SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, SATURDAY EVENING NOVEMBER 20 1875.

NO. 65.

Off to San Saba.
SAN SABA, SAN SABA COUNTY, TEXAS, Monday, November 1st, 1875.
Editor Express: We broke camp opposite Watch Mountain on Tuesday last and took our departure from the Enchanted Valley, having killed several turkeys before breakfast. We followed down the course of the Sandies for some distance and then veered eastward intending to camp again on Legion Valley, several miles from our late stopping place, but losing our way we missed the road and suddenly found ourselves at the rancho of James Moss on the road from Fredericksburg to Llano. From Mr. Moss, an extensive dealer in cattle and hogs, we obtained information concerning roads, hunting places, and other points of interest to the party, and proceeded on our way to a point at the head of Legion Valley, about two miles distant, where we camped for the evening, finding good grass but no water in the bed of the creek. While searching for water, we discovered the newly made home of Mr. G. Solomon, almost hidden from view in a grove of young oaks, and from his well of fine water we quenched our thirst, and returned to camp perfectly happy.

Near Mr. Solomon's farm, stands a very peculiar mountain called Skillet Knob which was ascended just as the sun was disappearing behind the long range of hills to the west of it, and from the top we had a magnificent view of the hills surrounding, and of the beautiful and fertile valley at the foot. In Legion Valley, several miles in extent, lies the choicest farming land in the country, which will one day team with productiveness under the plow and harrow of the energetic farmer. The Maverick Estate is the fortunate possessor of these choice lands and value them as among the very best of their immense possessions. From the productions of the small preempted claim adjoining which have been cultivated, evidence can be obtained of their value as farming lands and at no distant day in the future Legion Valley will be one of the finest settlements in Llano County. The mountain just mentioned, Skillet-Knob, is perhaps three hundred and fifty feet high, and at the top presents a surface of not more than twenty square feet, that surface being a perfectly level bare rock. The ascent is difficult, but the view obtained amply repaid for the trouble and toil; the beautiful valley below; Bulls head, several miles west; Lone Mountain to the north-east; Cat Mountain and the range of which it is one to the north-west, and the high range to the south, all form a view of no little grandeur especially when seen at sunset. A high wind was prevailing and as the space occupied by us was extremely limited, we did not remain long on the top lest we might perchance be picked up and carried across the valley to some neighboring peak more forcibly than we cared for.

Descending we returned to camp to partake of a hearty supper of broiled quail, fried turkey with onions, baked potatoes, wild honey, bread and butter, arranged camp for the night, laid plans for the morrow, staked out the horses and retired, pretty well flagged with the travel of the day.

Not finding the hunting on Legion Valley all that could be desired, we remained there one night only, starting for Llano town at 8 p. m. the next morning which point was reached about 1 p. m. The valley lands lying between Legion Valley and the town are especially fine and capable of every cultivation. My attention was especially attracted to one small tract known as Lost-hollow which presented all the natural advantages for an excellent farm or rancho, where one could be near a settlement, yet completely isolated from the outside world if desired; not likely to be encroached upon, living in a complete little world to oneself; just such a spot, above all others, as your correspondent would choose for a hog or cattle rancho, or for a small farm, were he desirous of engaging in any such pursuit. There are really some fine farming lands in Llano County, as well as very valuable mineral lands, and in a few years, this will be one of the finest counties in the Western part of the State. The resources are gradually being developed and evidence is being continually obtained of the mineral and productive wealth lying here hidden.

We find Llano town to be a little village of about fifteen houses, including three general stores, a neat market, three attorney offices, one doctor shop and a blacksmith shop, situated on the southern bank of the beautiful little river of Llano.

We remained here all afternoon and Saturday, camping about a mile above the town on the bank of the clear and swift running river, attending duties in town and enjoying the pleasure and benefit of plenty of water; a luxury, we had severely felt the need of for several days past.

At Llano, we made the acquaintance of the District Clerk, Mr. John Buttery, at whose hands we received many kindnesses. We also met Mr. Roundtree, the Deputy County Surveyor, a very accommodating gentleman from whom we gleaned valuable and interesting information concerning our route north of the Llano river.

Bidding good bye to our newly made friends, and the little town, we took our departure, and wandered our way across the country toward San Saba, about thirty five miles distant. The lands adjoining the road through the northern part of the country, are not nearly as fine as those through which we passed in the opposite portion. They are valuable for the timber and for grazing, but would hardly serve for farming purposes, being very sandy, and stony in places as well. Crossing the county line we enter San Saba county, and travel for a few miles through a continuation of the land just described, when we enter the valley of Cherokee Creek, a beautiful stream. Here the prospect changes, and we are in the midst of a very beautiful valley; here is a large and thrifty settlement and we see along the roadside a number of farms in a high state of cultivation. At the foot is a substantial stone dam, which throws the water into a race of half a mile by which a mill is run; a mill which grinds for a large scope of country surrounding, and which adds an air of special importance to the settlement.

