Around Muleshoe

Parents of Muleshoe High School juniors and seniors will have a meeting to plan the Junior-Senior prom to follow the annual Junior-Senior Banquet.

Guest speaker for the Rotary Club Tuesday was Owen Hamilton, of Lubbock. He is a representative of the district Rotary governor.

Hamilton spoke on community service and explained the purpose of Rotary.

He suggested programs and projects to improve the community, city, rural areas and worldwide.

Robert V. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Brown, graduated from the Auto Mechanics Technology program at Texas State Technical Institute on March 20.

While attending TSTI, Robert was the Student Congress representative for the Auto Mechanics program.

Also graduating from TSTI March 20 from the Commercial Art in Advertising program with an associate of Applied Art Degree was Randy Whalin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Whalin.

Randy was in the Who's Who 1978-79 listing and was a student Congress representative for the Commercial Art Department.

The Rainbow Girls will sponsor a movie March 31 at 10 a.m. in the Bailey County Civic Center. The movie, starring Jerry Lewis is called 'Geisha Boy' and will also include a cartoon. Admission is $1.

The concession stand will be open and coupons for free concession items will be pre-planted in popcorn.

Miss Tri-County Deadline Near; Set For April 5

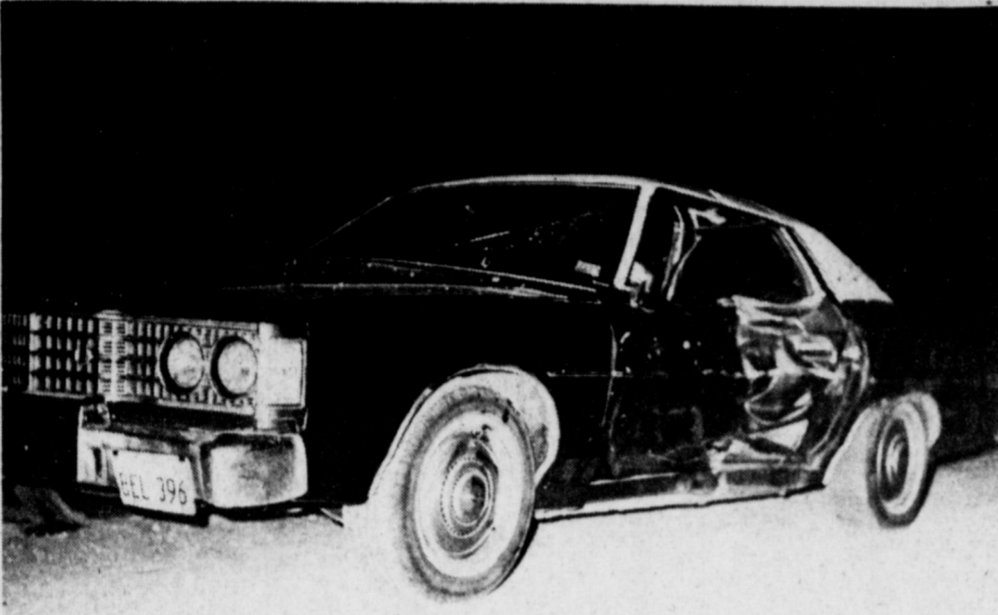

Keith Burns, entry chairman for the upcoming Miss Tri-County Pageant has reminded that the April 5 deadline for entry is fast approaching, and entries need to be sent in for the annual pageant as soon as possible.

To be named during the April 21 pageant will be Miss Tri-County, from the 14-18 year old age group; Junior Miss Tri-County, 10-13; Little Miss Tri-County, ages seven through nine and Miss La Petite Tri-County, from the four to six year olds.

Little Miss, Miss La Petite and Junior Miss Tri-County will be judged on modeling sportswear; modeling party formal wear; and an on stage interview by question and spontaneous answer of the top five finalists.

Miss Tri-County contestants should be currently working on her high school diploma.

Entry blanks for all contestants are available from Burns at the post office; at St. Clair's Department Store; Cobb's Department Store; Lookin' Good and the Muleshoe Journal.

