City Council Gives Nod To Airport Master Plan

*** Commission Begins Districting Process

The Bailey County Commissioner's Court took preliminary action to start the re-districting of the county at its meeting Monday.

"We will put this on our agenda for our next meeting to order the official proceedings immediately," he said. Proceedings involved include a new count of houses and population. This re-districting will provide a balance in population for each commissioner.

After reviewing three bids, the commission accepted a bid from Yellowhouse Machines for a John Deere motor grader. The lease purchase agreement was made for the commissioner's precinct three.

The Commission also

Land South Of Town Tentative Proposal

The Muleshoe City Council gave its approval of the airport site recommendations from Earl Cook consultant with Gordon Herkenhoff and Associates Inc., and authorization to the Airport Board to proceed with the airport planning at the Tuesday meeting.

Cook was unable to attend the meeting, and City Manager Dave Marr presented the third interim report on the Airport Master Plan Feasibility Study to the council. The study is being conducted by a grant from the Federal Aeronautics Association on a 90-10 cost basis.

Out of the four preliminary sites studied by Cook, Marr presented information on the two most probable. Site one, by highway 84, 2 3/4 miles from highway 70-80 intersection, was appealing because of the proximity to town and access from highway 84.

But there were problems of high power lines and towers in the area which would eliminate expansion

Bailey County, Five Area Elect Officers; Eye Future

Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association and Five Area Telephone Cooperative, Incorporated held their annual meetings this weekend in the Muleshoe High School Auditorium. Members of the cooperatives were informed of topics pertinent to the cooperatives and new officers were elected.

Connie Gupton, manager of the cooperative reported that the largest single factor in the increasing cost for electric service presently is the Fuel Cost Adjustment. He further stated that the cooperative has no control over this cost and that the FCA is expected to continue to increase at approximately 10 percent per year.

Gupton pointed out that the cost of electric service would continue to go up, but that there were three areas in which the cooperative's irrigators could have some control over the rate at which their electric costs increased.

These controls could be obtained through a greater

Home Garden Series Planned for Journal

The Muleshoe and Bailey County Journals will begin a thirteen part series on the Home Garden beginning this week and continuing for approximately seven weeks.

The series, an educational program presented by Spencer Tanksley, county extension agent, will feature such topics as planning a garden, money-saving tips, soil preparation, crop rotation, insects, planting, transplanting and equipment.

"With the economy the way it is, I know there will be many in this area wanting to plant their own gardens," said Tanksley. "This is one area our office can help by providing information which would help with food income."

"Every year I get millions of calls from people wanting to know about home gardens, insects, and information about certain crops," he added. "We hope this series will be timely and residents will be able to use the information while planning, cultivating and harvesting their own gardens."

McPherson received his training at the Behavioral Sciences Division of the Los Angeles Police Department and is the Chairman of the International Association of the Legislative Commission.

He stated that victims of rape and assault suffer so much trauma that they cannot remember facts and his process enhances their recall. Victims and witnesses

Older Worker Week Set For March 8-14

Older Worker Week is planned for March 8-14, according to the U.S. Department of Labor. Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb, Inc. is encouraging employers to recognize their older workers during this week.

Evidence that the older worker is a high quality employee is mounting. According to a survey made recently among some of America's largest corporations, 84 percent of the personnel directors queried thought that older employees are more productive. Older workers were also more satisfied with their jobs than younger workers, according to the survey conducted by the Corporate Committee for Retirement Planning. Older workers were found to have better attendance and lower accident rates as well.

Green Thumb is a rural older worker employment program funded through the Department of Labor and is working to eliminate the unfounded prejudice against older workers.

Green Thumb directly hires nearly 1,000 workers 55 years of age and older, on a part time basis. Green Thumb employees are placed in community jobs throughout the 107 county area in which the program operates. These workers not only demonstrate the value of accumulated ex-

County Thirsty For Moisture

According to J.K. Adams, retired county agent, the Bailey County area is in the worst shape moisture wise than other areas of the South Plains.

