THE Austin papers are filled with accounts of the grand procession of Queen Mab and her brilliant attendants which took place on the 20th instant. The affair passed off splendidly, and wound up in a grand ball in the hall of Representatives at the Capitol.

Let the people of San Antonio see that the similar entertainment and display that are to come off here on the 9th of next month surpass anything of the kind that has heretofore taken place.

WESTERN TEXAS.

All that part of Texas that lies west of the Colorado is generally called called Western Texas. This section is essentially a stock raising country. Its extended plains, its numerous streams, its usually dry atmosphere render it peculiarly adapted to this purpose. Though many districts with their rich alluvial soil are well suited for farming purposes. This portion of Texas is capable of being made the fairest part of the State, but for drawbacks which it is the duty of the government to remove. The country lying between the Neches river and the Rio Grande is subject to the constant depredations from Mexico that, if they are not set on foot, are at least countenanced by that government. The Mexican government and people have no idea that that section belongs to them, so when an American is killed or his stock stolen, the appliances of retribution find a ready response in their hearts. We would respectfully suggest that the General Government would not only increase their forces on the Rio Grande, but deal summarily with the desperados, and hold the Mexican government responsible for their acts, unless they entered into a treaty, by which they could be pursued until captured. Our State ought to grant us relief by increasing the number of the State rangers, and by providing for their maintenance as long as there is a necessity existing.

But where is another remedy—another right that has been denied us?

Northern and Central Texas have numerous ramifications of railroads—but here there are hardly two hundred miles of railroad this side of the Colorado. The State has thought fit to encourage railroads in every other part of Texas, but every line that penetrates and develops this part is immediately hedged around with difficulties and embarrassments. We had hoped Governor [Oake] in his message would suggest some practical solution of the international difficulty, but he also seems to make matters only confusion worse confounded.

We are entitled to tax paying, as citizens, as Texans, to these protections and benefits. We know our rights and do not rest until we get them.

BELIEVE us public the proceedings of a meeting of the Stockraisers' Association of Western Texas, as we are glad to give encouragement to such organizations and, indeed, to any movement that has for its object the development of our country. There is no reason why a well-organized farmers' association should not exist in every county in Texas.

A meeting of this Association was held at Uvalde, Texas, on January 12th, 1875, in accordance with a previous appointment.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. J. T. Quisenberry, President of the Association; and on motion, Mr. James Hughes, of Uvalde county, was appointed Secretary pro tem. The President explained the objects of the meeting; the chief object being to propose such amendments to the present stock law as it requires.

The Hon. James A. Ware, Judge of the 24th Judicial District, being at present holding the District Court in Uvalde county, was called upon, and he made many valuable suggestions wherein the present law is defective, and suggested appropriate amendments in lieu thereof.

On motion it was moved and carried, that a Committee of Five be appointed to prepare such amendments as in their judgment the present law required; and to submit the same to the Legislature in the name of the Association, and request the enactment of the same. Whereupon the Chair appointed the following named gentlemen to compose said committee:

Hon. James A. Ware, Calvin Woodward, of Frio county; James Hughes, of Uvalde county; John C. Sullivan, of Uvalde county; C. D. Finley, of Maverick county.

It was moved that the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Stock Journal, the San Antonio papers and the Oakville Tribune.

On motion, the President was added to the committee.

There being no further business, it was moved that the Association now adjourn until its next regular meeting, to be held at Pleasanton on the first Monday in May, '75.

J. T. QUISNERBY,

President.

OUR new Recorder, T. G. Anderson Esq. seems to give satisfaction. He gives the prisoner the benefit of all legal points, but was to a poor devil who is proved guilty, especially if he is up on the charge of drunk and disorderly. The Recorder does not seem to have known how it is himself.

See advertisement of Foster's Second Texas Gold and Land Distribution.

The Army and Navy Journal is troubled about the recent circular in regard to naval officers wearing gold lace down the seams of their trousers when in full dress, and trusts that it will not go into effect in the United States, for the reason that it is not in keeping with public sentiment for officers to appear covered with gold lace.

