London Journals.

The following is a list of the leading London journals, giving the length of time the same have been established, the extent of their circulation, and other interesting facts concerning the same.

The Morning Post is the oldest of the London journals. It was established in 1772, and is at present within a few months of celebrating its centennial.

The Times was started in 1785, under the name of the Daily Universal Register, but changed its title to the Times in 1788.

The Telegraph, the paper having the "largest daily circulation in the world," was started in 1855 as a single sheet, price 2d.

The Echo, the only half-penny paper in London, was commenced in 1868, and has achieved a great success.

The following I find in a Sandwich Island paper which some friend has sent me from that tranquil far off retreat.

"How touching is this tribute of the late Hon. T. H. Benton to his mother's influence."

"I never saw anything so curious. It is almost an exact epitome of my own moral career."

The Morning Advertiser dates from 1794. Its origin, and in fact the paper itself, is unique in the history of journalism.

The Globe is a small eight-page evening paper. It was started in 1802, by some book-seller who had quarreled with the Morning Post.

The Standard, the great organ of the Tories, is both morning and evening paper. It was started in 1827, passed through several reverses.

The Daily News was commenced in 1846, and started out with the most brilliant prospect of success.

Greeley and the Tammany Ring

Horace has become perfectly willing to be all things to all men, if thereby he can reach the White House. A late member of the New York Commercial Advertiser publishes the following suggestive paragraph:

"August Belmont, Horace Greeley, Jas. S. Thayer and Benjamin Wood breakfasted together at the New York Hotel yesterday morning at 10. Has Tammany sold out to Greeley, or has Greeley sold out to Tammany? Which?"

In order to purchase free trade votes Greeley threw over board his real "for protection to American industry," and now he is hobnobbing with the Tammany ring as has been charged home to him and not denied by himself or the Tribune. Is a man who will thus easily sacrifice principle for peace a suitable individual to select to be the Chief Magistrate of the nation?

Greeley on Grant's Brown.

The "liberal" (!) movement of which Greeley is now the standard-bearer had its origin in Missouri by Brown and Schurz. In 1870 Mr. Greeley characterized this movement as "a conspiracy to destroy the American party," and uses the following language in reference to its leaders:

"Governor McClurg of Missouri was among those marked out for prostration by this conspiracy. Accordingly, we were nowise surprised when a minority of the late Republican Convention at Jefferson City, finding that they could not defeat Gov. McClurg's renomination, bolted, resolved themselves into a host the body, and nominated B. Gratz Brown for Governor, with a full ticket to match. Right well these bolters knew that they could poll but a small portion of the Republican vote; but the Democrats had decided by prospect to nominate a ticket, and will poll their full vote for the bolter ticket, and this, it is held, will elect it."

Now Horace is not only assisting with those men, but has become their leader in the movement he so emphatically condemned a short time ago!

Greeley on Grant's Administration.

In a speech before a Republican Club in New York city, January 5th, 1871, Mr. Greeley used the following language in reference to GEN. GRANT, and his Administration:

"As to the Administration of GEN. GRANT, I recognize no one as a Republican who is not grateful for its judicious, energetic, and successful efforts to preserve and ratify the Fifteenth Amendment, that key stone of our political arch, whereby the fruits of our great triumph over rebellion and slavery are secured and perpetuated. While asserting the right of every Republican to make the next President until made, I venture to say that GEN. GRANT will be unhesitatingly pronounced original. After enumerating his labors and sacrifices in behalf of anti-slavery, Mr. Greeley says, 'the colored vote—no doubt

Here Mr. Greeley deliberately nominated GEN. GRANT for a second term. Now the Tribune nominates Horace Greeley for President, and declares that 'GEN. GRANT'S re-election would be a national calamity.' Who has changed, GRANT or Greeley?

Greeley on Grant, Republicans and Democrats.