DUO INJURED SUNDAY NIGHT...Efrén Agundis Sr., and Efrén Agundis Jr. were injured around 8:30 p.m. Sunday night when the vehicle shown here was broadsided in an intersection accident approximately five miles west of Muleshoe on FM1760. The elder Agundis was hospitalized overnight and his son treated for facial injuries received in the accident.

Warm Days Spawn Devastating Tornadoes

With the advent of warmer temperatures, a new weather hazard will again be making its debut in many parts of the country--the tornado.

Although reports of tornadoes have already come out of several communities, including Lubbock, no threatening conditions have been noted in the area around Bailey County thus far this year.

Every year, tornadoes kill or injure hundreds of people while destroying thousands of homes and businesses. Spring is a particularly dangerous time of the year for twisters, with the late afternoon on warm days a favorite time for them to strike.

Although there is little that can be done to prevent structural damage by tornadoes, immediate action can save lives, according to the National Weather Service.

"First, it's very important to be able to know when conditions for tornadoes exist," said Larry Eblen of the NWS. "If the skies look threatening, listen to your radio or television for severe storm information."

The National Weather Service monitors weather systems by radar and can usually provide adequate advance warning about severe weather conditions, he added. Some communities also use special warning systems, such as air raid sirens.

"When a tornado watch has been issued, this means that conditions are right for a tornado," he explained. "You should keep informed of the storm conditions and be prepared to take shelter. If a tornado warning is issued, this means that a tornado has been sighted and confirmed within a given area. When a warning is issued for your area, take cover immediately."

Eblen issued the following precautions, depending on where you may happen to be during a tornado warning:

In homes or other small buildings, go to the basement or a place in the middle of the structure, like a closet, bathroom, or interior hall that's on the lowest floor. Get beneath something sturdy, and stay clear of windows or other glass.

Besides listening to emergency weather information on the radio or TV, you can also use your television (if it isn't a cable hookup) to detect a tornado, pointed out the NWS spokesman.

After turning on your TV set and allowing it to warm-up, turn to channel 13.

By using the brightness control, darken the screen until it is almost black.

Now, turn to channel 2, but don't readjust the brightness. Keep the screen dark.

Lightning appears on the screen as horizontal flashes or streaks. However, if the darkened picture becomes visible, this is a signal that a tornado is within 20 miles or less. Turn off the TV and seek shelter.

While detecting a tornado by this method is not a foolproof method, he said, it is a proven method of offering more advance warning, especially in rural areas.

On Tuesday afternoon, Muleshoe Postmaster Tom Lobaugh issued a plea to county and area farmers who are irrigating at this time.

The postmaster said rural mail carriers in all directions from Muleshoe are having trouble delivering the mail. He said sprinklers and irrigation tail-water across roads are causing the mail carriers to become 'stuck' and creating problems as they attempt to deliver mail.

He urged farmers to watch their water excess and said if the situation is not alleviated, there is a possibility mail may have to be curtailed or restricted deliveries made until all roads are kept passable.

Lobaugh asked for the cooperation of farmers in all areas and in all directions from Muleshoe.

Traveling on FM1760 west of Muleshoe proved to be 'hazardous to your health' for four vehicles, who were involved in wrecks on the farm to market road on three consecutive nights.

However, the only injuries recorded in the weekend of accidents were Sunday night, around 8:30 p.m.

Efrén Agundis and Efrén Agundis Jr., were taken by Singleton - Ellis Funeral Home ambulance to West Plains Medical Center for treatment of injuries received in a two car accident at an intersection approximately five miles west of Muleshoe.

Taken to the hospital by private vehicle was Debbie Hoover, a passenger in the second vehicle involved. She was treated for injuries to her knees and abrasions.

Efrén Agundis Jr. was treated for facial injuries, and his father, Efrén Agundis Sr., was hospitalized for observation, after complaining of chest injuries. He was released from the hospital Monday.

While on routine patrol Saturday night, THP Trooper Paul Hernandez found a pickup on its side approximately three miles west of Muleshoe on FM 1760.

