Local Youth Wins Trophies At Fair

A final reminder has been issued that the 1954 class reunion for Muleshoe High school is scheduled for two p.m. Sunday at the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum.

All members of the 1954 class of the school will be welcome.

Around 6 p.m. Friday, the Muleshoe Jaycees will set up their annual Labor Day Rest Stop at the Mule Memorial Stop. From Friday until late Monday, the Jaycees will be continuously operating the rest stop for the travelers, and will be dispensing coffee and soft drinks, according to Jaycee President Terry Hunter.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lambert Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Barney Lambert and their granddaughter, Courtney Michelle Lambert of Midland. Courtney is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jordie Lambert.

Four Muleshoe High school students received awards at the Awards Presentation Day at West Texas State University's summer Speech and Theatre Camp.

Lauri Burgess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burgess was recognized as an outstanding drama student and received an award for one-act plays.

Fran Berryhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gil Lamb received the top novice speaker award in debate.

WINNING TRACTOR--Tom Dulin, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dulin, shows the micro-mini tractor he uses in tractor pull events at fairs. Last week, he won the three and four pound divisions at the Roosevelt County Fair in Portales.

not the usual tractor, nor was it a large tractor, but it was unique.

He was presented a mini-tractor, 1/16th scale model of the larger tractors. It is equipped with an airplane motor after being modified to accommodate the motor, and weights are added to make it a performing tractor.

Young Dulin has a very special use for his mini-tractor...he enters it in tractor pulls at fairs. For the past two years, he has entered the fairs after he was presented the tractor by his father.

Last week, at the Roosevelt County Fair in Portales, he won the three and four pound stock divisions, but did not win the five point superstock division.

He has rebuilt his tractor and added weights according to the divisions he will be entering. Dulin explained that new tires are added to change the mini-tractor to super stock.

In the Portales fair, Tom Dulin competed against eight or ten tractors in each class. He has also won two other trophies with his mini-tractor before the Portales wins.

"They were always having a tractor pull at the fair and my dad and I got interested," he commented.

"We joined the Texas Micro-Mini Tractor Puller Association and we started off interested in large tractors. Then, we ended up in the 1/16th scale model class."

He said he has a partner, Lee Anderson, 15, of Lamesa. Dulin said they share parts and ideas although they also compete against each other.

In June, Dulin moved to Muleshoe from Slaton with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dulin and sisters, FINANCIAL CERTIFICATE AWARDED--Carl Bamert, center, is congratulated by Wayne A. Hayenga, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service for successful completion of a Financial Management Seminar in Lubbock. Looking on at far left, is Bamert's son, Nicky. The extension service sponsored the seminar which was attended by agribusiness representatives from five states.

Tax Changes Insure Continued Revenue

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said late last week that legislative changes in the collection and allocation of local sales and use taxes will insure continued revenue to Texas cities.

At the same time, he said a major change spelled out in Senate Bill 582 adds tax-collecting responsibilities for some businesses outside local taxing areas.

The bill directs sellers located outside a taxing area to collect use tax for cities in which taxable items will be used and clarifies where a sale takes place for local sales tax purposes.

"We've got a better yardstick to measure where sales occur and to what city or special authority rebates will be allocated,"

Bullock said. Local sales and use taxes are basically the same as state sales and use taxes. The same items are covered and the same exemptions apply, only the rates are different. Likewise, the same reporting and paying roles are in effect.

Local taxes include the optional one percent city sales tax and taxes collected for the state's two Metropolitan Transit Authorities. There is a one percent MTA tax in the Houston area and a one-half percent MTA tax in the San Antonio area.

These taxes are collected along with the four percent

School Meal Policies Explained By Dillman

"Muleshoe Schools has long recognized the need for helping meet the nutritional needs of its students," said Muleshoe School Superintendent Neal B. Dillman.

"Richland Hills Primary, Mary DeShazo Elementary, Muleshoe Junior High and Muleshoe High School serve well balanced meals each school day."

