OUR LITTLE GHOST.

Off. in the effence of the night,
When the lone moon rises high;
When the wintry whits are whistling.
And we hear the owl's shrill cry; In the quiet dusky chamber,
By the flickering firelight, A TON
Rising up between two sleepers.

Comes a spirit all in white.

A winsome little ghost it is, Rosy-checked and bright of evel; With yellow curls all breaking loose From the small cap pushed away. Up it climbs among the pillows, For the "big dark" brings no dread, And a baby's boundless fane Makes a kiugdom of a bed.

Safe the night seems as the day; The moon is but a gentle face.
And the sighing winds are gay;
The solitude is full of friends, And the hour brings no regrets; For in this happy little soul; Shines a sut that never sets.

metry little phost it is. Dancing gaily by itself, On the flowery counterpane, Like a tricky household elf; Nodding to the fiful shadows, As they ficker on the wall; Talking to familiar pictures, Mimicking the ewl's shrill call.

A thoughtful listle ghost it is;
And when lonely gambols tire.
With chubby hands on chubby kness,
It sits winking at the fire;
l'ancies innocent and levely
Shine before those baby eyes
Bandless fields and dandelions. Brooks, and high and butterflies

When crept into its nest, hand on father's shoulder laid, It watches each familiar face, With tranquil trusting ayor and, like a alcopy fittle bird, Sings its own awest julinaby.

Then, those who feigned to sleep before, Lest haby play 'till dawn, Wake and watch their folded flower-Little rose without a thorn; And in the silence of the night The hearts that love it most, av tenderly above its sleep, 'God bless our little ghost !" Besurrectionists in Washington.