No one was around the pickup which was later found to have been driven by a local teenage girl. Neither she or her passenger were reported to have been injured.

Starting off the weekend of wrecks was another local youth, who hit a cow approximately one mile west of Muleshoe on the farm to market road around 11:30 p.m. Friday night.

Heavy damage was done to the pickup, and the cow was killed in the accident. The driver of the pickup was slightly injured, and was taken to West Plains Medical Center for emergency treatment of a slight back injury.

Crop Picture Boosted By Slow Falling Rain

Correct Land Use May Be Difficult

by Ernest Moravec
Soil Conservationist

Choosing the right land use may be difficult at times. Many considerations have to be evaluated before a proper choice can be made.

The old wise tale of cotton being so small that a bumble bee has to kneel down to reach the top flower on the stalk may not be far from wrong on some of the caliche hills or on some of the soils that are shallow. Fields like this and other marginal areas would be better utilized for pastureland, hayland or rangeland. These land uses can also be considered on good cropland.

There are several grass species that can be used. The soil type is an important consideration because some grasses are more adaptable to one type of soil than another.

In converting cropland to pastureland, hayland or rangeland, a producer should consider a proper seeding operation. A dead litter cover or mulch is essential in the establishment of grasses. A dead litter crop of a forage sorghum is planted in the spring and not allowed to seed out by mowing or shredding to a height of 10-12 inches. The grass is then drilled planted into this standing residue the following spring. The dead litter protects the young grass seedlings from being damaged by wind and blowing soil particles. An alternative to a dead litter crop is the using of a mulch cover of cotton burrs.

After the grass seedlings have emerged, the seeded area should be deferred from harvest or grazing for a full growing season or until a stand is established. To maintain the stand, a good management system should be followed. This would involve considerations such as stocking rates, grazing systems, water facilities and fences.

Considering the trend and potential in today's cattle market, pastureland, hayland and rangeland may be worked into your operation. If so, a thorough evaluation of the area should be made. The Soil Conservation Service personnel at 111 East Ave. D in Muleshoe will assist you in making the evaluation and discussing any alternatives that may help you in making a sound decision on the type land use needed.

Dryland Area Gets Good Cotton Prospect

Right now, we're approaching the planting season with conditions as good as we have had in comparison to the last three to four years in terms of soil moisture," stated Bailey County Agent Spencer Tanksley.

The county agent said the one to two inches of rainfall last week fell very slow and was taken in by the soil and should be a tremendous help on wheat crops.

He said, "The moisture will hold the wheat in very good condition until it is in the boot and seed setting stage, then we will need more moisture to make a bumper crop."

Also, the rainfall has been very beneficial to replace the sub-soil moisture for spring crop planting time. However, the winds that blew hard on Thursday depleted some soil moisture and caused fields to become sand blown in places where the land was flat."

Tanksley then added, "I believe that farmers are still looking at a good situation in terms of being able to prepare land for planting."

"Right now, we can anticipate another increase in cotton acreage as Terry Hill at the ASCS office has mentioned. We'll have a loss in feed grains crops due to what economists are predicting prices will be in the harvest next year."

According to the county agent, he doubts that the rainfall received to date will eliminate pre-irrigation as all demonstration and research data in this area still say a full profile of soil moisture will be needed at planting time to insure a top crop yield.

"If additional rainfall is received in the next two weeks, some cotton may be planted without pre-watering," he added. "What rainfall we got helped dryland more than anything, and puts them in a more favorable condition."

He did caution that more moisture will be needed on the dryland in order to plant spring crops.

"There is some talk about fuel rationing for irrigation," he added, "but we have no concrete figures at this time. If rationing happens, we will be looking at watering crops at the time they really need it."

"We believe tenchometers may help us in timing our water needs, and research is continuing this year. I have been involved in the research in this area for the past three years. Tenchometers sense the amount of moisture in the soil, and can help eliminate irrigation or make the water we use more efficient. Tenchometers cannot eliminate irrigation, but can make the timing better," he explained.

"With fuel rationing, we will be forced to water on a better timing for the crop to produce the most yields."

