LABOR HOUSING SITE—Dirt work, including fill-in is beginning at the site of the new 53-unit Labor Housing Project in east Muleshoe. Construction is expected to get underway in approximately 20-45 days and the project is expected to be completed by mid-September.

Adequate room will be at the 10 acre site to at least double the size of the initial apartment complex to be constructed. Tusha Builders of Lubbock will be constructing the labor housing units. Some large equipment is already at the construction site at this time.

Labor Housing Project Preliminary Work Begins

Construction Slated Within 20-45 Days

A long-awaited day is near, the beginning of construction on the Labor Housing Project in east Muleshoe. Harmon Elliott said Tuesday morning that although a few minor details will still be necessary to be worked out, preliminary dirt work is proceeding at this time.

In October, it was announced that Farmers Home Administration had approved a grant of $810,000 and a $90,000 loan for construction of the labor housing project in Muleshoe.

The initial announcement was made by Congressman George Mahon who had actively supported the proposed project for a period of months, and worked in cooperation with the Muleshoe Housing Authority.

Some equipment is being moved onto the location at this time, and actual construction is predicted to begin in 20-45 days, according to Elliott, who is chairman of the Muleshoe Housing Authority.

The builder or general contractor will be Tusha Builders of Lubbock, with a number of sub-contractors, added Elliott. He says the project is expected to be completed by mid-summer to be completed by mid-September of this year.

Included in the project will be 53 units on the 10 acres of land acquired between East Avenue B and East Avenue C on East Sixth Street, across from the city park.

The location is on the site of the former Edwards Gin Co. and has adequate room for at least double the size of apartments as will be in the first construction.

Members of the Muleshoe Housing Authority, city council members and members of the county commissioners spent many hours traveling to other such projects in the area before beginning work on the proposed project in Muleshoe.

Members of the Muleshoe Public Housing Authority Board include Tim Campbell, Myron Pool II, Jesse Leal and Jim Cox, along with Chairman Elliott.

Elliott has explained that the new housing will not be free rental housing and said, "These facilities will be rented to the people who live in them and the rent will be paid by the week."

"A manager will be hired and income from the rental will liquidate the $90,000 loan over a period of 33 years at one percent interest."

Groundbreaking ceremonies are expected to be scheduled in the near future.

Jaycees Honor Wives For Project Support And Aid

Jaycee wives found out they were appreciated Monday night during a 'Wives' Appreciation Night' banquet at the Corral Restaurant.

A number of Jaycees took their wives to the banquet in a gesture to show they appreciated the efforts put forth by the wives in supporting their projects, activities, and many hours spent in Jaycee-related work.

Jaycee President Hugh Young welcomed the wives to the banquet and said, "I would like to say 'thank you' to each young lady here. You wives are the greatest thing that ever happened to us as Jaycees."

He attributed the Jaycee success with projects to the wives because, "Wives understand." President Young read a resolution declaring February 27, 1978 as 'Wives' Appreciation Day' in Muleshoe.

Because most wives never have a chance to sit in on a regular Jaycee meeting, the regular Monday meeting of the Muleshoe Jaycees was conducted at the banquet.

Several reports were given, including a report on ROC by Charles Moraw; Oran Sain on the Wives Appreciation Banquet; on the upcoming Volleyball Tournament; Gene McGuire on the upcoming officer elections and Chuck Smith on the Miss Tri-County Pageant.

Smith said the first entry for the April 29 pageant has been received. She is Barbie Ivy, of Lazbuddie, who is being sponsored by Sherley-Anderson.

Political speeches were presented by each of the candidates in the upcoming election as the political hopefuls listed their qualifications and reasons for seeking their position.

Keith Burns presented a

Jaycee of the Month plaque to Barry Cowart and Ted Millen and Ken Bales gave each lady present a long-stem red rose.

Presentations were made to former 'first ladies' Mrs. Charles (Sheila) Moraw; Mrs. Gene (Kerma) McGuire; Mrs. Curtis (Shirley) Walker and Mrs. Hugh (Pat) Young. A special award was also made to Cleta Williams during the banquet.

Shirley Walker spoke briefly and said "On behalf of the Jaycee wives, we would like to thank you. Over the years, the Muleshoe Jaycees have been outstanding in the community."

She briefly outlined her 15 years as a Jaycee wife, and asked wives to reserve one wall in their home to display awards won by their husbands for Jaycee projects.

