A Deceived Wife

A tired husband went home from his work one night recently, and, taking off his coat, requested his wife to mend a reut in the sleeve, then sank upon the sofa and behind for his works. It pleased him, and the evening paper. Wife life she a correspondence followed. This took up the coat; woman-like she dived into the pockets. From the ripened into love, and they married iuside pocket she drew forth a letter, directed in delicate chirography, to her hasband. With darkening brow she quickly took the suspicious-looking missive from the en velope, and, without noticing the date, began to read:

"DEAR GEORGE-I am lonely, oh, so lonely, since you left me last Thurday night." weight of this deep sin upon you! buzzy has to say, if it kills me." With one hand dressed to her throbbing heart, she read on : when you are away there seems to shine half so bright; the moon is but a white spot in the sky, and the stars stare coldly down, when you heart."

"Whas it for this? Was it for this ?" moaned the unhappy wife. "Fortune speed the day when we may be united in those indissoluble bonds that are scared in the eyes of beaven and earth -"What mockery! Does he or she consider that his vows to me are not sacred ! What are they going to do with me, any way, I wonder ? Poison, perhaps. Oh talse perfidious man! Oh, wicked, hellish, de-signing wanton!" Still the suffering woman read the letter, though each word burned to ashes a thousand hopes and joys.

When we need no more meet clandestinely and tremble in each other's embrace-'

"I'd make you tremble it I had you in my embrace a minute." "When my head may be pillowed in safety upon your breast-"The fiendess "And your arms twine in loving presure about me-"

"Furies!"

"And your lips smother the tender words that would escape between them." "Oh, the sirenic she devil" hissed the woman, as she tried to keep down the boiling rage within her. She crushed the letter in her hands, then threw it upon the floor and sprang upon it with her heel, as though it were a snake, and ground it into the carpet. Then, with clenched hands and compressed lips, she strede rapidly back and forth across the room, ever and anon making a move as it to spring like a fury upon her husband, who, with a paper over his face, was apparently found asleep, dreaming, perhaps, of the wicked temptress that had come between him and his fond wife. Presently a reaction took place and the wretched woman sank into a chair and found relief in that blessed panacea for female ills-a flood of tears. Grown calmer after a while, she picked up the rumpled letter, smoothed out the creases, and with an air of mingled despair and resignation looked for the signature. "Your ever loving and devoted, but poor, apprehensive-" "What's this! Flut-flut-tering birdie. A-d-a-Ada. Why, bless me! this is one of my old letter, to George. What a fool I-" A sound from the sofa like escaping steam, and then like a car rattling o'er the stony street, assured her that her ridiculous actions had been witnessed by her busband. Burning with shame, the foolish woman flew to her room and locked berself in, and she is almost as misérable now as when she felt that she was a wronged and deceive ed wife.

At times she says it coos and creaks, and somtimes lies coiled up as if in a torpid condition, and then again will rise and crawl up in her throat until it touches the roof of her mouth. Her visit to the hospital was to invoke the aid of Dr. Smythe, whom she was un able to see on account of his present severe illness, being fully pursuaded that her affliction is real as described, although Dr Berthelot had told her she was mistaken. So wedded is she to her snake diagnosis that she expresses the wish that after her death her stomach may be opened in order that the medical profession may have an oppor unity to examin, and satisfy themselves of the truth of her as-

The Mail-Robbery.

The most exquisite specimen o brazen effrontery we met with for a long time, is the following, which we clip from the San Antonio Herald of April 8th :

As WE EXPECTED -The result of the late election in the State having deprived a borde of rascals of their opportunity to plunder the public, these late Radical officials the United States deposited as security have evidently taken to the highway, doing a retail instead of a deposits; and hereafter only one fourth of wholesale business. In our article the reserve now prescribed by law for yesterday, we ventured the asser tion that to disturb a Radical offi cial generally led to finding a robber. The verification of our propliecy came rapidly on the heels of which balances no interest shall be paid, | ing a hole the size of the ball, with its announcement. The plundering of the passengers of the mail coach between this city and Austin ves terday, is one so unusual in Texas may overtake the scoundrels, he United States." they whom they may.

