City Council Okays Policy Procedures

Meeting, with a rather lengthy agenda Tuesday morning, the Muleshoe City Council made quick work of most of the agenda before going into executive session for discussions on current airport lease negotiations.

Approved by the city council was a new personnel policy which cut sick days earned to three fourths day per month, with a maximum accumulation of 30 days.

Also, under the new policy, after the first year of work, employees will earn

Jaycees Still Have Tickets For Groceries

Turn out your pockets! Are they empty, and so is your pantry or larder? School started yesterday, and everyone knows it is much more expensive for students to even begin school now, and many, many pockets are empty.

How would you like to have an opportunity to help fill that empty refrigerator, pantry or food supply?

It's real easy. The Muleshoe Jaycees are currently in the process of providing an answer for one lucky family in Muleshoe. They are conducting a grocery giveaway.

Now, this not a grocery grab, but a certificate for $50 each for four local food stores. The stores are Piggly Wiggly, White's Cashway, Pay and Saye and Carl's Meat Market.

Food is a necessary item in the life of everyone, and the Muleshoe Jaycees said they would like to help make it a little easier on someone.

See any Muleshoe Jaycee and get your tickets for the grocery giveaway, maybe your family will be the lucky one.

At 2:30 p.m. Sunday, the Needmore Singers will host a singing for persons residing at the Muleshoe Nursing Home.

At presstime, seventeen year old Aleck Shafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Shafer was still listed as 'very serious' in the intensive care unit of Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

He was critically injured in a wreck near Muleshoe on Saturday, August 12, and has been in a coma since that time.

Local Schools Will Offer Free Meals

Muleshoe Schools will offer three breakfast and lunch schedules for local students for the 1978-79 school year. Meals will be offered at regular price, reduced price and free.

In conjunction with the beginning of school, Muleshoe Superintendent Neal B. Dillman has released the following statement concerning the meals:

"Muleshoe Schools has long recognized the need for helping meet the nutritional needs of its students. The following schools, Richland Hills Primary, Mary DeShazo Elementary, Muleshoe Junior High and Muleshoe High School serve well balanced meals each school day, he charge to students who pay for breakfast is 25 cents for Kindergarten, 1st and 2nd grades; 30 cents for 3rd, 4th and 5th grades; and 40 cents for the 6th through 12th grades. The charge to students who pay for lunch is 60 cents for Kindergarten, 1st and 2nd grades; 65 cents for 3rd, 4th and 5th grades; and 75 cents for the 6th through 12th grades. However, since some families find it difficult to pay this full price, the school will provide these meals free of charge or at a reduced price to those children determined by the Director of Special Programs to be unable to pay the full price for their lunches," said

Challenges Are Issued On Caravan

With each civic and social organization in Muleshoe refusing to be outdone by the other in the planned caravan to Southwestern Public Service Company in Amarillo on September 19, challenges are flying through the air thick and fast.

They are fast challenging each other to produce the most people to make up the planned 200 person caravan to make the planned goodwill tour.

Chairman Harmon Elliott expressed dismay this week as he was beginning to think that perhaps sign-up of the proposed caravan members had bogged down, has received information that the caravan plans are rolling along.

The caravan will show the Southwestern Public Service Company personnel that Muleshoe is ready to welcome the multi-million dollar plant to the Muleshoe area, and will be attempting to prepare the city to receive the several hundred workers who will be constructing the new plant.

Don't forget to mark your calendar for Tuesday, September 19, and plan to leave with the caravan around 8 a.m. from the area of the XII Drive In Theatre.

Southwestern Public Service Company officials will treat the caravan members to a free barbecue luncheon following a tour of the facilities.

that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.

"To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet. "To make all your friends feel that there is something in them..."

In the same vein, the creed was adopted by some 35 charter members of the organization who said they believed in the entire creed and the Optimist philosophy which is to work with youth.

Jim Shafer was elected president of the Optimist Club of Muleshoe with Bill Wooley and Roy Whitt being chosen vice presidents. Corky Biggerstaff was named secretary-treasurer and two year directors are Dr. Jerry Gregory, Wayland Ethridge and James Crane. One year directors include Sam Gonzales, Joe Garay and James Williams.

President Shafer commented, "I think Optimists have something to look forward to and we can be a benefit to the entire community."

Cotton And Grain Moisture - Stressed

"The hot, dry summer has taken its toll in our crops in the county and we have a dismal picture at this time," said Bailey County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley, Tuesday.

He said that although he had a better situation in June and July, the hot, dry summer has caught up with us and we are still in need of moisture.

