku Klux, for the reason that Gov. Davis is not to be trifled with, and because this is a republican district.

We ask those who think, however, that no Ku Klux is possible in Western Texas to read the Southern Rights Association Circular, we published a few days ago, and notice the names of the signers.

In the State of Main there is one murder annually to every 80,000 inhabitants, while in Texas there is one murder annually to every 2400 inhabitants.

We have therefore the disposition to do "earnest work" and the material to do it with, but otherwise there is no danger of Ku Klux in Texas, not any at all.

Now that the excitement of the election is cooled down, and Hancock has been elected through the mastery (Disactivity) of the republicans, the question may well be asked of them, what they have gained by it.

It is not our fault if the future of Western Texas is threatening.

The fit is cast and we will all have to bear the consequences that may be in store for us.

As far as the prospects of West Texas are concerned, no man can deny that they are better than they have been for those many years, and we owe it to the administration, that San Antonio is and has been one of the most quiet and orderly cities in the United States.

Notwithstanding that occasional mistakes have been made, our county has prospered wonderfully under the administration of Gov. Davis.

The dreadful dangers that some people seemed to fear so much are to be found nowhere except in the imagination.

Do you not remember, that a horrible condition of affairs was predicted by the opponents of the city charter.

What a row has been raised about the election order, and the appointment of officials.

Have our taxes been increased? Have our friends been invaded? Have any outrages been committed by reason of the election order. Have we been down trodden by tyrants, as the democrats have been howling for the last six months? Have the rights of the citizens been infringed on in any particular?

Every honest man must answer: No! We defy those hot-house politicians, who talk as if they had been fed on wisdom with a table spoon from their infancy, to deny that they have lied on these points at will.

They dishonor their own common sense and insult the intelligence of the people, when they say that the people have been tyrannized over.

The beneficial effect of the republican administration are felt and appreciated among all classes.

The man of capital with far-seeing eye has confidence in the republican management of affairs, and he has invested his money in city lots and built houses and stores on them.

Capital from abroad is flowing, in and new stores are opening every day in our city.

Immigration was under way, trade and commerce was looking up.

The United States government was well disposed towards us, and millions would have been spent in the erection of depots and court houses, which would have made railroads and immigration a certainty.

Now comes THE ELECTION, Hancock, the enemy of the government has been elected, and again ween quire, "what have we made by it?"

Let those wise-ones, who mouthed so much and did so little during the election speak out.

What have we made by it?

"THE MILLS OF THE GODS GRIND SLOWLY" but surely. Ten years ago the little band of Union Soldiers overwhelmed by the fire of the Southern hearts, surrendered to the young Confederacy. The Stars and bars stood aloft, illuminated in the glow of the Rebel blaze, and the "dear old flag" went down in the ashes. Men who had been educated by a generous and intelligent Government, turned traitors to it and the banner that made them all they were, and others who were fed at the bounty of the Government, joined hands with the other traitors and took their place in the new order of things. Four years later, the "old flag," baptized in the blood of over half a million patriots, kissed the breast again from its old staff and raised once more to the music of freedom in the glory of a Sumner's sun.

Then they that had known it before and looked in its mellow shades; who had fed at the well stored cribs its protection had supplied, but who had abandoned it in its first hour of peril and joined the crusade for its destruction, came again, like mongrel curs, fawning and whimpering to be restored to its favors and benefits; and through the magnanimity of one of her forgiving and Democratic Generals, (Hancock) the barriers which they themselves had raised, were, by his charity (?) swept away, and they entered once more into the enjoyment of all that their treason had forfeited.

Thus, under the cover of this fraud, perpetrated by this unscrupulous Union General, (and present magnet of Democracy,) have they dwelt in undisturbed security, hopefully abiding the time when they might again revive their treason with better success than before, but the genius of Vigilance has aroused from her slumbers, at the capitol of the Nation, and has at last communicated its spirit to the confederates. "The mills of the Gods grind slowly." The crew of ex-rebel gourmands, at the Government Headquarters are "eating the children's bread." It is time their maws were full; let them be driven out, to give room to those who have labored for it in the toil of battle, and to whom it belongs.

GEN. JAMES A. EMIN.

We have received a copy of the "Pittsburgh Gazette" of Sept. 30th, containing an elaborate account of a reception tendered to our esteemed and efficient Chief Quartermaster, Gen. James A. Emin, on the 28th ultimo, at his old home in Elizabeth, Pa. (near Pittsburgh) by the citizens of that borough.

The oration, if we may judge from the report given in the Gazette, which occupies four columns of that extensive journal, being equal to a page and a half of the EXPRESS, was one of the grandest affairs of the kind, ever accorded to a representative man, in that populous and thriving section of country; and was the spontaneous tribute of a generous and grateful people to a beloved and honored citizen, and gallant and meritorious officer.

