land be sold at the land office except to actual settlers upon the same, and in lots not exceeding 100 acres.

The last Legislature, during its last session, passed on May 17th, 1871, an act to amend this section, so as that it may read as follows:

"The Legislature shall not hereafter grant lands, except for purposes of internal improvement, to any person or persons, nor shall any certificate for land be sold at the land office except to actual settlers upon the same, and in lots not exceeding 100 acres."

It is not our purpose to go into the history of the railroad lobbying done in the last Legislature, which resulted in this proposed amendment. It would not only be tedious, but revolting withal.

But we venture the assertion that there are not a few of ability who have examined the subject, at all, who will not unhesitatingly say, that the law chartering the International Railroad is not unconstitutional, and is not a fraud upon the public.

It taxes the people of this State $6,000,000.00 for the very charitable purpose of relieving some ten or eleven men who live at the north, who have attached, so to speak, to the tail of their monster title. The bonds issued already have been, of course, transferred into the hands of exceedingly innocent third parties, and the State will be compelled to pay the interest upon them, and in the end the bonds themselves. There is no getting rid of that; and there are no means of compelling the company to build any more road than they choose.

But the Central, Southern Pacific and International, after having, by notorious bribery, achieved so much, after having bound the State hand and foot in the intricate web of monstrous monopolies, were not content with robbing the people of their money, and they knew that the people would submit to no further taxation for such a purpose, so they themselves to work to obtain an amendment to the Constitution, in order that they might hereafter, by the same corrupt appliances, obtain from future Legislatures grants of the public lands. This is the bug lying snugly concealed under the amendment.

If the amendment should be adopted, every appliance will be used with the next Legislature to secure large land grants for the building of branch railroads, and this, that and the other needed as a general improvement. Really, the most serious question to-day (before the people of Texas is, shall we deliver over the Legislature of our State into the hands of remorseless monopolists, or retain it in the hands of the people? We have seen other States ruled by railroad rings, such as New York and Illinois for instance; are we prepared to submit to such rule—the rule of men who do not even live in our midst, and can get in only so far as they can profit by our serfdom? The people of Western Texas are taxed and bled just as much as they are elsewhere in the State for the support of these great monopolies, and yet what do we get in return? Not a single railroad!—but periodical insults by these highwaymen who say, "we have got your money, but we will not ransom you until you mortgage to us your estates." That is the way we are continually treated. Unless you are prepared to execute the mortgage? If not, then be sure you vote against the amendment!

CASTROVILLE, TEXAS Oct. 1872. In your daily of the 8th inst. I notice a communication regarding our school affairs, signed by "many voters." This communication, although not here of all truth is such a misrepresentation of facts that need not many who are not acquainted with our affairs to believe the contrary to what has happened. It is a fact that the school has opened last year with a small number of pupils, partly on account of the opposition of the German people against the free school system, and partly because the German language was not taught in this school. The school, however, is now in April last an assistant teacher was needed when the principal and his brother in law, much to the satisfaction of the people, were by the school committee to pay that for the rest of the term the people were well satisfied with the school, and all languages (English and German) and all other "branches" required in our country school were taught. After the vacation in August, the teacher (Mrs. Howard) refused to teach the school under any other condition than with her daughter as assistant. I, amongst others, signed a petition to have the German language taught in said school. In consideration of said petition the brother of the principal who can teach both languages was employed, as teacher. Howard nor her daughter is able to teach German.

I must state that a petition, paying Mrs. Howard and daughter to be employed was also sent to the Supervisor, gotten up in the most unscrupulous manner. For instance the name of one man (H. Bennett) appeared under said petition, who has at the time said petition circulated not with in 50 miles of this place; the name of one person (James Goff) had been signed to said instrument, who lives in Kerr Co. when at home, but who has been out of the county full of this year, in the charge of assault with intent to murder. Was it justice to request a petition of that nature?

To satisfy the wishes of all parties Howard, the principal of the expiration of one month offered again an assignment to Mrs. Howard, giving her the higher class. Mrs. Howard saw fit to admit to her class all that might choose to come to her. When the principal informed Mrs. Howard the pupils had to visit that class to which they belonged and could not be admitted in the other class, she dismissed her school that very day. Some days after, the principal secured the services of Prof. P. O. Joyce, who is able to teach both languages, and a teacher in the school, thereby relieving the principal's brother, who wished to resign. Prof. Joyce had scarcely made his preparations to enter upon his duties, when a democratic lawyer, Mr. Paul, and school director Henkle, informed him that the people did not wish his services, but the services of any body else but Mrs. Howard. The Professor seeing that he would not be able to teach his school in peace then gave up that position.

Since that time Mrs. Howard has been assigned, and teaches this school assisted by her daughter, solely depriving us of the opportunity of having our mother tongue taught to our children. I do not make those statements to defend our principal, Mr. Runge, for he is old enough to defend himself, if he deems an attack of the kind referred to worthy of an answer; but I have said this because it does not like to see the interest of the German speaking portion of this community trampled upon.

