DAVENPORT BEFORE A COMMITTEE.
Washington, D. C., April 26.—The Committee on Expenditures of the Department of War adjourned till to-morrow, when Davenport appeared before it with his bill for $10,000 for the purchase of all moneys received and expended for the suppression of trade in New York. His presence before the Committee resulted in showing that they would not permit him to explain in his own way, and that he disallowed to adopt the Committee's motion.

Gen. Eliot of New York, to-day testified before the Committee on Expenditure

San Francisco, April 26—Dom Pedro

Washington, April 26.—The Committee on Foreign Affairs received some unimportant cable from Europe, the contents of which will not be kept secret until Sabbath, but an opportunity to explain them.

St. Paul, Minn., April 26.—Wm H Grant and Francis X. Brossan, formerly law partners, were arrested here to-day on a bench warrant issued from Judge Carter's Court, in Washington, charging them with complicity with one Lippscott in flogging

MISSISSIPPI NEWS

New York, April 26.—A dispatch dated Benton, Mo., April 25, says the revolutionaries moved out of Matamoras this morning 1,000 strong, under command of Diaz, en route to Monterrey. Gen. Gonzales remains in command at Matamoras. Many desertions from the National Guard are taking place. Steam launches belonging to the old Bravo patrolled the river last night, and cavalry remained at the point of enforcing neutrality, so having been reported that contraband of war could be crossed over the river for Diaz. The movement of Diaz is regarded as little more than the usual outbreak that takes place in Mexico during the Presidential election, and it is not expected that any fighting will take place.

A band of commissioners were arrested at Ringgold Barracks yesterday.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Washington, April 26.—The Elections

Committee of the Whigs, the Whig-Unionists from Louisiana this morning.

There will be three reports, the majority for sealing Blaine, the minority for retaining Morel in his seat, and Baker for declaring the seat vacant and referring the election back to the people.

The Pacific Railroad trustees agreed to report favorable to the bill excepting the time for the completion of the North Pacific Railroad eight years.

In the Senate Morton is speaking in favor of his resolution to establish a government in the District of Columbia to be closed by the people.

Echoes from Blaine's explanation beg-into it that it is not entirely satisfactory to all the people.

PERSONAL ENCOUNTER.—An affair of some public interest, growing out of an announcement in a leading religious journal of the introduction of the Bill of rights into the Constitution of this city, that certain of the highly educated ladies of this city had "participated in disgrace" themselves by participating at the General Tea Party. of last week, occurred at 10 a. m. yesterday on the corner of Trem-onton and Strand. A leading merchant of long standing and known for his disposition and uniform propriety of conduct, and the editor of the journal in question and several others of his dependents, claimed that his (the merchant's) wife, and the other ladies who got up and massacred the Imperial Tea Party, had disgraced themselves. To this the editor replied in substance that he certainly did. Thereupon the merchant proceeded to inflict friendly chastisement after the most approved method, a severe blow with the open hand on the face of the damsel, and in the latter turned to move away, he was close followed by the heavy foot of the merchant, which was applied with some emphasis. Thus the affair ended. The merchant is said to have deported himself throughout with his usual dignity and composure.—Galveston News.

Washington, April 26.—At the conclusion of Merrill's speech, Mayes of Texas, submitted an amendment in the nature of a substitute for the educational bill.

He explained the substitute and said it consecrates the net proceeds of the sale of public lands to the support of common schools, endowment of colleges, etc.

It is distributed money raised among the several States and Territories and the District of Columbia according to population, and in no manner interferes with the management of schools and college, leaving that to the control of the States and Territories.

We are under obligation to Representative Wurzburg for the annual reports of all the State departments.

We understand from reliable sources, that the negroes of Louisiana are fast aligning with the Democracy.

The Legislature has finally adjourned the sessional field, and fixed the election for United States Senator on Tuesday next.

The General Rifles are fully armed and equipped, ready for the field at home or abroad. Their object is to suppress lawlessness and enforce quiet.

JACKSON, H. FORTINGHAM formerly chief clerk in the Slavery Department of the Boston Post Office, has been convicted for perjury $2500.

The action of Gen. Hill has been commanded by a party of his constituents.

They have held meetings and informed him concern, and landed his enthusiasm as displayed in Congress.

QUEEN VICTORIA has visited the President of the French Republic. When not paying her attentions to the French court she was received by Napoleon III and his Imperial staff.

We have at hand a late copy of the Baltimore Register, which is an abundant proof of what distressing printing laws are in a State, when the printers are distributed by mailmen. The Advocate is one of the oldest papers in Louisiana, was established by Dr. U. Jenkins, now of the Gulfport News, and from its once large size and influence, has been reduced by an offensive administration to mere proportion.