In 1871 Mr. Greeley said in the Tribune:

"We like GEN. GRANT; but 'we care far more for Republican ascendancy than for any man's personal fortunes. It is in our view of great importance that the opposition shall be kept out of power.' For Democratic national triumph means a restoration to power of those who deserted their seats in Congress and their places under the last Democratic President to plunge the country into the Red Sea of Secession and Rebellion. Though you paint an inch thick, to this complexion you must come at last. The brain, the heart, the soul, of the present Democratic party is the rebel element at the South with its Northern allies and sympathizers. It is rebel at the core to-day.

"It would halt the election of a Democratic President in 1872 as a virtual reversal of the Appomattox surrender. It would come into power with the hate, the wrath, the mortification, of ten bitter years, to impel and guide its steps. It would halt the 'findings of national bankruptcy with unalloyed gladness and unconcealed exultation. Whatever chastisement may be deserved by our national sins, we must hope that this disgraceful humiliation will be spared us."

Compare these declarations with those now emanating from the same source, and we can form some idea of the utter dishonesty of the Chappaquack philosopher, who now aspires to the highest position in the nation by a "Democratic triumph," but the people prefer that "this disgrace and humiliation will be spared us."

Notes from Washington.

Dr. Greeley's Acceptance of the Baltimore Nomination—The 'Five Loaves and Two Fishes'—A Bid for the Colored Vote—'Anything to Beat Grant.'

WASHINGTON, D. C., 30th July, 1872.

The letter of Dr. Greeley accepting the nomination of the Baltimore Convention is evidently a careful bid for the votes of the unwary. He well knew that the placemen and sordereads were irreversibly pledged to his support, and felt that the necessity of the case demanded something, he hardly knew what, to hoodwink the masses, and allure them to his support. Hence, upon "mature deliberation" he decided to make the pious appeal now spread before the people for their consideration. He commences by asserting that his nomination was not the result of the uprising of the masses at the setting aside of the politicians, as some of his benchmen would fain have us believe, but simply because politicians had discovered "that a concentration of forces upon any new man had proved impracticable." Honest men cannot fail to see that according to his own showing, his nomination is the child of corruption, and the result of the bargaining of corrupt politicians, and would have been so pronounced by Mr. Greeley himself, were some other party the candidate.

He then expresses his gratification at being so spontaneously selected to lead the mongrel host, and says, "I find nothing in the circumstances calculated to influence vanity or mortal self-conceit. Nor do the people. Yet the vain old man might have shown some little gratitude, and not been quite so blint. He finds some consolation, however, in the adoption of the Christian platform by the Baltimore Convention, and proceeds to announce the astounding fact, when viewed in the light of his previous assertion, that "that body was constrained to take this step by its party necessity, real or supposed."

"What then, was the cause of its adoption? Clearly the 'five loaves and two fishes,' and 'anything to beat Grant.' The people had been taught, years ago, by Dr. Greeley, that anything emanating from or approved by the Democracy, was essentially vile, and therefore dangerous to the property of the country; that in every respect it was the opposite of the Republican party; its principles, adopted and supported by the lowest dregs of society, was degrading to our manhood, and should be driven from the face of the earth. Now he rejoices in a mixture which proclaims a 'trustworthy assurance that a new and more auspicious era is drawing upon our long distracted country.' A wonderful preparation, truly, that is to surpass the pure and ennobling principles of the Republican party, in efficacy, and with Mr. Greeley as its apostle and exemplar, is to purify and elevate the politics of the country.