Cotton and grain sorghum south of the sand-hills are especially moisture-stressed on dryland crops, added the county agent. In an area from Baileyboro to Stegall to Maple to Enochs, the crops are especially suffering. There is also a major problem in the Goodland area and some parts of Bula where inadequate moisture has been received to help the young cotton and grain sorghum reach maturity.

"However," he stressed, "we still look much better than some of the areas I have been driving through during the past two weeks. Although we do have a moisture problem, and the crop situation in Bailey County has changed dramatically during the past three weeks, I still feel that we can recover a lot of the potential loss with rain."

Tanksley said the lack of moisture during the growing season is beginning to show up drastically in cotton, grain sorghum and sunflowers.

Conditions are still favorable in the dryland areas of Longview, Needmore and

Bailey County, Senior Citizens Accept Van

"The daily transportation needs of senior citizens of Bailey County will be met by a 12-passenger minibus that will provide door-to-door travel by appointment," said Peg Robinson of the South Plains Agency on Aging.

The bus, purchased from Muleshoe Motor Company, Inc., was presented to Bailey County Judge Glen Williams and Bailey County by Mrs. Betty Shannon, project director for the Office on Aging, South Plains Association of Governments on Monday, August 28.

The vehicle was made available through a grant provided by the governor's Committee on Aging and the county provided 10 percent of the purchase price with the state responsible for the additional 90 percent. Bailey County will be responsible for the operating expenses of the vehicle.

The mini-bus will provide door-to-door transportation on an appointment basis to all senior citizens of Bailey County. Miss Elizabeth Harden will take requests for the bus service.

Any resident of the county 60 years of age and older may contact her for information about trips to town and for out of town services. The mini-bus can provide access to the doctor's office, grocery store, bank, post office, social security office, pharmacy, social activities, or wherever the need may be.

GREAT DAY!!!

Texas DPS Predicts Safer Labor Day

Regional Commander, Major C.W. Bell of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region 5, comprising of 60 counties, is optimistic for a safer Labor Day Weekend 1978. Last year, Texas lost only 27 in fatal crashes on the highways. This is the lowest number killed in traffic accidents on a Labor Day Weekend since 1966, when the death toll was only 23. Major Bell said, "Holiday traffic will be heavy near recreational areas such as lakes and camp grounds. The Texas motorist should be extra careful for children playing and for motorcycles. Both are difficult to recognize by the motorist in these crowded places." Bell said that the drinking driver will pose a problem in traffic. He urges the motorists to cooperate with all law enforcement agencies in helping to reduce loss of life by being especially alert for the drunken driver. The Texas Department of Public Safety will have all its uniform personnel available around the clock during Labor Day Operation Motorcade 1978. These troopers will be on the lookout for the DWI and speeding driver, since these are the two main causes of fatal accidents. The past few holidays have indicated that another type of vehicle is a major source of death on the highways. This vehicle is the motorcycle. Motorcyclists are not wearing protective head gear, and the loss is overwhelming when the helmet is not used. The DPS is made up of people who care about saving human lives. This is their job. Also, the Texas motorist will find that the trooper is more than willing to assist in directing the lost motorist to the proper and safe routes available. The DPS encourages the stranded motorist to obtain help from its troopers on the rural highways in order to maintain proper security while traveling these long stretches of roadway during the Labor Day Weekend. Major Bell concluded by saying, "More people are killed in Texas each year in traffic than are killed by the handgun. These traffic deaths are just as senseless, as needless, and as tragic as those by the handgun, but not nearly as well publicized."

Circleback, he said and the yield prospects look good in that area where the other situation looks rather dismal at this point.

He emphasized, "Despite the talk in some areas of plowing up the cotton, most cotton farmers in this county are expected to take their crop to harvest, although there may be some grain sorghum which will never be harvested this year."

No major problems are found with moisture on irrigated lands west, east and north of Muleshoe and conditions are still favorable there.

"I do not feel that irrigation would be correct at this time on corn. But, two inches of rain would help develop cotton fiber," he added.

Corn is maturing very rapidly, according to checks made by the county agent, but the crop is still using moisture. Corn is halfway to the maturity stage and within two to three weeks the crop will be made, was his prediction.

Tanksley said ensilage is being cut in the county at this time and most vegetables are being harvested. Potato and onion harvests are virtually complete, he said.

Activity among vegetables at this time are with carrots, bell pepper, cantaloupe, cucumbers and cabbage. He also said the truck farmers and vegetable stands are offering a wide variety of good quality vegetables for canning, freezing and table use.

The county agent warned producers about an insect problem. He said the insect situation has reached a heavy infestation, especially with worms. He also Optimist International representative Bill Sanderson of Haltom City, near Fort Worth, was in Muleshoe to officially charter the organization and charge the members with their duties.

