[GENERAL NATURE No. 115.]
AN ACT to revise, consolidate, and amend the statutes relating to the Post-Office Department.
Sec. 17. That telegrams between the several Departments of the government and their officers and agents, in their transmission over the lines of any company to which has been given the right of way, timber, or station lands from the public domain, shall have priority of transmission business, at such rates as the Postmaster General shall annually fix.
Sec. 18. That every order, entry, or memorandum whatever, on which any account is to be kept, shall be made in plain money paid, and every contract, paper, or obligation made by or with the Post-Office Department, shall have its true date affixed to it; and every paper relating to contracts or obligations filed in the Department shall have the date when it was filed indorsed upon it.
Sec. 19. That the Postmaster General shall furnish a copy of his annual estimates to the Secretary of the Treasury prior to the first of November in each year, which shall be reported to Congress by the latter in his regular printed estimates.
Sec. 20. That the Postmaster General shall transmit a copy of each postal convention concluded with foreign governments to the Secretary of State, who shall furnish a copy of the same to the Congressional Printer, for publication; and the printed proof-sheets of all such conventions shall be revised at the Post-Office Department.
Sec. 21. That there shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senat, an Auditor of the Treasury for the Post-Office Department.
Sec. 22. That the said Auditor shall receive all accounts arising in the Post-Office Department, or relative thereto, with the vouchers necessary to a correct adjustment thereof, and shall audit and settle the same, and certify the balances thereon to the Postmaster General. He shall keep and preserve all accounts and vouchers after settlement. He shall close the accounts of the Department quarterly, and transmit to the Secretary of the Treasury quarterly statements of his receipts and expenditures. He shall report to the Postmaster General, when required to do so, the manner and form of keeping and stating the accounts of the Department, and the official forms of paper to be used in connection with his receipts and expenditures. He shall report to the Postmaster General all delinquencies of postmasters in rendering different times and returns in paying over money-order funds and other receipts at their offices. He shall register, charge, and countersign all warrants upon the treasury for receipts and payments issued by the Postmaster General, when warranted by law. And he shall perform such other duties in relation to the financial concerns of the Department as may be assigned to him by the Secretary of the Treasury, and he shall be held accountable to the Postmaster General, such reports respecting the same as either of them may require.

Sec. 23. That the said Auditor shall superintend the collection of all debts due to the treasury, as at all present, and forfeitures imposed for any violation of the postal laws, and take all such other measures as may be authorized by law to enforce the payment of such debts and the collection of the penalties and forfeitures.
He shall also superintend the collection of all penalties and forfeitures arising under other statutes, where such penalties and forfeitures are the consequence of unlawful feeling the revenues or property of the Post-Office Department.
Sec. 24. That the said Auditor, or the major of any court of justice of the peace, or the judge of any court of record, may administer oaths or affirmations in relation to the examination and settlement of the accounts committed to the charge of said Auditor; and if any person shall knowingly swear or affirm falsely touching any expenditure on account of, or claim in favor of, or against, said Department, he shall, on conviction thereof, for every such offense, forfeit and pay not exceeding two thousand dollars, and be imprisoned at hard labor not exceeding five years, according to the aggravation of the offense.
Sec. 25. That if either the Postmaster General or the personal whose accounts have been settled shall be dissatisfied with the settlement of said Auditor, he may, within twenty months, appeal to the First Comptroller of the Treasury, whose decision shall be final and conclusive, and every person shall be held and considered as having sworn or affirmed truthfully, unless he shall be proved to the contrary.