Although we are below average in receiving moisture, Adams thinks most area farmers feel fairly good about the snow and rain moisture, but the prospects are not good for crops unless we get a spring rain and an average summer rain.

Adams adds that last year's drought may force many farmers in the area to go back to cotton, grain sorghum and wheat instead of growing corn.

According to his calculations, the official rainfall is .47 which is ample moisture for shallow roots and alfalfa.

Population Of Texas Sees 26% Growth

Preliminary 1980 census figures point out what most Texans already know -- the state is growing by leaps and bounds.

Texas' population is now pegged at 14,150,575, a gain of almost 3 million people, or an increase of 26.38 percent, since 1970.

The new census figures also show Harris County with the largest population in the state at 2,395,365 persons, followed by Dallas County with 1,551,032.

In contrast, Loving County in far west Texas has the distinction of being the most sparsely populated with only 91 persons, points out Jack Jones, community development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Counties with the greatest percentage growth from 1970-1980 were Hood County, 164.9 percent; Montgomery County, 158 percent; Fort Bend County, 149.4 percent; Collin County, 114.8 percent; and Rockwall County, 104.8 percent.

A further look at census figures shows that of the state's 254 counties, 42 have more than 50,000 people while 50 have populations of 5,000 people.

But, while a number of counties were showing rapid population gains, there were also those that lost people during the 10 year period, notes Jones. Forty eight counties fall into this category, and 42 of them lie west of a line from Wichita Falls to Laredo.

Final 1980 census figures to be released later this year may vary widely from these early counts, cautions Jones. But the fact that the state is having growing pains is one thing that will not change.

All this means more pressures on cities and communities to provide needed services for their expanding populations, says Jones. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service and its community development programs stand ready to lend a helping hand to community officials and leaders who need assistance in studying problems and formulating solutions.

Letters To The Editor

Letter to the Editor:

The February 23, 1981 announcement that an additional $11.8 million contract to a San Francisco firm to continue planning for the M-X Missile in the Clovis and West Texas area is another tragic example of the momentum of bureaucratic arrogance at its very worst.

This fraudulent concept, proposed by the Carter Administration under the discredited Salt II Treaty, should be abandoned immediately, and this contract cancelled.

The people in this vast area of Eastern New Mexico and West Texas whose farm homes, irrigation systems, terraces, and communities would be destroyed are beginning to get angry at this continuing boondoggle.

The new administration is asking a lot of people, including the poor, to sacrifice so that our economic house can be put in order. Most Americans are willing to work toward this end, if there is equity in the effort.

This mobile M-X farce, which harms our legitimate defense objectives, our economy, our ecology, and our production of food and fiber, makes a mockery of calls for budget cutting.

Every citizen of this area should let John Tower, who continues to send the same form letter "strongly approving Carter's basing mode," know loud and clear that continuing this ridiculous waste will not be tolerated.

Sincerely,
Frank Ford (S)
Frank Ford

Dear Editor:

I am writing you as an average citizen and taxpayer of the Muleshoe Independent School District concerning an irrevocable mistake costing my parents, A.M. and Chellie Bradley, who are both over 80 years old, approximately $375.00.

Last year there was a change in the tax laws. I was aware of this change but did not know what all it involved. Therefore, since ignorance of the law is no excuse I have no one to blame except myself.

I had my parents address changed to my address in Wyoming in November of 1979, and their paid tax receipts for 1979 were addressed and received at my Wyoming address. So I assumed that all their mail from the Muleshoe I.S.D. would be mailed to me. But now I realize that I should have never assumed that Muleshoe I.S.D. would ever do anything right. They had previously made eight costly mistakes in the past twenty years either to me or my parents and if they had even have made one mistake I should have realized that they could have made another, and questioned Mr. Click of why he never mailed my parents an Open Space Application form as he did me.

Anyway, we have another tax collector-assessor, Mr. Dale Jones, who has assured me that he and his staff will make every effort to give everyone all the benefits they are entitled to by law. And I have no reason to believe otherwise.

