Republican Meeting.

A Republican meeting will be held on Wednesday next, May 19th, at 8 o'clock p.m., at Karber's Garden, for the purpose of electing delegates to the Convention to be held at Hempstead on the 20th day of May, 1875.

A. SIEBERING,

Editor and Executive

Bexar County.

San Antonio, May 12, 1875.

To the Republicans of Texas.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, April 3, 1875.

I have to seek your attention to the call of a State Convention of the Republican party issued by Mr. Adolph Zadek, Secretary of Ex- Committee, during my absence.

Now join Mr. Zadek in that call and recommend the same for the purposes set forth therein by him.

I request Republicans throughout the State to respond to his call by sending your delegation.

The matters to be considered by the convention are of vital importance to you not only as Republicans but as citizens. Your tastes.

Very respectfully,

ROULDS BAKER,

Ch'm'n of Ex. Committee.

To the Friends of the People.

At the request of many Republicans, and in the absence of the Chairman, I call a Republican State Convention, to be held at Hempstead on the 20th of May, being the fourth Tuesday.

This Convention is to be for the purpose of electing a Chairman, reorganizing the State Executive Committee, constituting it in regard to the State Constitutional Convention, and the proposed constitutional amendments, and transacting other business of great importance. The representation and organization to be the same as that held at Dallas in 1873.

I urge all good Republicans to attend. Remember, we poll sixty thousand votes, and shake the wild Democracy and sweep the people millions.

Many conservative Democrats and old Whigs may join us in a cause securing good government for all. Very Respectfully,

ADOLPH ZADEK,

Sec'y Rep. State Ex. Com.

Corsicana, Tex., April 10, 1875.

REFORMS.

Markets and Schools— "Riverside."

Our city administration has displayed a laudable amount of enterprise in forwarding the water works enterprise, which we are ready to admit, is a very essential matter, and from all appearances the city has made a good bargain. Now suppose our Mayor and Council take hold of other matters with the same energy. SOON IT FLOWNS!

The market reform should be the first matter, and it would not take one half the time or attention to accomplish as the water works business.

The public schools should be taken in hand and all the preliminaries arranged for the opening of an early day school punishment and lasting basis. This should be the great pride of our city, and upon the successful establishment of a system of common schools rests the reputation of Mayor French and his associates. There must also be firmly a police regulation, — the public schools reached last year.

Now is our play day, as it were, our leisure hour, as a city! The rush of the steamer, the pushing crowds, the turmoil and strife of a driving, surprising, tempestuous population, which will distract us a couple of years hence, is now unknown.

Our public squares can be planted with grass, trees and shrubbery, and narrow streets marked out for widening; a proper level taken and a system of drainage established. And the beautiful boulevard opened along the west bank of the river from St. Mary's street to Commerce Street, should be maintained.

We expect this last suggestion to be immediately carried out by the property owners themselves. There are but three families living on the line of the street proposed. The lots widen from St. Mary's st. until they are over one hundred yards deep, causing a great deal of waste land to the owners of fronts on Main Street. By opening a wide street with a drive front, their property would increase its double in value. Imagine this beautiful street, paved mainly to the water's edge, shaded with trees, lined by a solid row of fine business fronts, interspersed by fine hotels for the accommodation of thousands of visitors. The beautiful river, olive with pleasure boats, "Riverside," the glory of San Antonio. This is an improvement within the easy reach of the city.

The Market Nuisance.

Perhaps our persistent presentation of the market nuisance will do no good; perhaps the rats have gone so deep in which our city cart wheels have run for the past quarter of a century that nothing short of an earthquake will shake it out into the broad highway of progress and public improvement. But we will try to crystallize public opinion until every man and woman and child that wrestles with tough beef will begin to speak out, and finally force a reform.

Our neighbors are a positive disgrace to us, and it would be a credit to the city if they were pulled down to-morrow, and the market house business left to private enterprise. The idea of the city owning a market house is preposterous to begin with, — with equal propriety the city might control the making of bread, and the general grocery and provision trade. The only reason for a corporation market is to secure the public against private monopoly, and to afford a general market place free to all. Our new system is in a double and twisted monopoly; in the first place the city monopolizes the places where marketing can be done by forcing all butchers to rent stalls of the city, and to do their business between certain hours. In the next place the butchers who are in possession of the market houses enjoy a monopoly, because the public must patronize them if they buy beef at all.