A delegation of twenty three citizens, having the management of the reception, met the General at Pittsburgh and escorted him to a steamer, engaged for the occasion, accompanied by a military company as a guard of honor. After a pleasant trip of a few hours, the steamer, with its merry company, arrived at the town, 29 miles by the Monongahela river—and was met at the wharf by a battalion of soldiers, and an immense concourse of men, women and children from the borough and the surrounding country. The General landed at his old home, saluted by the firing of musketry, the cheering strains of music, and enthusiasm of the populace, for the first time, since he stepped forward to sign his name, as the first commander of the town, in defense of the flag he had so ably supported, after ten years of absence. The eloquent address of welcome; the General's feeling and grateful response; the eulogistic and complimentary letters of eminent soldiers and statesmen; the sumptuous hospitalities the Hon. Samuel Walker, and mingling with friends of youth and early manhood; the grand banquet, at night, where the brilliant speeches of distinguished men, and approving smiles of beautiful women, alleviated the convivial hours; closing in the joyous dance, made the occasion a fête not often equalled, one that it is few men's privilege to receive, and a compensation for the trials and sacrifices of the past, which should reflect a perpetual beam of gladness in the future,—in that it stamps the seal of approbation on a life and services, stretching over the gap, from youth to silver haired maturity.

It is rarely that a man receives, in later life, the homage of his earlier friends and associates,—those who are apt to know the worst of him,—and it gives an unalloyed pleasure to note that such a man is Gen. Emin.

Those who have been brought in contact with him here, as elsewhere, can comprehend the fitness of this distinguished and beautiful compliment accorded him. Long may he live to merit, and longer to enjoy, a repetition of what we have related.

The General is now on his way to resume his duties in this department, accompanied by his amiable wife and daughter.

"HORRIBLE!"

One of the most horrible cases, of feil fondness, has just been brought to light, in the town of New Brunswick, N. J., wherein two daughters,

WREATH OF WAITING FOR THE DEMISE of a rich old father, seek to hasten that event, by hiring a friend employe of the old man,—who was a bedridden invalid,—to murder him, by setting fire to the bed clothing,—purposely saturated with coal oil, and in his helplessness.

The attempt, however, failed by reason of the old man's cries, which brought the house servants to his rescue.

The plot was revealed some time after,

by the hired murderer, named James Baxter,

WHO BECAME CONSCIENCE-STRICKEN, during a fit of access illness, to the facts of which he subscribed before a magistrate.

The parties implicated in this diabolical attempt;—the two daughters and their husbands,—named respectively, Theodore Willits, and wife, Sarah J.; Captain William Yates, and wife, Anna Maria; are shining lights in the MOST SELECT AND FASHIONABLE CIRCLES of Brooklyn and New York. The old gentleman whose life was so inhumanly attempted, is named Samuel Whitehead, Sr., and resides in New York.

The affair is said to have created the most

INTENSE AND TERRIBLE EXCITEMENT among the "upper crust" of which the accused were noted and honored members.

For "political and business" FRIENDSHIPS, the equal of the above has never been known or heard of. The efforts of "King-Lear's" daughters sink into contemptible insignificance in comparison.

The parties have been duly indicted and will be tried at the December term of the Middlesex Co., N. J. Court.

THERE IS ONE man in the community that is deserving of the liveliest sympathies of the public generally, we mean the juror.

We do not refer to that class that are kept on to fill up with, and whose faces are so familiar in the box, for they do it for the stamps, but it is the involuntary juror that should be regarded in the light of a martyr.

He may be selling a customer from the country a bill of goods, or have even better reasons for wishing to remain in his peace of business; but a man with a smile of significance on his face touches him on the shoulder, writes his name on a paper, and says in horrid tones, Mr. Jones, you are summoned as juror in the case, of the heirs Tom vs. Dick, forthwith, And go he must; like death, there is no getting around it. The officers seem to have no bowels of compassion; if you don't go, you are sent for, and you are found and fined in a remarkably off-hand manner.

In the first place, it is good not to be much on the streets, for the bailiff generally nab those on the streets and corners before he assails you in the store or office.

A bailiff hunting jurors may be known by turning him around like an owl continually, by his quick step, and a sly appearance badly concealed, by that smile, and that inevitable lead pencil.

If you are caught, generally speaking, it is useless to say that your wife is sick, or that you are not registered, &c., because it won't do. The plan has been suggested of keeping a pint bottle labelled "COLD-DRAWN CASTOR OIL" in your coat pocket, and when the "minion of the law" makes his appearance let him catch you in the act of putting some out in a spoon. This is bound to succeed if managed properly. The bottle may contain gin, kirchenwasser or pale brandy, but the label should be very large and legible. If this does not succeed and the bailiff insist that you are in a fit condition for jury duty, notwithstanding; as a last resort, put the bottle under his nose and let him smell it for a minute or so. If that don't draw like a blister plaster then we give it up. Nothing will save you then except straight out lying.