Since I have received the tax notices last October, I have written both Mr. Click and Mr. Jones three times explaining that they had not mailed me the Open Space Application forms and that they had no reason to mail my parents forms to me as they did mine. That I had sent the forms in as soon as I found them in their unanswered mail at Muleshoe less than six weeks after the deadline for filing. Mr. Jones informed me in his last letter to me that he is not authorized to make changes in any prior assessment figure. Neither did they mail my parents O.S.A. forms for this year, but because I was better informed of the law I xeroxed mine and this is satisfactory with the Muleshoe I.S.D.

Mr. Jones sent me a copy of Taxpayer's Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities a guide to Texas property taxpayers 1980-81. Had I have had this last year this $375.00 penalty might not have occurred. I suggest that every taxpayer of the Muleshoe I.S.D. get one of these guides, especially if you or your parents are over 65 years old. In this guide it explains who is eligible for exemptions such as agriculture land, homesteads, over 65, disabled, and others.

I also pay taxes in the Lazbuddie I.S.D., Parmer County, as well as Bailey County and to my knowledge none of these have ever made a mistake that cost me one cent. I believe that Mr. Jones can maintain a record like this if all of us taxpayers will cooperate and help him to the best of our ability.

So, I intend to check with this tax office at least once per year to see that all of the necessary forms are made out and received. This will be a very small sacrifice compared to the costly $375.00 penalty and the time lost trying to recapture my parents financial loss unsuccessfully.

This letter is written to prevent other taxpayers of the Muleshoe I.S.D. from making the same mistake that I made last year. If you have parents or friends who are old and have a hard time keeping up with changes, you might check with them and help them if you can. These older people have paved the rough roads to make our way smooth, build schools to educate us and our children, fought wars to give us a better way of life, and more other good things than I will take your time to mention, and they deserve every tax break that we can give them.

Publicly I want to thank Mr. Jones and his staff for informing me of my parents' rights and even though he was unable to adjust the mistake of last year; he has done everything to inform me so we together might prevent another mistake like from happening again.

Sincerely:

W.M. "Sam" Bradley (S)

Texas house sales drop during winter

COLLEGE STATION — Sales of existing homes in Texas dropped 15 percent during the first three months of 1980 over previous years, a study conducted by the Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University has revealed.

After monitoring housing sales for seven years, Dr. Arthur Wright, research economist, concludes that the coldest months of the year are a buyer's market.

"People are reluctant to move during this period, and since many families are tied to an area during the school year, the greatest amount of activity occurs during the summer recess," he said.

New Classing System Winding Down 1st Year

AUSTIN—A new-cotton classing system in Lamesa is nearing completion of its first season-long operation and will provide valuable information to industry and government on the system, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

Many believe the system will become the standard for cotton classification in the nation.

The Lamesa Cotton Marketing Services office is the first U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) facility in the nation equipped with the new system. The Lamesa Cotton Growers Association raised $500,000 through member assessments to help fund the national project.

That amount was matched by a federal grant, which is administered by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

At present USDA-trained graders determine grade and fiber length, and a precision instrument is used to measure fiber fineness. With the new system a grader still determines fiber color. The instrument system will eventually do that, as well as perform its current functions to measure length, fineness, strength and length uniformity.

The classification information is automatically recorded on computer tape. The tape is then used to produce computer cards with the information recorded in a form that may be read by eye or by a computer.

Textile mills now use instrument classing to select fibers for blending. Advocates of the new system believe it will help farmers produce cotton with characteristics that mills consider desirable. This in turn could mean improved prices for farmers.

"We believe this new instrument system will be an asset to producers, and we are glad to have been able to get it off the ground," Brown commented.

Through the third week of January the office had classed more than 275-thousand bales. The total is expected to reach 300,000 for the season. Last year the Lamesa office processed more than twice that amount, but this season's crop was reduced sharply by last summer's adverse weather.

The Lamesa office serves 71 gins in nine counties, including Andrews, Borden, Dawson, Gaines, Howard, Lynn, Martin and Yoakum counties in Texas and Lea county in New Mexico.

