Attending the funeral from Muleshoe were Mr. and Mrs. Alton Epting, Jr. and Mrs. Frank Hinkson, Mrs. Alex Williams and Mrs. Mary Farley.

In district court in Muleshoe, a trial will get underway today, Thursday, for E. Testerman, who was charged with the fatal shooting of B. Harvey near Muleshoe last September.

TORNADO DAMAGE IN FARMER COUNTY...Late Sunday afternoon, approximately four miles northwest of Lariat, a tornado roared across Highway 84, leaving five highline poles down, and twisting off trees in the highway median and alongside the highway. The tornado also left irrigation sprinkler pipe strewn on farms as it cut across open land. No injuries were recorded in the tornado. Here, police, fire and emergency vehicles block a portion of the highway waiting for repairs to the downed electric poles.

Rain Brightened Cotton Prospects

"The rain makes things look real rosy," said jubilant Bailey County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley. "The type of rainfall we received, real slow and easy, during the 36 hour period, was just right to get cotton up and a good stand. The slow rain, that left a general three-fourths to one inch will help tremendously on the newly planted cotton."

He said toposil moisture which had been depleted was replaced with the moisture and places that were dry received adequate moisture to germinate the cotton and get it off to a good start. Tanksley commented, "I can't remember any time during the last five years that we are started off better for the year where crops are concerned."

He estimated somewhere between 180,000 and 200,000 acres of cotton acreage this year, up from the estimated 120,000 acres last year for an increase in cotton acreage of about 66 percent.

Last year, weather plagued cotton producers who suffered from the lack of moisture, to a deficit and hailstorms and washouts. Also, during a prolonged wet seige, several producers found they were

Boy Scouts Visit Lake For Badges

Muleshoe Boy Scout Troop 634 returned home Sunday night from a weekend camping trip at Sumner Lake, north of Fort Sumner, N.M., according to Scoutmaster M.O. Ratliff.

During their two day stay at the lake, the scoutmaster said the scouts worked on fishing, hiking, nature, camping, cooking merit badges and were introduced to requirements for their conservation and astronomy merit badges.

While at the lake, the scouts hiked down the Pecos River to the ruins of Salado, N.M.

Muleshoe Volunteer Fire Department Sponsors Troop 634, and the boys making the trip included Milton Norman, Thurman Coleman, Mark Moton, Willie Coleman, Eddie Moton, Charles Bartholf and Keith Smith. Accompanying the scouts were Scoutmaster Ratliff and Wayne Wauson, institutional representative.

The scoutmaster said the troop meets each Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Boy Scout hut and that new members are always welcome.

invaded by a cotton disease called Estacado Blight, or wet weather blight.

At harvesttime, however, the producers for the most part, reported the yields higher than had been estimated earlier in the summer when sand and heat combined to burn a lot of cotton in the fields.

"We will take all the moisture we can get right now, but we also need some good, hot sunshine again," predicted the county agent.

He added that more than 90 percent of the cotton was planted, and of that figure, estimated approximately 45 percent has come up and is showing a

New Officers

Are Chosen

Elected chairman of the Bailey County Junior Livestock Show Board last Tuesday night was Ted Harrison. Other officers elected to help plan the 1980 junior livestock show include Joe Wheeler, vice chairman; Lionel Lane, secretary/treasurer and Wayne Crittenden, publicity.

Terms of six of the 18 directors had expired and all six were re-elected.

A date was set for the 1980 Bailey County Junior Livestock Show. It will be January 23-24 and 25 at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum. Members voted several rule changes for the 1980 livestock show, and also approved increasing the amount of prize money to be awarded.

Tornado Trounces Area 14 Miles West

Booming thunderstorms moved into the area Sunday, depositing only .07 in rain in Muleshoe, while leaving varying amounts in an area west and north of Muleshoe.

Early Monday morning, additional rain started falling and by mid-afternoon, had deposited up to an inch throughout the area. In Muleshoe, the amount of accumulation was approximately three-fourths of an inch of moisture.

Jim Clauch of Bula said cotton is looking 'real good' following the two days of rain in that area. He said more than 90 percent of the cotton is planted and a lot of it has already come up.

Rain ranged from .9 to an inch and a half with no hail or high wind. Apparently, the rain in the southeast corner of the county was the highest amount recorded.

At Maple, Bill Eubanks, who owns and operates the Maple Grocery said one half inch to seven tenths of 'good cotton showers fell.' He said almost all the cotton is planted in that area and the slow, intermittent showers provided the best kind of moisture for the freshly planted crops.

Western Farm Supply at Needmore said 1.2 inches of rain was the general report for that area. That community received no hail or high wind.

Devastated by a freak hailstorm three weeks ago, and recording a lot of damage to buildings, cattle and vehicles, wary residents at Coyote Feed Yard kept an eye on the approaching weekend storms.

However, they were pleasantly surprised to find they only received good general rains of up to one inch of moisture. The area has 'greened' up with the two day rain.