two hundred dollars each; Of the messenger, eight hundred and forty dollars;
Of the assistant messenger, seven hundred dollars;
Of the laborers, six hundred dollars each.
Sec. 28. That whenever the office of any postmaster shall become vacant by reason of death, resignation, suspension, or by the expiration of the commission of a postmaster or his rejection by the Senate, or by the neglect or refusal of any person to take the charge of the post-office, or if he is appointed, it shall be the duty of the Postmaster General or the President (as the case may be) to supply such vacancy without delay, and it shall be the duty of the Postmaster General promptly to notify the Auditor of the change, and every postmaster and his sureties shall be responsible under their bond for the safekeeping of the public property of the postoffice, and the due performance of the duties thereof, until the expiration of the commission, or until a successor shall have been duly appointed and qualified, and shall have taken possession of the office.
Provided, nevertheless, that if any person where there shall be a delay of sixty days in supplying such vacancy, the sureties may terminate their responsibility by giving notice, in writing, to the Postmaster General, such termination to take effect ten days after the expiration of the commission, or until a successor shall have been duly appointed and qualified, and when such special agent shall have taken charge of such post-office, the liability of the sureties of the postmaster shall cease.
Sec. 29. That all orders and regulations of the Postmaster General which may originate a claim, or in any manner affect the amounts of the postal service, shall be certified to the Auditor for the Post-Office Department.
Sec. 30. That the Postmaster General may establish a blank agency for the Post-Office Department, to be located at Washington, District of Columbia.
Sec. 31. That the Postmaster General may employ two special agents for the Pacific coast, and such number of other special agents as the good of the service and the safety of the mail may require.
Sec. 32. That the salary of the special agents of the Post-Office Department shall be at the rate of not more than one thousand six hundred dollars per annum; and they shall be allowed for traveling and incidental expenses, while actually employed in the service, a sum not exceeding five dollars a day.
Sec. 33. That whenever a special agent is required to collect or disburse any public money, he shall, before entering upon such duty, give bond in such sum and form, and with such security, as the Postmaster General may approve.
Sec. 34. That the Postmaster General may employ, when the service requires it, the Assistant Postmaster General and assistants; and he may also employ therefor not exceeding the amount expended by them as necessary traveling expenses while so employed.
Sec. 35. That the Postmaster General may appoint two agents to superintend the railway postal service, who shall be paid out of the appropriation for the two thousand five hundred dollars per annum salary, with an allowance for trav-

The School Tax.
Some time since we spoke of the injunction granted by Judge Thorton against the collection of the school-tax in this city. We reserved a final opinion, but expressed the idea that the ground upon which the injunction was granted differed from other cases already adjudicated. This opinion was based upon an error in the dates of the different laws applicable to the question.

A further examination of the different laws which were not then before us, the dates being given from memory, discloses the error, and we take pleasure in the discovery, because the law is as we really desired it to be on the point discussed.

The fact is, the general law, with a special clause repealing the one named in the City Charter, was passed subsequent instead of prior to the passage of the Charter. It appears to have been the clear intention of the Legislature to place all of the schools of the State under the control of the State officers created by the general law. The Charter was approved Aug. 13th, 1870—the repealing act Oct. 13th, 1871—the general law April 24th, 1871. The act of October 13th, 1871 must have been entirely overlooked by the attorneys who drew the petition for the injunction, otherwise they could not have had the hardihood to advise the litigation which has been inaugurated upon a false statement of facts.

This false statement was sworn to by the present candidate of the Greeley-Radicals, Mr. Julius Berends—a man who has been identified during many years with the educational efforts made in this city, and the very last man who would have been suspected of entertaining hostility to any school system, however defective. But Mr. Berends, in his zeal to serve the party tricksters who have given him a nomination to the State Legislature, has not only sworn for himself, but for every tax-payer in the city. Who authorized him to constitute himself the guardian ad litem of all the delinquent tax-payers in this city? Where is his authority to appear in the courts of the country on behalf of all these infractors of the law? It will be very difficult for him to answer this question.

The political trick and public fraud attempted to be perpetrated in spite of law, and in spite of good morals, are "too thin" to endure the pressure of an outraged people. He who might have been properly looked to as a champion of the cause of education, lured by a party office which he cannot grasp and which can afford him no honors, allows himself to become the head and front of a conspiracy to break down our public schools, to deprive the poorer classes in our midst of the opportunity to educate their children.