Responsible Alternative For Expectant Mother

Smithlawn Maternity Home is serving its 2,000 Smith girl since their beginning in 1960.

As the first cottage-style home in America, Smithlawn provides a responsible alternative for an expectant mother. She can live in the five bedroom brick home in complete confidentiality as she further her education and receives top medical care from various local hospitals.

The average stay in the home is three months. Girls who stay longer have more time to elaborate on the decision of giving up their baby to the Smithlawn Adoption Agency, established in 1966.

Smithlawn elder Joe Phillips says that women's attitudes have changed many times in the past 20 years.

"Now -- even though abortion is easy to come by, there is a growing conviction against it. Girls are more family oriented," Phillips said.

Staff Director Howard Hulett said, "We try to help the girls find a more contributing life." One girl had come to Smithlawn as a member of a theft ring and a ward of two states. After leaving Smithlawn, she had Tennessee connections inform Hulett of her newly directed life which was a result of the guidance and direction she received while in the home.

The maternity home and adoption agency are supervised by Smithlawn Church of Christ and supported by church affiliations in Texas and surrounding states.

For information contact Howard Hulett or Carol Anders at (806) 745-2574.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health Robert Bernstein, M.D., Commissioner

Since the over-65 population in the state is continuing to increase, Texans need to understand that a good nursing home doesn't have to be left to chance.

This is the opinion of Dr. Cesar M. Elizondo, Chief of the Bureau of Long Term Care of the Texas Department of Health.

With some 1.3 million people in Texas age 65 and over now, Texas currently has 1,029 facilities involved in the caring process with a 104,000 bed capacity.

By 1985, reports the US Census Bureau, the 65 and over population in Texas is expected to reach 1,465,400. This segment of Texas population is expected to reach 1,871,600 by the year 2000.

"Fortunately, there are some relatively simple guidelines and suggestions most people can follow if it becomes necessary to find a good nursing home," said Dr. Elizondo.

He advises to begin by making a list of the nursing homes in your area that fit the patient's preferences and needs. Consult your local health department, medical society, hospital or nursing home association, Social Security office, physician, clergyman, relatives, and don't forget the yellow pages in the phone book.

"It may not be necessary to visit all the homes on the list," Dr. Elizondo suggested. "You can eliminate some by making telephone calls to determine if the homes participate in Medicare or Medicaid or offer the services you need."

Medicaid and Medicare pay the bills for the majority of nursing home residents, so it is important to know a little about these programs. Medicaid pays the expenses for some low-income medically needy people, while Medicare helps pay some of the costs for those age 65 and over.

Under the Medicaid and Medicare programs, homes are classified according to the kinds of services offered.

"An intermediate care facility is for people who need health services and some nursing supervision in addition to help with eating, dressing, walking or other personal needs," Dr. Elizondo said. "Medicaid pays for intermediate care but Medicare doesn't."

He said a skilled nursing facility is one staffed to make round-the-clock nursing services available to residents "sick enough to need them. Medicaid pays for skilled nursing care.

Medicare does pay for up to 100 days in a skilled nursing facility if a patient with Medicare eligibility has spent at least three days in the hospital and skilled care is recommended by a physician.

After finding out which homes offer the services you need, the next step is to visit the facilities. "One good time to visit is during the serving of a meal," Dr. Elizondo advised. "See if food quantity is adequate. See if it is served attractively. See if the residents are enjoying the meal."

Ask the residents their opinion of the home, and ask visitors and volunteers the same question. If you see no visitors, ask for the names of several patients' families. Call them or write to find out what they think of the home.

Homes must display their licenses and rating certificates. Ask to see them and look closely to see if the license is current. In 1953, the Texas Legislature gave the Texas Department of Health the responsibility for the licensure of long term care facilities. Essentially, all homes providing nursing care for four or more residents must be licensed.

In addition, all administrators of licensed nursing homes must have a professional nursing home administrator license. Also, if you are eligible for Medicaid or Medicare, be sure the home is in certified status for these programs.