Near tragedy was averted Sunday, when a tornado cut across open country approximately 14 miles northwest of Muleshoe.

Somewhere around 4:40 p.m., electricity suddenly cut off in Muleshoe and shortly after that time, reports of a tornado west of Muleshoe started coming in to the office, at the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center.

Approximately four miles northwest of Lariat, the tornado had crossed Highway 84, twisting off one highline pole and toppling two on each side of the torn up pole. It then twisted off trees in the median of the highway and along the north side, dumping the debris along the railroad embankment.

Before crossing the highway, the twister had cut across the George Gross farm, leaving a turned over sprinkler system and scattered aluminum irrigation pipe. Mrs. Gross said the twister crossed their farm approximately one fourth mile west of their house. She said light hail had accompanied the storm.

The tornado also crossed the David Saylor farm leaving behind a path of strewn irrigation pipe.

A spokesman at the West Camp Gin said they had a hard rain, but no hail.

Tim Foster of Foster Fertilizer at Lazbuddie said one inch of rain was general in the Lazbuddie area. He turned the rain as a good, slow shower.

By late Tuesday, cloudy skies lingered in the area, and National Weather Service predicted the weather would clear by Wednesday before another weekend storm moved in.

Jones Treated

For Gunshot

At Lubbock

Ollie Jones, 83, a long-time resident of the Muleshoe area was given emergency treatment at West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe Tuesday morning, then transferred to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

A hospital spokesman in Muleshoe said Jones was treated for a gunshot wound.

He was reported to be in critical, but stable, condition at the Lubbock hospital.

Muleshoe City Police Chief Johnny Richards said members of the city and county police were investigating the shooting.

No thefts or burglaries have been reported during the last week to the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center.

One case of vandalism, or criminal mischief, is being investigated by the Muleshoe City Police Department. City Police Chief Johnny Richards said a window had been broken in a coach's car. He said Gerry Pierce had contributed a window for replacement, and Junior Mills volunteered to install the window at no charge.

The chief said there will be several interviews made with persons known to be in the area at the time the incident occurred. He said city officials are presently working with school officials prior to the interviews.

Deputy Sheriff Bobby Henderson reported five arrests during the weekend. Two persons were charged with drunk and disturbance; one for no operator's license; one for driving while intoxicated and one for driving on the wrong side of the road.

Three accidents have been investigated during the last several days. On Friday, a man from Friona lost a trailer from his

The chiffon satin empire bodice was appliqued with Alencon lace and seed pearls. The lace and pearls edged the skirt and train. She carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations with blue and white streamers and baby's breath.

For something old, she wore pennies with birth dates of the bride and groom in her shoe. They were given to her by her grandfather, Bill Dewbre of Marble Falls. Something borrowed was the headpiece of her veil and something blue was her garter. Her dress was something new.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with a blue carnation boutonniere, accenting the lapel. His attendants wore light blue tuxedos with dark blue trim. Their boutonnieres were white carnations. Keith Gibson of Amarillo served as best man. Groomsmen were Scott Elliott of Amarillo and Dayle Weir, brother of the groom of Lazbuddie. The "Wedding March" was presented on the piano by Deann Gardner. Janice Kelton presented the wedding selections "If", "Sunrise, Sunset" and the "Wedding Prayer". Wade Cargile of Lazbuddie

Celebration Planned Memorial Weekend

Continuous, free entertainment will provide something for everyone at the second annual FUNFEST, at Thompson Park in Amarillo, on Memorial Weekend, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, May 26, 27 and 28.

There will be a constant variety of performers, 9 hours each day on each of FUNFEST's 4 stages-- a total of 108 hours of free entertainment.

The schedule includes music of all kinds -- country western, disco, rock, jazz, folk, and gospel. There will also be choral groups, dance troupes and dramatic productions.

The FUNFEST admission price of $1 will entitle each guest to enter the FUNFEST grounds and enjoy the great variety of performances. Children under 6 are admitted free to FUNFEST.

The FunBowl is FUNFEST's new, large stage, large enough for choirs and dance ensembles. This stage will also be the sight for the Fun Auction and the presentation of awards (Marathon/Half Marathon, 10,000 Meter Run).

The highlight of the Fun Bowl stage will be the 4th Marine Corps Aircraft Wing Band, which will perform twice on Saturday, May 26. The noon concert will feature Dixieland Jazz and the 8 p.m. concert will present the beloved music of John Philip Sousa.

The Frontier stage has a coliseum-size sound system and is used principally for rock and country western groups.

The SunSpot stage is a more intimate setting for small groups and folk music.

Fantasyland stage is at the center of Fantasyland, the area especially for children under 12. This stage will be full of puppets, clowns, magicians, musicians and dancers to delight the very young and any grown-ups who might want to listen with them.

The 4 stages of FUNFEST will even have an international flavor with music from Mexico, Vietnam, Laos and Japan.