It has always been supposed that a fountain could not give forth waters both bitter and sweet at one and the same time, but here we have in this mongrel platform, the principles of "which are at once incontestably republican, and emphatically democratic" the hitherto supposed laws of nature reversed, a theory that could not have emanated from any other source than the erratic brain of the philosopher of Chappaquack, and which the world will unhesitatingly pronounce original. After enumerating his labors and sacrifices in behalf of anti-slavery, Mr. Greeley says, 'the colored vote—no doubt the appalling discovery that "millions are denied the right to rule and to be represented by the men of their own unfeeling choice," which, if it means anything at all, it is that the majority of the people are not permitted to deliver into the hands of enemies, the rights and privileges so basely betrayed by his friends and admirers, and is a bid for every rebel, defaulter and political swindler in the land. What a terrible oppression it is to Tammany that the keys of the United States Treasury vaults are not entrusted to its keeping! How oppressive to rebels that they are not permitted to suppress the rights of the colored man, and in their classic phrase, "kill niggers," carpet-baggers and scoundwags at will; and that they are not permitted to defile the halls of legislation with the presence of traitors and perjurers. No wonder the heart of the amiable philosopher is wrung with anguish at the thought, for are they not his chosen companions and supporters, and do they not propose to elevate him to the Presidency? He then indulges in a fling at New England, and why? Because her people have not forgotten the base attack of the democracy upon her brave sons in the streets of Baltimore, in 1861, as, in obedience to the call of the country, they rushed to the defense of the Capitol against the attacks of his chosen friends, and during the terrible struggle which followed, were ever true, nobly keeping step to the music of the Union, while he was hoarsely howling in the ears of the army and the authorities at Washington, "Let the wayward sister depart in peace."

After again thanking them for the honor (!) bestowed upon him by the Democracy in choosing him for their standard bearer, he urges the grand array to move on and achieve for our country her "glorious and beneficent destiny," which, with the recent doing of his faithless crew in New York city, in the mind's eye has a slight look of irony.

These remarks, made with all candor, are intended to call the attention of the readers of the Express, and of all classes generally, who prefer rather to "fill up" than to "bridge over" the bloody chasm caused by the rebellion, to the salient points of this remarkable document, and trust they will ponder it well before they adopt its author as the man of their counsel and guide.

Republicans arouse, and at your posts, for there is danger ahead. Traitors are endeavoring to seize the helm of the ship of State, and will, if we are not vigilant, wreck us on the inhospitable coast of disunion and bankruptcy. O. S. T.

How the Chappaquack Proposes to Exterminate the Savages.

During the discussion of political topics at Chappaquack on Saturday last the question of the Indian policy then came up, and Mr. Ashley, who sat at Mr. Greeley's elbow, stated his experience while Governor of Montana.

"You see," he remarked, "when Grant first began to turn his attention toward the subjection of the Indians in the West, at the close of the rebellion, he was impetioned by the Methodist denomination to send out a Methodist missionary to convert as many of the red devils as possible. President Grant acquiesced, and in a short time the Methodist preacher began his ministrations. He had been in business there but a short time before the Presbyterians got wind of it, and also wanted to send a missionary. Grant gave them a chance, and the redskins were soon involved in the tangles consequent upon a mixture of religious opinions. Then another sect sent out a missionary, and another, until there was but one denomination left out in the cold, and that was the Jewish sect. Grant finally yielded to the solicitation of the latter, and a Jewish rabbi took the train for the far West. So soon as he arrived, he expressed a wish to have some soldiers detailed for special duty, and without thought of ill, the request was granted. The rabbi went out on the plains, and sent the soldiers to catch some Indians and bring them to him. They did so, and so determined what the rabbi to convert the Indians, which are popularly supposed to be the lost tribes of Israel, that he circumcised them, with the assistance of the soldiers, as fast as they were brought in."

Here Mr. Greeley, with his eyes opened wide in amazement, interrupted, "circumcise them! Why, I should think they could stand it. What did they do?" "Stand it," said Mr. Ashley. "Why, they couldn't help themselves, and as fast as they were circumcised they just got their traps together and 'leaved' toward Canada."

"Well, I never!" said Horace; "I tell you what, Ashley! When I get to be President, I'll send a lot of those rabbin out there and let them circumcise every redskin they can lay their hands upon. Do you suppose they would 'leaved' toward Canada?"

"Of course they would," said Ashley, a broad smile illuminating his features; "it would be the very best kind of an Indian policy. What policy have you had in mind before?"