Now while we do not deny that there were some rascals in office calling themselves republicans, we assert that the democratic party has nothing to brag about in this respect, and far from taking to the highway these rascals, calling themselves republicans, have promptly joined the democratic party and thereby secured democratic protecand Ex-Postmaster Clark.

But we ask what can be the ob ject of the journalistic depravity exhibited in the above badly tasted article ? The Herald crew have been in daily communication with our republican County and District officers and know well those of our neighboring Counties of Comal, number of bills were introduced and re-Medina, Kendall, Gillespie, etc., and we defy them to point out a single instance of rascallity concerning said officers. When therefore they speak of these late Radical way, they say what they know to be untrue. But why do they do so ?

We will tell you. They feel the bottom under their heels tremble at the terrible aspect of the constantly growing lawlessness and insecurity of life and property, the characteristic attributes of demo cratic rule. It anything will make upon the daily reports of murder and bloodshed within the demoof vigilance committees.

One might have thought that the mail robbery would have been a fit object to remind the administration of its duty and to insist stop and suppress the reign of ter ror now prevailing in a good many

Considering the status of the present legislature and the highway robbery dens will soon be a fait accompli. manner they got possession of the administration by, did it not occur to your mind that some members of the legislature devoid of means may have constituted the horde of robbers ! There is as good sound reasoning is this suggestion, as is in the brazen effrontery of the Herald.

Hon. George Bancroft, our Min-ister at Berlin, has taken a residence in Washington, and his presence is early expected. Whether he is to receive an official position at the capital is a topic of inquiry. Some say that he is soon to publish dume ft of his history of the Unitork uninteruptedly to the cent to the American arte has already completed in the old world, WASHINGTON, April 6 -Senate-Senator Sherman said that the effect of the motion would be to strike out the 5th and 6th sections of a bill as reported by the committee, and they had been unanimously agreed upon by the committee. To strike out the 5th and 6th sections would be by influence to authorize an increase of the public debt.

Senator Johnston, of Virginia, introduced a bill giving jurisdiction to the Court of Claims to hear the claim of G. W. Cartis Lee to Arlington estate. Reterred to Judiciary Committee.

Senator Spragues fine house has been seized in bankruptey proceedings.

Senator Scott moved, as an amendment to the section authorizing an increase of forty six millions of dollars in national bank carrency, the following: "And each national banking association now organized, or hereafter to be organized, shall keep and maintain, as a part of its reserve required by law, one-fourth part of the coin received by it as interest on bonds of for the circulating notes of government national banking associations shall consist of balance due to an association available for redemption of its circulating notes from associations in cities, and upon The amendmendment was accepted by Senator Merrimon.

Senator Conkling moved an additional section, as follows: "Nothing in this act that we are astounded. We only shall be construed to authorize an increase hope severe and speedy punishment of the principal of the public debt of the Senator Sherman agreed in favor of the adoption of the section. The action of the Secretary in receiving the reserve had been referred to as necessary to meet the public necessities. He (Sherman) did not approve of that action, and had declared tion. Witness Ex Treasurer Honey over and sver that the act on the part of the Secretary was an unlawful act.

The amendment of Senator Conkling was rejected by 24 year to 27 nays.

After the introduction and rejection of several amendments, the question then recurred on substituting Senator Merrimans substitute, as amended by Senator Scott, for the bill of the committee, and was adopted-yeas 29, pays 24.

The Decay of the Tuileries.