Besides the 4 stages of FUNFEST, guests will enjoy watching continuous art demonstrations in Fun Gallery I and FunGallery II. Panhandle artists will demonstrate the lost wax bronze sculpture process, watercolor techniques, pottery-making, and print making. Artists can also be observed making jewelry and stained glass and working with wood and leather.

The FunArena will have constant exhibitions of sports and skills -- skateboarding, gymnastics, boxing and yo-yoing, to name a few.

FUNFEST offers something for people of all ages and all preferences. Besides all the outstanding entertainment, guests can choose from among 33 delicious foods and 30 exciting games, provided by non-profit organizations. All proceeds will go to those organizations.

The gates will open each day at 12 noon and close at 9 p.m. Because parking is very limited at Thompson Park, guests are encouraged to park free in downtown Amarillo and ride the free shuttle buses from the Civic Center block to FUNFEST. The buses will run continuously every 15 min. from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Senator Aims Car Shortage Information

Senator Lloyd Bentsen on Tuesday called for early hearings on his legislation to alleviate a railroad car shortage that is causing serious problems for agriculture and industry in Texas and other states.

The Bentsen bill, approved last year by the Senate but not by the House of Representatives, would suspend for two years an 11 percent tariff on railroad cars imported from Mexico. It is being cosponsored by four of his colleagues.

Eentsen called for early hearings in a letter Tuesday to Senate Finance Committee Chairman Russell Long (D-La.).

"This nation faces a freight car shortage of very significant dimensions," Bentsen said.

"The number of new cars ordered from domestic manufacturers has more than tripled since 1976. The American Railcar Institute reported a domestic railcar manufacturing backlog of over 96,000 units on January 1 of this year -- an increase of 20,000 units since the Senate last considered duty suspension for imported cars. Domestic producers are scheduled to deliver approximately 84,000 units during 1979, which would result in a carryover backlog of 12,000 units at the end of the year."

Under U.S. tariff laws Mexico is allowed to export rail cars to this country duty free so long as the shipments do not exceed 50 percent of all railcars imported by the U.S. Early last year Canada stopped exporting railcars to the U.S. when a shortage developed in that country. As of March 1, 1978 Mexico exceeded the 50 percent limitation and the 18 percent tariff was imposed.

According to congressional testimony last year a survey of 30 warehouses in West Texas and Oklahoma showed that while 4,900 boxcars were ordered over a four period, less than 1,700 were provided. In a single day during the spring of 1978 cotton compresses and warehouses in the Amarillo area ordered 241 railcars but only 39 were furnished.

Consumer Food News

Best buys at Texas grocery markets this week include poultry, pork features and some fresh fruits and vegetables, Gwendolyn Clyatt reports.

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Poultry...Fryer chicken prices are attractive -- on whole birds, cut-up birds and fryer parts.

Pork...Economical prices appear on center and end chops, quarter loins cut into chops, whole loins, country ribs and spareribs, fresh picnics and liver.

In cured pork, special prices appear on boneless hams, frankfurters, bacon and smoked picnics.

Fresh Vegetables... Best buys are potatoes, carrots, cabbage, cooking greens, corn, soft-shell squash and dry onions.

Special prices appear on green beans in some markets, and rutabagas and sweet potatoes are in ample supply.

Fresh Fruits... Compare prices and quality for the best buys on pineapple, pears, apples, bananas and grapes. Cantaloupe and honeydew melons are a bit more plentiful, but prices are still relatively high.

Beef...Prices continue to climb.

Look for only scattered specials on boneless blade chuck, ground beef with soy protein, round and chuck steaks and liver.

Dairy...Feature prices appear on lowfat milk, yogurt, soft margarine -- and both natural and process cheese slices.

Consumer Watchwords... To cope with higher prices and still serve nutritious menus, sharpen your skills in planning meals and buying and preparing food:

**Design a basic weekly shopping plan that includes the four food groups.

Learn seasons and prices, match quality and use, read labels, figure food by cost per serving, take advantage of specials and avoid leftover waste.

**** One trouble with the world is that there are too many people who do no work.

**** An ignorant individual seeks only the facts that bolster his own prejudices.

CHAIN REACTION ACCIDENT...Friday night, the car shown above, struck a pickup at Highway 214 and West Avenue J, then the pickup, in turn, went up an embankment, striking a vehicle parked in a driveway. No injuries were recorded, although the two people in the pickup were reported to be 'shaken up.'

Texas Department of Agriculture
Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner

AMERICANS are spending less of their incomes on meat than at almost any time in the past. That fact might surprise most consumers, but is supported by figures from the federal government, the Texas Department of Agriculture reports.

Our average disposable incomes have increased over the past few years so that the amount we spend on meat today is the second smallest percentage on record," Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown points out.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates, in fact, that Americans spend only 4.8 percent of their after-tax incomes on meat," Brown said. "This compares with about 5.4 percent of disposable incomes spent for meat in 1974."