Horace replied that it was a question that had engaged his close attention, and he had arrived at no definite conclusion before the "circumcision" question came up; but he had thought of boarding them at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and giving them wine and tobacco ad libitum.

Mr. Ashley replied that there would be no reason why they could not force them to submit to the Jewish rite as well as board them at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Horace was immensely gratified, and replied that he would give his full and faithful policy to that end, and give it his personal supervision, as a humanitarian.

Josh Billings, in his directions "How to pick out a good horse," says, "Good horses are scarce, and good men, that deal in any kind of horses, are scarce. An honest man is the noblest work of God." This famous saying was written, in great anguish of heart, by the late Alexander Pope, just after buying a poor beastly horse.

Gen. Grant as a Woodchopper.

As an offset to the woodchopping stories related to the Farmer of Chappaquack, the St. Louis Democrat tells the following of President Grant:

"As a woodchopper, he surpassed the most daring feats of the Sage of Chappaquack. It is true, he never used a ladder to cut the top of a tree off first and the butt last, nor used "giant powder" in blowing up the stumps, but chopped down trees in the old fashion, and did it to make money, not to make himself President. In front of the log house alluded to is a "clearing" of several acres, on which stand the stumps left after despoiling. The trees were oak, and a second growth now partially conceals the stumps. Old woodchoppers profess to be able to tell a man's character by examining the stump of a tree he has felled—pretty much as experts pretend to diagnose a man's traits by his handwriting. If there is anything in this, we should say that the President's stumps indicate a man of indomitable will, a hard hitter, and a square feller of trees. He has left no straggling sapling, no knot-tree oaks, no crooked or twisted trees to tell of carelessness or laziness, but the clearing shows that he went to work and chopped down all before him, making a square cut in the forest. For six weeks, without the loss of a single day, he cut wood on his farm, in all kinds of weather, and piled it up to be seasoned. He then hauled it to the city in a two horse team of his own, and sold it at five dollars a load. In this way he cleared portions of his farm and supported his family.

An exchange says the last joke on Adam and Eve is—Adam said to Eve, "I'll kiss you," and Eve responded with reckless sweetness, "I don't care a-dam if you do." The old man swore he'd kiss her and she swore she didn't care if he did! What levity!

From Macmillan's Magazine. TO GENIATA. 'Tis your birthday; you ask for a rhyme; My spirit should stand in your porch, Should sing of your youth in its prime, Should fight at the theme here a torch.

Recalling one exquisite strain To which oft we were wont to recour, I cry, as I float through my brain, Ah, could I so sing unto her!

The best bard of them all only loved; The sweetest song ever was sung Only echoed the music that moved In his breast ere it rose to his tongue.

But the tide of my heart will not rise To my lips in words worthy of you; And it still it steals to my eyes, That emotion is valueless too.

Unless you should twine for my head The myrtle far sweeter than bay, And should take a true feeling instead Of the song I would send you to-day.

Bright fountains of music unaltered, When the nightingale sings in the wood; Yet the bird sitting mute on the branch May thrill with as tender a mood.

My heart through my lips cannot break; Must it break for that crime at its core; May I love you, sweet love! for love's sake! Will you love me, sweet love! for no more!

"THE SPARROWS' CITY." GEORGE COOPER IN "THE ALPINE." A tiny city in the great open heart Wakes while the other sleeps; Leaves, like fairy portals, its apart,
And from its bosomy deeps
The sparrow peeps.
"Brown little birds,
Up! 'tis the day!
Be every wing
Silvered with spray!
Fly from your homes,
Downy and neat,
Baby-birds all,
Tweet! tweet!
Out on our raft—
Sailors at sea!
Where are the birds Happy as we!
Down and away!
Tullets complete!
All in a row,
Tweet! tweet!