Nurses' aides, who come into contact with patients more than any other staff members, help with bathing, eating and dressing, the use of bed pans and other personal needs. Nurses' aides are required to have orientation and specialized training, followed by ongoing in-service training.

"Ask the administrator to tell you about the training program for nurses' aides," advises Dr. Elizondo.

Dr. Elizondo said it is wise to find out ahead of time what the charges are in a nursing facility and to see what services are covered by the charges. He said if you have a family pharmacist, find out if he or she can deliver prescriptions to the nursing home.

Open hearings are held annually in each nursing home by the Texas Department of Health to allow residents, family members, and the public to voice praise or register complaints pertaining to the operation of the facility. The hearings are scheduled in advance and family members are specifically notified. Some local news agencies make public announcements of the hearing dates.

A special toll free number, 1-800-252-9106, can also be used to contact the Texas Department of Health headquarters in Austin with questions and complaints.

Classic Pork Goes From 9-5 And 5-9

A classic is: a) literary, b) musical, c) fashionable, d) edible or e) all of the above?

If you didn't select "all of the above," you need an introduction to Wilson Foods Corporation's Recipe Ready line of "classic pork" products. Not only are they edible, but these boneless cuts, like any true classic, are always in good taste. And the convenience they offer never goes out of style.

Just as with any other "classic," you can count on consistent quality from the new Recipe Ready line. Selected for their tenderness and flavor, the boneless cuts also offer a sensible cost-per-serving value.

All eight cuts — fresh ham roast, loin roast, sirloin roast, fillet o'fresh ham, shoulder picnic roast, loin, shoulder butt and tenderloin — are vacuum-packaged to keep them "in the pink" of freshness.

Wilson has added convenience as its secret ingredient, with the creation of soon-to-be-classic recipes that are printed on the Recipe Ready package labels. This way, there's no guesswork in shopping for ingredients or meal preparation.

To tempt our taste buds even further, Wilson suggests this classic Italian "Pesto Pork Roast"—a presto dish that gives you time to relax and enjoy the rewards of smart food shopping.

PESTO PORK ROAST

3 to 4 pounds boneless leg of pork (Fillet O'Fresh Ham)
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup fresh bread crumbs
1/4 cup blanched almonds
1/2 cup crushed fresh parsley

Rub outside of roast with seasoned salt and pepper. In food processor or blender make bread crumbs, using about 1 slice bread; remove. Process almonds until coarsely ground; add crumbs and remaining ingredients. Process until evenly mixed. Remove netting and spread roast so four slits can be cut in the roast lengthwise. With spoon stuff crumb mixture into openings in center of roast. Replace netting. Place fat side up on rack in open pan; cook at 325°F. 40 to 45 minutes per pound or to 170°F. internal temperature. Serve with hot, buttered spinach egg noodles. Serves 6 to 8.

Note: A boneless pork loin roast (double loin, rolled, netted) may be used. Remove netting and spread meat flat. Spread stuffing down center of one side. Close and replace netting or tie with string.

The site designated number three, which located southwest of town was visited by a group from the Texas Aeronautics Commission, the FAA and the Airport Board. Both the FAA and TAC concurred that the Airport Board should proceed with the master planning of this site.

Delbert Barry, chairman of the Airport Board, added to Marr's comments that the first location would eventually be more expensive in land acquisition costs because a greater amount of land would have to be purchased than necessary.

Located in the area known as the "sandhills", the total site and general vicinity is presently undeveloped and uncultivated and no buildings or structures are located within the property or vicinity. Surface access from the city is south on State Highway 214, four and three fourths miles from

City Hall to the site entrance. The site is also judged by the consultant to be highly compatible with the predicted airport noise environment.

Councilman Shafer was concerned with the dust in this area. Barry assured him that the dust in the air was not any more than in town. He added that there would be some sand problems anywhere the site was planned but at site three, the ground visibility would be good.

Marr also commented that the cost of the project could not be determined or even discussed until the master plan is completed. The next step is for the FAA to do an air space study and begin with Phase IV which includes an environmental study and airport layout.