The death of G. A. Brownson will leave a void in the array of men who make religious controversy and disseminate their misery. For years he has been associated with the Overlook Review, giving great influence and vivacity to the pamphlet.

His logic was forcible, his conclusions ready, whilst his style was easy, elegant and forcible. About four years ago his ill-health compelled him to desist from labor, and the result was the suspension of the Review, subsequently he continued his controversy, and remained, managing editor until his death. In later years he was influenced by the reprobards of the Morning Star and Catholic Messenger to forget his prejudices to the South, and his writings were imbued with the same political hue. He died the ripe age of 73, a devout Christian, an ardent and upright legislator, and a friend to the South.

TRANSITIONS.

Macaulay has written that the day will come when the New Zealanders will visit

London and sketch the lines of the depopulated, desolated, and by-gone city, just as the present adventurers give picturesque prototypes of Pompeii and Herculaneum.

He predicts that the effects of time will produce strange transactions, that the strong shall be weak, and the last first among the nations of Europe, and the countries of the world.

In American-like events have transpired and will continue to operate until the West is more powerful than the East.

The Atlantic States are about to celebrate the centennial year of their existence and liberty. It is in honor of achievements which the Atlantic States, that have in later days grown in such importance and influence, that from ocean to ocean they overshadow the country, touching the mountains and the sea, and now present a continental life in the Union.

But the thirteen original States, were the seed of the Republic, having been populated and occupied for centuries, there is a decided disparity. We may in the grandeur, in unparallelled fields, in local government, to make, and in the desire to move towards the Pacific.

The West is developing, presenting new and untilled land, and fast gaining the ascendancy over Eastern States. The transition is fastening to the West, to the South, and people immigrate to undiscovered and unexplored territory, in spite of the many difficulties of the law. "West" is the admittance given to the West. "Home" is the invitation extended to the world. Could it be otherwise in the course of events, than a realization of a great future for the missionary States. Not if evasions are unchanged.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

A correspondence between Marshall Jewell and General S. W. Price, P. M., Lexington, Kentucky, reveals the inner workings of the civil service, and the manner and means of disposing and creating Postmasters. It appears to be a matter of mere personal consideration; worth overlooked, competency is ignored, and interests are not consulted. When General Grant descends to such little motives, and is so impressionable to the appeals of his last friends, we note a decline of official dignity and sincerity. San Antonio has a peculiar case, and the department, by such management, will produce considerable disrepute. The correspondence is as follows:

POSTMASTER DEPARTMENT,
Washington, D. C., January 26, 1876.

Dear Sir—The President has had under discussion the matter of a change in the postmaster at Lexington, and directs me to request you forward him your views on the subject. I am sure that this change is not made on account of any indifference to your past services, loyalty, or present position, but solely for the reason that he wishes to give the office to another person upon the representation of several friends as to the necessity of this change. I do not know whether this is a good or bad idea, but I am sure that it is not made on account of any personal animosity.

Until Charles O'Connor, Mr. Stewart's doctor, gives his directions implicitly, he who fills this office will live to die another day.

Miss Emma Snyder, a radical, who has been laboring with success in the interest of the freedmen, has adopted the original plan of publishing in the local newspaper the names of the most notorious members of the Georgia assembly against "newspaper nominations."

Miss Blanche Tucker and Miss Jenny Abbott, young ladies, under contract to Mr. Gye, of the Royal Italian Opera, Covent Garden, London, the former for five and the latter for one year.

Secretary Bristow is a broad shouldered compact little man, with a high forehead, a square face, firm mouth, and a clear penetrating gaze. His expression is very sunny and smiling when he smiles; thoughtful and dignified when in repose.

Beebe is twenty-two years old, has brown hair, lustrous black eyes, shaded by long lashes, and a complexion of dead white. According to the Paris journals he is not particularly strong, but well and full tressed. She was born at St. Petersburg, and is the daughter of an Imperial Russian Counsellor of State.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

Whittle and Biles, the revivalists, are at Augusta, Ga.

The women of Charleston, S. C., have given $1500 toward the Lee mausoleum.

A Georgia preacher recently delivered a sermon from the text: "And the vail of the Temple was rent in twain."

Injured Virginia! "United States mint! Who ever heard of United States mint? Who all come from Virginia—it's Virginia mint—damme!"

Nearly all the bridges and inlets of Henry, Fayette, and Clayton counties, Ga., are reported washed away by the late freshets.