Brown commented that food costs in the United States today are among the cheapest in the world. The average American family spends just 16.5 percent of its average annual income for groceries, compared to 24 percent in the 1920s.

According to the Agriculture Council of America, hamburger would cost $4.20 a pound today if its price had increased as much as medical costs. If egg prices had multiplied as sharply as transportation costs, a dozen eggs would cost about $3.20 a dozen.

"This is not to say that price increases in other industries have not been justified," Brown said, "but it is extremely unfair to constantly single out food prices as a major cause of inflation."

Exercise proper skin care during summer months when emphasis on outdoor sports and the beauty appeal of suntans encourages people to spend more time in the sun.

SKIN DAMAGE FROM SUN

Exposure to the sun can not only produce sunburn, but it also causes skin to age faster and increases the chance of skin cancer.

Damage caused by sun exposure is irreversible. Results may not occur immediately but will become apparent in later years.

SKIN PROTECTING PRODUCTS

Products are available on the market to screen or block harmful ultraviolet radiation which can cause sunburn.

A sun screen can block 95 percent or more of the ultraviolet rays. A sun block is opaque and totally blocks ultraviolet rays and visible light.

For people who are sensitive to the sun, or who take certain drugs or hormones, or have a history of skin cancer in the family, sun screens and sun blocks are recommended.

Sun Protection Factor listed on skin care products will help consumers select products which give the greatest protection from the sun.

The Food and Drug Administration is introducing this system.

Products will be labeled with a numbered value. The higher the number, the greater the protection.

SPF value of 2 or 3 offers little protection, but may be adequate for people who rarely burn and who tan easily. The darker skin is naturally, the greater the inherent protection against damage.

SPF value of 15 or greater offers the greatest protection and permits no tanning.

Other tips to protect skin against sun damage include:

--Avoid contact during hours from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. when the ultraviolet rays are the strongest.

--Start with brief exposure to the sun and build up time slowly.

Tanning is the skin's own built-in protection against damage.

For this to occur, the skin must develop melanin pigments. This process may take up to two days to develop after exposure.

If over-exposure causes burning, the skin loses the melanin it has developed.

--Wear clothing which covers the body for extra protection, especially for sensitive skin. Hats help protect the face and neck.

However, up to 50 percent of the sun's rays can filter through clothing and even umbrellas.

--Keep skin moist with creams and lotions.

MEDICINE/SUN REACTION

Anyone under treatment for acne should be especially cautious with sun exposure.

Recent studies show that a prescription drug called retinoic acid or tretinoin used in the treatment of acne may increase the risk of skin cancer, especially when exposed to the sun.

Check medicine labels for this ingredient or consult a doctor for warnings.

Versatile Cabbage Supplies Many Important Nutrients

AUSTIN—Texas cabbage is grown in several parts of the state and is marketed year-round. A member of the crucifer family, the vegetable is very nutritious with high amounts of Vitamin A, Vitamin C, potassium, calcium and phosphorus. According to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, Texas cabbage "will compete with cabbage grown anywhere."

Between 30 and 40 domestic varieties are grown in the state, but most growers prefer eight or 10 of these. Production also includes red and crinkly Savoy cabbage. Most of the round domestic types range in color from dark to pale green. They usually mature in 120 days, though one variety popular with growers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley can be harvested in 90-95 days. Hidalgo County is the biggest cabbage producer in the state. Though freezes in December and January hurt the 1978 winter crop, supplies have been heavy this spring due to extensive replanting. Some supplies will be available later this year from the Panhandle, West Texas and northeast Texas.

are seen by people fishing, hiking or camping in Tx. Many well-intentioned persons decide that these young species of wildlife have been abandoned and take them home as a pet. "There are several reasons these young wildlife should be left in the field since it is not only illegal but it is always harmful or even fatal to the animal itself," said David Dvorak, wildlife biologist. "Texas law prohibits confining or penning game animals or birds and most persons do not know how or what to feed the young wildlife once it is at their residence," Dvorak continued.

Even if the young wildlife adapts to the human surroundings, they often become dangerous to their captors, pets, children and property when grown the biologist continued. Young animals are rarely abandoned by their parents. Most are hidden while the parent goes off to feed where it can keep a watchful eye on it's offspring.

Many animals and birds are natural carriers of disease and insects which can become hazardous or even deadly to humans. The best known examples are rabies in skunks and fleas on prairie dogs.

Most of these cute animals have sharp teeth and will bite in self-defense. Usually, the young children at home are the recipient of these attacks.

If a person knows the animal is orphaned or abandoned, such as a road kill, contact the nearest Texas game warden or P&WD office giving location of the animal to be rescued.

P&WD PUTS OUT FISH

Many lakes in northwest Texas are now receiving stockings on non-native game fish such as walleye, striper and striper hybrids, and, smallmouth bass which will fill the acres of water not used or inhabited by our native species of fish.

"The goal of 40-50 million walleye eggs is high, but a good season at lake Meredith and additional eggs from other states should fill our stocking needs," said Joe Kraai, P&WD fishery biologist.

