

X. B. SAUNDERS, once a school teacher, and a rather indifferent lawyer in this city, is alive and lives in Bell County, and runs the democracy.

If Coke felt glad over the cold blooded murder of a State Police man how full of joy his heart must be over the thousand murders committed during his reign.

How About the Election?

A question more easily put than answered. The 14th Legislature has rather mixed up matters. An act, approved April 8th 1874 provided, that the returning officer of each county shall send the returns of his respective county to the returning officer of his district.

Said district officer shall on the 30th day after the Election, Sunday not counted, open all the returns and issue certificates of Election to the successful candidates.

The last election was held on Monday, Aug. 2nd, deducting the four Sundays in August and one Sunday in September, the returning day for this Election is Sept. 6th.

A joint resolution, providing for a Convention to frame a Constitution for the State of Texas, approved March 13th 1875, provided, that the members elect shall meet at the city of Austin on the first Monday in Sept.

This being Sept. 6th, the question arises. How shall the Delegates manage to reach Austin on the same day on which they receive their certificates, provided they happen to reside at the same place, where the presiding officer of the district resides.

The telegraph thus far furnishes no accommodation for travelers, and thus no delegate can possibly answer to the roll call at Austin on Monday Sept. 6th, as ordered by the 14th Legislature.

Judge Reagan and Free Schools.

One of the overrated men of Texas, is Judge Reagan; that he is shrewd, is undeniable, but that he is a states man or an able legislator is not so. This writer has had opportunity to watch Judge Reagan through several years of eventful public life; his real talents lie in the direction of the Legislative lobby. He has for the past four or five years been employed by corrupt railroad corporations to do their bribery and corruption business, and he has used his position as a leader of the so called democracy to fill his pockets with money earned from the railroads. He is a demagogue and a democratic demagogue at that. In an account given in confidence the favor of the democracy of this district by placing himself on the anti-public school platform, he said:

"It (the school system) is not only burdensome to sparse populations, but inefficient. There are over four hundred thousand children in the State within the scholastic age, costing the State annually for education over three millions of dollars. This would not be borne even by our rich and wealthy States. The Judge said I never could see the right that I had to make another man pay for the education of my children. I cannot see the justice of it, and do not, therefore, approve taxation for this purpose. I would be in favor of setting apart, as a school fund, one-tenth of the annual revenues, but would levy no special school tax."

This position of Reagan has been commented on all over the country by both Democratic and Republican papers. The Memphis Appeal a democratic paper says:

"Judging from this, Judge Reagan is a better hand at regarding the growth of a State than at building it up. A few more speeches like this, and the immigration of which the Texans have been so fondly bragging, will decline to nothing, and the great West, with all its drawbacks of climate and soil that needs nursing, care and wisely adjusted system of irrigation, will recover the immigration that now threatens to make of Texas the empire State of the Union. Texas can afford to punish the Reagans who oppose public schools, and if she would proper heed copy after Texas and Michigan, whose educational systems are models for all new and sparsely settled States."

MORE MOB VIOLENCE.

Three white men shot.

Two negroes hung.

A special to the Galveston News, dated Burton, Texas, Aug. 6th, 1875 reads:

Considerable excitement for the past few days in the neighborhood of Shelly, Austin county. A young man named Aug. Roseman, clerk for Boegel, was shot Wednesday night and instantly killed. Suspicion rested on three negroes, strangers in the vicinity. The neighbors collected, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Bob Flack, and scoured the country. The negroes were found in a field near Boegel's store. They were armed and resisted arrest.

Two young men named Heine and Shepard, were shot by the negroes in making the arrest, the latter being mortally. The deputy sheriff was also fired upon, but not hit.

Two of the negroes were captured, the third escaped. They were placed under strong guard, and while en route to jail the guard were overpowered by a squad of twenty men, who took the prisoners and hanged them to the first tree. The coroner's inquest is in accordance with the above facts.

The young men shot are highly respectable, law-abiding citizens, and their misfortune is deeply regretted. The negroes hanged have had a bad record.

In the first place, a young white man is murdered, and suspicion instantly rested on the negroes, and then a mob of white citizens headed by the Sheriff scoured the country, causing no doubt, alarm and dismay. They come upon the suspected, and they were armed and resisted the mob, and in resisting they wounded two of their assailants. Two of the negroes were captured and while on the way to jail were mobbed and hung. The white man shot was one young man and the negroes "had a bad record."

