A mother prayed at the eventide,
With her child upon her breast,
The Angels came to her darkened room,
And waited her beliest.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1872.

And, God, she asked, Thou Glerious,
Oh give my darling fame,
Among the nobles of his land
To win the soldest name.

'And may there he some spirit near, My fervent wish to bear,' But the doubtful Angels silent stood, Nor moved to watther prayer. And, God, she prayed, Thou Infinite, Oh give my darting power,
The might of soul that sways a best
As the fierce wind sways a shower.

And may there be some spirit near My south high wish to bear.

But the wandering Angels silent stood,
Nor moved to waft har prayer.

And God, who are All-Beautiful;

O make my durling fair.

That he may still from life draw Love. Life's sweetest esseuce rare, So every heart shall be a harp, Beneath his touch to sound. But the shuddering Angels silent stood, And drooped their wings around.

But if, she prayed, Thou Merciful,
He may not grasp at fame,
grant him strength to face serene
A cold world's cruel blame;

And if he shrink from earthly power,
Nor aim to away the time,
Oud thou his soul to cope with sin,
A conquerer sublime. 'And if he sometime fail to strike
Each heart to Love's sweet tone
O may he tune to seraph height
The music of his own.

My hamble wish to bear.'
The Angels rose on rushing wings,
In haste to waither prayer.

ontains the following :
"The virtual defeat of the House of the Bill to organize a body of Texas rangers for the protection of se frontier against the Indiana. will greatly gratity all interested in the success of the present peaceful Indian policy. If the Texas fron-tier is exposed, let the government tier is exposed, lat the government troops defend it, but to organize a volunteer State force there, is to begin an offensive campaign against the Indians in that quarter and we have already had something too much of this kind of warfare for the general peace and good."

An influential paper with so extensive a circulation as the "Tribune," odglet to show more care in its criticism than the above article evinces. The bill alluded to has for its object the removal of obstacles, which might avantually prove the "Tribune" advocates. The remedies against the existing evils, which are embodied in the bill, are not merely endorsed by the frontier people themselves, but by all the authorities who can speak advised. y of the condition of our frontier, the military commanders of Texas, the Secretary of War, and the President himself. It is shown by sufficient evidence in the Congressional Committee of Indian Affairs that the present frontier defense is inadequate, not only numerically, but ilso because a regular is not, and in the nature of things cannot be educated to the peculiar warfare of frontier life, within a period so short as the term of collectment of our private soldiers. The want of action on the part of Congress forced the State of Texas to protect itself, and it mustered a regiment of rangers into its service at its own expense. These rangers have done splended service. Five hundred men have of course not been able to perform the task of entirely protecting our extended fronbut they have amply shown, that citizens born and raised on the frontier are a safer material for this popultar kind of warfare than that which is at the disposal of our recruiting officers, in the Atlantic cities, and that a combination of 'Regular and "Citizen Soldiers" can accomplish more than a greater number of the former alone

It can not be denied that any "army under State authority may lead to conflicts with the na easily tional authorities, and that the "material" of which rangers are composed, endangers the peace policy. In view of this danger, the rangers contrary to the ante bellum usages were placed under the command of the General commanding the district of Texas, and no con flict of authorities has thus far arisen. To make the system still more perfect, and to reduce the expenses. the bill-the defeat of which the "Tribune" believes "will greatly gratity all interested in the success of the present peaceful Indian policy"—was offered by the Committee on Indian Affairs. To substautiate my remark I res peetfully refer to the bill itself, to my speech on the subject, and to the discussion which ended in the defeat of the bill. I am well aware that the enormous amount of print- then declared in order ed matter daily flooding your "sanctum" almost precludes the possibility of a careful study of those documents. Some such examination, is, however, necessary to enable you to correct an error in to which you have led millions, who look to your paper as their adviser. and thus destroy the disastrous influence which the indifference of Congress to our frontiersmen and its retusal to do anything for protection, must necessarily have upon the loyalty of those suffering citi-

Very respectfully yours, E. DEGENER. Washington, Feb. 11th, 1871.