Many lakes will or already have been stocked with walleye including: Fort Phantom Hill and Clyde lakes near Abilene; Moss Creek City lake near Big Spring; and, White River and Buffalo Springs lakes on the South Plains according to Kraai.

One of the biggest news items among fishermen in Texas is the Florida strain of the largemouth bass stocked in several lakes in our state. Most of the large Florida largemouth have come from central or each Texas, but the P&WD has already stocked these fighters in Lake Theo at Caprock Canyons State Park near Quitaque and more will be stocked in Greenbelt lake near Clarendon.

Smallmouth bass fishing is growing with a new state record now on the book. Both Lake Theo and White River lake will receive stockings of these scrappy fighters this spring.

The Stipers and Striper hybrids continue to make news at many West Texas lakes. Lake Diversion near Wichita Falls will receive these fast-growing hybrids this spring.

These releases are only a part of the continuing P&WD fish stocking program with a goal of furnishing Texas anglers a variety of fighting, good-eating fish to catch. Additional stockings of native fish such as largemouth bass and catfish are scheduled this spring and summer, also.

Lower Valley Grows Most Texas Citrus

AUSTIN--Around 80 percent of all grapefruit grown in the Lower Rio Grande Valley during 1977-78 was raised in Hidalgo County, according to figures recently released by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said Hidalgo County growers produced 9,650,000 80-pound boxes of grapefruit out of a total of 11,900,000.

The county also produced 5,435,000 85-pound boxes of oranges. Total orange production amounted to 6,100,000 boxes.

Cameron County was second with 1,950,000 boxes of grapefruit and 400,000 boxes of oranges. Willacy was third with 280,000 boxes of grapefruit and 245,000 of oranges.

Brown said Texas was second nationwide in citrus production. The fruit is produced mainly in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, but a scattering of groves are located in South Texas.

Figures were compiled by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Alfred Kahn, President's adviser on inflation:

"The wholesale increase is terribly widespread and troublesome."

Faces

A lonely man finds excuses to work late or to be out of town a great deal to keep from being home and facing a marriage that seems worn out. At his home a lonely woman drops into bed, worn out from the responsibility of the children, only to find she can not sleep, and in the darkness tears roll down her cheeks.

What can be said that could generate a spark of hope in a man and woman who have vowed "for better or for worse...till death do us part" but have found they are unable to communicate and unable to love?

A rebellious adolescent, a bed wetting child, a bitter woman, and a distraught, frustrated man vividly portray an unhappy marriage is children with no idirection and no inner feeling that someone is in control. These children grow up and act out these hopeless feelings with a family of their own who will be headed in the same destructive direction. If this were the whole story the situation would be hopeless. But there is more that needs to be told. How little we hear about broken marriages that are made whole!

The word "hope" seems to have disappeared from the hearts of men and women who think the choice is to "go on living like this" or "get a divorce". Most couples with serious marital problems believe that when they no longer feel love for each other the marriage is without hope.

NO marriage is without hope as long as both partners, or sometimes even one, will hope and work. The problems that ruin marriages go beyond money, sex, personality clashes, interfering relatives, or even unfaithfulness. These disruptions are symptoms of the real trouble rooted deep within the person.

The marriage of two people breaks down when the people break down. A marriage is meaningless when the partners have lost or have never found the true meaning of life. Marriages are mended when a man and a woman learn the secret of living beyond themselves, when each can project himself to meet the needs of the other. This takes deep commitment (a word too often omitted when talking about love and marriage), thought, confrontation, honesty, humility, all of the depth of attributes that dwell inside a person but which too often lie dormant under the real life of rejection, manipulation, pride and self gratification.

Senator Hopes To Head Off Water Shortage

Senator Bob Price plans to introduce legislation in the Texas Senate that will hopefully head off the water shortage facing West Texas. Senator Price is carrying a bill creating the Ogallala Water Import Authority. The Import Authority would include most of the counties sitting on the Ogallala water formation. According to Sen. Price, years of research have gone into this legislation.

"This is an important long range step in insuring adequate supplies of water for West Texas in the future. Water is our most important commodity to maintain the growth in industry and agricultural development that West Texas has seen over the past two decades," commented the Pampa Senator.

The duties of the Import Authority would be to obtain supplemental supplies

OOPS!...It took a while to realize he had lost this trailer, but a Friona man finally realized he had lost something in Muleshoe last Friday afternoon. The trailer flipped upside down in front of the Muleshoe City Hall, gouging grooves into the highway. No one was injured.

of imported water and sell such water for municipal, industrial and agricultural use. The Water Import Authority would have the power of eminent domain and the power to contract for imported water and distribution of it. Additionally, the Authority will have the power to store water and prevent the waste of imported water.

Senator Price said that this is a similar water import bill passed by the House last week but incorporates a number of changes suggested by various members of water boards throughout the Panhandle.