No matter how much the special of the News or anybody else may try to smooth over this sort of business, the truth comes to light and is published and read by hundreds of thousands of American readers. The readiness to get up mobs headed by Sheriffs to hunt down negroes, is painfully apparent, and the mobbing and hanging of negroes, without evidence, law or trial is too common. The Sheriffs ought to be able to arrest negroes without raising the whole country, and when a mob rushes upon a negro, guilty or innocent he but obeys the instinct of self-protection if he resists his assailants.

We have had nothing but murder and mob violence since Coke began to reign. He felt glad over the murder of a policeman, he riots in blood now.

General News Items.

The Rev. Dr. Mallory, a Baptist clergyman of Detroit, says of Becher that "his preaching has tended to make his people look at sin as a weakness instead of a wrong, as misfortune instead of guilt; they ought to be pitied instead of blamed; and so free love, black mailing, lying, robbery, forgery, slighted honor, disgraced children and suffering Christians are the darling fruits." Pretty severe.

The conduct of Dawson, Sherman & Co. in transferring property on the eve of their failure does not meet with universal approbation. The Troy Times, for instance says: "That gift-edged firm are discovered to have made transfers of a million and a quarter of property within a week, under various deeds apparently prepared from one to seven years ago, but which they had been prepared. This may be due to dishonesty, but dishonest firms have done the same thing, and it is known as an old dodge."

If you want a good article you must pay for it. Judges Tripp and McCoy, of the Supreme Court of Georgia, have resigned because they could not live on the meagre salary attached to the office. They have formed a law partnership, and their salaries in a few days exceeded the whole salary of a judge.

Col. Anthony, brother of Miss Susan B. Anthony and editor of the Leavesworth Times, who was shot dead two months ago, is yet in a critical condition. The heavy pistol ball passed through the collar bone and in the direction of a large artery. The blood that flowed out was pronounced arterial, and for a short time he was supposed to be dead. His heart was still for a moment, and in the brief interval a clot of blood was formed in the mouth of the severed artery, retaining there thirty-six hours. Then the clot came away, and death was expected; but blood surged into the surrounding parts without bursting the tissues, forming a sac, called by surgeons an aneurism. As every beat of the heart the blood rushed into the sac, threatening a rupture. The wound otherwise healed, leaving the aneurism, often impossible, but of curing the aneurism. The method adopted was compression, and now the sac is very small, with a new clot, forming in the artery. He is kept on a low diet, and not allowed to move much, and six weeks more will elapse before recovery is possible.

This cruel and Christian act of the Rev. Mr. Cross, a clergyman of the Church of England and a justice of the peace, who recently committed a ye ug girl 13 years of age to a common jail for fourteen days and to the county reformatory for four years, for the trivial offense of plucking a bud from a geranium plant in an almshouse garden, has naturally excited much indignation and comment in England and America, and we presume, in every other civilized country in which it has become known. This infamous act, in the name of justice, was committed in the village of Spalding, and the victim's name is Sarah Chandler, who has an aged aunt in the almshouse of that rural village, whom she was visiting when she committed the heinous offense of plucking the fatal bud from one of the several flower beds that adorn the grounds of the institution. A vigilant matron of the almshouse saw the girl in the act, which was duly reported to the governing magistrate, who consigned the offender to a prison and reformatory as already stated. Fourteen days among jail-birds and four years in a reformatory for plucking a geranium bud, and the victim an innocent girl who had no idea that she was doing wrong! On the very same day, in London, a man was fined forty shillings and committed to jail for a fortnight for beating his wife nearly to death! Such is equal and exact justice in England, and such the judicial difference there between the worth of a wife and a geranium bud!

DEATH OF HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN.

Copenhagen, August 4.—Hans Christian Andersen, the poet and novelist, died today, aged seventy. He was born in Odense, April 2, 1805. His education was acquired at a charity school, his father being a shoemaker. He was adopted by the widow of a clergyman, who advised his mother to send him to the theater, but she determined to make a tailor out of him. Before his apprenticeship, he obtained permission to go to Copenhagen, where he sought a theatrical engagement, but was rejected on account of awkwardness and ignorance. Professor Eibon shortly afterwards received him with kindness, and caused him to be instructed as a singer for the stage. At the end of a year his voice failed. He then applied for assistance to the poet Goldenberg, by whose aid he struggled on for a few years, occasionally studying, and sometimes employed in a theater. Several tragedies which he wrote during this time attracted the attention of Dehnsmøller and Counting-Galen, and the latter procured him free admission to the government schools. This was the turning point in Andersen's life. He began to write, and in 1833 he visited Italy, and published his impressions in the novel, "The Improvisatore." His next novel, "A. T.," describes his life in the South, and "Only a Fiddler," the scenes of his early struggles. Among his other works are "Fairy Tales," "Picture Book Without Pictures," "Travels in the Harz Mountains," "A Poet's Bazaar," "Ahasuerus," "New Fairy Tales," "The Two Baronesses," and some volumes of poetry, dramas, fairy comedies, and lyrics for operas. In 1845 he received a royal annuity which placed him in comfortable circumstances for the remainder of his lifetime.