Telephone Subscriber Record 'Up'

The percentage of telephone growth in Muleshoe in 1977, compared to the 1976 growth exceeded the record growth of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, according to O.D. Hearn, Brownfield division manager.

"Muleshoe gained 193 telephone in 1977, a substantial 62.1 percent increase over the 119 gained in 1976. The exchange gained 81 main stations (which could be equated to customers), an 88.3 percent increase over the 43 netted in 1976," Hearn added.

At the end of 1977, Muleshoe had a total of 3,591 telephones and 1,996 main stations.

"General Telephone Company's record gain (105,967 telephones), was 25.7 percent and the main station gain (49,687) was 33.7 percent for 1977 as compared to 1976," Hearn stated.

"The company serves more than 1,367,000 telephones and over 800,000 main stations in Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas and Oklahoma," concluded the division manager.

MRS. OLIVIA ENRIQUEZ

Human Resource Names Leader In Local Area

Mrs. Olivia Enriquez has been named Community Volunteer Coordinator in Cochran-Bailey Counties in a new project jointly sponsored by the South Plains Community Action Corporation and the Texas Department of Human Resources.

Both agencies said they are interested in finding ways to help local citizens become involved in providing social services to elderly persons, neglected or abused children, and handicapped persons, according to Nova Purdy, Regional Volunteer Coordinator for TDHR.

Mrs. Enriquez will be officed at DHR offices at Room B-3 of the courthouse in Morton on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, telephone 266-5138. She will be in Muleshoe on Tuesdays and Friday at 209 East Avenue B, telephone 272-3981.

She will be assessing service needs in Cochran-Bailey Counties and contacting organizations and individuals to let them know of opportunities to volunteer.

"There are many ways in which people can help their less fortunate neighbors," she said. "We would like to establish a committee to make daily telephone calls to elderly people who live alone to see if they are all right. We want to find mature individuals who could help young mothers having problems with family stresses to learn homemaking skills and how to give better child care. We hope to develop resources for families who may have emergency housing needs, and to help elderly and handicapped persons use available medical and financial resources."

Most of Mrs. Enriquez' work will be done for persons referred by TDHR caseworkers or by elected officials in the communities she serves. However, she is inviting the public to

Farmers Cost-Price Squeeze Tightening

Texas farmers and ranchers are losing ground where it hurts the most—in net income. That's the indication for 1977 from preliminary estimates compiled by county program building committees and marketing specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Although our assessment shows a small increase in cash receipts by Texas farmers and ranchers in 1977, net income will be down," contends Dr. Carl Anderson, an Extension marketing economist. "Cash receipts from crops and livestock should reach that $6.7 billion mark, up from $6.3 billion in 1976. But net income should fall below the $931 million earned in 1976, which was less than half the $2.1 billion net income in 1973."

Anderson cites the higher costs of machinery, fuel, labor, interest, taxes and other production inputs as the culprit that is absorbing net income. "The total outlay for production items has increased by an average yearly rate of more than 11 percent since 1970," he notes.

"The financial plight of agricultural producers is even more severe when inflation is taken into account," emphasizes Anderson. "Because of the rapid run-up in the cost-of-living, a dollar of income in 1977 purchased, on the average, slightly less than two-thirds the goods and services it would in 1973.

"Particularly hard hit by the cost-price squeeze during the 1977 were crop farmers. Cotton and grain producers, especially those on irrigated farms, suffered the worst income crunch," notes the economist.

The plight resulted from a drop in crop prices that was compounded by increasing costs of production. Wheat, for instance, averaged $2.25 a bushel, down from $3.16 a bushel in 1976. Sorghum growers received $3.27 per hundred-weight in 1977 compared to $4.06 the previous year. And cotton farmers saw the average price of their crop plummet from 69 cents per pound last March to 46 cents in November. Rice was one of the few crops showing some improvement over 1976.

As far as livestock producers were concerned, the cost-price squeeze changed little during 1977, Anderson points out. Texas producers received an average price of 33 cents per pound for all beef cattle, about the same as in 1976. Hog prices slipped from 41 cents per pound in 1976 to 38 cents. Egg prices averaged lower and milk prices were generally unchanged while lamb, broiler, turkey and wool prices were slightly higher.

What does 1978 hold?
"It's only fair to say that the cost-price squeeze will continue to plague our agricultural producers," contends Anderson, "causing debts to pile up and driving many smaller operators out of business."