"This by no means is the last word regarding a perfected importation bill but is a vehicle to start with. If proper hearings are held in the Senate and knowledgeable people testify, and if the State legislature has enough forethought to address this vital subject, then it can be a forerunner for a comprehensive water plan for the state," said Senator Price.

"I see no evidence at this point that either body had had time nor a plan that will come to grips for the water needs of the future. Hopefully, this will be a start but I feel the Governor and the Legislature should appoint a commission to study a comprehensive plan for the entire state," said Senator Price. Some counties have asked to be exempt from this legislation because they fear that as the bill is written, certain underground waters could be pumped from a county with a surplus of water to a county without. Senator Price agrees with their feelings that this should not be done.

"I am requesting that every county inform me of their position on the matter and be prepared to testify for or against the bill. Also, I would request that they prepare any amendments they would like to see in the bill. Time is of the essence as we approach the end of this legislative session," concluded Senator Price.

Alpha Zeta Pi Held Muscular Disease Program

Alpha Zeta Pi met in the home of Anita Allgood on May 15 with Kathy Hill serving as co-hostess. The program was presented by Dr. George Payne of Levelland, John Dunbar of Clovis and Margaret Clements and Mr. and Mrs. J.E. McVickers of Muleshoe, on Myasthenia Gravis.

They presented a film entitled "Strength for Tomorrow". M.G. is a neuromuscular disease characterized by varying weaknesses of the voluntary muscles of the body. This weakness is abnormally increased by continued or repeated use of the muscles at any one time and practically relieved by a short period of rest or inactivity of the muscles. Some of the symptoms of M.G. are drooping of one or both eyelids, blurred vision, double vision, loss of facial expression, difficulty in chewing or swallowing, an easily fatigued slurred voice and difficulty in breathing. Myasthenia Gravis comes from the Greek and Latin words meaning Serious Muscle Weakness.

There will be an Arts and Crafts bazaar in the near future to help raise money for research and patients of Myasthenia Gravis in Hale Center at the Health Center Clinic.

President, Anita Allgood, called the meeting to order. Brenda Black gave each member a list to show their activities which they will be in charge of on July 4.

Each member voted on Hostess of the Year and Program of the Year. The winners will be announced at the end of the year party, May 22 at the home of Joan Lewis.

Anita Allgood also announced that Rickie Warren would be the new parliamentarian.

Refreshments of Kilacha and tea were served to Pat Black, Brenda Black, Karen Renner, Anita Allgood, Jean Treadwell, Jana St. Clair, Marilyn Saylor, Jana Wartes, Joy Glover, Kathy Kramer, Rickie Warren, Kathy Hill and Jama Brown.

Extension Offices Use Entire State As Campus

Grass-roots representatives such as County Agents Spencer Tanksley and Linda Mullin underscore the contention that only Texas A&M University can truly call the entire state its campus.

Tanksley, Mullin and the entire Bailey County extension staff are duplicated in varying degrees at 251 other locations around Texas -- in all but two counties -- to help local people help themselves. Help comes in various forms, ranging from advice about crops and livestock to suggestions concerning the most economical and efficient ways to run a household to guidance for youth groups.

Specifically, Tanksley, Mullin and their associates are on the spot representatives of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, one of the major public service agencies of Texas A&M.

The extension service has always been affiliated with the overall institution headquartered at College Station, but the land grant and sea grant university for Texas has recently undergone major transition to incorporate its research and public service agencies as integral parts in carrying out its unique mission.

This new concept is intended to facilitate free flow of practical knowledge and new technology between the laboratory and classroom on the one hand and, on the other, the transfer of useful information from the laboratory to the ultimate consumer -- be it an individual or industrial or governmental group.

While Tanksley, Mullin and their associates are officially affiliated with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, they serve as a point of contact for all programs associated with Texas A&M.

Other agencies now functioning as major units of the university are the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, specializing in agricultural research concerning economically important crops and commodities, and the Texas Engineering Experiment Station and Texas Engineering Extension Service, which provide comparable types of research and self-help service for local governments and industry and, in certain cases, individuals. Other research - and service-oriented units at Texas A&M include the Texas Transportation Institute, the Center for Marine Resources and the Center for Energy and Mineral Resources, with the latter serving as manager for the Texas Energy Extension Service, a new organization intended to help Texans conserve energy and save on fuel bills.

The level of Texas A&M's research activities is reflected in the fact that it ranks first in the Southwest in funds received for such work and among the top 20 institutions nationally, according to the National Science Foundation. The university invests more than $60 million annually in studies ranging from pollution control to highway safety and energy conservation.

While research and public service activities have been brought more directly into the university framework, teaching remains Texas A&M's basic function. Throughout the 70's it has broadened its curriculum to serve a student body that has been the fastest growing in the nation. Its 30,255 students include the nation's largest in the nation. Its 30,255 students include the nation's largest enrollments in engineering, agriculture and veterinary medicine. Students studying in other fields, however, outnumber the combined total for those three fields for which the university is best known.

