A Patent Cat-Exterminator. W. A. BENNETT

Leonard, of the Cleveland Leader has invented a sheet-iron cat, with cylindrical attachment and steel claws and teeth. It is worked by clockwork. A bellows inside swells up the tail at will to a belligerent size, and, by a tremolo attachment, causes, at the same time, the patent cat to emit all noises of which the living bird is capable. When you want fun, you wind up your cat and plane him on the roof. Ev-ery cat within half a mile hears him, girds on his armor, and sallies forth. Frequently fifty or one hunforth. Frequently fifty or one hun-dred attack him at once. No sooner does the patent can be too Each was beautiful weight of an assailant than his teeth and claws work with light teeth and claws work with light Galveston, er does the patent oat feel the ning rapidity. For many years Stewart has closely observed and studiously reflected upon earththeir grand inventions for conquerence and their causes. The respective and their causes. and studiously reflected upon earthquakes and their causes. The result of his reading, study and observation is an opinion that they are caused by the meeting of electric currents which move, one upon the earth's surface, the other in the region of clouds, and that they are brought together by those natural conductors, vapor and rain clouds—the meeting of the two currents upon the surface of the earth causes.
