LOST OPPORTUNITIES.

There is not a phrase in the Eng ish language equal in saddest meaning to the plaintive "it-mighthave-been." It is saturated with the very concentration of grief and, sometimes,-remorse, coupled with the tall comprehension of the irre trievableness of lost opportunities.

Time and tide wait for no man, and the "convenient goddess opportunity" will not smile upon anybody that comes "toe late," or not at all.

There is dignity and poetic fascination in inconsolable griet,-but there is none whatever in spiteful fretting over spilt milk.

People actually sometimes attempt to throw the responsibility for painful failures on anybody and everybody, except on the parties really and exclusively guilty, that is on themselves. That may be payments to-day. convenient, but it is very far from being fair. The results of last Saturday's meetings do not suit everybody, ome Germans especially feel themselves aggrieved at what transpired n the 3d ward. As far as we can see-and we have been at some pains, to ascertain the facts in the case—the election of delegates took place, in strict accordance with the rules, previously agreed upon. If the results do not suit them, they have to ascribe it solely to their own negligence in attending the meeting. The EXPRESS has not een careless in the discharge of its duty; it has been very explicit in pointing out to Republican voters, the very great importance of these meetings. Besides this matter is so phain in itself that much urging vember for Thankegiving. and explaining would hardly seem

Every man attending these meetings had his preferences, and it was his right and his duty, to vote secordingly. If all those, that feel dissatisfied now, had appeared promptly and stood up like man and good citizen for their opinions, the probability is that their views would have prevailed. Presents are dangerous, especial ly political ones; in fact they are logically inconceivable in a Republie like ours. Everything must be 'paid for," every political advantage must be thought over, fought ship Carondelet, from Liverpool, lost all for; and vigilantly and persistently fought for. There is no power between heaven and earth that can exempt anybody, not even the Germans of the third ward, from taking the unaroidable steps towards the attainment of certain ends. The opportunity is lost-and will remain so. Nothing is left, but to do the best under the circumstances. But in the name of reason and justice do not complain; -and if you must accuse somebody, accuse

It will be remembered that is order to be able to arrive at anything in the shape of public improvements, the City Council had to compromise the matter by allowing so many yards of streets to be made and reo many West of the San Pedro.

Alameda Avenue and South streets on the East, were to be laid down with rock and gravel, while Presidio street from the Military Plaza to the Alasan was to be laid down in a cimilar manner.—This being agreed to, the contragts were let, Mr. Braden and Mr. Campbell being the lowest hidders, work commenced at once by both of those efficient contractors, and was progressing rapidly when an idea siezed the Mayor that work, must be discontinued on Presidio street. But the City Surveyor not wishing to be outdone by any unusual stretch of Official Authority, says a great public sink or canal is badly needed, and must be made at once east of the river, for the purpose of draining the waters of the Powder house hill and carrying off the ever flows of the Madre and Alamo ditches.

To carry out this brilliant idea South rest is selected, to the disgust and dissatisfaction of all property-owners living upon it. Yes! South street intersecting the most beautiful portion of that part of our City is to be made a public gutter for all time, and simple because a public official wishes to try an experiment at the expense of the people.

This public gutter is low finished an if there are any curious enough to go and see the elephant it will only cost them a walk to the corner of Alamo and South street, at Eli Coles store, to fully satisfy

THE latest telegraphic dispatches bring us the sad news of the unprecedented distrees among the people at Calvert and Dallas, caused by yellow fever. Speedy help is imporatively needed; and as $700 have already been forwarded to Shreveport, it has been resolved to give a concert on Saturday next for the relief of the sufferers, in the above named cities.

DISTRICT COURT .- A man-whose name we did not learn charged with the crime of counterfeiting, has been in jail here, for some time. Parties in Weatherford requested our city detective to have him arrested. Yesterday this case was to be tried before Judge Noonan, but the accusing parties, having in the mean time managed to possees themselves of the amount of money. due them on the part of the prisoner, anddenly decamped and the trial could not