Congressman Disavows Endorsement

Gongressman George Mahon, having learned that his picture is being distributed throughout the district in political advertisement issued by one of the candidates for Congress, made the following statement:
"I was shocked to learn that one of the candidates for Congress in our District had, without my knowledge or consent, placed a picture of him and made me in a political advertisement. The picture implies my endorsement of his candidacy. I emphatically disavow this implication. I have not endorsed his candidacy."

"I had thought that citizens generally, and candidates in particular, knew of my often repeated statement THAT I would not seek to influence the people of our District in the selection of my successor. I deplore the unauthorized use of my picture and the implication which it suggests."

He added, "If you want to do anything, and have something to say, people are interested in your ability."

Walker said Jaycee success is because of the 'Super' Jaycees, the ones who are at home, cooking and taking care of the kids so Jaycees can do their projects.

He told of his 15 years as a Muleshoe Jaycee and said "It is one of the finest experiences I have ever had, and you've got so much to look forward to as a Jaycee."

Walker praised the local Jaycees and reminded of the numerous Jaycee organizations who had folded over the years. The Muleshoe Jaycees are the

He suggested that the Jaycee do more to meet strangers and introduce themselves, and not wait for the strangers to come to them. "The Jaycees sole purpose is to think about other people," he said.

Walker also said he felt 'sorry' for the wives who were not brought to the banquet saying, "The main thing for the Jaycees is that the wives support us, it's because of you we are here tonight. You ladies are what makes us what we are."

Historically these two bases lead their commands in number of CCAF graduates.

The students who have completed their CCAF programs received their AAS degrees in 74 job-related programs. They represent 23 major commands and separate operating agencies and are stationed at 125 different duty locations.

Air Force instructors capitalized on their teaching experience and training to earn 43 AAS degrees in the Instructor in Technology program. The next four programs with the largest number of graduates are Resource Management Technology, 38; Radio Communications Technology, 31; Aircraft General Flight Line Maintenance, 26; and Work Center Management, 25. ## Local Nursing Home Resident Enters Lubbock Pageant

Dottie Wilterding, a longtime resident of Muleshoe and Bailey County, was recently chosen Muleshoe Nursing Home Queen. The honor will allow her to compete today (Thursday) in Lubbock for the district Ms. Texas Nursing Home Queen.

The Lubbock pageant is being conducted at the Grid Iron Restaurant and the winner of the district competition will compete for the state honor shortly.

Along with other contestants, Miss Wilterding will be judged on achievements of life, activities in the Nursing Home and philosophy of life.

Aunt Dot or Dottie, as she is affectionately known by those who love her, is a very special person to anyone who knows her. We will only be able to give you a thumbnail sketch of her here, but maybe everyone will be able to feel the warmth she so freely shares with all of the staff and residents in the daily contact with her. She never changes. She always has a smile and a kind word.

Aunt Dot's grandparents on her father's side of the family were from Holland. They wanted their children to be born in the United States. They only had money for one ticket so she slipped on board as a stow away. They made it to America before their first child was born so all their children were citizens. They second of their 10 children, a son, moved to Nebraska when young to homestead some land of his own. He was there before Abe Lincoln.

Aunt Dot's grandparents on her mother's side of the family were Scotch and Irish. Her grandfather was quite a rover and moved his family around a lot. He moved to Nebraska where Emma Lorton and John Wilterding met and married. They had 10 children, rearing seven of them, Dottie being the youngest surviving child was born March 24, 1891.

When she was 16, her father visited Texas and liked the look of it. When he wanted his wife to look at it she said "If it's what you want, it's fine with me." So the Wilterding family moved to Texas in 1908 and settled on the land which was Dottie's home until she moved to the nursing home in May of 1975.

Dottie's brother was widowed and left with two children. With love and devotion she took on the task of devoting her life to the rearing of these two children, rather than marriage. Her brother was the first county judge of Bailey County.

Dottie has so many fond memories of her life. She remembers the day long trips by wagon to get supplies before there was a Muleshoe railroad here. They made their own entertainment with trips to the sandhills and any kind of party they could think up. Their homes was always full of young people and friends. She considers herself very lucky for the good life she has had.

Aunt Dot is very active. She has a bicycle in her room on which she exercises. She goes for walks whenever the weather permits. She keeps up her pastime of crocheting even though her eye sight is failing. She has taken up covering hangers for gifts this last year. She is always eager to participate in all activities in the home. She loves to share her religious talking books with others.