He is a candidate of the Greeley-Radicals and sore heads for the Legislature, and the first issue he makes in the canvass is plain and unmistakable; it is, "save the people of this city in favor of not of public free schools!" On behalf of the readers of the EXPRESS, and of the supporters of GRANT and WILSON, we are willing to accept the issue. We do not believe that any considerable portion of our people is opposed to popular education. The men of capital and wealth will not lend their influence and money to the purpose of promoting ignorance and vice in lieu of education in the vain imagination that they will, by ridding themselves of a small tax, thereby make a permanent saving. Neither will the poor tamely surrender the rights they hold under a constitution they helped to frame and adopt. The men who are egging Mr. Berends on in this disreputable business will in future deny the party they are now acting behind the curtain, and Mr. Berends will not be able to cure himself of the effects of the hag-gard and oily poison he is now feeding upon even with internal doses of crab or external applications of rotten apple.

The Terre Haute Express tells a good story oposito of Schurz's last speech in that city:—
"The Greeley Democrats are still angry with Carl Schurz for telling them on Monday night that their party was dead. They felt some thing like the old toper who slept in a fence corner. A buzzard spied him, and thought that it had found something dead. The bird circled around slowly, coming nearer to the man with each circuit. Finally it alighted upon the fence over him, and curiously surveyed the body. Still uncertain, it raised its great wings and swooped down to the ground beside the man. Then it eyed him intently for some time, and feeling satisfied, struck the man's cheek a sharp blow with its beak, taking a small mouthful of meat. At this the man elevated his head supported it with his hand, his elbow on the ground, and looked the offal bird square in the face. 'See here, now,' said he, 'Aint you jest a little too smart?'"

CONKING ON GREELEY.—In his recent speech, Senator Conking said:—
"Would you, as business men, trust Horace Greeley to run a cipher mill and financier for it?"

"In case of war, how would all lean on him as Commander in Chief of the army and navy? In case of a financial crisis how steady he would be?"

"In case of a riot in New York, or outbreak in the South, how his name would strike terror into babes and men?"

"In case of a storm, next to going to sea in a wash tub, what would be so safe as the administration of such a man?"

Greeley goes gabbling through New England about the prospects of his own election, just as he prophesied the defeat of Pierce and the election of Scott in 1852. In a speech delivered at the Niagara Falls in that year he predicted that Scott would sweep the Northern States, and that Pierce would hardly have a corporal's guard of the electoral vote. We believe Scott carried three or four States.

The official returns received from eighty-four counties in North Carolina give Caldwell, the Republican candidate for governor, 2673 majority. The total returns, when they come in, will swell those figures to over 3000. So much for the "Greeley whirlwind."

It is thought that Victor Hugo's forth-coming poem, "Satan," will be a devilish good thing.—Kansas City Bulletin.

"A schoolmaster, on being asked what was meant by the word 'fortification,' answered, 'Two inventions make a fortification.'"

Notes from Washington.

A few days ago ex-Lieutenant Governor Kirk, of Ohio, seeing that the principal capital in trade with Greeley and the virtuous Democracy, is charging the President with "gift taking," wrote to the Secretary of the Interior at Washington for the facts. The following is the answer:—
DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, Washington, June 15th, 1872.

Dear Governor:—The Secretary has referred to your letter of the 10th instant, to me, with directions to reply for him to the interrogatories therein.

Relative to the receipt of valuable presents by the President since he became President, and in fact since his nomination for President, in May, 1860, he has never received a single valuable present from any person whatever. This you may rely on as being literally and strictly true. The Long Branch Cottage he bought and paid for himself, and furnished it at his own expense.

Before his first nomination he had received some valuable presents, as did also McClelland and Sherman, and which I presume you will find fault with. Since that time any charge to the contrary is malicious and unfounded.