The county agent continued, "Cotton normally planted in early May with good soil moisture at the time it is planted does not need more moisture until Cont. page 6, Col. 1

Youth Disco Slated

All area youth have been invited by a group of adults and parents to attend the Youth Disco at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum this Saturday, March 31, from 8-12.

Disco sounds for this youth disco will be provided by Browne and Steele's 'Magnificent Traveling Disco and Light Show.'

Many of you will recognize John Steele, popular disc jockey from KSEL, Lubbock and Charlie Brown, disco jockey from KLBK, Lubbock. In addition to their disco sounds and light show, they will be giving away six albums during the evening.

Youth will pay a charge of $3 for couples and $2 for singles to attend the dance. A concession stand will be operating during the evening.

Not only youth from Muleshoe, but from throughout the area are invited to attend the second Disco, designed especially for youth.

Julia Shain Awarded Scholarship Check

Early in October last year, Wayland Ethridge, principal of Muleshoe High School received a letter from Haynes M. Baumgardner, president of the Lubbock Chapter of the Air Force Association.

In the letter Baumgardner outlined a plan for an essay contest for high school students to enter.

After hearing of the contest, MHS senior Julia Shain decided to write an essay on the chosen subject, "The U.S. Air Force--A National Resource."

When she entered the contest, the student, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shain, wrote her essay, and limited her words to the 500 - 600 words allowed for entry.

In December, Julia was notified by Baumgardner that she had been named Chapter winner of the AFA-Texas/Earle North Parker Scholarship competition in the Lubbock Area.

According to Baumgardner's letter... "Your essay was judged the winning entry among the nine highly competitive essays that were submitted for our Chapter competition. Our selection committee was composed of deeply experienced personnel from Texas Tech."

He also praised Julia's teacher, Ruby Lee Kerr, and asked that Julia's parents and Principal Ethridge be thanked for their support.

presented for winning the Chapter contest. Then her essay was sent on to Austin for the state competition.

This was followed on March 9 by another letter.

This letter was from John B. Long, chairman of the AFA-Texas/Earle North Parker Scholarship Program. Long informed Julia she had been awarded the first place win in the state contest.

He told the Muleshoe student that the $1000 check and a plaque would be presented as the highlight of the Spring Quarterly Executive Meeting of the Air Force Association - Texas, on March 23-24 in Austin.

Julia and her parents went to Austin for the meeting. They heard special guest speaker Steve Ritchie. He is a native of North Carolina, but now calls Colorado home following a stint at Colorado Springs at the Air Force Academy.

He entered pilot training in August, 1964, and graduated first in his class and became one of the most highly decorated individuals in U.S. military history.

He is presently employed by the Adolph Coors Company, Golden, Colo., as a special assistant to Joseph Coors.

Julia plans to use her $1,000 check to help further her education after graduation from Muleshoe High School in May.

STATE WINNER...Julia Shain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shain and a senior at Muleshoe High School, was presented a plaque and a check in the amount of $1,000 after winning a state essay contest. She received her awards in Austin last weekend.

The Saga Of Maybelline And Tony!

by...John Isaac and Tracy Tunnell

There once was a girl named Maybelline Garcia. She had a boyfriend named Tony Lama, he was a Bounty Hunter, and Maybelline was a Cover Girl. They lived in Nocona, Tx. in a Log Cabin. They had a pet White Swan named Firestone and a German Shepherd dog named Wolf. One night an enemy of Tony Lama's named Jimmy Dean drove by the Log Cabin and shot Firestone and Wolf.

Firestone died but they hurried and dialed Dr. Pepper's number but he was not home. So they called the Maxwell's House and luckily, Dr. Pepper was there. He dashed over as fast as a Comet and saved Wolf. They buried Firestone in Levi Sanders Memorial Cemetery in Plains, Georgia, because he liked to listen to Jimmy Carter talk. After the funeral they went to the Maxwell's House and had a Banquet. They invited the Owens, the Hunts, and the Campbells. After that everybody lived happily ever after.

