I've had that coffee pot all through India and South America, and now Pve lost it. I don't know what I'll do without that coffee pot"
"I'd like to know what I'm kept here for, unless they want my battery destroyed," interrupted the Captain.

"Aw, Captain, I beg pawdon: that monkey of an Adjutant sent me here to order you out. The General says you're doing no good here : better get out, you know.

"Damnation, why did'nt you give me the order? Eve lost two men and three horses while you talked about a damned coffee pot."
"Never mind, Captain; beg pawdon, I'll help you. We'll soon get out of range of the beggars. But an old campaigner cannot loss his

Further discourse was interrupted by a shell that, exploding, blew up a caisson and tumbled all that was left of the concern down the de clivity fin the rear. Colonel M. ex tricated himself from a dying houre, and walking away, grumbled:

"Most unfortunate day; lost my coffee pot and now that horse; but the coffee pot, you know, I cannot replace that; had it in India and all over South America; most unfortunate."

The romance of Senator Houstons life is hardly known to the present generation, and yet it contains enough to furnish material for a half score of novels. His escape from his mother, when at the age of seventeen, he fell madly in love with the Indian maiden Tootooloo (Sun flash.) and following her to her home, adopted the habits of the Cherokees, married her, and for three years under the name of Oolootteks, hunted and fished and

The New Braunfets Protest.

Ludwig Bourne says somewhere in his writings that if a dozen Germans are consulting together, they have thirteen different opinions, and if one man makes an attack on the crowd, they call in the police to help them. That was so thirty years ago. Since then the Germans have learned much, and now, when apyone attacks them, they go for the disturbing element in a way that makes the fur fly.

At least that is the way they do now on the other side of the Atlantic.

DR. C. F. BRAWN'S Young American Liniment.

THIS Liminent has gained a lasting reputation, where it has been used, in most cases which require an external remedy, such as rhoumatism, soroness and swelling of the breast, pain and weakness in the back and joints, sprains, bruises cramps, numbuess, frozen limbs, bites insects, old sores, fever sores, golfre or swelled neck, paralysis, wounds, arysipelas, bites of reptites, headache, white swellings, mange, poison, burns, all swellswellings, mange, poison, burns, all swellings, salt rheum, corns, warts, sore eyes, run-rounds, &c. We daily hear of the most astonishing cures on animals by this excellent remedy, and hazard nothing in saying that there never has been its equa as a curative for horses. We assert positively that it will cure any case of sween; tively that it will cure any case of sweeny in existence; also splint, galla, sprains or strains, bruises, scratches, wounds, big head, wind galls, sore eyes, swellings, &c.; and has never failed to cure fistula, policyl, ring-bone and spavin. When used in the beginning, strictly according to directions, and given internally with the food, it is a harmless but certain remedy for worms.