Her family is very devoted to her and she has lots of mail and visitors. But most of all, she is a daily reminder to all of us of the productive and happy life one can achieve.

When asked how she felt about her life today, she replied, "It's not for me to know why he's left me here this long, but I'll be here as long as the good Lord wants me to be, just doing what I can for my family, friends and anyone I have the privilege to come in contact with."

Maternity Wear

COLLEGE STATION -- During pregnancy, a time for special clothing needs, plan, shop sparingly, alter, homesew, and swap-for a versatile, economical wardrobe, says one clothing specialist.

Also, be sure undergarments fit well, advises Marlene Odle-Kemp, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

PLAN MATERNITY WARDROBE
Carefully plan a small versatile wardrobe to fit within the family budget, she suggests.

Choose clothes and fabrics that are attractive, comfortable, absorbent, loose fitting, non-restrictive and easy care.

Choose a color theme that allows for mixing and matching.

Consider four points when deciding the kinds of clothes to include: lifestyle, climate, time of pregnancy, and career.

Also, to adapt existing wardrobe, wear regular blouses, sweaters, turtle-necks and dickeries under jumpers, tunic tops or vests for the layered look. Leave them unbuttoned for comfort, the specialist says.

SHOP SPARINGLY
"Evaluate money to spend on ready-to-wear maternity clothes--they are only worn four or five months. Also consider shopping at discount, second-hand stores or factory outlets for inexpensive items."

"In shopping for ready-to-wear garments--or commercial patterns--remember they are sized for expected expansion, so purchase them in regular sizes," she advises.

Lazbuddie News

By Judy Lust

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Baker from Tyler were here over the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Page and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bates Jennings. Also visiting the Page's and the Jennings' was Mrs. Ila Hughes.

Mrs. Monty Barnes is in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock where she is recovering from lung surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinkson went to St. John's, Ariz. earlier this week.

Mrs. Mae Davis is home from Lubbock where she has been staying with her daughter Mrs. don Jordon while she was recuperating from surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Derrill Jennings and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Matthews attended the Holy Spirit Conference at the Oakwood Methodist Church in Lubbock Friday and Saturday.

Love and Sympathy is extended to the family of John Agee. Mr. Agee was a long time member of the community, and funeral services were held Monday.

The Willing Workers Circle treated their husbands to a steak supper last Saturday night. A time of fun and fellowship followed the supper and a good time was enjoyed by all.

ALTER, HOMESWEW FOR SAVINGS

"Homesewn garments can mean a two-thirds savings over ready-to-wear, and to alter existing garments means even more savings."

"Convert regular clothing or recycle old maternity clothing into attractive, economical maternity wear. Add expandable front insert panels to old jeans for comfortable at-home garments, for example."

"Construct maternity clothing in the same way as regular clothing--except add adjustable side seams to allow for expansion in tops and dresses."

"To make adjustable side seams, seam and hem the garment as usual, then sew two or three lines of stitching toward the inside of the garment, tapering back to the original under arm seam. Remove the three rows of stitching as the body grows."

"To make an adjustable waistband, use no-roll elastic in an elasticized waistband. With elastic strip inserted in waistband allowance, pull up the elastic to a comfortable fit and sew right sides of elastic together, letting loose ends provide two to three extra inches of elastic for later.

"Make two or three seams that sew the loose ends together at different intervals--to allow several expansions later."

"Do not sew the opening into which the elastic was inserted."

"As the body expands, release extra seams in the elastic as needed for increased size," Ms. Odle-Kemp suggests.

SWAP FOR GREATER SAVINGS

Borrow from or share maternity clothing with friends and relatives. Share capes or full-coats during the colder months.

UNDERGARMENTS MUST FIT
Well-fitting undergarments are a must during pregnancy. A bra with adjustable features--such as those found in a nursing bra--and an additional hook-and-eye extender may eliminate the need for purchasing numerous bras during pregnancy.

Maternity slippers, panties, girdles and panty hose have comfortable expandable features.

SCHOOLTIME BREAKFAST--For an eye-opening breakfast treat, try this recipe from the Texas Department of Agriculture home economist. It utilizes the best of Texas' agricultural bounty, and provides a complete and balanced meal when combined with a nutritious beverage such as milk.