ALEX. E. SWEET.—Notary Public, Office San Antonio Express.

The best entry in Western Texas is to be had at Noyes & Deutz, hardware house on Commerce street. There's no mistake about this, for "we know how it is ourselves."

The Board of Cavalry officers engaged in purchasing horses for the service, in our city, has so far been very successful, and thus verifying the opinion expressed by the Quartermaster General on his late visit to Texas, to the effect that it is not necessary to import horses for the cavalry in this State, but that the interests of the government are best subserved by purchasing here.

The best illustration of a thief admitting a theft and claiming not to be responsible for it, that has recently come under our observation, is yesterday's attempt of the paper in whose columns we "shall be nameless evermore," to explain away its deliberate and fraudulent alteration of the list of awards to suit its own purposes.

We have just received the Premium List and Regulations of the Washington County Fair Association, to be held at Breunham, beginning on Tuesday, the 24th inst., and to continue five days. The excellent arrangements, and the able managers, promise a success unsurpassed at any of three previous Fairs of the Association.

Caution to the Public.

DON'T BE DECEIVED! Buy the Store that baked the best bread at the Fair and that is the COTTON PLANT. For sale by LEROUX & COGROVE, 13-10-71d&f.

WE DID ourselves the pleasure yesterday, of examining the collection of Texas geological specimens in the possession of Dr. HANSEN, embracing a large variety of valuable minerals, and interesting petrifications and fossils. The Doctor has devoted much of his time to the delightful scientific pursuit of geology, as an amateur, and the fine specimens he has secured among our native hills, suggest a fine field for an association of scientific gentlemen which could and ought to be formed in our city.

Our New Brewery.

THE BEER, THE BEER, THE BEAUTIFUL BEER!

"Johann brew'd a peck 'o malt." The new brewery of Mr. JOHN HUTZLER is completed, and in operation. The proprietor, who is a live man, and understands the first principles of success, generously sent a keg of his first beer to our office, on yesterday afternoon, tendering a merry cheer to the tripod and crew, dirt and all. And we all did "taste" the barley brew. The beer we received was from the young brewer's vat, notwithstanding, it compared favorably with, if indeed it does not surpass, any domestic or imported Beer to be found in San Antonio.

This is good beer, is this good Beer, for the thirsty souls, and stomachs; and the pockets of those who have been hedged in by a long monopoly.

John Hutzler has become a public benefactor; an emancipator; a benefactor because of the prospects he offers of quenching the "thirst below" without involving the sin of a whole day's wages; an emancipator, because he has broken down the barrier of monopoly by his timely competition.

Good John, we drink thee, in deep potations of thy goodly Beck (Beer.)

High winds night before last.

The sun for parties is approaching.

The clouds look as if they were going to thunder.

It is feared that a large number of children, inmates of the Catholic Orphan Society on State street, were burned in the Chicago fire, as many of them are missing. On Chicago avenue a father rushed up stairs to carry off his children, when he was overtaken by the flames and perished with them. The mother was afterwards seen on the street, a raving maniac. In the same neighborhood a family of five persons perished. The list of such fatalities is very large.

The State Police of Massachusetts estimate that probably fifteen to twenty million of five-cent pieces are in circulation, 1,500 of these being located in Boston. Every lawless dealer is to be notified top at once.

THE

"HOWE" Sewing Machines

Received the Cross of the Legion of Honor and Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition, in 1867,

And the Gold Medal at Amsterdam Exhibition, in 1869,

And have invariably obtained the Highest Honor at all the great exhibitions; also, received, successively, the Highest Premiums at our Texas State Fairs, in 1870 AND 1871.

The "HOWE"

is the most durable, simplest, most complete in all its parts, uses the shortest and smallest needle, for the same sized thread, than any other Machine, which is far less liable to break; it is as perfect in all respects that with ordinary care, it will last a life time without repair.

THEREFORE SELECT

"Elias Howe's"

NEWLY IMPROVED

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE

which for simplicity and superiority of mechanism, beauty and excellence of stitch, economy of thread, strength of seam and variety of work is unsurpassed by any other Machine.

It will sew, quilt, gather, hem, full, cord, bound, and perform every species of sewing plain and ornamental, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, called the "Howe" Lock Stitch, which is formed by two threads, one upon each side of the material, sewed and locked together in the center, forming an elastic seam, and presenting the same appearance on both sides.

A stitch of this character commands itself as especially appropriate for sewing woven material, and if elastic thread be used the seam will prove as strong and elastic as the fabric itself.