Public sentiment don't care a fig about the dress of an army or navy officer. It is worth while to inquire what is looked after.—Washington Chronicle

THE AMERICAN NEWS-LETTER DIRECTORY is an epitome of newspaper history. It is also regarded as an official register of publications; this feature, requires the closest scrutiny to prevent it from leading to abuse. The plan, adopted by the publishers of the DIRECTORY, to secure correct and trustworthy reports, is rigid in its requirements and adhered to with impartiality. Successful publishers, who have something to gain by a comparison, are generally prompt, but slow, to send reports in conformity with it, and give those George P. Rowell & Co. such information as enables them to weed out quackish statements of pretenders in journals. The popularity of the book, and the general confidence in its accuracy, does good faith are attested by the immense body of advertisements it receives; dawd

THEY tell a strange story of a watchmaker, true, and if true, a striking instance of the power of the imagination over the human frame. Frederick Stiebmeyer had worked at a watch movement, now works, and his invention, perfected and set it a-going. He imagined that his soul had passed from his body into that watch, and said: "When the watch stops I shall die." It has been running a long time. Mr. Stiebmeyer was very particular about winding it regularly. The idea that his life had become abridged to the watch grew stronger. One day the watch showed signs of irregularity. It ran first too fast and then too slow. Stiebmeyer became very ill. He did not send for a doctor, but for a watchmaker to see what could be done for the watch. The watchmaker knew nothing more than ordinary water, and could not prescribe for it. The watch stopped, and sure enough Stiebmeyer was dead.

Legislative Proceedings.
SENATE.

Special message from the Governor was taken up and read. It presented the resolutions of the Pennsylvania Legislature upon the subject of the Louisiana military insurrection, and asks the legislature to strike hands with Pennsylvania and sister States in protest against military interference and aggression of State affairs.

On motion of Senator Shepard, the message of the Governor and the resolutions accompanying him were laid on the table, but considered in connection with Senator Hobby's resolutions on the same subject.

The resolution of Senator Hobby was then called up.

It was amended by Senator Shepard that the action of certain military officers of the United States, in the unwarrantable and unconstitutional use of the army in the execution of the House of Representatives of the Legislature of Louisiana from the capital of that State, having been followed on the 18th of this month, in the State of Mississippi, by similar action, in the expansion of the sheriff of a county of that State from his office, when such question is alone determinable by the courts of the country, call for an expression of opinion by the people of every State of the Union, as to whether it denounces the action of the President in both cases as proceeding to warrant in its nature, inexorable by any exigency of the situation, inconsistent with the history of the American Republic, and subversive of the fundamental principles of our republican government.

Senator Shepard further amended his resolution that copies be sent to the Franklin and Governors.

Speeches were made by Senators Ireland, Foster, and J. T. Wilson, and Senator Hobby, who moved the adoption of the resolution, with amendment, including a suspension of the rules.

Senator Culver reported favorably on the bill incorporating the Lake City Railroad.

Also the bill incorporating the Waxahachie Tap, and to authorize the town of Waxahachie to do the same.

Senate adjourned.

THE DRAWING.

This U. S. Government has given us only to Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, by his True Flavoring Extracts, the perfume, and large quantities are shipped to his military posts. No more, we say, than it deserved, for it truly has proved itself a real family medicine, and a valuable addition to our medical supplies.

The Drawing, which rarely coincides with the First Drawing, is fair, honorable and equal. The committee of 100, of our citizens and friends, and kindly gave their time and labor to this opportunity of the drawing, of which did the actual labor of it.

Capt. Foster has acted honorably and fairly throughout the whole management of this enterprise. While some money has been lost by the committee in all probability, yet the property given away has only netted a fair price, and the profit wholly remade off the property for cash.

That staunch democratic paper, the Houston Age, has the following:

"THE COMMITTEE of gentlemen was one of the best that could have been selected by the audience.

Barataria, who supervised the drawing, is one of the most popular Representative, and is one of the most popular men in the district.

THE DRAWING.

was produced by an expedition from Capt. Foster, of the mode adopted. This was well received and understood, precisely as exhibited by the circumspect Capt. Foster, who, in his report, says, "The people, indeed, he put me into an association with the people of poor Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina, he felt a great sympathy, and he did hope they would draw the largest number of prizes, that they might come to a free country, and a wide open thing. This sentiment was manifested with less enthusiasm.

The drawing was thus proceeded with, and the result is announced elsewhere."

No connection with the Dentist, Wapley & Lockart, or any other similar enterprise.