Marr added that the project was the only thing the TAC and FAA had going and he felt they were pursuing the proposal diligently. He also suggested the possibility of receiving back to back funding for both land acquisition and partial construction.

The construction could be spread out over a period of time depending on finances, said Marr.

In other business matters, the Council agreed to support the High Plains Underground Water Conservation with funds to conduct urban water conservation research. Councilman Finney moved the support be 10 cents per capita. Mayor Charles Bratcher commented that support of the research "would show our sincerity and good faith in the project."

Topics proposed to be studied include landscape design to harvest water from rooftops, sidewalks, and driveways, plant growth regulators for lawns, and yard sprinklers.

Support was also given by the council for Marr to proceed with his investigation and request to obtain a rural fire truck/rapid attach vehicle through the Texas Forestry Service Rural Community Fire Protection program.

Speeders beware: highway patrolmen sharpen radar skills

COLLEGE STATION — Drivers who fudge on posted speed limits will soon face increased odds of being ticketed for speeding, say law enforcement training officials for the Texas Engineering Extension Service (TEEX).

Texas highway patrolmen are going back to school on the Texas A&M University campus to learn how to use radar speed measurement equipment.

The course is a result of a recent Florida court case, in which a speeding citation based on radar measurement was thrown out. The defense proved to the court that the equipment was improperly calibrated and operated.

The radar operators course offered by TEEX's Law Enforcement and Security Training Division will instruct officers on scientific principles and theory of technology. Factors that can limit the accuracy and effectiveness of radar equipment will be emphasized along with operating procedures to circumvent or minimize the factors.

Coach Jones Gives Comments

Muleshoe's 7th and 8th grade boys completed their basketball seasons on Monday night, February 16. The 7th grade team improved quite a bit during the season and after a slow start, finished the year with a record of seven wins and nine losses. In Littlefield's 7th grade tournament our 7th graders won a consolation trophy and then won a 3rd place trophy in the Three Way 8th grade tournament.

Muleshoe's 8th grade team ended the year with a mark of 11-5 and won 3rd place in the Muleshoe Tournament and 1st place in the Bovina Tournament. This team has played well in both football and basketball and should have a fine chance to win in track.

At present, coaches are looking forward to the 7th and 8th grade track seasons and have enjoyed working for both groups of athletes.

Dependents Must Be Filed

A common error of taxpayers claiming head of household filing status is not listing the name of a qualifying dependent or child, and this can lead to a refund delay.

To file as a head of household, a taxpayer must be unmarried and provide more than half the cost of keeping up a home that is the main home for his or her dependent or child. An unmarried child who qualifies the taxpayer as head of household must live with the taxpayer but need not be his or her dependent. Other qualifying persons must be the taxpayer's dependents. They generally must live with the taxpayer. However, the taxpayer's dependent parents may qualify, even though they live elsewhere, if the taxpayer paid more than half the cost of keeping up their home and is eligible to claim one of both parents as dependents.

Unmarried includes single, legally separated, divorced and widowed persons, the IRS said.

Without a child or qualifying dependent, unmarried taxpayers are not eligible to file as heads of household and if they do not qualify as surviving widows or widowers, they file under single status and use the corresponding tax table.

coaching on basic fundamentals and all aspects of basketball.

Highlights of each camp include one-on-one competition, hot shot competition, championship play, special lectures each day, evening recreation, a talent night, individualized attention, free throw competition, and awards.

Coaches for the camps are outstanding high school and college coaches in the Southwest. Several top college and professional players are used as counselor-coaches.

Players desiring additional information on the basketball camps should contact Dr. Dick Slinker, Camp Director, Sunshine Girls' Basketball Camp, Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, N.M. 88130.