He gave the background of the Optimist Club and said the first Optimist Club was organized in 1911 and has grown to numerous chapters in the United States, Mexico and Canada since that time.

The Sunrise Club of Clovis was sponsoring club for the formation of the local organization with Al Sass, new club building chairman contacting the prospective members.

President Pro-Tem Bob Laney of the Sunrise Club of Clovis was in the group who attended the Monday night meeting at the XIT Steakhouse.

Also attending the charter meeting was Joe Wilson, outgoing Sergeant At Arms and incoming secretary-treasurer of the Clovis Club.

Doyle Simpson, Lt. Governor of Zone Two, from Brownfield, officially welcomed Muleshoe's newest service organization and District Governor Larry German of Albuquerque who assisted Sass with formation of the Club in Muleshoe spoke briefly. German said, "What we are trying to do is to tear down barriers between people instead of building them."

Other out of town guests included Jim Hutchison and Bill Melton, both of Albuquerque.

Optimist boosts: Citizenship, Community Development, Culture and Education, Governmental Affairs, Health and Welfare, International Relationships, Safety, Spiritual and Religious Life and Sports and Recreation.

Optimist Club of Muleshoe will be a breakfast Club meeting at 6:30 a.m. on Tuesday mornings.

said that the worms are not confined to any one crop or to any one field, with damage being found to vegetables, cotton, alfalfa, soybeans, sunflowers and other crops.

"Some fields have economic damage because of foliage eating insects," said the county agent. "I would caution producers to check their fields individually for bollworms, tobacco bug worms, beet army worms, salt marsh caterpillars, alfalfa caterpillars, armyworms and others, as yet unidentified."

The county agent said he did not want to build up a prediction of gloom, but did want producers to know what is happening. By checking the fields, some heavy damage has been found by the county agent, but some fields show no insect activity.

"With moisture, we could help mature the fiber in the cotton plant, and make a better grade and mike, along with a slightly better yield," he said, "although it's almost too late to increase the cotton crop very much."

The county agent said that if rainfall is not received in September that it could drastically affect next year's crops as we have used up all the available moisture at this time. Dryland wheat farmers are still waiting for at least two inches of rainfall to plant the estimated 25,000-40,000 acres usually planted in that area. It would also help the corn and relieve moisture-stressed alfalfa.

According to the state crop report harvest is moving very fast over the state as other areas have felt the lack of moisture this year.

Tanksley predicted less than 2,000,000 bales of cotton on the South Plains but said he could be unable to predict the Bailey County production at this time.

He did estimate an average to better corn crop with an active harvest by mid-September.

Character is never established in a single year.

The city approved suspending the operation of the proposed scheduled increase for 120 days and the other resolution approved the city participating with other cities in the study and possible protest of the proposed increased rate.

Bids for sprinklers and irrigation supplies were tabled for further study by the city water personnel and AARTCO. Paving of Lubbock was awarded a bid to resurface the tennis courts. AARTCO submitted a bid of $5,900 for the resurfacing with a colored acrylic finish.

Councilmen also tabled a decision as to whether or not to suspend the current one percent sales tax collected on gas and electric bills in the city. It was explained that no decision had to be reached until May, 1979. At that time, the council will consider the proposed sales tax cutback at the same time the budget is studied.

They also approved metal poles with underground wiring to put new streetlights in an area in Richland Hills. It was explained that the homeowner who requested the metal poles pay for them instead of the customary wooden poles. The request was approved.

Royce Harris was approved to serve as a member of the Muleshoe Planning Commission to fill one of the existing vacancies and Harmon Elliott, Buck Campbell and Myron Pool were reaffirmed as members of the Muleshoe Housing Authority as their terms had expired.

Who Says There's Nothing New Under A Tomato Red Sun

Thanks to a new canning process, sliced tomatoes can brighten salads and sandwiches in January just as they do in July. Two Kansas State University Extension specialists say the canned tomato slices will rival the tomatoes picked fresh off the vine.

Chuck Marr, Extension horticulturist, and Grace Lang, Extension specialist in food education, have tested the process and they say that with proper canning precautions it is safe for gardeners to use for this season's crop. However, this new canning process has not been through an "over-the-winter" storage test to determine the bacteriological problems that may occur, they caution. Therefore, Lang suggests refrigeration following canning as the safest way to keep this specialty item.

Before now, home canned tomatoes usually were destined for chili or the soup pot, but this new method of preserving them with the use of calcium chloride gives salad and sandwich slices for winter meals with all the appearance, texture, firmness, and almost the taste of their look-alike summer cousins.

The process, developed at Auburn University in Alabama, has undergone extensive microbiological testing to insure its safety and efficiency. There they found home application of the procedure, taken from a random sampling of 200 home canners, showed favorable results.