Mules Third In Competition Last Weekend

Last Saturday, March 17, the 8th grade boys went to Springlake Earth to compete in the track meet. At this track meet they got third place with 94 total points. At this track meet there were 6 other teams competing against the Mules. The ones that placed at this track meet are as follows:

Senator Price Presents Bill To Change Taxes

Senator Bob Price, R-Pampa, has introduced a bill before the Senate which would exempt livestock from ad valorem taxation.

Agricultural livestock is defined as live cattle, sheep, goats, swine, horses and fowl.

The bill, SB 1036, is designed to stimulate the Texas livestock industry according to Senator Price.

"Other states have similar taxation methods," said the Pampa Senator. "It is my feeling that a tax advantage to our livestock producers would generate more jobs and more business for our Texas feedlots, cattlemen and farmers. It will also strengthen the market for our Texas grains."

"Livestock producers should receive the same kind of break on taxes as grain farmers who are exempt from ad valorem taxation," added Price.

"The immediate loss of ad valorem taxes would be more than offset by a healthier business climate which would generate a tax base about four times the present size. The State of Texas should stimulate the livestock industry as we have other industry. Through taxing methods similar to my proposal, other livestock producing states are growing in this area. Texas needs to claim its rightful place in the livestock producing area," concluded Senator Price.

the time of full bloom." He predicted researchers will be looking more at cotton which does not branch out and fruit up for this area as irrigation fuel supplies become more scarce and more expensive.

Tanksley reminded that the growing season is very short in this area and a much cooler temperature. "We must have varieties that will fruit early and still make us a crop," he added.

According to the county agent, cattle, in general, is one of the hottest items you hear people talking about now because of the high prices paid for all grades and classes of cattle. Some economists believe the peak hasn't been reached yet, he added.

"These prices have been very good for ranchers and producers, but we have a low number of head of cattle being placed into feedlots," he continued. "We are seeing a number of cattle still grazing on small grain pastures, and making excellent gains."

People must learn to get along with less than perfect people.

He stated also, "I anticipate vegetable producers will again plant about the same acreage they have in the past and will have the usual type vegetables for this area."

"This week, we will see a number of potato acreages planted, but onion planting will be down due to a shortage of onion sets because of the hard freeze in the Rio Grande Valley."

Tanksley suggested that homeowners plant their own transplants if they can find them as onion prices are expected to be very high this winter.

Also, Tanksley discussed briefly the freeze damage suffered by ornamental plants during the past winter. He suggests leaving the plants, bushes and trees along to check and see if they put out new growth. "They may need to lose some limbs, so after they start growing, trim away the dead limbs," he said.

Tanksley said many ornamental plants which appear to be dead at this time will be putting out new growth as the soil temperature warms up. "If we have a real good, warm week, then by next week, we will see many blooms, and new growth on the plants," he concluded.

WIND AND COLD WATER CLAIM PANHANDLE FOUR

Fritch -- Personnel of the National Park Service and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department are continuing their search of the water and shores of Lake Meredith for three persons still missing from a late-February boating mishap.

On Monday, Feb. 26, two Dumas couples launched their boat on Meredith for a day of fishing, according to reports.

When the four Panhandle residents failed to return home, the search began as Texas Game Warden Stanley Brooks, Dumas; Ewel McCrary, Amarillo and District Supervisor Calvin Tow, Amarillo, found their capsized boat the next day.

One of the women was found dead on shore along with two personal flotation devices (life vests) and boat cushions. The victim was not wearing a life vest. The winds were estimated to be blowing between 30 and 40 m.p.h. on the day of the mishap and the water temperature was 40 degrees at five feet.

Although the P&WD has qualified divers stationed in the Texas Panhandle, their equipment is not designed to withstand the extreme cold temperatures found in Lake Meredith in February.

The National Park Service, which operates Lake Meredith, brought in divers and proper equipment from Oklahoma, New Mexico and other points in Texas to search for the three remaining missing boaters.

There is still no trace of the three suspected drowning victims at Lake Meredith.