From this point to San Saba, the road is decidedly the worst it has ever been our ill fortune to travel over, and it certainly is a disgrace to the county to have such a road in its boundaries. The country is not so uneven as some over which we have travelled, but it seems as though all the stones in the country from the size of a small apple to that of a three story hotel had been placed directly in the highway to the inconvenience of the unlucky traveler who has to pass that way. It was one continuation of bumps and jolts until we were well nigh worn out, having become disgusted long since, and heartily glad were we when we reached the level sandy spot on which San Saba is built.

We find San Saba to be a thriving little town of about four hundred inhabitants, built a half mile south of the river bearing the same name. The buildings, some of which are large two story structures, are principally frame, although there are several composed of stone and brick, the whole presenting an appearance of thrift and industry not seen in any town since leaving San Antonio.

We are compelled to remain here a day or two, and spend it quite pleasantly attending to our duties in town where we made a number of acquaintances among whom are Mr. W. G. Rogan, Deputy District Clerk, to whom we are especially indebted for favors and kindnesses shown; the surveyor, M. H. Wadsworth and Mr. W. B. Wright, his deputy, who gave us much valued and interesting information concerning our intended trip up the San Saba river. We also met Mr. W. T. Melton of the San Saba Weekly News, who treated us very courteously indeed.

The News published by Messrs. Melton & Brown, is a spicily little sheet and is doing good service for San Saba and adjoining counties. The editors are gentlemen as well as thorough business men and justly deserve the success which is crowning their efforts.

The weather so far has been all that could be desired; not a cloudy day nor a damp cold night have we experienced since commencing the trip. The beautiful Indian summer has added largely to the pleasures we have enjoyed, and the excitement of the hunt through sections of country as wild as the wildest, has made us utterly oblivious to all outside and untoward influences. SATURDAY EVENING, Nov. 29.

ARTICANS of every class are allowed by the new Constitution a lien on their work for their pay. All right.

THE Washington Sunday Chronicle has come out for General Grant for a third Presidential term.

ROBERT P. CAMPBELL has been appointed Collector of Internal Revenue at Austin in place of Colonel Norris, deceased.

WE will not give the Pierce road anything more, says one. We have never given the road anything yet, says another.

A SECTION of the new Constitution provides that the Legislature may prescribe the qualifications of physicians, but shall give no preference to any school of medicine.

A RAILROAD we must have, is the exclamation of every San Antonian; but who is going to build it? is the response of every other San Antonian.

THE DISTRICT Court in Mason County is attended only by those who are compelled to be present, in consequence of the bloody feud now raging there.

WM. H. HARRIS, a worthy gentleman, of Nacogdoches county, a Lieutenant of Captain Clark's company during the war, was killed in Houston three days ago by a man named I. S. Stevens.

SECRETARY Bristow deserves the honor of the whole American people for the unflinching honesty and zeal with which he has exposed and broken up the immense whisky ring at Saint Louis. This has been the most gigantic swindle of modern times.

FORT WORTH, by her Construction Company, will have the Pacific railroad running to that town in five months, as will be seen by the dispatches. They commence work on Monday. She wants our Headquarters, too, and we may look out.

DON CARLOS writes to Alfonso that Spain will have war with the United States, and offers to unite with him in fighting the United States. Spain is weak enough, without the additional weakness of two kings, and also her hopeless war with the Cuban patriots.

POSTMASTER General Jewell, it is said, has the emity and opposition of "Box" Shepherd and General Butler. This certainly should not injure him with either the nation or the administration, especially as he has made a good Cabinet officer, even if he has somewhat overlooked the wants of Western Texas.

COLONEL Ashbel Smith is not a man to be ridiculed, as has been attempted by some, in the presence or hearing of any old citizen or journalist of Texas. He is a gentleman sans peur et sans reproche; a patriot above corruption, a soldier without fear, a man without stain, and one of the most learned and cultivated men in the United States. His life has been given to Texas from before the day of San Jacinto to the present time.

THE VETERANS of the Mexican War of 1846 recently had a meeting of their Association at Washington, General Denver in the chair, and appointed a committee of five to make full arrangements for their attending the Centennial on July 4, 1876, at Philadelphia. The committee consists of General Denver, Colonel Alexander Montgomery, Captain S. V. Niles, Colonel Peter Allabaugh, M. P. Montis and John Brannon, Esqrs. Texas ought to be well represented in the Association on that occasion.