So, day by day, the fair bird-city wakes It glows the smoldering West, It seems, while round the whirling tumult breaks
A bright thought 'mid the unrest
Of some sad dream!
A PRAYER
For the apit confused
With minglings and with sorrow Let me, my Saviour, borrow The light of truth from thee.
O lift from me the burden That hangs it down before thee.
With sighs and with weeping I commend myself to thee;
My faded life, thou knowest, Little by little is wasted.
Like wax before the fire,
Like snow-wreaths in the sun, Add for the soul that panteth For its refuge in thy bosom, Break, then, the ties, my Saviour, That hinder it from thee.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.
We call the attention of consumers of leaf tobacco to the new advertisement of H. Grmet, who offers to sell the article, withstanding the high tax, at the very low price of 40 cents per pound.
Attention is called to the house and lot for sale on Flores street, a very desirable place. See advertisement.
The many friends of Captain Sawyer will be pained to hear that he died last night, at 7 o'clock, at a farm in the neighborhood of this city.
The Liberal Republican Convention for the 29th District, was in session yesterday, at the Turner Hall, in this city; but up to the time of going to press, we could not learn anything from it, as they were in secretion.

CALEDONIA is a State owing a great deal of good sense and good taste. Its latest evidence of these qualities in the appointment of a professional arboriculturist, at a salary of $15,000 a year, whose sole duty is to attend to the planting of forest trees all over the State. No better improvement than this could be conceived and executed, and it gives a hope that the people of Western Texas may be aroused to the necessity of a similar effort. It ought to be a penal law that every owner of soil should plant at least one tree for every year. We pride ourselves upon forestry—there is nothing in the political world of equal importance to that which we propose for the physical property of this country.

Messrs. Frost & Bro., invite the special attention of the ladies to a select stock of fancy notions, just received, comprised of Tulle Ribbons, Silk Velvet Ribbons, all colors and numbers. Crochet, Star and Wreath Braids of all sizes. White Cambrie Braids. Black Alpaca Braids, Linen Tapes, Tape Trimmings, Chinese, Imperial, White Cambrie, and other embroidery Trimmings, &c., &c. Elastic Silk Gimp, Sewing Silk, all colors. Lace, White Tulle, in fact nearly everything in this line. Also a well selected stock of Perfumery, such as Cologne, Extracts, and Pomades, and for the toilet, Cascarilla, Tissue's Toilet Paste, Niveola, Bay Rum. A fine stock of Toilet Soaps, fancy Perfumery Boxes, &c. The articles cannot be enumerated. Come and see them, and you will be satisfied. July 23rd.

The "Contemporary Review" notes a decline in the ability of the clergy, and attributes the thinness of modern sermons to the preponderance of women in the church congregations. The shepherd must not place the food so high that the flock can't reach it, and the preacher must come down to the comprehension of his hearers. This is a very manly attack on the sisters.
They have sense enough to answer for without being responsible for all the wishy-washy sermons preached by men who, according to Esward's Fifth, would have done excellent service at the plow, but have made the mistake of running their heads against the pulpit.

Some wag tells a story to the effect that two young men sailing recently in Delaware Bay were overtaken by a squall.
They had been inside of Nazareth Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, and knew something of how religious services were conducted. As it appeared that their little boat was near capsizing, "Bill," said one to the other, "this is serious business; can you pray?" "No, I can't; I've heard Joe do it, and I've listened to Post, but I can't sing myself." "Well, you can sing a hymn, can't you? Do something." "No, I can't sing here. How can I sing when this boat may at any moment drown us both?"
"Well, we must do something religious.
If you can't pray and can't sing, let's make up a collection." To this Bill consented.
In his companion's hat he deposited threepenny pennies, a corker, and a broken bladed knife. They must have reached shore in safety, for otherwise the true story could never have been told.

A lad arrested for theft, when taken before the magistrate and asked what his occupation was, frankly answered, "Stealing." "Your captor astonishes me," said the judge. "I thought it would," replied the lad, "seeing how many big 'uns there are in the business and is ashamed to own it."