The rules and regulations provide that two hours a day may be devoted to the study of German, French and Spanish, and still our German teacher must make room for one who does not understand German. All of which happened in the Town of Castroville, which is chiefly inhabited by Germans.

A GERMAN TEACHER OF CASTROVILLE. FORT QUIMAN, TEXAS, October 20th, 1872. Editor San Antonio Express: The enclosed copy of the report of Lt. O. J. Sweet, 25th Infantry, stationed at this post, made to the Post Adjutant, is self-explanatory.

(CONT.) FORT QUIMAN, TEXAS, October 17th, 1872. Post Adjutant, Post of Fort Quimán, Texas: Sir—I have the honor to submit the following report for the information of the Captain Commanding, relative to hostile Indians lurking in this vicinity.

On the 15th inst., at about 4 P. M., I left this Post with one Corporal and two privates, and proceeded down the Rio Grande to the Cajonetas about 15 miles from Quimán, and seeing no signs of Indians, at dark I retraced to the Post, at 8 P. M., five miles from the Post, and camped for the night.

At 4 A. M., the 16th, I left camp with two men, (one of the animals having stampeded in the night, one man was left at the Post) and passed down to and through the Cajonetas, and then marched northward toward the Eagle mountains and across the old Indian trail that crosses into Mexico. Seeing no fresh signs I crossed the trail and continued on until about two miles from the mountains I struck a well leading toward Rio Springs, which appeared to be about four or five days old, which trail had been made by steps twenty-five or thirty feet high. I followed the trail for about a mile into a deep bottom, where a half had been made to pass and cross the bottom, which signs I learned my horse to be the animal, and that they were making toward Rio Springs. I then crossed the trail and proceeded along the base of the mountains toward the Canon Las Estimaciones, arriving there in about half past 10, and crossing the trail toward Rio Springs, I saw about a half mile to my left a few Indian Indians on foot heading toward the mountains, at a rapid pace. I halted, when they turned and came directly toward me for a few rods. They of my men upon them, when they broke and ran toward the river, small out of sight. I being alone I turned back until I came in sight of the two men, who were about half a mile from me, and motioned them to me. While awaiting their arrival I saw another Indian come up out of an Arroyo to the left, and in advance of where I saw the other three, and at about the same time another to my left and rear, and both ran in the direction of the three. These advanced with the men with within one-fourth of a mile from the place the Indians were last seen, when in a moment I saw three in my front, three on four on my right, and six on my left; they seeing but three of us, were attempting to surround me, and had cut me off from the direction of the Post. I then moved on the party, between me and the Post, and they went into an Arroyo, which was used to make a detour to my right, near the mountains, and I crossed several of them and moved back to their left, when they all broke out all at once, shot down the Arroyo and across the mountains to the right, when I saw only one man, who was again in a line with me, and he then again, falling back, saw me in the possession of all his pack commanded them, when they broke and fled for the mountains, I counting at this time eleven on the plateau. Having but two men with me, and all the Indians being well armed with muskets and carbines, as far as I was able to see, and my animals being well loaded out, having ridden about 45 miles in the past twenty hours, and being about thirteen miles from the Post, I deemed it prudent to retire, and arrived here at 4 P. M., having marched a distance of about 53 miles in twenty-four hours.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant, O. J. Sweet, 25th Infantry.

It is only one of many instances of depredations or attempted depredations by hostile Indians in the mountain west of Cavalry from this locality. The party reported by Lt. Sweet returned on the 18th, ten days after his encounter. They and drove in the hay stacks of Mr. McClinton, hay contractor, capturing all their animals and making good their escape. These hay stacks belong to a band of men who occupy the city who recently occupied from the reservation near Fort Stanton, New Mexico. They divided into bands of fifteen to twenty and are lurking near the ranches and settlements in this valley, and those lying adjacent. You may look for another chapter in the record of Indian attacks, soon.

Those of us who have had the hardihood to risk our lives and our all in this locality, relying upon the protection of government, until such time as we shall have grown sufficiently strong to be self-protective, feel a grave sense of insecurity, in view of the military policy, as indicated by the withdrawal of all the Cavalry on the line embraced between Fort Davis, Texas, and Bullion, New Mexico; a distance of two hundred and fifty miles, leaving but two companies of Infantry for its protection, and we cannot refrain from the belief, (though not censuring the policy or acts of the Department Commander,) that the policy is a mistake one, entailing incalculable loss of life and property. It has been our experience that wherever the military authorities have been capable of pursuing and punishing them for their crimes, the Indians have been slow and cautious of their commitment, and that when there have been few or no available troops, they have been bold and relentless. Therefore we are apprehensive.