Marr says most garden variety canning tomatoes can be used, but he recommends selecting only choice fruit that are firm-ripe. "Firm-ripe" is a term used to designate fruit at its peak and just before the table-ready, slicing stage. Varieties such as Jet Star, Avallanche, Better Boy, and other common garden varieties should work well.

"The canning process isn't difficult," Lang adds. "In fact, it's little more than what we should be doing when we can tomatoes by conventional means."

Calcium Chloride is the only ingredient you may need to purchase before you begin the canning procedure. Although most home canners are not familiar with its use the chemical is used commercially as a firming agent for canned tomatoes you buy in the supermarket, and it will be listed as one of the ingredients on the label. Calcium chloride can be purchased from your druggist. Ask for USP grade calcium chloride. Marr suggests locating a local source to make certain the chemical is on hand. Suppliers may need to order it. Any excess calcium chloride not used in the canning process should be tightly sealed, because it absorbs moisture readily.

Here is the canning procedure:

1. Wash tomatoes in mild detergent solution and rinse thoroughly.

2. Scald in boiling water for 15 seconds. Cool in running water. For convenience, a mesh bag or French fry basket can be used to immerse the tomatoes in the hot water.

3. Cut off any green shoulders or hard stem ends. Peel

4. Slice the fruit about 3/8 inch thick into a colander or wire strainer and dip the slices into a calcium chloride solution for five minutes. A 5 percent solution is made by adding 2 2/3 ounces or 1/3 cup powdered calcium chloride to two quarts warm water. This quantity will prepare slices for 12 to 16 pints.

5. While the slices are soaking in the solution, separate them to allow firming solution to reach each slice.

6. Into wide-mouth pint jars put 1/4 cup boiling water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon sugar and 2 teaspoons lemon juice or 1/4 teaspoon powdered citric acid. (Unsweetened reconstituted or frozen juice can be used in place of citric acid.)

7. Lift basket of tomatoes and drain the calcium chloride solution from the slices. Pack them carefully into pint jars. The solution can be used repeatedly and stored between canning operations in the freezer.

8. After the slices are arranged in the jars, fill the containers with boiling water, leaving 1/2 inch head space. Seal with canning flats as directed on the package. Heat the jars in a boiling water bath for 10 minutes, counting time from a full rolling boil.

9. Remove jars from the hot water and allow to stand until cool enough to handle. Complete cooling by setting jars in running water. Refrigerate immediately.

10. Store in refrigerator or in a cool area such as a cellar or a basement.

Lang stresses the importance of following sanitary canning procedures. She recommends slicing the tomatoes directly into the basket used for dipping instead of slicing them on a wooden cutting board, which is often contaminated.

She suggests using wide-mouthed pint canning jars, which lend themselves to convenient canning and later to slipping slices from the jars. Only pints should be used. Because slices are cooked in the hot water bath less than half the time of tomatoes canned in the usual way, slices in quart containers may not reach toe heat point required to kill bacterial growth. Addition of citric acid increases the acidity of the product, which also inhibits bacterial growth, and is a must in this process.

Home canners should be alert to signs of spoilage in any canned product, including this one. Look for a broken seal, discoloration of the food product, foaming when opened, off odor, or cloudy liquid. Dispose of the food product if you spot any of these signs of contamination.

In a taste test two weeks after the tomato slices were canned, Marr and Lang agreed that although the tomatoes had a slightly "canned" or cooked taste, they retained a bright red color and firmness that compared favorably with fresh tomatoes. They agreed that when the snow is blowing and it is soup 'n sandwich time, canned tomato slices will be a hit for winter meals.

Hypnotist To Perform During Fair

VANDERMEIDE, Europe's fastest hypnotist who proved popular here last year, will be making his second consecutive appearance at the 61st annual Panhandle South Plains fair in Lubbock September 23-30.

Steve L. Lewis, general manager of the fair, said Vandermeide would perform free on the outdoor stage each day during the fair run. Show times will be announced later.

With unbelievable speed, Vandermeide hypnotizes his volunteers and provides laughs that grow by the minute.

At the Yellowstone Exhibition, he played "standing room only" crowds for two shows a day and drew a record 229,875 persons. At the Tulsa State Fair, he broke all attendance records. He has played many major fairs and expositions throughout the United States and Canada. Vandermeide currently resides in Salt Lake City.

Lewis said three other free attractions also had been scheduled, all offering "family fun for everyone."

In addition, six shows will be on state in Fair Park Coliseum. That lineup includes:

Sept. 24--The Charley Pride Show, with Dave and Sugar, 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.
Sept 25--The Statler Bros., 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.

All seats are reserved and tickets are $4, $5 and $6.