CIRCULAR.
ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE, AUSTIN, TEXAS, August 1, 1872.
To: Hon. District Attorneys, etc.
SIR: The law provides that "the County Treasurer shall receive and pay moneys in his hands such commission, not exceeding five per centum upon the amount received and disbursed by him, as the county court in their discretion may allow." (O. & W. Dig., art. 279, or Paschal's Dig., 276, art. 1103.) The legal import of the foregoing article is obvious. It signifies:

1. That until the rate of commission is fixed by an order entered of record of the county court—and it cannot exceed the per centage limited—the County Treasurer is not entitled to any compensation whatever.
2. That the county court cannot allow a commission on receipts and another on disbursements: that it can allow a commission not to exceed five per centum on only such money as is both received and disbursed.
3. That it is competent for the county court to allow a designated sum, not exceeding the rate of commission limited by law, and to provide that nothing shall be paid for receiving and disbursing any amount over that sum. For example, a county court may order that the county treasurer shall receive for his services five hundred dollars per annum, provided that the amount received and disbursed by him is such that five per centum thereon would be more than five hundred dollars—and not otherwise.

Information has been received at this office that in certain counties the county courts have failed to enter an order upon their records giving effect to the article cited, and also that County Treasurers have, in some instances, contrary to law, retained double the highest commission that might have been allowed them on receipts and disbursements combined, by their county courts.

You are accordingly instructed to see to it that the provisions of the article referred to are carried into effect by indictment, or by civil suit, or both.
You will also please to report to this office at an early day the rate of commission allowed the County Treasurer in each of the several counties of your district. In case any County Treasurer has retained more than five per centum commission on receipts and disbursements combined, even if allowed by an order of the county court, you will promptly cause him to refund the excess above what may be legally allowed him.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,
WILLIAM ALEXANDER,
Attorney General.

A Good Joke on Gov. Hoffman.
Eli Perkins in New York Commercial Advertiser.

Mr. B. F. Beekman, the banker, the business and railroad millionaire, and the great Christian who has raised $300,000 to buy Morrissey's club house last summer for the Young Men's Christian Association, had a talk with the Governor yesterday.
Mr. Beekman said he had voted the Democratic ticket, and that he had followed the party over pretty rough roads, but he didn't see how he could vote for such a shuffling old woman as Greeley. "Why, Governor," said Mr. Beekman, "the old fool don't know enough to attend to his own business; he is eternally letting some devilish fool swindle him; and with such a big, overgrown child at the head, why, business men wouldn't feel safer; he wants to do some devilish stupid thing every day."
"But," interrupted the Governor,
"I think Mr. Greeley is a pretty good judge of men. I think he can pick out an honest man or a knave as quick as any one. I—" "Why, there is just where he is always the biggest fool," continued Mr. Beekman.

"Never mind," said the Governor,
"I would take his opinion on a man to be true quicker than I would any man's in the country."
"You would," asked Mr. Beekman, feeling in a safe pocket.
"Yes I would," said the Governor firmly.
"Well here is a little slip where he calls you a mountebank and a corrupt, dishonest, and swindling Democratic villain," said Mr. Beekman, as he handed an old Tribune editorial to the Governor.
The Governor read it over twice, then looked as if he was trying to see straight through Mr. Beekman, a row of carriages, and a two foot brick partition—then he slammed down his hat and went up stairs.

They say the Governor has spent every moment in his room since, whistling the following to the tune of a Mable waltz:
Some of "H. G.'s" backers—deny it who will—Stood gazed at the dead line of Andersonville.
They go for the man by whom Davis was killed—
Instead of the man by whom Davis was whaled.

This is the way Tilton talks about his sister, Susan B. Anthony: "She sighted, dove-like, in the midst of the Cincinnati convention, and found no resting place for her pretty feet in that surging flood. She came down upon Baltimore, like an eagle descending from her mountain eyrie to snatch a kid from the flock, but was scared away without so much as one little lamb to flesh her beak upon. At Philadelphia, however, it was otherwise; there she and her sisters found recognition, and upon Philadelphia she drops her depositions, and over its deaths she waves her wings."