From the TAP Kitchen

ABOUT YOUR HOME

By April Rhodes

The mother, who can sew, will save many dollars by making clothes for herself and her school-age children. Materials for spring have been on display for some time.

The dormant period is the approved time to prune forsythia, quince, pussy willow and redbud. Bring trimmings inside and place in a vase in a warm room to enjoy "early" blooms which will appear in a week or ten days.

To remove labels from plastic bowl lids, place them in the freezer for about 15 minutes. Labels will then peel off easily.

Club Provides Refreshments For Birthdays

Again this year, the Needmore Community Center has elected to serve refreshments to the residents at the Muleshoe Nursing Home when they have their monthly celebration.

This has almost become a custom by the club in our neighbors to the south, who are justifiably proud of the volunteer work they do at the Nursing Home.

Also, continuing to provide corsages and flowers for the birthday honorees is Phyllis Beavers of Beavers Flowerland, who is also keeping an established tradition.

How To 'Eat Out' And Stay Slim, Too

COLLEGE STATION -- Restaurants offer "stay slim" meals when their customers follow a "no fats" rule-of-thumb and eat according to The Daily Food Guide, advises Frances Reasonover, a foods and nutrition specialist.

The guide recommends eating foods from the four Food Groups every day. Groups are milk, meat, fruit-vegetables, and bread-cereals, she adds.

Miss Reasonover is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

For stay-slim menus that include these, the secret is to eat only the recommended amounts of each and focus on low-calorie items.

As a general guide for amounts, adults should drink two or more cups of milk, and eat two servings of meat, four servings of fruits and vegetables, and four or five servings of breads and cereals--every

A "no fats" rule-of-thumb includes several "stay slim" ideas:

Ask that fat be trimmed from chops, steaks, chicken or fish and request that meat be broiled without fat.

Ask that vegetables be prepared without fat, and avoid those that are buttered, creamed or prepared with sauces that contain fat.

Select gelatin and fruit salads without cream cheese, sweet or sour cream.

Limit the amount of margarine, salad dressings and other fats.

Select skim milk, fruit juice, vegetable juice, coffee or tea as a beverage, but pay close attention to only the recommended amount.

For dessert, choose fresh or unsweetened fruit, fruit ice or gelatin-type desserts, and pay strict attention to amounts of these.

Variables Make Forecasting Wheat Crop More Difficult

AUSTIN--The job of estimating the 1978 winter wheat crop will be harder this year, with government set-aside programs, dry weather and the farm strike providing variables which could affect production, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown states.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service predicts wheat production in 1978 will be down a drastic 42 per cent, Brown said. This is based on seeded acreage as of Dec. 1, 1977, down 10 per cent from a year earlier, and assumes normal harvesting procedures will be followed. Brown noted that the crop is predicted to total 68,400,000 bushels, down from the 117,500,000 bushels harvested in 1977.

Although many uncertainties existed in the set-aside program at planting time, acreage is expected to be reduced as a result," Brown said. "In addition, some wheat will be used only for grazing and will never be harvested."

"The full effect of the farm strike also remains to be seen," Brown stated. "Some farmers have indicated their protest against current farm conditions by plowing under their wheat, and, if widespread, this could have a definite impact on production next summer."

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF A COLONIAL BOY

By Jeff Standridge

It seemed as if I had just laid down in my nice warm bed when mother called to get up. It was Bob: It is bad luck to have a cat follow you?

Rob: That all depends on whether you're a man or a mouse.

cold and dark outside as I hurried down the ladder from the loft room to finish dressing by the fire.

I went outside with my father and brothers to do the chores in the barn. I didn't get to do much but I did throw hay from the loft to the animals. We finally finished and headed to the house.

Breakfast smelled so good as I washed up. I couldn't wait as we sat down and father said the prayer. The sausage and oatmeal tasted delicious.

We had many chores to do for tomorrow was a big day. There was wood to be cut and stacked. Cutting wood is hard work and not to exciting but Mom needs a good supply for all of her cooking. I can hear the echo of the ax as I finish chopping the wood. There is a breeze beginning to blow. It sings as it blows through the trees. Tomorrow is the big day. Before day breaks I'm going with Dad to get a turkey.