THE VETERANS of the Texas Revolutionary War for Independence should be sent to the Centennial at Philadelphia, at the expense of the State. They won the State for us; they are old and poor; due honor has never been paid them; no many of them are able to go, and the expense would not be heavy; and it will be the last distinguished honor the State will ever have the privilege of conferring on them. Marshalled in appropriate uniform at Philadelphia, they would receive the most honorable attention from all eyes and ears. It would be a great opportunity for them to see what has since that time taken place in the country. It would be a great honor for them to see what has since that time taken place in the country.

The South in Congress.

The San Antonio Herald does not want any Southern men elected to the Speaker ship of the House, or to the Vice-Presidency. We cannot agree with it. Southern men have the same rights as Northern men, and the sooner we quit talking about civil war, and set as though it had never been, the better for the country. A. H. Stephens of Georgia, Lamar of Mississippi, Throckmorton and Hancock of Texas, from the Democratic side; and Bristow and Harlan of Kentucky, Chambers of South Carolina, Settle of North Carolina, and Parsons of Alabama, these and other statesmen equally worthy, would do credit to the South and to the Nation in any position. We are not sectional in feeling, but entirely national in all our views and sentiments; nevertheless, we are of the South, and we wish the sons of the South accorded the place in the national councils and administration which is due to their personal merits, and to the people they represent. There is no longer class or caste in this great and free country, and we are tired of the continual assumption that there is.

Miss Ida Cook.
The lovely daughter of Hon. Gustave Cook of Houston, Judge of the Criminal Court of Galveston and Harris counties, has been delivering public readings in Austin for the benefit of the sufferers on the coast by the late disastrous floods, especially in the rich and beautiful country on Cauey and the lower Brazos, which is almost ruined. Miss Cook has been very successful in Austin, and the press of that city is full of her praises.
We have just received a letter from our esteemed friend, Hon. Chas. S. West, of Austin, informing us that Miss Cook will arrive in this city on to-morrow or Monday, and that she will deliver one of her readings here on Tuesday night. We ask the people of this city to give her a rousing house, both from chivalry and benevolence—both for the good cause she represents, and as a tribute due to a patriotic, brave, talented and beautiful Texas girl.
Miss Ida Cook is one of the most beloved and popular young ladies in Houston. She is well educated and well read in poetry and polite literature. She is gifted with a fine and commanding person; she is very handsome, and is a very attractive young lady in society and social converse. Let the young gentlemen of the city see to it that she has a good hall, free of charge, and that she has a full house. San Antonio cannot afford to be behind Austin in civility and gallantry in the cause of our suffering fellow-citizens.

The History of Texas, by Colonel J. M. Morphis, is attracting general attention throughout the United States and Europe, and is having a great sale. The leading papers of New York and other cities refer to it in answer to the letters of correspondents who are making inquiries about Texas.
The Evening Express says of this history: "Reaching back into that not far distant past, the historian has grasped the germ civilization out of a land of semi-barbarism and given to the world, fact by fact, the growth of an empire, the narrative of unparalleled enterprise, the romance of a republic, the history of Texas."
It is the most complete work of its kind now in existence.
The Tarf, Field & Farm says: Its graphic narrative of adventures by flood and field will prove particularly attractive, and as for rickling fun, it will compare with the memoirs of Sir Jonah Barrington.
The New Orleans Picayune says that there is more of chivalry, romance in the annals of Texas than in those of any other State, and adds: "Of this completion is the history written by Mr. Morphis, who has discharged his duty as historian with fidelity, with fine judgment, with scrupulous accuracy and with conspicuous impartiality."

REV. P. A. MOELLING, mentioned in the dispatch in relation to the city of Waco disaster, and whose daughter was lost in sight of Galveston, her old home, and which she had come to visit after an absence of years, is an old friend of the editor of the EXPRESS. When we edited the Christian Advocate in Galveston, he edited the Christliche Apologete, in the same office. He is a man of genius, learning and eloquence and a noble gentleman. We instinctively divined that it was his daughter when we saw her name in the list of the lost. Mr. Moelling went North shortly after the war.

YORK on the new Constitution solely on its merits, and not with reference to partisan-decrees or the election of candidates. Such a vote will be honest and conscientious, and the Constitution, if good as a whole, will be ratified, and if bad, it will be rejected. If we vote from other motives we may adopt a bad Constitution or reject a good one.
RESTRICTED suffrage, justly defeated in the Convention, seeks to go before the people in the shape of an amendment. Poor men of Texas and patriots generally look out for this bustling of European aristocracy; strangle it in the cradle, and protect the equality of all American citizens at the polls.
THE GRANGERS of Bexar and adjacent counties are to have an important meeting in this city on Saturday, December 4th. A full attendance is expected, and the proceedings will be interesting. These men, "ray of the soil," can do great good at this juncture of Texas history.