Students who pay for breakfast will be paying 25 cents for kindergarten, first and second grades; 30 cents for third, fourth and fifth grades and 40 cents for sixth through 12th grades.

Lunch will be 60 cents for kindergarten, first and second grade; 65 cents for third, fourth and fifth grade and 75 cents for sixth grade through 12th grade.

"However," added the superintendent, "since some families find it difficult to pay this full price, the school will provide these meals free of charge or at a reduced price to those children determined by the director of special programs to be unable to pay the full price for their meals."

The superintendent said that families who feel that their children may be eligible for free or reduced lunches may apply. Copies of the application form were sent home in a letter to parents earlier this week.

Additional copies may be obtained from each building principal. The complete application, signed by an adult member of the family should be returned to the building principal. Such applications will be reviewed promptly and within one-five days the family will be notified as to the decision made. All information provided on the application will be held in confidence, reminded Superintendent Dillman.

He added, "Any unusual

Offices, Stores Plan To Close On Labor Day

As school begins the long nine month grind, and Thanksgiving seems to be in the remote distance, Monday will be the final holiday before Thanksgiving.

Most stores and businesses, along with various offices plan to be closed Monday for the holiday.

City Hall, the courthouse and post office will be closed, along with all city, county, state and federal offices.

Postmaster Tom Lobaugh said the in-post office boxes will be serviced with incoming mail and newspapers, but no home deliveries will be made on that day.

Other businesses planning to close include Poyner's White Stores, Perry's, Western Auto, Lee's Western Wear, the insurance offices, auto parts stores, beauty shops, Wilson Appliance, Lookin' Good, Albertson's Men's Store, Lindsey Jewelry, Muleshoe Floral and Johnson Furniture.

Among the businesses planning to remain open on Monday are the grocery stores, Gibson's, implement houses and Muleshoe Motor Co., along with some local restaurants.

Estimated Crop Loss Reaches $100 Million

Except for some high wind and sand, Bailey County escaped the brunt of a hail and rainstorm that virtually 'wiped out' thousands of acres of crops in several counties just to the east of this county on Friday evening.

Estimates on crop losses in Castro, Lamb, Hockley and Terry counties, has escalated at mid-week to around $100 million. Deaf Smith County reported lesser amounts of damage from the storm that lasted from 40-50 minutes before abating.

Homes, businesses, and outbuildings received varying amounts of damage in Dimmitt, Easter, Flagg, Olton, Fieldton, Littlefield and Levelland as the hailstones estimated from pea-size to larger than baseballs were propelled by winds estimated 60-80 miles per hour.

High winds, combined with the hail, unroofed buildings and slammed through windows, stripping all vegetation as the storm moved through the affected area.

Stunned farmers were surveying their damage and early estimates of some $30 million in damage began to escalate as late damage figures were tallied.

More than 300,000 acres of crops were affected by the Friday storm, with the closest damage to Muleshoe being just to the west of Littlefield in Lamb County and around the Flagg community, east of Lazbuddie.

Texas Governor Bill Clements has been asked to declare the large area a disaster area as the damage figures continue to mount. Congressman Kent Hance, a native of the Dimmitt area, toured the entire area on Monday and added his plea to the governor to declare the disaster area.

He commented, "The storm was the worst I have ever seen," and his sentiments were echoed by longtime farmers in the destroyed areas.

Hail, raining for the most part from pea to marble-size, had slammed into the crops for more than 40 minutes, stripping the vegetation to broken stems.

Castro County Agent, Charles Hottel, estimated the loss in that county at 25,000 acres of cotton, 40,000 acres of corn, 5,000 acres of milo, 6,000 acres

New Set-Aside Program Would Hurt Producers

The Grains Sorghum Producers Association has officially requested that the U.S. Department of Agriculture extend the set-aside program for 1980 on feed grains. In a letter to Secretary Bergland, GSPA Executive Director Elbert Harp stated, "There is absolutely no justification for consideration of discontinuing the set-aside programs as

Immunize pets now against rabies threat

COLLEGE STATION — Be careful. Your cat, dog, even your horse, can be hazardous to your health.