Low Income Tax Credit

The Earned Income Credit is a refundable tax credit available to certain working parents who earned less than $10,000 in 1980, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The credit will be paid to taxpayers who qualify even if it exceeds tax liability or the taxpayer owes no taxes. Some taxpayers could receive a credit of as much as $500. To be eligible for the Earned Income Credit, taxpayers must:

1. have an "Adjusted Gross Income" and Earned Income (including that of spouse) of less than $10,000; and
2. file as married filing jointly, head of household, or qualifying widow or widower; and
3. not have any income earned in a foreign country or a U.S. possession, if the income is eligible for exclusion from gross income; and

4. live in a home with a dependent child for the whole year or qualify as a head of household because a married child can be claimed as a dependent. If the taxpayer qualifies as a head of household because of an unmarried child, that child does not have to be claimed as a dependent.

Taxpayers may elect to receive their credit in one of two ways. If they are eligible, they can receive it when they file their return, or they may choose to have their employer include advance payments in their paychecks throughout the year.

In order to receive advance payments during 1981, the taxpayer should expect to meet the above conditions for all of 1981.

Tech Receives Citation For Weather Service

The Texas Tech University Institute for Disaster Research (IDR) was recognized by the National Weather Service for its "significant contribution" to West Texas severe storm preparedness and other "Valuable assistance."

The award is one of 50 presented annually by the NWS.

"The institute's expertise has been invaluable in the effort to educate school, hospital and nursing home administrators in the areas of severe weather planning and shelter identification," according to the citation.

"The staff of the Institute for Disaster Research has made a significant contribution to West Texas preparedness by personally inspecting schools, hospitals and other institutions, as well as by participating in and critiquing severe weather drills.

"In addition to providing useful materials for public and spotter training programs, valuable assistance has been provided the National Weather Service in the preparation and distribution of severe weather safety brochures."

The Public Service Award, presented through the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce, was announced at the annual banquet of the South Plains Chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers.

Dr. Joseph E. Minor is IDR director. His principal colleagues in the institute include Dr. Richard E. Peterson of the atmospheric sciences faculty and Dr.

Kishor C. Mehta and Dr. James R. McDonald. Minor, McDonald, and Mehta are members of the Texas Tech civil engineering faculty.

In the nomination for the award attention also was called to two students, Bruce Campbell and Erik Rasmussen of atmospheric sciences, whose quick thinking saved lives in Tulia and possibly in Wellington.

In Tulia the students were filming a tornado several miles in advance of the storm. They quit filming in time to drive through the western part of town, honking the horn on their car to warn of the tornado's approach. In Wellington, the students had time to drive to the police station so that the populace could be warned.

How much did it cost you not to own a Valley Corner System?
In 1980. Plenty!

Depending on what you raised, at 1980 prices, there were big dollars that could have been added to your gross income by bringing corners and odd shapes into full production.

Yield/Acre	Producer Price	Center Pivot 131 Acres	EXTRA INCOME with Valley Corner System +20 Acres +30 Acres +40 Acres
Gran Sorghum 7,000 lbs	$ 5.35 cwt	$ 49,059	$ 7,490 $ 11,235 $ 14,980
Potatoes 30 tons	6.83 cwt	$36,838	$1,960 $2,940 $3,920
Corn 150 bu.	3.01 bu.	$9,539	$9,090 $13,635 $18,180
Alfalfa 7 tons/yr	79.10 ton	$7,534	$1,074 $1,611 $2,148
Peasnuts 4,500 lbs	21.46 lb.	$26,153	$9,260 $28,890 $38,520
Cotton 750 lbs.	76.46 lb.	$5,063	$1,460 $2,920

No wonder there are more and more corner systems than ever. And with prices rising, adding a corner arm to your existing system becomes more attractive all the time, because it's likely to be the least costly way to increase your gross and net. If you're considering a whole new system, opting for a corner system over a standard pivot is the least costly investment per acre when all the numbers are checked.

Stop by and see us for the complete corner system story.

Mengden Introduces ERA Recall Bill

Senator Mengden, Republican from Harris County, has introduced SCR 39, to recall Texas' ratification of the so-called Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the U.S. Constitution, and SCR 40, to memorialize Congress to propose a new, more specific ERA that would be less likely to lead to adverse interpretation by the federal courts. Senator Mengden also introduced SB 633, to prohibit sex discrimination in public and private employment in Texas, and SCR 41, to require all state agencies to avoid the use of sexist language in the drafting of public documents.