To this letter the "Tribune" gives the following reply, without how-We haven't a doubt, since doubly assuredof the fact by Represen tative Degener of Texas, that his frontier constituents approved his late bill suthorizing their arming fight the Indians on the border. But that is no particular recomdation to the rest of the country. We hear of Indian war innummerable, brought about by the aggressions of armed frontiersmen upon Indian tribes whom they have forced from the reservation guaranforced from the reservation guaran-teed them by treaty. That policy has been sugared to afflict us long enough. The Indian on his reser-vation has rights which the govern-ment is bound to see that the fron-tiers man respect; and arining them, we respectfully submit, is not the way to do this. Mr. Dagener writes to us of "the peculiarities of fron-tier warfare" to which the regular army is not and the nature of which took place in Feb. 1871 army is not, and the nature of things cannot be educated, as if he declared policy of the government in Congress, and the "N. LOCAL AFFAIRS.

We are informed that a lady, the wife of one of our leading merchants came very near being drowned on Friday morning last. We have not learned how the aftendering our cong atulations on the escape of the lady from so fearful a fate. ----

WE were presented yesterday with as fine and perfect a specimen of an apple as we have ever seen in any country, grown in this city. The gentleman presenting it spective. The people have always, and in showed us perfect and large-sized fall pippius, remarking that he had bushels of them, as fine in appearance as those we used to rob the New York State orchards of when we were a school boy. There is no longer any doubt of the ability to grow apples in this country.

WE are kindly furnished from the Military Headquarters of this Department, with an item of news concerning the Lee children, captured and carried off some by the Indians. Attention is called to the extract from a letter from Maj. Schofield to General Augur, in another column.

Editor San Antonio Express:

I have been informed that it has been stated, that Mr. Thos Fairweather, then agent of the Grover and Baker Sewing Machine Co., after inviting a contest for exhibition at the Fair of last year of the best sewing of all kinds done on the G. and B. Machine, for which he offered a Machine as a prize, refused to deliver to me the machine offered after the committee had awarded it to me, contending that the work furnished from his establishment should come in competition. This assertion is in nowise correct, and I am not aware that there was any hesitancy he did promptly give, accompanied with the kindest congratulations. Mr. Fairweather has from first to last, in my opinion, shown himself a just and honorable Yours &c.

EDITOR EXPRESS.

In my note of the 29th August, the the word "Committee" inadvertuatly slipp- job. ed to where the word "Directors" should have been used. There was not the re-motest intention of casting reflections upon the estimable ladies who composed the Committee of examination, I am quite certain that they acted conscientionaly, but believe their decision was made under the guidance and instructions of the directors. Accompanying this explanation I hand you a note from Mrs. Raudle, who won the prize for best work he G, and B. Auother Champion Reformer.

The honorable Jas. R. Doolittle-has at last been shown up in his true light. Certain letters written by him and in his own handwriting have come to light which prove beyond a particle of a doubt that he has seld his influence as Senator for money—and moreover shows a piece of duplicity and experienced humbuggery worthy of a common swindler. The affair is briërly this: in November 1864 Doolittle in consideration of his receiving one fourth of the profits accruing from certain cotton speculations, tried to obtain, and speceeded in obtaining, for one T. J. Connatty a permit to purchase 50,000 bales of cotton in the Southern States. Mr. Connatty, has exposed the affair, and made an affidavit setting forth the facts and has letters in his possession written by Mr. Doolfttle, which are to be photographed and submitted to public inspection.

The great cry that has been raised against the so termed corruption of the present administration would be really laughable, if it did not show the exact character of these brawlers, and if it did not prove incontestibly that the bad opinions they have expressed of the present administration are entirely due to the fact of their judging others by themselves. In this Greeley crowd even "honor among therese" is not observed for every day fresh disclosures are being made and each day they are talling upon each other. day they are telling upon each other.

The New Orleans Republican says : Gold has been discovered in Hoover's valley, Texas, and workmen are panning out from $5 to $10 a day.

The Springfield Republican reconciles itself to the news from North Carolina in the assurance that the uprising for Greeley has not commenced yet. That's a fact. The "uprising" has been postponed until after the November election. People are so busily engaged in politics now that they can't devote much attention to