Texas A&M University researchers report a 175 percent increase in the incidence of rabies in domestic animals in Texas in the first six months of this year.

By mid-1979, 66 cases of rabies had been reported in dogs, cats, horses and other domestic animals. This compares to 24 cases in all of 1978.

Of the 3.7 million dogs in Texas, only about 1.25 million have had rabies immunizations. That is more than reason enough to immunize pets now.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek has a question for the public opinion pollsters this week.

Dear editor:

It's sometimes hard to tell whether public opinion polls reflect what people think or people reflect what the polls tell them.

But what got me started on this was a note at the bottom of a poll published the other day saying "these results are based on personal interviews with 1,132 registered voters, conducted in more than 300 scientifically selected localities across the nation."

What I want to know is, how do you scientifically select a town?

Take Muleshoe for example. Would it be scientifically acceptable to a poll taker? And if so, what does this say about the scientific standards of the pollsters?

What I mean is, sure, there are people here who could easily meet any scientific standards of behavior you want to set up, but on the other hand there are people here who defy all the known laws of science, state and national, nuclear and agricultural. Some have been known to attempt defying the laws of gravity and insufficient funds at the bank.

Yet Muleshoe is not much different, give or take a few things, from Muleshoe or Clovis, which brings up the question, where are these scientifically selected towns the pollsters use? And what do they look like?

Why doesn't some TV research program like "60 Minutes" or "Hee-Haw" send its camera crews out, locate one of these scientifically selected communities, and capture it on tape so we can hold it up to the light, study it carefully, and try to figure out where Muleshoe stands?

There are all sorts of questions that come to mind. For instance, what does an editor in a scientifically acceptable town look like? Or a banker? A school superintendent? A supporter of the ERA? A high school drop-out? The list is endless.

Muleshoe may be scientifically acceptable and nobody knows it.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

One of fashion's top items is the gold stretch belt. Gold chains and necklaces continue to glamorize provided for in the Agricultural Act of 1977." GSPA contends that the U.S. feed grain supplies are still in surplus and the current stocks of all grains, plus the bumper crop which is in the forecast for 1979, point to excessive stocks for the 1979-80 marketing year.

These surplus stocks continue to suppress the grain prices far below the cost of production and removal of the set-aside program in feed grain would further depress the grain prices in 1980, according to Harp.

Senior Citizens Made Plans For New Facility

Judge Glen Williams was present at the Senior Citizens meeting on August 27 at 2 p.m. in the United Methodist Church, to discuss final plans for the new Senior citizens facility.

He announced that a government grant for $7,500 was received and plans must be finalized by September 15. The building is expected to be completed by February 29, 1980.

Other things under consideration are insurance, building the facility for the handicapped, and payment of utility bills.

The building will also be made available for AARP. President Mae Wilterding was in charge of the business meeting. The minutes were read and stood approved. There were 55 present.

After a question and answer period, Bro. Gene Prevo gave a devotional from Romans 14:12 and Matthew 12:36. Mrs. Prevo gave a reading "Say Something Good".

Refreshments were served by the WMU Ladies of the Trinity Baptist Church. Mrs. Mae Wilterding's daughter, Maurine Hooten surprised Mrs. Wilterding with a birthday cake which she shared with the Senior Citizens.

Motorists Urged To Use Extra Care As Back-To-School Parade Resumes

It's that time of year again—school's in session and caution is needed at the crosswalks.

Many children will be making their way to and from school for the first time and may not be fully aware of the hazards that exist. Even the "veteran" students may need a reminder, for even with gas problems, traffic is heavy.

The Insurance Information Institute's Texas Insurance Information Center (TIIC) joins with safety educators to remind motorists to use extreme care when driving through school zones and throughout the city, especially during times when children are going to or from school.