It is a mark of the unaccomplished man, that he invariably locks his stable door when the horse is stolen. This sort of wisdom never thinks about bodily health until it is gone. But just as much as any disease has become seated, the power of the system to resist and throw it off is weakened; hence time is all important.
For dyspepsia, all diseases of the liver, stomach, skin and bowels, and that being in vitiated blood, do not wait until the trouble is confirmed, but attack it by a timely use of Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VEGETABLE BITTERS.

The Justice of the Verdict rendered by the public years ago in favor of the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT must be apparent to all who have used that famous preparation or seen it used. Its healing influence is irresistible. The most obstinate forms of neuralgia or rheumatic diseases are totally cured by it, and that in an inconceivably short space of time. External injuries or sores, whether of man or beast, as well as all canine or human ma-ladies for which a liniment may be used, are speedily remedied by its use. Remember it is not merely a palliative but an eradicator of disease.

Mr. Grundy Says
That Scotland eclipses all other preparations for the teeth and gums. And what Mrs. Grundy says is reiterated most emphatically by ninety-nine one-hundredths of the beauty and fashion of the land.

The largest newspaper mail which goes to any one firm in this country, is received ness is at No. 41 Park Row.

What We Need when Debilitated.
Appetite and digestion languish at this season. At the very time when the body most needs renovation and support, the stomach, its commissariat department, is apt to prove delinquent. Under such circumstances the necessity for a wholesome stimulant, tonic and corrective is self-evident, and consequently the demand for that perfect combination of the three required elements, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is never more urgent than at midsummer.
It is true that a few medical bigots—fossils "left over" from the dark ages—recommend violent purgation and water gruel as a cure for indigestion and its accompanying ills; but they make few pros-elytes. The majority of the community are sane, and all sane people are aware that a pure and powerful vegetable tonic with alterative properties, like Hostetter's Bitters, is the only safe for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, nervousness and the "consequential damages" they inflict.
The human intellect, unless hopelessly diseased or egregiously humbugged, declines to subscribe to the weakened human stomach with fierce cathartics that, rushing like an avalanche through the intestines, threaten to take the inner membrane with them. To use a significant catch phrase the "kick-out-and-drag-out" methods of treatment are "played out." It is clearly understood that a medicated stimulant is essential to the renovation of an exhausted frame and that you cannot strengthen man or woman by doing them with purgating preparations. This is an era of common sense, and common sense approves of Hostetter's Bitters as the best article extant for invigorating, regulating and purifying the system and defending it against poison in the air we breathe, or the water we drink.

The Daily Express

News and Law.

We would call the attention of Postmaster and subscribers to the following synopsis of the newspaper laws:

1. A Postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning a paper does not answer the law) when a subscriber does not receive his paper on the day it is due.

2. Any person who takes a paper from the Postoffice, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

3. If a person orders his paper discontinued, he must pay all arrears of the publisher or continue to send it until the payment is made.

4. If the subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it as taken from the Postoffice. The law proceeds upon the ground that a man may pay for what he uses.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the Postoffice, or removing and leaving them uncollected, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

THE GREAT SOUTHERN BLOOD PURIFIER. Is a powerful Tonic, specially adapted for use in the Spring, when the system and circulation needs strength and vitality. It gives vigor to the weak, strength to the weak, stimulation to the debilitated, activity to the sluggish, rest to the weary, quiet to the nervous, and health to the infirm.

It is a South American plant, which, according to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris, possesses the most powerful tonic properties known to Materia Medica, and is well known in the native country as having wonderful curative qualities, and has been long used as a specific in all cases of Impurities of the Blood, Derangement of the Liver and Spleen, Tumors, Dropsy, Fevers of the Blood, Debility, Weakness of the Intestines, Chloric or Urinary Organs.