Old Hank, our dog is barking. He seemed to sense that we are going. Boy, will he be disappointed in the morning because I have to tie him up for he would scare the turkeys. Mom calls, "Bring some more wood in." It sure smells good all those pies and things for tomorrow. I am sure glad I am not a girl. They don't even get to do anything but cook, wash, and are big cry babies. They miss all the exciting things.

Dad is cleaning his rifle. It looks ten feet long. He never misses. Maybe this year he will let me shoot it. Just think, we will have turkey, squash, sweet potatoes, greens, cornbread and bread pudding. Maybe mother will make some pumpkin pie. I think that Thanksgiving is the next best time to Christmas. We have a day off and count our blessings of health, crops, and a good place to live.

had no electricity and no furnaces or stoves. Instead they had only great fireplaces. The boys had to chop great piles of wood to keep the fire burning. Over the fireplace hung a great big pot and a big kettle. The fireplace gave heat for cooking. The life in the world had improved its ability and skills to make our world a better place to live in.

This is how our world come to be with the help of our ancestors.

THE FRONTIERSMAN AND HIS WIFE

By Joe Gonzales

A man and his wife could rarely make it in the wilderness. They lived in cabins, caves and sometimes in the middle of no where. They only thing they carried is what they owned, and they carried it on their backs or in their hands. The first years they ate fish, nuts, and berries, trapped animals and deer.

The way they got their clothes was to make them. Most of the time they spun their cotton and made it into cloth, then cut it so that they could make something out of it.

Some Frontiersman decided to be trappers and hunters because they preferred the lonely life of the forests to the ties of a home. They exchanged at a trading post, and traded a few furs for new supplies of power, shot, and perhaps a little corn. Many men never returned from the wilderness. Some frontiersman like the wilderness to match their skill. Many men would match their wits and their forest skill against Indians and nature.

One of their games was shooting matches. Hunting was both a necessity and a pleasure, and they were crack shots with the rifle. Also shooting matches were very common. Most of the guns they used to hunt animals were Pennsylvanias or a long rifles. There rifles were loaded through the muzzle, the charge was pushed into position with a "ramrod" slung under the barrel. The charge might be a manufactured "paper cartridge," or they might pour a little loose powder down the barrel then ram in after it a lead "ball" wrapped and tied in a linen "patch". For firing, a pinch of powder in the "priming pan" was ignited by a piece of flint locked in the hammer.

Their stories they told would be called "tall tales", mostly full of words the borrowed from the Indians. Some were objects such as "pow wow", peace pipe and a tomahawk. Some of the new words from the land was water gap, barrens, salt lick, underbrush and bluffs and people from the east call their talk "back country" or the "talking of the woods."

The country they explored was called "no mans land" which meant no one owned it and anybody could live there if they wanted too.

A man there was not judged by his clothes, language, or title after his name, but by his skill in wood craft and his knowledge of

JAMMIE EVERETT
LIFE IN THE COLONIES

The colonial period in America was the time when our settlements still were colonies and belonged to England. The period lasted 169 years, from the founding of the first colony at Jamestown, Virginia in 1607, until our colonies declared their independence in 1776. Through the years, our colonies were growing steadily and new settlements were starting to be made. The English colonists in North America were building a new world for themselves, and making a home in the wilderness. They had a difficult job to do and great hardships to endure. But colonists were brave and strong and determined. Where there had once been a forest wilderness, they built a great new country. But it's life was different in many ways from the lives of Americans.

The homes of people in colonial times were different in many ways from our homes today. Most of the people lived on their own small farms. There were a few big cities in the north, and in the South there were some very large plantations.

There were some stone houses, and in the cities some people had fine brick homes. But most of the farmhouses were made of wood. The colonists could not buy their wood at a big lumberyard like the ones found in cities today. They chopped down the trees themselves. In this way they cleared land for the farms and got wood for their houses. There were no great steam shovels and tractors, and no building companies in those days. The colonists had only their strong arms and their helpful neighbors. Often all the people nearby would come to help with the house raising. Afterwards they would have a big party.

Inside the colonial home, things were much different from our homes today. The colonists the wilderness. Most of the people there were from other countries such as the French, The Spanish, the Germans, The Irish and the English on the Virginia frontier. But they were all treated the same way.

These were the men who exposed the "frontier" between civilization and savagery who discovered the frontier valley, the passes and the mountains. They were individualists, with spirit of independence self reliance, and initiative. But their individualism was cooperative as well as competitive. There were times on the frontier when an additional pair of strong arms and an extra rifle meant the difference between life and death.