Very truly yours,
R. H. COWEN,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

Hon. R. C. Kirk,
Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

ANOTHER STANDER NATION.
It will be remembered that Sumner in his speech against the President in the Senate, quoted the dying words, as he said, of Mr. Nelson, in which the latter is made to say that Grant could never rule this country. The charge has been able to mislead Senator Carpenter and by the public press. The following testimony from the Hon. Wm. D. Kelley, M. C., of Philadelphia, he says:—

"Long and much as I have honored Charles Sumner, I cannot believe his statement that the late Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, told him that Grant could not govern this country, and that while taking part in the last Presidential campaign he had never introduced the name of Grant in any of his speeches; I enjoyed many interviews with Secretary Stanton on that subject. So early as September, 1867, he invited me from Philadelphia to Washington, to urge upon me the importance of presenting General Grant's name to the people of Pennsylvania in the then pending canvass as the future nominee of the Republican party. On the 21st of October, '67, a few days after our State election, I addressed a Grant meeting of my neighbors, proposing him as the next candidate, and citing Stanton in proof of Grant's appreciation of the issues of the day and his earnest conviction that no permanent reconstruction of the country could be had without restoring the freedom of the South with civil and political rights, and making them a part of the political people of the country."

"That was the only written speech I ever delivered before a political meeting. And it did not only being written, but printed in order that it might be submitted to Secretary Stanton, and corrected by him, if necessary, before it should go into print. I need not allude to interviews had with Mr. Stanton after General Grant's inauguration. I need not refer to the intolerance with which he viewed the mistake involved in the selection of Grant's Cabinet, or the earnestness with which he said, 'These are small matters.' Trust him, trust him; he is right at the bottom, and a bigger man than any of you believe him to be. I cannot suspect him of deliberate falsification; but these facts, together with the earnest appeal I heard Mr. Stanton make to the people of Pennsylvania at the great meeting in the Academy of Music at Philadelphia, to save the results of the war by electing Grant to the Presidency, convince me that Mr. Sumner's morbid hatred of the President has beguiled his memory, and persuaded him that he remembers an incident which never occurred."

ANOTHER WITNESS AGAINST MR. SUMNER.
In his letter to the colored citizens of Washington, it will be remembered the Senator labored to prejudice them against the President by stating that he had always treated them with indignity, enforcing his argument by citing the fact that Fred Douglass was refused a seat at the table with the San Domingo commissioners, when coming up the Potomac on board the United States Mail Steamer, on their return. This thing Mr. Sumner said was not resented by the President; and worse than all the President invited the Commissioners to dine with him, and extended Mr. Douglass.

One of the Commissioners, Prof. White, replies to Mr. Sumner, and says: "That Mr. Douglass was appointed one of the Secretaries of the Commission by the President, and instructions which emanated from the President, were given that the colored Secretary should be treated in all respects as other members of the party. The order was strictly observed." Mr. White adds, and herein is the answer to Mr. Sumner's charges:—

"When they were embarked upon the Potomac steamer, the Commissioners having seated themselves at the public table found that Douglass was not with them. On inquiry they learned that he had been refused admittance to the dining room on account of his color. Having remonstrated against this in vain, the Commissioners and all immediately connected with them left the table. On arriving in Washington both Douglass and Sigel left for their homes, their duties having ended. It was then that the Commission were invited to dine with the President, and had Douglass and Sigel been in the city White has no doubt they would have been included in the invitation. Mr. White expresses great surprise that Mr. Sumner should have perverted the facts in the case so grossly."

This ought to settle that charge of disrespect on the part of President Grant to the colored people. But we have also Mr. Douglass' own reply, in which he corroborates Mr. White, and says that the President himself did entertain colored officials at his table, and had been present when the invitation was extended by the President to the Commissioners to dine with him, he would have been included. He cites the President's solicitude for the colored people as exemplified when General of the army, as well as afterwards as President of the United States.

All the other charges against Grant as President and in his private capacity have been met and their fabric exposed so often that this kind of warfare has become valueless except to damage those who employ it. No one is less concerned about those stories than the President himself.

He says he is perfectly willing to leave his case with the people for their judgment and decision.