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurebaba is strengthening and nourishing like nutritious food, taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health. It purifies the blood, restores the nervous system directly on the Sensitive Organs, and by its powerful TONIC and restoring effects, restores healthy and vigorous action of the whole system.

New York Tribune

For 1872.

The consolidation of Italy, so long fragmentary and impotent, into one powerful State, with Rome as its capital; the humiliation of France through a series of crushing defeats, ending with the siege and capture of her second and gay metropolis; the expulsion of the Bourbons from the Spanish throne, and the substitution for them of a son of the most liberal and brave of monarchs; the virtual absorption of the Kingdoms of Saxony, Wurtemberg, Bavaria, with Baden, Hesse, the Hanse Towns, &c., under the leadership of Prussia, into the mightiest and most powerful empire of Germany; and the coming of Italy to reassert her pre-eminence in the councils of Europe, or to present her often postponed, but never relinquished designs on the great city founded by Constantine and the vast but despoiled and practically deserted empire of the East, combine to invest with profound interest the ever-changing phases of our tidings from the Old World. This Tribune, through translations correspondingly stationed at all points in Europe, is enabled to present in progress or imminent, aims to present a complete and instructive panorama of events on that continent, and to mirror the prolonged struggle between middle-aged mediocrity and the young vigor of one hand and Nineteenth-Century skepticism and socialism on the other. Recognizing a Divine Providence in all that proceeds and is destined, like our recent convulsion, to evolve from strife, disaster and seeming chaos, a fairer and happier future for the toiling masses of mankind.

In our own country, a war upon corruption and rascality in office has been inaugurated in our State, whereby the government of our State has been revolutionized through an illustrious triumph of Reform which surpasses the most glorious and patriotic in the history of our country. It is morally certain that the movement thus inaugurated cannot, in its progress, be circumscribed to any locality or any party, but that its purifying influence is destined to be felt in every part of the Union, rebuking venality, exposing robbery, wresting power from politicians by trade, and confining it to those who merit it by the most essential and vital needs of the people. The Tribune will devote its best energies, regardless of personal interests or party predilections, to the promotion of the choice of honest and faithful men to office in all our Departments, the most essential and vital needs of the people. The virtual surrender by the Democratic party of its hostility to Equal Rights regardless of Color has directed our current efforts to the support of the Union to guarantee to every citizen the full enjoyment of his liberty until he forfeit it by crime—such as the broad and firm foundations of our National edifice; and paid to the hand which shall seek to displace them. Though not yet twenty years old, the Republican party has completed the noble fabric of Emancipation, and may fairly invoke thereon the sternest judgment of Man and the benignant smile of God. Henceforth, the mission of our Republic is one of Peaceful Progress. To protect the weak and the humble from violence and oppression, to extend the boundaries and diffuse the blessings of Civilization—to stimulate ingenuity to the production of new inventions for economizing Labor and thus enlarging Production—to draw nearer to each other the producers of Food and of Fabrics, of Grains and of Metals, and thus enhance the gain of Industry by reducing the cost of transportation and exchanges between farmers and artisans—such is the inspiring task to which this Nation now addresses itself, and by which it would fain contribute to the progress, enlightenment, and happiness of our race. To this great and good work, THE TRIBUNE contributes its seasons, persistent labors.

Agriculture will continue to be more especially elucidated in this Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions, to which some of the ablest and most successful writers of the soil will steadily contribute. No farmer who sells $300 worth of produce per annum can afford to do without our Market Reports, or others equally lucid and comprehensive. If he should read nothing else but what relates to his own calling, and its rewards, we believe that no farmer who can read at all can afford to do without such a journal as THE TRIBUNE. And we assure to make it equally valuable to those engaged in other departments of Productive Labor. We spend more and more money on our columns each year, as our countrymen's generous patronage entitles us to; and we are resolved that our issues of former years shall be succeeded in varied excitement and interest by those of 1872. Friends in every State! help us to make our Journal better and better, and by sending in your subscriptions and increasing your Clubs for the year just before us.