At the present time no less than 600 Machines are turned out daily, and each and every one is guaranteed perfect, and made of the best material.

We have constantly on hand a full assortment of these celebrated Machines. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

THE CAUSE AND CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

The primary cause of Consumption is derangement of the Alimentary organs. This derangement produces deficient nutrition and assimilation. By assimilation I mean that process by which the nutriment of the food is converted into blood, and thence into the solids of the body. Persons with digestion thus impaired, having the slightest predisposition to pulmonary disease, or if they take cold, will be very liable to have Consumption of the Lungs in some of its forms; and I hold that it will be impossible to cure any case of Consumption without first restoring a good digestion and healthy assimilation. The very first thing to be done is to cleanse the stomach and bowels from all diseased mucus and slime, which is clogging their functions, and then rise up and restore the liver to a healthy action. For this purpose the correct and best remedy is Schenck's Mandrake Pills. These Pills clean the stomach and bowels of all the dead and staidly slime that is causing disease and decay in the whole system. They will clear out the liver of all diseased mucus and unhealthy action, by which natural and healthy bile is secreted.

The stomach, bowels, and liver are thus cleansed by the use of Schenck's Mandrake Pills; but there remains in the stomach an excess of acid, the organ is torpid and the appetite poor. In the bowels the lactes are weak, and requiring strength and support. It is in a condition like this that Schenck's Sea-weed Tonic proves to be the most valuable remedy ever discovered. It is alkaline, and its use will neutralize all excess of acid, making the stomach sweet and fresh; it will give permanent tone to this important organ, and create a good, hearty appetite, and prepare the system for the first process of a good digestion, and ultimately make good, healthy living blood. After this preparatory treatment, what remains to cure most cases of Consumption is the free and preserving use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup. The Pulmonic Syrup nourishes the system, purifies the blood, and is readily absorbed into the circulation, and thence distributed to the diseased lungs. There it ripens all morbid matters, whether in the form of abscesses or tubercles, and then assists Nature to expel all the diseased matter, in the form of free expectoration, when coughs and spittings. It is then, by the great healing and purifying properties of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, that all ulcers and cavities are healed up sound, and my patient is cured.

The essential thing to be done in curing Consumption is to get up a good appetite and a good digestion, so that the body will grow in fresh and get strong. If a person has diseased lungs, a cavity or abscess there, the cavity cannot heal, the matter cannot ripen, as long as the system is below par. What is necessary to cure a new order of things—a good appetite, a good nutrition, the body to grow in flesh and get fat; then Nature is helped, the matter will ripen and be thrown off in large quantities, and the person regain health and strength. This is the true and only plan to cure Consumption, and if a person is very bad, if the lungs are not entirely destroyed, or even if one lung is entirely gone, if there is any vitality left in the other to heal up, there is hope.

I have seen many persons cured with only one sound lung, live and enjoy life to a good old age. This is what Schenck's Medicines will do to cure Consumption. They will clean out the stomach, sweeten and strengthen it, get up a good digestion and give Nature the assistance she needs to clear the system of all the disease that is in the lungs, whatever the form may be. It is important that while using Schenck's Medicines, care should be exercised not to take cold; keep in-doors in cold and damp weather; avoid night air, and take outdoor exercise only in a genial and warm sunshine.

I wish it distinctly understood that when I recommend a patient to be careful in regard to taking cold, while using my Medicines, I do so for a special reason. A man who has but partially recovered from the effects of a bad cold is far more liable to a relapse than one who has been entirely cured; and it is precisely the same in regard to Consumption. So long as the lungs are not perfectly healed, just so long is there imminent danger of a full return of the disease. Hence it is that I so strenuously caution pulmonary patients against exposing themselves to an atmosphere that is not genial and pleasant. Confirmed Consumptives' lungs are a mass of sores, which the least change of atmosphere will inflame. The grand secret of my success with my Medicines consists in my ability to subdue inflammation instead of provoking it, so many of the family do. An inflamed lung cannot, with safety to the patient, be exposed to the biting blasts of Winter or the chilling winds of Spring or Autumn. It should be carefully shielded from all irritating influences. The utmost caution should be observed in this particular, as without it a cure under almost any circumstances is an impossibility.

The person should be kept on a wholesome and nutritious diet, and all the Medicines continued until the body has returned to its natural quantity of flesh and strength.

I was myself cured by this treatment of the worst kind of Consumption, and have lived to get fat and hearty these many years, with one lung mostly gone. I have cured thousands since, and very many have been cured by this treatment whom I have seen.

About the first of October I expect to take possession of my new building, at the Northeast Corner of Sixth and Arch Streets, where I shall be pleased to give advice to all who may require it.

Full directions accompany all my Remedies, so that a person in any part of the world can be readily cured by a strict observance of the same.