Students who choose to be Aggies rank considerably higher than average scholastically. College Entrance Examination Board statistics, for example, show that entering freshmen at Texas A&M score about 135 points higher than the national norm and more than twice as many of its entering freshmen, on a percentage basis, placed in the top tenth of their high school graduating classes. In recent years Texas A&M has traditionally ranked first among public institutions in the Southwest in enrollment of National Merit Scholars and among the top 20 public or private institutions nationally.

The practical, relevant approach is emphasized throughout Texas A&M's teaching, research and public service programs. Its career oriented approach to education and the leadership opportunities available through its Corps of Cadets and extra-curricular activities make its graduates prime prospects for top jobs or entry into preferred graduate or professional schools. More than 550 businesses and other organizations recruited here last year -- approximately a third more than the year before -- and offered salaries exceeding the national average.

Texas A&M offers undergraduate degrees in 89 different fields and 203 degree options on the graduate level. These degrees are offered through the Colleges of Engineering, Agriculture, Liberal Arts, Business Administration, Education, Science, Architecture and Environmental Design, Geosciences and Veterinary Medicine.

Women account for more than a third of total enrollment at the once all-male institution. Even the Corps is now coeducational with a second unit for women added last fall.

While constantly changing to meet the needs of its students, state and nation through teaching, research and public service, Texas' first public institution continues to maintain its proud heritage and unique traditions which date back to the school's formal opening Oct. 4, 1876. That day it attracted six students from throughout Tx. as well as from every other state in the nation and some 75 foreign countries and also takes its programs out to the people -- underscoring the concept that the entire state is its campus.

In the final analysis, Texas A&M is groups of people striving to help other people, whether it be in the formal classroom or otherwise.

Transportation Week May 13-19

Noting that Texans, more than most Americans, have a big stake in good transportation, Gov. Bill Clements today designated May 13-19 as National Transportation Week in Texas.

The governor's official memorandum said Texas "is a land of diverse and dispersed economies and populations."

He added, "Transportation affects the life of every Texas every day."

All five modes -- highway, rail, air, water and pipeline, loom large in the lives of Texas, he said.

For the past several years, the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials have joined with Traffic Clubs International in sponsoring National Transportation Week events. The two organizations represent both public transportation activities and private transportation companies.

Present for the ceremonies today were Luther DeBerry, engineer-director of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation; Gene Robbins, president of the Texas Good Roads/Transportation Association; Jim Haygood of Houston, representing the traffic clubs as co-chairman of National Transportation Week in Texas and Tom Taylor, director of travel and information of the department, co-chairman for the public sector.

The official signing by the governor also was witnessed by representatives of traffic clubs in major cities throughout the state as well as top officials of the DHT.

A variety of activities are scheduled throughout the week in all sections of the state. One of the most unusual events is the dedication of a new safety rest area and remodeled Texas Tourist Bureau at Waskom, which serves as the gateway to visitors entering Texas on Interstate Highway 20.

Serving an even more important function now when travelers need the most energy efficient routing, the bureau last year served more than 220,000 visitors, even though it was operating in temporary quarters during the remodeling.

Participating in the dedication will be local dignitaries, department officials and members of the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

Other events scheduled throughout the week include special displays.

speeches, receptions and open houses at many departmental offices.

eyes and answers
Weston A. Petty, O.D.

Dear Dr. Petty: I can't seem to get my children away from the TV set. Does it hurt their eyes?

TV is not harmful to the eyes or to vision; you cannot wear out your eyes watching television; if your eyes are healthy, they can handle TV fatigue. Having said that, here are some things to be concerned about. Keep your TV set in focus. Keep the viewing room lighted normally and with no room lights nor sunlight reflected on the TV screen. Have the set at eye level some children insist on sitting close to the set; if they are moved back to about five times the width of the screen, they're in better viewing distance and their angle of view makes the screen nearer to eye level, even if they're sitting on the floor. (Children who persist in this up-close habit should have a vision analysis... they may be nearsighted.) Eyes go through their greatest growth and change during childhood--rest periods away from the set are good for the child as well as good for his eyes.

Readers with other questions about eye care may address Dr. Petty in care of this paper or the Texas Optometric Association, P.O. Box 2242, Austin, Texas 78768.

Development
Tour Slated
To California

Plans for an out-of-state
Industrial Development

Tour to California were announced today by the

Fred Barrington of Lamesa, Chairman of the regional chamber's Private Enterprise Development

Committee said that the tour will depart DFW airport October 29 for the Los Angeles, San Francisco areas for three days of industrial development contacts. Barrington pointed out that the purpose of the tour is to build a favorable image for West Texas and to assist towns
throughout West Texas with their local economic development efforts.

The West Texas Chamber group will host three luncheons for representatives of California-based industries interested in learning more about the advantages West Texas offers for possible plant expansions or relocations.

