the-attitude of his chiet, the Governor, toward Juarez, then contending against the Franco-Austrian occupation, he threw up his office and came over to Texas. Here, if the memorial is to be believed, he was asized by Hon. Herron, the American commander at Brownsville, and delivered to the renegate Cortina at Matamuorea, who had him shot without ecremony the following day. For this act of Gen. Herron, which the memorial takes accasion to deal with in the loftiest strains of studied censure and reprobation, a claim of precuniary reparation is presented against the United States. The following comprises the bill of items:

of this ridiculously grave or gravely ridiculous document.

But the climax of the argument is reached in the explanation of the second and third items of the ne count. It appears from this that even real estate partakes of the second instability of desirant institutions, from governments to pilghted synchronized and refuse income and the capital injustice of shooting a man without trial or cames therefor is followed by the confiscation of his property as a justification of the preceding injury to his person. Yet this is not the Worst, for the administrator in charge of the remnants of the property recovered after Jasser had disposed of Maximilian, and, presumably, the Governor from whose treachery the unhappy "Licenciado" had fled to Texas, went into bank ruptcy, and the last of the inheritance of the Rejon family disappears as much small wit as colid wisdom has been called out by the discussion of our consequental chains because the

Tim Casuro Theater was crewded on Friday night to witness the performance of the "Child of the Regiment," and every body went away pleased. "Scheller" is a very superior extress, and whatever she does is well done. She nots well, sings well, and we were ratonished at her perfect command and correct pronunciation of the Regiles language. Miss M. did particularly well both in manuer and voice. One would be not be played again—and we hope it will, with a little differant cast. We think Mr. B'w should take the part of the Duke, and Mr. H's that of Guillott, and the play should be more fully acted. A repetition of the play when a little more confidence on the part of the lower confidence on the part of the play when a little more confidence on the part of the play when a little more confidence on the part of the play when a little more confidence on the part of the lower confidence on t acted. A repetition of the play when a little more confidence on the part of the gentlemen amateurs would be felt, might be given with marked success. We knope they will all persovere, and feel confident over the whole Union, extending their business facilities to every part of the country, and doing their business facilities to every best of the country, and doing their business facilities to every part of the country, and doing their business facilities to every part of the country, and doing their business facilities to every part of the country, and doing their business facilities to every part of the country, and doing their business facilities to every part of the country.

As the principal of the public schools of this county, Mr. J. Wagner, has gone north to purchase a press and type, &c., with which to continue, as we understand, the publication of the remarkable tract called "The Prospectus," otherwise called "The School for Scandal" of course he will perform no other part of the duties of his position except to draw this county, Mr. J. Wagner, has gone morth to purchase a press and type, &c., with which to continue, as we understand, the publication of the remarkable tract the duties of his position except to draw his pay; this will no doubt be done with promptitude and firmness—but this only. We therefore call upon Mr. Zeeller to look into the matter, and if Mr. Hiering be und correct, to apply a summary remedy SAN ANTONIO, May 4th, 1872.