Local Agents Wanted!

An Agent wanted for each town and county in the United States. Parties desiring to act as Agents must accompany their application by a letter of recommendation as to character and responsibility, from and signed by the editor of a newspaper published in the town or county for which agent proposes to act. The Agency is to sell the bonds of the Industrial Exhibition Company.

Bonds $20 each.

The Industrial Exhibition Company will furnish agents with Circulars, etc. Each newspaper published in the town where agents are located, has a space as agent established, be given an advertisement, advertising such agency and the Company, and fully explaining the plans, purposes and objects of the Company. Such agents will continue in such papers as long as agency is successfully conducted.

The Industrial Exhibition Company is the first to adopt the plan so long in use by the European governments of issuing bonds when the principal is made secure and not risked, but where there is a chance with a large premium, an investment of $20 is sure to return to the investor $21—a dollar more than cost—and the holder of a $20 bond may obtain a premium either of $10, $20, $30, $40, $50, $60, $70, $80, $90, $100, $200, $300, $400, $500, $600, $700, $800, $900, $1000. The interest, which is ordinarily distributed to all the bondholders pro rata, is in this loan distributed by chance. The purchaser of a bond knows he will receive back his investment, with a small rate of interest added, and in consideration of taking this small rate of interest, he has a chance to win a large sum of money, which is simply the distribution of interest on the whole loan.

Each bondholder participates in four drawings each year, until it has drawn a premium, when it is surrendered, the premium paid, and the bond cancelled. The Industrial Exhibition Company, under a special charter, granted by the State of New York, is given authority to issue these bonds. The Legislature of the State, recognizing the great benefits which will accrue from the success of this enterprise, have exempted all the real estate and property of the Company from taxation and assessments for five years, and have conferred other great privileges.

Every American who understands the purposes of this Company will, of a necessity, feel a pride in aiding it to successful termination. Each individual who buys a bond becomes an owner and an interested party and when he views the structure erected with his money can say, "I aided to erect in our country the most magnificent building the world has ever seen, a palace which, in truth, represents the industry, energy and mechanical genius of the American people."

The manufacturers and inventors of America are possibly interested in the success of this enterprise, for the reason that it is to be their home, where all their inventions and manufactures can be exhibited and sold. The building will contain 5,700,000 square feet of space. Purchasers desiring bonds before an agency is established where they reside, will communicate direct with this office, from where they can be supplied. Parties desiring to act as agents or to purchase bonds will address Industrial Exhibition Co., NO. 12 EAST 17th STREET, Bet. Broadway & 5th Ave. New York City.

THE ORIGINAL HOWE!

The World-Renowned Elias Howe Sewing Machines are the oldest established of any in the world, they being the FIRST SEWING MACHINES ever made, and having been manufactured by the original inventor and under his own supervision, Elias Howe Jr., since 1845.

The Howe Sewing Machine.

For some years I have been actively engaged in increasing the facilities for manufacturing my Sewing Machines, and have succeeded in organizing a most complete system, combining perfection of workmanship with the largest productions at the smallest cost. In order to obtain these results, time, labor, money, and the EXPERIENCE OF MY LIFE, as a practical mechanic, have been freely contributed, and I believe, with success. Further to facilitate the manufacture and sale of my Machines, THE HOWE MACHINE CO. has been organized, and the business will be carried on in the name of that Company, under my supervision. The enviable reputation of my Machines has induced persons to use my name in connection with Machines of an inferior description—and have, therefore, to protect myself and the public, adopted, as an official TRADE MARK, a MEDALLION, having in the center the profile of the inventor surrounded by the legend, "ELIAS HOWE, JR., INVENTOR AND MAKER, NEW YORK, U. S. A." This medallion is embedded in each Machine, and none are to be produced of the HOWE MACHINE COMPANY unless they have this distinctive TRADE MARK.