The first luncheon will be held Tuesday in Newport Beach for industrial prospects in Orange Co. Wednesday's luncheon will be held for firms in Los Angeles. The group will then fly to San Francisco for a final luncheon, returning to DFW on Thursday, November 1.

The cost of the tour will gether in selling West Texas as a prime area for

In Fashion

Many thrifty shoppers are undating their favorite skirt, jacket or pants this spring with well chosen match mates. Keep small snips of material from seams of these garments in your purse for a quick match.

Sandals are quite fashionable this spring. Heels are slim and high. Straps vary in width.

Lipsticks blend with today's clothes. Most lipstick shades are loaded with moisturizers.

Dresses for day and evening are quite full and gathered from the shoulder or high yoke. An attractive garment features dolman sleeves with a tie belt at the waist.

A shirtdress of crepe looks cool and crisp at any occasion. One attractive garment has a body-hugging skirt with a modest slit and sash belt.

High Plains Wheat Crop Looking Good

The wheat crop on the Texas High Plains has gotten off to its best start in years, and should easily produce more than half of the state's estimated 105 million bushel yield this year, reports an agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Wheat fields across the Texas Panhandle and South Plains look better at this stage than they have in the past 10 years, said Dr. Frank Petr, Extension area agronomist at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Amarillo. His statement followed a tour of wheat fields of the Panhandle and in Oklahoma and Kansas.

"Dryland and irrigated wheat in the Panhandle is looking quite good," Petr said. "Stands are good and there is no sign of disease or insects," he reported.

Freezing temperatures in early May, ranging down to 26 degrees at the higher elevations in the Panhandle, have damaged some wheat, Petr said. These isolated instances of damage will not have much effect on the state's total production, but will have serious detrimental effect on the income potential of individual producers, he said.

"In some fields where pockets of cold air lingered, the yield reduction due to frost damage may be as much as one third," the Extension agronomist said. Some fields that were damaged by hail seemed to suffer more freeze damage. This reduction in seed set may be due to the increased cooling effect of the hail plus the shock to the plant from physical damage.

The trapping of wheat heads due to bruising or breaking over the boot and flag leaf should not seriously affect seed set, as the wheat plant is normally self pollinated, Petr said.

The Sherman County area has not received the beneficial rainfall that occurred in most of the Panhandle, the agronomist noted.

Due to a dry fall season, some dryland wheat did not emerge until some rain was received in March. "Such late wheat has low production potential; consequently, most of the dryland wheat in the Stratford area is being grazed out or has been abandoned. Irrigated fields in the county are average or better," Petr said. "Some of the irrigated wheat will probably not yield as much as it might have in other years because, generally, the farmers were a little bit inclined to omit some of the irrigations" this year, he said. This reduction was due to the rapidly increasing cost of pumping irrigation water, he noted.

"Probably most of our irrigated fields will yield in the 40-50 bushel range, whereas with the type of stands that we have, we might have expected probably 50-60 bushels an acre on some of this wheat," Petr said.

The annual tri-state tour of wheat fields is sponsored by the Wheat Improvement Association. Groups originated at points across the three states, toured selected routes and met in Liberal, Kan., where each group reported what had been seen. Participants included researchers, Extension specialists, producers, representatives of governmental agencies and agribusiness firms, and news reporters.

Tour participants projected that production in all three states should be above last year. Reports from Kansas indicated some winter damage and poor stands in some areas, with moisture reaching the critical stage.

In Oklahoma, the four top wheat producing counties -- Kay, Nobel, Farfield and Major -- are expected to produce less than usual due to poor stands, some soil-borne mosaic disease and poor root development. But western Oklahoma wheat was reported above average and is expected to offset the losses if good weather prevails.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek has some advice for the President this week.

Dear editor:
As I understand it, the reason Congress hasn't passed an energy plan is that the one the President submitted contains a gasoline rationing paragraph and Congress is convinced the people don't want gas rationing. Congress always pays attention to the people if it thinks we are watching.

Although it looks like what is needed worse than an energy plan is an energy source. I think I can show the President how to get his plan passed.
Go ahead and re-submit the bill with gas rationing included. Mr. President, but add a paragraph that provides tax rationing.

Use the odd even idea. If your car license plate ends in an odd number -- no, better, use your Social Security number -- you pay an income tax in a year ending with an odd number, like 1979. If it is an even number, like 1980, you skip taxes that year.

I guarantee that Congress, if it is still listening, will hear a roar of approval across the land and we will finally get an energy bill enacted.
Speaking of energy, if the pioneers who settled this country had planned for the future like we have been doing, their food and firewood would not have lasted through one winter. They would have been down to nothing by Christmas with three more months of hard weather still ahead.

I suppose at that point they would have tried to enact an energy plan to pass around whatever rancid bear meat was still left, even if they had to get it from the Indians, provided the Indian environmentalists had not passed a law protecting bears.
There used to be a saying that you do not appreciate water till the well goes dry but it's out of date. Everybody knows water comes out of a faucet and gasoline out of a nozzle.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.