The P&WD would like to remind all boaters, anglers or anyone using the waters of Texas to use good common sense when contemplating a trip when the winds are blowing or the water temperature is still cold. It is better to cancel an outdoor trip than take a chance on capsizing or falling overboard into water where you have only several minutes to either get to shore or back into or on the boat before your body becomes so cold, it will not function.

Tell someone at the lake where you are going and when they can expect you and your party back.

Wear PFD's at all times, even when the boat is not moving or anchored when winds and cold water are present.

As the Texas lakes warm, more boaters and fishermen will head for the water for an early chance at a walleye or crappie and the P&WD hopes all boaters will take their common sense along, too.

WALLEYE STARTING TO RUN

P&WD fishery personnel are beginning their annual walleye egg procurement in Texas and some real whoppers are being recorded at Lake Meredith in the Texas Panhandle.

Although the water is still very cold, big walleye in the 8 to 10 pound class are being netted by the department crews.

The walleye are being caught by the really dedicated fishermen willing to face the strong winds and cold water on Lake Meredith on jigs, spinners and live bait.

The walleye spawning run should increase by leaps and bounds within the next two or three weeks as the fish move onto the spawning grounds near the rocky points and along the Sanford dam.

The biologists are also quite excited about two 30 pound flathead catfish picked up in the walleye nets last week. When catfish begin to move, spring fishing weather cannot be far away.

Price Votes 'No' S.B. 312

Senator Bob Price, R - Pampa, cast one of two "no" votes against Senate Bill No. 312, designed to take away all local utility rate making power from local municipalities Monday in the Senate Economic Development Committee.

Senator O.H. (Ike) Harris, R - Dallas, also voted "No" on S.B. 312. However, the bill was voted out of committee 5-2.

Senator Price told the committee that there was no way he could ignore the wishes of the majority of the people in the municipalities of the 31st Senatorial District who want to maintain at least some checks and balances in the rate making process.

"Utility companies argue that it is a waste of taxpayers money to have our city councils involved in the process," said Sen. Price. "The utilities say the case is appealed to the Public Utility Commission anyway. However, the record shows that cities have been able to effectively reduce rate increase requests by utilities. I still feel that the locally elected people who run city government should have input in the process."

Testifying against the bill was Mayor R.D. Wilkerson of Pampa. Wilkerson, speaking for the mayors of the 31st Senatorial District, told the committee that if local governments were left out of the process, they might just as well "throw in the towel."

A one-track mind is not a handicap if you are on the right track.

JOHNNIE HABERER
J.M. Haberer
Funeral Rites Held Monday

Funeral services for Johnie M. Haberer, 66, were conducted at 2:30 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist Church at Earth with Rev. David Burum, pastor and Rev. C.T. Jordan of Pecos, officiating. Interment was in Earth Memorial Cemetery under direction of Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home of Muleshoe.

Haberer died at West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe at 7 a.m. Sunday. He had been a lifetime resident of Castro County, residing in the Dodd community. He was born November 26, 1912 at Hereford and was a farmer. He was married to Ida Maye Cantrell on November 4, 1935 at Clovis. Johnie M. Haberer was a member of the First Baptist Church of Earth; a former member of the Springlake-Earth School Board and retired after 15 years as a director of Citizens State Bank at Earth.

Survivors include his wife, Ida Maye; two sons, Ronnie Haberer of Dodd and Gary Don Haberer of Austin; one daughter, Mrs. Kay Tunnell of Littlefield; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Greathouse of Sunnyvale, Calif.; and six grandchildren.

Consumer Food News

Best buys at Texas grocery markets include specials on beef, pork and frozen fish.

Also, eggs have reasonable prices this week, says Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This week's price-quality trends are the following:

BEEF...Check for specials on chuch roasts and steaks, round and rib steaks, ground beef and beef liver.

PORK...Specials include end chops, rib and loin - end roasts, frankfurters and pork liver.

POULTRY...Eggs are a bargain at present prices. Fryer chicken prices are rising, but some markets feature cut-up fryers and fryer parts. Also, look for specials on turkeys with best buys on those 10 pounds and up.