The city derives a large revenue from these two markets, but it costs something to keep them up. The market masters are employed, be sides other expenses.

There is a lack of pride in the butchers which is the result of the present system of monopoly. Poor—miserably poor, indeed by far is the rule, good beef the exception. WHAT WORKS?

Poor beef is dear at any price. Now that the City Council is through with the Water Works, let them lit the markets out of the gutter.

The main market ought to be condemned immediately, and if the city must have a market let a temporary building be erected on military square, where plenty of ventilation can be had. To test our charges that this market house on Calaboose street is a stinking nuisance we ask the City Council to appoint any three doctors in the city to examine it. White wash and disinfectants will not save the verdict.

The Alamo Plaza market should be taken down and license given to open private markets anywhere in the city.

Let a stated license be put upon each and every stall or butcher, or a tax upon every animal slaughtered, — compel every butcher to keep his place clean and neat as a pin; let meat be sold at any time of day or night.

The idea of ordaining the particular hours within which our citizens shall purchase their meat and vegetables! With equal propriety the City Council could ordain how and when we should eat it. People buy their meat now before 9 o'clock in the morning, and they take it home and do as they please with it; we should like to know the reason why meat could not as well be kept at the butchers stall in bulk where it would meet public inspection as to be distributed in pound pieces to several thousand families.

If the city will place a moderate license upon butchers and allow markets to be started any where in the city, and cut off the expense of so many market masters, our word is, our citizens will eat better beef at a more moderate charge and the city will not lose anything in the way of revenue.

This simple, easy, but imperative reform should be the very first work of the Mayor and Council.

The Depot.

At last the Depot business comes to a favorable termination. The city has secured the services of land additional to the reservation already granted and the matter is with the military authorities to prosecute the erection of the buildings.

Our citizens have undefined ideas as to what the Depot will amount to, but conclude that it will be an establishment in which Uncle Sam will take some pride, and spend some money to have erected. It is more than this it makes San Antonio one of the principal military posts of the Union, and gives us points of interest in a national point of view, enjoyed by few other places.

Water Works

The proposition of the New York National Water Works has been reduced to a very reasonable basis and partially accepted by the City Council.

The great advantage and necessity for Water Works is acknowledged by all, but a suggestion is made that the city authorities should move slow, and not be over hasty in accepting even the proposition as made, that perhaps, it still better arrangement could be effected if our city would advertise for bids to erect Water Works.

At any rate every precaution should be taken to secure the best terms. This is the view of the more careful and deserves some consideration.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

Suicide is alarmingly prevalent in the German army. According to the official report, of the Prussian army, and of the 13th Saxon and 13th Wurttemberg army corps, the number of deaths in the above mentioned divisions of the army amounted in the month of February to 100 men and nine invalids, which is the effective number of 40,000 soldiers given over death in 1874, and 100 men and 10 women in 1873, therefore, more than 10 per cent. have killed themselves.

The Russian nobility, like the ex-slave-holders of the South, are not pleased with the new ideas and conditions which emancipation has brought about. They lately held a meeting at Moscow to devise measures for restoring serfdom under another name. They would like to take back the above mentioned divisions of the army and assign them to the 13th Saxon and 13th Wurttemberg army corps, vest the former owners with a large part of their ancient authority. As long as Alexander II. lives, at least, they will find it easier to find than to succeed in the reactionary design. The heir-apparent is said to be more of an old-fashioned Russian than his father, but even he would hardly venture on bestowing his sanction on an act both dangerous and impious.

Arrived at the recent death of John Harper, senior member of the firm of Harper Brothers, a gentleman, is told that on his day, about a month ago, Mr. Harper returned from a drive and going into his parlor seated himself before his own portrait and gazed at it long and earnestly. "Well, old John Harper," said his son, "your time has almost come." A day or two afterward he was taken sick and he never left his bed again.

Victor Hugo lately described the visit paid to him by the Due d'Anjou when the latter was a candidate for the French Academy. The old writer was apparently not insensible to the tactful flattery of the Due's cordial manners. They talked of the Commune, and his highness expressed pity for the honest men and their fate and adventure. The poet was asked if he regretted the visit. "No," said he, "it is my rule never to return any visit, and I could not break it for the Due d'Anjou; but when he lost his last son, the Due d'Anjou, I felt deeply touched; I remembered the loss of my own son Charles, and I forthwith paid off to the Due's residence, and I entrusted my name to the vicar's book adding beneath, 'Never visit a poet again.'

