Euglish Women in Politics.

The influence of women in politics has recently had a practical demon-stration in England. Mr. Moneure D. Conway writes to the Cincinnati Commercial that the late elections at Dover and Bath were determined Dover and Buth were determined more by the wives of the candidates than the candidates themselver. In the termer city, the Tory candidate was successful, though it has been a Liberal borough heretofore. At Bath, two ladies were in the field—Mrs. Hayward, the Liberal candidate's wife, and Mrs. Forsythe, the champion of the Conservative side. In this instance, the Liberal lady. In this instance, the Liberal lady carried off the honors, partly be-cause she was the first to enter on on the canvass, and partly because the was the more fascinating of the two; We approband that, if Mrs. Forsythe were as beautiful and at fractive as she is conservative, the mere fact that she was the immitat-

or would not have placed her at a diadvantage. The important part played in these two elections by feminine campaigning is likely to make this novelty the atriking fea-the in the elections for the maxt Parliament. It is admitted that Mrs. Barnett, the Tory lady, won over the constituency of Dover from its well-established liberalism. At

Bath, the cauvass is stated to have seen very exciting a Bath ladies went into the struggle with entheslism, drove out in gorgeous equipages, with partisan colors, as on a race-day, pulled up at the shops of the trades people soliciting votes, and even children the doubtful voters and drove them direct to the polls. It can be readily conceived that there was a new inceptive to political devotion in all this, and that the old stagers, worried out and disgusted with stale political tricks, would eagerly bite at the new bast throughout la though Pretty faces, sweet words, musical voice es, bright suiles, sariegated rib-bons, the fascinating rustle of silks the soft pressure of a prettily gloved hand, a love of a bonnet, and the coquettish peep of a dittie boline are quite different affairs from the twirl of the shillelsh, the fumes of gin, and fire howls of chaffing businers. The most blow hater of elections could scarcely resist these new at

The 13th Article of the Democratic Platterm.

We can not close our criticism of the Democratic platform without calling attention to the 13th article which is as follows:

"We invite all good men, whatever may have been their past political preferences, to unite with the Democratic party in removing from place and power those Radical officials who now in part control the State government, in order to insure an honest administration of the laws, and an honest and egonomical expenditure of the public noneys, and to throw the ægis of justice and protection over the person and property of every individual whatsoever in the State of Texas.

Thirteen is a fatal number; where there are thirteen together, one of them, it is said, is sure to die shortly after, and in this case it will be apt to be the Democracy. The invitations quoted is probably intended as a funeral notice, and all decent people are respectfully invited to attend. We shall not fail to write a proper obituary and epitaph, even if it should expire with the 13th lie on its lips. The 13th Leg-islature is the disease from which the Democracy is suffering, and the Tath article sounds like the song of the dying swan

It is perhaps not too soon to prepare a few remarks to be delivered at the grave. Shall we remind the old creature that her sins are numerous and of the most benious character, that all her words are lies, and that every sentence she utters, are nothing but lies, lies, lies. Why should she then in her last moments thus endeavor to tell still one more lie before being called away. Where are the proofs that the Republicans here stolen the money of the peo- according to a letter to the London Times als I It such has been the case, of the 4th inst., that the captain, to save why did not that 13th Legislature prove the fact and thus obvinte the well known rock, and the sea, tumbling in party was it that gave the people ble to part, and the vessel to aurga heavi-protection, and what party was it, that took the protection from the

DAVIS AND COME.

Davie, after having served Texas r lour years as Governor, and de fending the rights of the people against the monopolies, now comes before them for re-election with a clean record and with clean hands with no entangling alliances with milroads; and to this condition, it elected, to do law and axact justice to all, and nothing more. How is it with Coke? Before he is even nominated we find him used, man pulated and owned by the Interna-tional Bailmad, and we do not know how many promises made to its Democratic railroad lawyers.— (State Journal, 1997)

Let the people remember that the entire school tax collected under this administration is only $1,063,052,31, and not $3,560,000 as falsely stated by Squire Coke. See Treasurer's books for vouthers. A complete list of amounts sellected from each county, apparately, will be published, which will cover the Coke Democracy with confusion.

Letters from the Blo Grande in-Letters from the Rio Grande in-term us that not only the Republi-cans, but Gov. Davis' old Demo-eratis friends are working for him with a will. The Davis tidal nave is gathering from every quarter, and will sweep the land by the 2nd of December. But all our friends, in all quarters of the State, begin leaf, on this, the 2nd day of November, and exert themselves to the utmost for the month in which we may work.—State Journal,

To the West Greeting.