Their main animals were the Longhorn cattle that came from Spain. They used to roam the prairie but they were fenced. Some of them got loose and got away. Then when the frontiersman got here, all the Longhorn cattle were roaming the west. Their main food was grass which grew wild and drank water from the streams that they passed by. The frontiersman was killing them for meat so they could feed their families and that is the way they grew in the lonely wilderness.

CASEY MCBROOM

COLONIAL BOY
By Casey McBroom
My name is Matt Williams. I was born in 1760 just outside of Philadelphia in a small cabin on one cold April morning.

My dad, Charles, was in woodwork and farming. My mom, Mary, was a house wife and a dressmaker. My dad was one of the best carpenters in the thirteen colonies. I grew up well fed and taken care of. When I was five years old I helped on the farm. I took care of the hogs, chickens and cattle and I did chores around the house. A year later I was going to school. It wasn't fancy but I like it. I took the basic, math, reading, spelling and writing. In 1767 my Mom had my younger brother George.

When I was twelve some soldiers came to our house to see if some of us wanted to help with the Boston tea party. I volunteered. The night of December 16, of 1773 we snuck aboard the three ships loaded with tea. I snuck into the cabin of one of the ships only to find the ships captain. I told Samuel Adams. He sent some man which tied him up and gagged him. After the job was done there was 342 cases of tea in the bay.

I had a long trip home. The man that brought me could not take me back. I left the next morning with little food and money. One night I met some British troopers. They were taking over a farm house. I was hiding in the woods. They spent the night at the house. I didn't build a fire that night because I was afraid they might find me. I woke only to find the troopers coming up the path to my camp. I started to run in the direction of what I hoped was our farm. I heard some shots a bullet buzzed by me. I took shelter behind a log bullets keep buzzing by. After then minutes or so they stopped and moved out.

In 1774 just before the Revolutionary War my dad joined the army. He was under the command of John Parker. After a year of training the war started. John Parker and his men headed out, for Lexington. My dad along side him. They met the British the next day. The battle lasted along time. But Parkers troops had to pull out. During the battle my dad was wounded. He was sent home for awhile. He had to go to a doctors office to get it checked on. The doctor said it would never heal right and for dad to stay home. Dad never went back to the war but supported the soldiers. He let them bed down in our barn, we fed them and their horses.

One night a rider came up to our house. He had a gift for me. It was from my grandparents that lived in Virginia. It was a fine new pistol. One night some indians attacked our house. Mom and George loaded while dad and I shot. We had three rifles and my pistol. After three fights while the indians backed off.

Dad sent me to town to mail some letters. It was a two day walk. After I mailed the letters I wanted to go home so I left that night. I got home, the next morning only to find our house burned down and our parents killed. The indians that attacked the night before had attacked again. After George and I buried our parents we headed out for our grand parents house in Virginia. All we had was the clothes we had on and my pistol and some money that mom and dad gave me.

After some hardship George and I finally made it to Virginia. I had only been there once and I wasn't sure I could make it but we did.

NEW PIONEER 3541

More Income Per Acre

In 61 field comparisons during 1977, 3541 recorded an average income advantage of more than $25* an acre over competitive hybrids . . . and averaged 2.7 points drier at harvest. This new medium-maturity hybrid dries faster and stands better than competitive full-season corns. But 3541 yields more than others of similar maturity, so it gives you a greater potential for profit. 3541 has the performance characteristics you need. . . .

*Based on corn price of $3.70/100 lbs.

- Excellent head smut tolerance
- Excellent standability
- Outstanding yields
- Good ear retention
- Fast drydown

THE COTTON FARMER'S CORN 3780

PIONEER

- Yields more than sorghum for greater income potential
- Early water use makes it the best companion to cotton
- Dries fast to reduce harvest, hauling and dockage costs
- Excellent standability

Pioneer brand 3780 corn is an ideal companion to cotton because it uses water early in the growing season . . . long before your cotton needs water. And because of its unusual water use pattern, 3780 won't need water later in the season when wells begin to drawdown.

Compared to other corns or sorghum, 3780 matures sooner, dries faster and requires less fertilizer and insecticides. It'll be harvested and in the elevator long before your cotton is ready to harvest, so you'll use machinery and manpower more efficiently.

If you're looking for an ideal companion crop for your cotton, consider "the other crop" . . . 3780 the cotton farmer's corn.