MONUMENT TO EDGAR A. POE.
Baltimore, November 17.—The monument of Edgar Allan Poe was unveiled at Westminster Church to-day. Preliminary ceremonies were held in the Western Female High School, wherein the initial movement took place in October, 1865, to devise some means to perpetuate the memory of Poe. The day was propitious, and the vast hall crowded. Several addresses were delivered, poems recited and letters read, when the assemblage repaired to the churchyard, where Prof. Elliot unveiled the statue, placing on the head of the chaplet evergreens. A dirge was then sung, and Mr. Gill, of Boston, recited "Annabel Lee."

THE CITY OF WACO'S CARCO.
Troy, N. Y., Nov. 19.—The Rev. Peter A. Moelling, of the German Methodist church here, accompanied his daughter to pier No. 22 East River, on the day the Waco sailed, and remained with her until three o'clock. During the time he was there a large number of barrels of oil were taken on board and stowed along the deck, running around the cabin. So many of these barrels were on board that the whole space, fore and aft, was occupied by them. He therefore, had some difficulty in making his way from Miss Moelling's cabin to the gangway leading down to the wharf. He can safely assert that forty barrels were so placed. He also noticed boxes—such as contained astral oil—piled on the deck, at the entrance aft, and became so much impressed with the idea that something unfortunate was about to happen that if he could have accomplished it after having taken leave of his daughter he would have drawn her from the vessel. From the position of the oil—ranging fore and aft—no possibility of saving the vessel could exist when once fire broke out. He intends to commence legal proceedings against the owners of the Waco for the loss of his daughter, and visits New York for that purpose.

FOREIGN.
DON CARLOS TO ALFONSO.
Madrid, November 19.—The fact that Don Carlos has written a letter to the King creates great excitement here. It is variously commented on by the press.
Hendage, November 19.—Intelligence from Carlist sources says Don Carlos, in a letter, offered to agree to a truce should the Cuban difficulty come to a war between Spain and the United States. In that case, Don Carlos, reserving his right to the throne, would unite his forces with Alfonso to preserve the integrity of Spanish territory.
Aaris, November 19.—The evening papers of this city publish the text of the letter written by Don Carlos to King Alfonso. "The attitude of President Grant," the letter says, "is a prelude to war between Spain and the United States. If you do not recognize the independence of Cuba, the revolution which you represent is responsible for this territorial rebellion. Had I resisted it would not have occurred, at least not gained strength. Now, however, the integrity of the country is at stake, and all her children are bound to defend it. Should war break out I offer you a truce as long as the contest lasts, but maintain my rights to the crown as I retain the conviction that I shall one day wear it. I cannot send my loyal volunteers to Cuba, but I will send those provisions on the Cantabrian coast, and will send out privateers, manned by the indomitable population of that coast, which will pursue the merchant ships of our enemies and perhaps chase them into their own harbors. If you accept the truce let us appoint representatives to settle the conditions. If you refuse, then God will be the witness that Catholic Spain has nobly done her duty."

WE LIKE DOGS—we have always liked them. They make the very best friends and the worst enemies. Masters may kick, cuff and ill-use them to almost any extent, and our kind look from the owner will at once bring back the old love and cause them to spring forward and fawn upon their protector as before.

There will be an excellent performance given by the San Antonio Dramatic Club, at the Alamo Literary Hall to-night. Let everybody be present.

FOR OUR Custom Trade we keep the best goods in the market.

THE NEWSPAPERS throughout the land are full of comments and criticisms on the lately introduced fashion of "punchbacks" among the ladies.

Passing the well-known establishment of H. Gronet this morning, we step in for a moment to cast a glance at the great display of goods he now has on hand.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS—If a horse, or a mule, or an ox won't go, it may be well to use a whip freely, after patience has been exhausted at persuasion; but for a driver to get down from his wagon and, numerically beat a poor dumb brute over the head because the tired animal doesn't go faster than he can, is a crime that is punishable by law.

"PELON" is a Mexican word, and is used very freely by the lower class of that race.

The Sabbath Day. To-morrow is the first day of the incoming week—the holy Sabbath day.

When God had finished the creation of the Universe, it is said He rested the seventh day, proclaiming it a holy day, and a day of rest for the succeeding generations.

Few of us stop to think of the duties which are incumbent upon us on the Sabbath day. Many of such employments as are lawful during the balance of the week, are pronounced unlawful on this day.

Many persons are wont to use their own minds in all matters even those pertaining to religion. A great many do not believe in a future punishment, neither in retribution.

All who relish real fun will bear in mind that "Raising the Wind" will be put upon the stage by the San Antonio Dramatic Club to-night.

FRESH Oysters received from the coast every evening, packed in ice, and served up in any style desired.

HYMNS, ever faithful in his visits, has captivated the following persons since our last report:

YESTERDAY should be eaten through the oyster season, both for health and enjoyment, for it is too short anyhow; but Ernst has them, and serves them up delightfully.