"Both the pro and anti-ERA forces favor equal rights for women. The difference is how to achieve this goal: through statutory laws enacted by elected officials on the federal, state, and local levels or through a broadly worded U.S. Constitutional Amendment which would be interpreted by federal judges with lifetime appointments," Senator Mengden said.

"The advocates of the ERA have sometimes taken to calling it symbolic. And they may be right—it might not do anything at all. Or it could do a whole lot of serious harm. No one really knows what the ERA truly means because what it actually would do rests entirely in the hands of the federal judges. Considering the numerous incredible, outrageous decisions of the federal courts—such as outlawing prayer in school and in advancing the rights of criminals over law-abiding citizens—I genuinely fear what the federal courts might do with the ERA. It is virtually a blank check," he said. Senator Mengden pointed out that the U.S. Civil Rights Commission has cited Texas, which has an ERA provision in the State Constitution, as proof that the federal ERA would do no harm. "But state judges in Texas are elected by the people and this has resulted in judicial restraint. Because state judges must stand for re-election, there is little danger that they will go overboard in interpreting the state ERA, or other laws, in ways that were not intended. However, if the federal ERA were made part of the U.S.

Constitution, the irresponsible federal courts, with judges who answer to no one, would be in control. By contrast, if federal judges were elected, it is possible that they would be no controversy at all over the ERA," he said.

As drafted by Senator Mengden, a new ERA would not impair the validity of any laws which exempt women from compulsory military service or from service in combat; or extend protections to wives, mothers, or widows; or impose upon fathers the responsibility for the support of children; or secure privacy to men or women; or make punishable as crimes rape or other sexual offenses; or prohibit marriage or sexual relations between persons of the same sex; or regulate the performance of abortions. Public funding and the Congress would have power to enforce this constitutional amendment with appropriate legislation.

"The problem with the present ERA is that it is very poorly worded. The federal judiciary would have a field day with it. You can imagine what U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice would do with this. But a more carefully worded constitutional amendment would do a lot to remove the justifiable doubt and confusion about the ramifications of the ERA," Senator Mengden said.

SB 633 would prohibit employment in any manner against an individual because of that person's sex. Exceptions are provided for positions for which the sex of a person is substantially related to the performance of the services required and for purposes of maintaining community standards of privacy and decency. An individual who is discriminated against because of sex could file suit in court for appropriate relief, compensatory damages, 10 percent interest on lost wages, attorney's fees and court costs. Senator Mengden stated that federal law, Title 42 of the U.S. Code, prohibits sex discrimination in employment that involves interstate commerce and that state law, Article 6252-16, prohibits sex discrimination in public employment. However, he indicated that there was no specific law to prohibit discrimination because of sex in intra-state, private employment. The State ERA in Article I, Section 3a, of the Texas Constitution might or might not be construed to prohibit such discrimination but, in any case, contains no mechanism for enforcement.

SCR 41 would direct the Texas Legislative Council the bill drafting arm of the Legislature, to stop preparing legislation that uses masculine pronouns to refer to both sexes. It would also direct all state agencies to use dual pronouns or sex neutral substitutes in drafting rules, regulations, and other public documents.

Senator Mengden also introduced SCR 42, to memorialize the Congress not to extend the deadlines for the ratification of any future constitutional amendments. A total of 35 states ratified the ERA, including five states that rescinded their ratification, bringing the total down to only 30, before the seven year deadline expired on March 22, 1979, but 38 states were needed. However, the Congress passed legislation in an attempt to extend the deadline for ratification until June 1982.

"The liberals were eager to play fast and loose with the constitutional amendment process in order to try to help the ERA.

John Block, Agriculture Secretary, on Soviet grain embargo: "...I recommended to the president that it be reviewed by a much broader forum than that since there are many other interests at stake here."