"Grant is the parish beadle," says the author of "Ginx's Baby," "He is great in his livery, and his liver makes him great. This is the earthing heading of an article is the Kanas City Thee. According to this account the fight was in a common cattle car, between Major N. B. George, of Kanasa City, and a wild and vicious steer, which had by some means been gored and wolden down would mightily become him, for he had once been beadle to a brotherhood, and that people would come from leagues around to see him in his ducal robes. The around to see him in his ducal robes. The beadle loveth to show his power. Little boys fremble in his presence, and old wofor aid. Divested of his beadle's gown, he is plain John Smith or Ezekiel Jones, of any where; in that wondrous garb, he is the beadle of Bullyfillem. He may get into the Parliament, or may don the robes of an earl, but the beast within the robes and the spirit of the beast within his body bespeak him still the parish beadle."

The Pate of French Marshals.

(From a Puris Letter.) Let me and that the history of previous rials of Marshals of France is not calculated to flatter the hopes of Bazaine. The office of Marechal was instituted in the reign of Francois I, and since then five Marshals have been tried, found guilty and all of them executed.

1. Marshal de Rets was hanged and purned for rebellion and high treason. 2. Marshal de Biron was decapitated for opeplring with Spain against his friend and benefactor, Henry IV.

3, and 4. Marshale de Marcillac and de Montmoresicy were send to the scaffold for empiring against the red man, Richeliet 5. Marshal Ney was shot by the Bour ons, in 1815, for going over to his eld master Napoleon, on his return from Elba. Bazaine is the first French Marshal charged with not having done his duty in the face of the enemy.

A Cheerful Conductor.

[From the Nashville (Tenu.) Union.] A Nachville man had occasion to go to Memphis over the Northwestern Road last week. There were but few passengers board, and during the night the conduc or came and sat down by him. "Goin' to Memphis, are you, stranger f" he neked, "You, str," said the Nushville wan.

"Mighty rough rend, ain's it t' queried the conductor, with a yawn.

"Very," was the reply. "Last time I went over the road this ear we're in now was upset, and a man killed all to smash," said the semmalestive ticket puncher, with another yawn. Then he added: "I've got the most reckless enrineer on the road with me to night, too out I hope we won't have any worlden to: "I certainly lione we will not," responded the passenger, with a feeling of unusel

"Well, I don't know as it would make much difference to you," said the conductor, cheerfully; "you'tl die anyway f rou're goin' to Memphis."

DUBING the examination of witnesses in the recent liquer prosecutions at Montpe-liet before the grand jury, Col. Bentwellthe former well-known landlerd of the Pavilien Hotel, was called to the stand and interrogated as follows; "De you maw of pay liquor being sold in Montpeist, of your own personal knewledge?"
"Yes," blaffly responded the Colonel, "Thave sold liquor to eight of that fury that ait before you!" The presention considered him a "too-willing witness," and told him he could go, although he was ready to answer further on the subject.—[Ruthand Globa.

day until one o'clock, owing to the badness of the roads. The New Braunfels lane is very muddy, and as it is fenced in on both eides by farms, there is no going around it. We do not exaggerate a particle when we say it is very nearly as bad as some of our principal thoroughfares. After all, people should not complain, it keeps the Indians out of town and prevents the Democratic candidates from traveling through the country.

SAN ANTONIO is a most highly civiliaed city, and produces a larger number of self-sacrificing caudidates to the square acre than Selma, Austin or any other village we know of, nevertheless there are some modern improvements that have not yet come into general use.

The soil on which the city is built is the black alluvial soil peculiar to river bottoms and although very good for agricultural purposes, is not favorable to pedestrianism, sa long as men are constructed according to the present model. It is evi dept to all our citizens that something must be done to our streets, and the only thing to do is to repair them as well and as cheaply as possible, and the means to do it lie at our very doors. The rock quar. rice belong to the city, and are only a few miles from the city; the road is down bill; and the refuse from the quarries is exactly the material to make the streets passable. A railroad track could be construct ed at a comparatively small cost, and "dummy"engine, or even borse power might Those indistments have not been found yet, and the District Attorney was ouggesting to Judge Noonen yearstday, that the Grand Jury be called together again, and new indictments be drawn up.