O. S. T.

The Chicago Journal says:—
For some three months the redoubtable H. G. has refrained from publicly branding anybody as a liar. The spell of decency became intolerable and he broke by the gentle remark, 'Whoever says I have written a private letter saying that I will get only two States in New England, is a perspicacious and sublime liar.' Perspicacious is good; but sublime, as applied to a liar, is above our comprehension. We have always supposed lying to be low and mean. It is not, however, at all strange that the pet of Tammany should see sublimity in it.

THE POET WHITTIER STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—A thunder storm past over Amesbury, Massachusetts, August 11. The lightning struck in five places, one of which was the house of the poet Whittier, prostrating Mr. Whittier to the floor. He was not seriously injured, however, nor his house much damaged. The other buildings struck received no serious injury.

"My dearest uncle," says a humorous writer, "was the most polite man in the world. He was making a voyage on the Danube and the boat sank; my uncle was just on the point of drowning. He got his head above water just once, took off his hat and said, 'Ladies and gentlemen, will you please excuse me' and down he went."

Reports from credible sources are to the effect that September will inaugurate the liveliest campaign all over the country that has ever characterized the period immediately preceding a Presidential election. A great amount of work in the way of arranging for speakers and campaign manoeuvres of all kinds has been set on foot, and only awaits a cooler temperature of the atmosphere to begin practical operations.

PROCLAMATION
By the Governor of the State of Texas,
EDMUND J. DAVIS,
Governor.

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:
Whereas, it is provided by section third (3) of article 3 of the constitution of this State, that at the first general election after the acceptance of the Constitution by the Congress of the United States, an election shall be held to elect permanently the seat of government of the State of Texas.

Now, therefore, I, EDMUND J. DAVIS, Governor of Texas, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of this State, do hereby order and direct that said election for the permanent seat of government of this State be held at the same time and place for voting as at the next general election, viz: at the county seat of each county, and commencing on the first day after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1872, and continuing for five consecutive days, the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth days of November, 1872, and the returns of said election shall be submitted to the Governor and other officers in accordance with this Proclamation.

The attention of every citizen, voter and others is called to the fact that the law of this State and the laws of the United States, enacted to secure the free exercise of the rights of suffrage, and the integrity of the electoral process, shall not be attempted to interfere with this franchise.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name and have caused the great seal of the State to be hereunto affixed, at the city of Austin, this 16th day of July, A. D. 1872.

EDMUND J. DAVIS,
Governor.

PROCLAMATION
By the Governor of the State of Texas,
EDMUND J. DAVIS,
Governor.

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:
Whereas, by a joint resolution of the Twelfth Legislature of the State of Texas, passed July 17th, 1871, it was resolved that section six, article ten of the constitution of the State of Texas be amended as hereinafter to read and be as follows:

SECTION 6. The Legislature shall not hereafter grant lands, except for purposes of internal improvement, to any person or persons, nor shall any certificate for land be sold at the Land Office, except to actual settlers upon the same, and in lots not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres, provided that the Legislature shall not grant out of the public domain more than twenty sections of land for each mile of completed work in aid of the construction of which land has been granted, and provided further, that nothing in the foregoing proviso shall effect any rights granted or secured by laws passed prior to the final adoption of this amendment.

Now, therefore, I, EDMUND J. DAVIS, Governor of Texas, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and Laws of this State, do hereby order and direct that the said election be held on the second Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1872, and continuing for four consecutive days, viz: the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth day of November, A. D. 1872.

The returning officers at said general election, shall open a poll for and make a return to the Secretary of State of the names of all those voting for Representatives, who have voted on the proposed amendment to section 6 of article 10 of the constitution of this State, by marking on the ballots used by voters to have written or printed on them the words "for the amendment," or "against the amendment."

The attention of officers of the law, voters and others is called to the provisions of the law of this State and the United States, enacted to secure the free exercise of the rights of suffrage, and the upholding of those who may in any manner attempt to interfere with this franchise.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name and have caused the great seal of the State to be hereunto affixed, at the city of Austin, this 16th day of July, A. D. 1872.