The idea of ordaining the particular hours within which our citizens shall purchase their meat and vegetables! With equal propriety the City Council could ordain how and when we should eat it. People buy their meat now before 9 o'clock in the morning, and they take it home and do as they please with it; we should like to know the reason why meat could not as well be kept at the butchers stall in bulk where it would meet public inspection as to be distributed in pound pieces to several thousand families.

HOMESTAY.—The Menger hotel carriage with a pair of horses attached, attracted unusual attention this morning, as it came dashing along Concho river Street without driver or passenger! The team "as halsted on the Main Plaza without damage."

LOST.—Two railroad tickets to New Orleans, besides about $50 in currency was lost by a gentleman somewhere between Menger Hotel and Dogtown. The ticket and money were in an envelop. MARRIAGE.—MR. HERFF-KAMPMANN.—On the 11th inst. at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. Father Pefferers, John Herff, M. D., to Miss Anna Kampmann, all of this city. No card.

The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock in the morning, in the presence of the families of the happy couple and intimate friends. Miss Emma Elsmere and Miss Dina Boehnau bridesmaids, and Udo Rhodius, Esq., and Chas. Monmel to carry the processions.

Although the occasion of his happiness of events, there was a sad side to it to the old birds who were compelled to see their loved fledglings take wing for a world of their own.

Every preparation had been made for the entertainment and pleasure of the guests, and the wedding over, all present joined heartily in the hospitality so freely offered.

The happy couple took leave of their friends and started on a short wedding tour to Galveston.

MISS ANNIE HERFF is the only daughter of our esteemed fellow citizen, Maj. J. H. Kampmann, a lovely girl, and the ideal of her parents. Dr. Herff is the oldest son of Dr. F. Herff, of our city. He is one of the best of the young gentlemen of our city, standing high in his profession and liked by all.

The path of life has been smoothed and made pleasant for the young people who start forth with the best wishes of all our city.

On their return they will occupy the elegant cottage recently erected on the river bank on Losoya street by Maj. Kampmann. The house is elegantly furnished and tastefully decorated. The front room on the ground floor will be the Doctor's office; on the same floor is the dining room, kitchen and china closet. On the second floor is the parlor, bed room, spare room and servants' room.

The view of the riverbank is beautiful, and when "Riverside" boulevard is opened it will be still more so.

Dr. Herff and wife have the best wishes of all. We know they will be happy.

At present at Menger Hotel.

THE HOMESTAY.—In other words, orchardists have held an inspiring lesson. We now grow underneath them, when they exhibit signs of weakness and decay, or when withered and broken down, on the "Waste Grounds." But the Bergens, who cultivate the ground, are providing a new offering to the orchardists. In addition, it contains no weeds, and consequently leaves nothing behind, notwithstanding the Texas News and Views.

Denton News, The.—Major Don Carlos is now in the Sherman jail fulfilling his officer's duty, because Mr. Virginia, a family of wealth and influence, his relatives in military service in the Confederate army, where he did valiant service for the lost cause. He is in many respects a pious man—soool, calculating, of few words, lacking nobility, yet in appearance prepossessing. It is said he is seldom seen to smile. He has used spirituous liquors and does not use tobacco in any form. This is an enigma of the man who is said to have killed several men, and is now charged with the deliberate shooting of Chas. Hartman without the least cause or provocation. It is related that Mr. Virginia has a son in the army, and that he has written to him to tell him to stand by him.

THE CENTENIAL HERALD of the 10th inst. says: "Three hundred Italian and French emigrants of both sexes and of all ages arrived in Paris at the end of last week en route for the United States by way of Havre; they were in a deplorable state of misery and were nearly all in rags. While waiting the departure of the train for Havre they camped outside the railway station, and were relieved by many charitable persons who gave them rope, food and clothes.

A Georgia Cracker writes to the Florida Union explaining the origin of the nickname as follows: "Ten years ago, before mills were established in this country, when the backwoodsmen, or those who lived in the interior, remote from the ports of entry, were unable to procure transportation, they adopted a way by which they cracked corn with huge rocks. The interior people were thus labeled with the distinction corn-crackers—hence the term cracker, I am told."
