The Dallas Conventional has done well. The attendance was very large, yet perfect harmony seems to have prevailed. We are not acquainted with the uniority of the nominees, but the opinion of those who are is that the selections have been very judiciously made, and that the ticket is a strong one. The nomination of Gov. Davis took nobody by surprise. He is the strongest man that could have been selected. His nomination will have one very beneficial result. It compels the Demorracy to put out their very best man. The "short stock" candidates for Governor might as well begin at once to retire from the public gaze and save the money they are expending for postal cards and travelling expenses.

The Democracy may now "Bring on its horses And call out its men."

for it will need them all before the struggle is over. Gov. Davis is today more popular than he ever was before. He is the best abused man in the State of Texas.