The fidelity of the fashionable world to Hyde Park, remarks the Pall Mall Gazette, is very touching. The five lines of carriages already beginning to form in that region during the afternoon appear annually within its precincts, only evidencing the people tired of the present ad the sublunary necessity for change by ministration, it is the complacency choosing for a lustrum at a time one of with which those high in office look three drives, the road up to Knightsbridge Barracks, the drive along the Serpentine, or the long stretch between Hyde Park corner and the Marble Arch. The public cratic press to invite the forming of Paris are more capricious than this. They have deserted the Tuileries Gardens to such an extent that the proposal now before the Municipal Conneil of Paris, for cutting a street through the parterres from the Rue Castiglione to the Pout Solferino, raises but a faint outery. The upon some measures calculated to Tuileries Gardens were never as much appreciated as those of the Palais Royal and those of the Palais de Richelien, having at most a succes de politique. Thus, in the days of the revolution, they formed a sort of annexe to the convention, and were the opportunity to cast a slur upon the vicinity of the Reform Oak when the sponting season commences. During the bitterness amongst the unknowing restoration, indeed, it was considered cor ones toward republicans, in short reet to saunter up and down their stately to-remain in keeping with the "mag- avenues, rich in royalist associations, but of late years unpolitical pleasure-seekers have gravited with increasing determination towards the Champs Elysees, and the bi-section of the forsaken Tuileries Gar-

> EAGLE PASS, TEXAS, April 7, 1874. Editor Express :

The communication in the Express in regard to the misunderstanding at Kinney County, in reference to the records of that county must have been carelessly written. The sheriff of Maverick County was there when the occurrence transpired, but he neither excited the mob nor encouraged the posse commitatus of the sheriff immediately interested.

It is not fair for your "old soldier" cor-respondent to throw water at and the "old soldier," to wit: The sheriff of Maverick county. The sherift of Mayerick county is a quiet, unobtrusive, modest man, (these qualities being acquired during a residence of a quarter of a century at Eagle Pass,) and is not biassed by political feeling; nor does he belong to the Draw Poker, Cut-throat Democracy-so-called.

Please make an apology.

Voltaire as a Talker,

No man was ever quicker or keener at repartee When an advocate pre sented himself with the bombastic compliment, "I salute you, light of the world!" Voltaire replied: "Madame Denis, bring the snuffers " Of the egotistic Rousseau, he said, "He would consent to be hanged, provided only his name were in the sentence." When the same Jean Jacques had read to him his "Ode to Posterity" -"My friend," said the listener," that is a letter which will never reach its address." At a representation of his "Orphan of China," Voltaire, perceiving that Monquien had tallen fast asleep, goodhumorebly revenged the slight by throwing his hat at the browsy Spirit of the laws, exclaiming, " He thinks he is at a meeting of the Academy." What can be more exquisite than the mot, "La superflu chase, si necessaire-the superfluity that is so necessary."-[Prof. Mathews.

IF a tallow caudle be placed in a gun and shot at a door, it will go through without sustaining injury; and if a musket ball be fired into water, it will not only rebound, but be flattened as if fired against a substance. A musket ball may be fired through a pane of glass, makout cracking the glass; if the glass be suspended by a thread, it will make no difference, and the thread will not even vibrate. Who is Warden ! Can somebody tell us ! We would like to make the acquaintance of the able, energetic and experienced German journalist, whose name even we have not heard mentioned during the 23 years of our residence in Texas and in spite of pur connection with the German press of he State.

Death laughs when he sees the weak and feeble bled, blistered, salivated, opiumized, or griped with violent purgatives. He knows that such treatment they can not long survive. In direct conflict with this pull down practice is the principle upon which Hostetler's Storack Bitters operate. The effect of this incomparable vegetable restorative is to build up the system and invigorate the constitution. It imparts appetite and assists digestion, enriches and cleanse the blood, regulates and tones the liver and the bowels, and establishes and perpetuates a healthy habit of body. By a happy combination of vegetable extracts — tenic, aperient and ant-bilious—with a pure stimulant, these effects are stimulantaneously produced. There is no prescription of the pharmacopoeia that has the same scope. You may find among its formulas scourges for the bowels, stimulants for the stomach, sedatives for the nerves, but no grand combination and distant that the same scope. The Pull Down Practice. tives for the nerves, but no grand combi-nation medicine that, like Hostetters Stomach Bitters, is at once a tonic, an aperient, a corrective and an alterative.
