Charles Sumner Among Women

[Letter from Mrs. M. C. Ames to the New York Independent.]

Charles Sumner lived and died a moral hero to women. Such men alone appeal to the element of worship which lives ever in the unperverted woman. Few approached sufficiently near to discover any human blemish which might mar the grand proportions of their god.
To their eyes he fulfilled in person the ideal of greatness, intellectual moral. He was cast in the mold of the Vatican Apollo. "The shape and gesture proudly eminent" were his. His passion for truth, for honor, for justice; his devotion to human freedom, sealed with his blood, commanded their moral faculties. His Greek love for beauty in its purest form, his exquisite tastes, his wonderful culture, which had gleaned in every field of human knowledge, sufficed the aesthetic nature of the higher order of women; while the marvelous sweetness of his smile, the gentleness of his courtesy, his reverence for the finest womanhood made him ever in their eyes, from first to last, "the blameless knight" of the ideal man.
Let no woman fear to own a capacity for such worship, lest it shall be mistaken and misjudged by the vulgar for weakling sentiment.
Your god may not be a god at all; nevertheless, hold fast to your ideal of him—by so much will you bring him nearer to it. If it were possible for woman to cease to worship the sovereign in man or for man to cease to revere the spiritual in woman, we might deplore, indeed, the speedy downfall of the race, which false prophets now delight to prophecy. Through all his public life Mr. Sumner was the recipient of far off adoring letters (in no sense to be confounded with love letters) addressed to him by the countrywomen. These letters, received from strangers whom he never met, would have made many volumes.
He numbered among his personal friends and private correspondents ladies of the highest rank and culture abroad and of the highest gifts and most extended influence at home. Yet the woman who walked aloud in the stormy street while she watched the receding train which bore the lifeless form of her friend to his final home was a woman—bent and old and poor—who keeps a little stand of traffic in a corridor of the Capitol.

An Unlucky Talisman.

Several of the Paris journals express great sympathy with the misfortunes of a Frenchman who, being in Dublin at the time of an execution for murder some three years ago, determined to possess himself of a piece of the rope used upon the "mournful occasion." He is said to have had an interview with "the celebrated Calcraft," and for the sum of five sovereigns to have purchased the whole rope, which he brought back to Paris in triumph, believing himself to be henceforward protected from the shafts of misfortune. Within a month one of his children was nearly hanged with this rope by her brother, who was playing at "hangman," and, though the father "cut her down" she has never fully recovered from the shock. Some time afterward the owner of the rope went to Havre on business connected with his trade, and as he had a large sum of money in his possession when he was returning to Paris, he placed it in a box, which he made secure with the "lucky rope." The box was stolen during the journey, and though it was recovered at the Paris terminus with the rope attached to it, the money had been abstracted. It might have been thought that after two such disappointments the rope would have been got rid of as a talisman of evil, but that such was not the case is evident from the fact of its owner, who had experienced heavy losses in his business since the robbery, having attempted to commit suicide with it so recently at last week. Just as he had "cut down" his daughter, so his wife "cut down" him, and according to last accounts he is almost convalescent. When he is completely restored to health he will probably see the propriety of parting with such an unlucky purchase, and, as there is no lack of collectors in Paris, he may, by a skillful recital of the dramatic events attached to this rope, get rid of it at a profit.

Some London Gossip.

[London Correspondence New York Herald.]

The Duchess of Edinburg seems to have fallen into her new life very quickly and comfortably. She is said to have been very much impressed with Windsor Castle, and to have described it as a royal residence. At present she and her husband are quartered at Buckingham Palace, as their own residence, Clarence House, is being altered and redecorated, and will not be ready for them until the autumn. Even when all has been done to it, the Clarence House is a poor place, but it has the advantage of being next door to St.
James' Palace, with which it has distinct communication. In the event, therefore, of the Duchess giving any receptions the State apartments of the palace will be placed at her disposal; though, hitherto, the Duke has not shown himself of a very hospitable or generous nature. Meanwhile, the Duchess drives daily in the park with him amid the salutes of the public. A series of grand entertainments are being organized, the first of which came off last night at the Albert Hall, where Mr. Arthur Sullivan's oratorio, "The Light of the World," was performed in the presence of the Royalites and an audience 9,000 strong.

"Nothing," said an impatient husband, "reminds me so much of Balaam and his ass as two women stopping in church and obstructing the way to indulge in their everlasting talk." "But you forget, my dear," returned the wife, meekly, "that it was the angel who stopped the way, and Balaam and his ass who complained of it."

AGRICULTURAL MEETING.—An adjourned meeting of the Agricultural Association was held at Firemen's Hall on Tuesday evening at which a large number of our most substantial citizens took a lively interest. The subject of a fair, or no fair, was discussed by Messrs. Thornton, Brackebridge, Baylor, Trubert, Braden and others, when it was finally determined unanimously that we would hold a fair and the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to make the necessary arrangements:

J. T. Thornton, Chairman; Ed. Stevas; H. Grant; W. G. Kingsbury; Ed. Braden; Jacob Warzback; John K. Baylor; J. H. Kampmann; Ch. Toog; A. Siemens; A. Schmitz; C. H. Merritt; F. Gross; W. V. Adams; J. E. Dwyer; R. W. Poy, to which the President, Maj. J. T. Brackebridge was added.

Mr. Thornton, the Chairman, requested the committee to meet at the bank of Messrs. Bennett & Thornton on Thursday evening at 5 o'clock P. M.

Mr. T. A. Dwyer was to have delivered an address before this meeting but was too sick to be out. We congratulate our citizens on their determination to hold a fair and trust all parties will lend a willing hand in the good work.

Passing away! passing away! Each Tooth Wash of a former day, SOZODONT gives the coup de grace, Good-bye to the humbugs! let them pass.

To ALL, particularly invalids, spring is a trying season. Indications of sickness should be attended to. Fatal diseases may be caused by allowing the bowels to become constipated, and the system to remain in a diseased condition, until the disorder has time to develop itself. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, in an old and truthful saying. Therefore, we advise all who are troubled with the complaints now very prevalent—headache, indigestion, disordered liver, want of appetite, nausea, or feverish skin, to take, without delay, Schenck's Mandrake Pills. We know of no remedy so harmless and decisive in its action. It is an old strike at the root of the disease and produces a healthy tone to the system. People never need suffer from any disease arising from a diseased condition of the liver if they would take this excellent medicine when they feel the first indications of the malady. Families leaving home for the summer months should take three or four boxes of these pills with them. They have an almost instantaneous effect. They will relieve the patient of headache in one or two hours, and will rapidly cleanse the liver of accumulated bile, and will effectually prevent a bilious attack. They are sold by all druggists. d&wmy

Don't be discouraged. Suppose you have tried fifty remedies and received no benefit, is there therefore no hope in Gilead? Verily there is. Your liver may be congested, your stomach half paralyzed, your nerves aching, your bowels constipated, your lungs diseased, your blood full of impurities—yet in one week after commencing a course of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS you will feel like