Speed zones vary according to the volume of traffic and often are in effect only at certain times.

Children on bicycles pose extra hazards because often they are not taught proper riding methods at early ages.

Children are advised to cross streets only at corners, not in the middle of the block. Before crossing, pedestrians should look right, left, behind and straight ahead.

TIIC recommends these safety tips for Texas drivers during the school year:

--Stay alert while driving, not only in school zones, but throughout the city.

--Don't assume children have seen your vehicle—even though they may be looking in your direction.

--Watch for kids behind parked cars. Some are so short they cannot be seen behind cars and other obstacles blocking the view.

--When passing children on bicycles, give them plenty of room; don't crowd them into the curb.

--Keep in mind that some crosswalks may be visible to children but too faded for a person in an automobile to see. Watch for and obey crosswalk signs where a crossing guard may not be on duty.

TIIC is a public information office representing insurance companies and organizations, including the Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office (TAISO) and the Texas Automobile Insurance Plan (TAIP).

Jewelry is the favorite gift

It's traditional—when the groom-to-be gives his beloved a diamond engagement ring, she usually presents him with a handsome gift too, the Jewelry Industry Council reports.

Her gift is usually something he can wear on his wedding day—maybe his birthstone in a ring. But chances are, she will choose a watch to symbolize their happy years ahead.

Usually the young couple shop for the ring together, relying wisely on their favorite jeweler for advice. Their jeweler is the diamond expert who can explain the four main factors which affect a diamond's worth. These factors are known in the trade as the 4 C's, cut, clarity, color and carat weight.

Cut refers not only to the diamond's shape—round, oval or whatever—but to its make, the mathematically precise arrangement of its facets. A perfect make produces maximum fire and brilliance. Anything less impairs both beauty and value.

Clarity measures the stone's freedom from flaws such as tiny carbon spots, lines and bubbles. A diamond is considered flawless if the jeweler can detect no imperfections through the 10-power magnification of his loupe.

Color means the diamond's body color, not its flashes of rainbow fire. Truly colorless, crystal-clear diamonds are both rare and costly. Most diamonds have a faint tinge of interior color that adds an attractive touch of "personality" to the stone.

Carat weight is divided into points, 100 points to the carat. A 30-point diamond, the average-size engagement stone, weighs just under one third carat.

In general, the larger the diamond, the higher its per-carat price. But it's quite possible for a smaller stone to be worth more than a larger one if its color, cut and clarity are superior.

A reliable jeweler is invaluable—not only for his help in selecting the girl's engagement ring—but for his advice about the young man's watch.

The possibilities are almost endless: the bride-to-be can give her beau a calendar watch, an alarm watch, or even a watch that will take his pulse.

There are waterproof watches for those who favor swimming or scuba diving stopwatches and chronographs for the sports fan, and elegant pocket watches for the Beau Brummel type.

Of course, nothing will set off her elegant diamond ring better than a diamond studded dress watch for him, the Council suggests.

Financial guide for the bride and groom

Who's responsible for what in a wedding? The bride and groom each have a number of financial obligations—which, incidentally, balance out very well if they follow this simple guideline.

Obligations of the Bride

The bride pays for:

- Her wedding gown, headpiece and veil.
- Her personal trousseau.
- The gifts for her attendants (the attendants purchase their own gowns).
- The bridal portrait.
- All decorations (including the floral decorations) and music for the wedding and reception.
- The attendants' bouquets.
- The wedding photographs.
- The wedding reception, including the fee for the place in which the reception is held.
- The fee for the place of the ceremony.

- The wedding cake.
- The wedding ring for the groom.
- The bride's personal wedding gift to the groom.

Obligations of the Groom

The groom purchases:

- The engagement and wedding rings for the bride.
- The marriage license.
- The bachelor dinner, if any is given.
- Gifts to the best man and ushers.
- Contribution to the clergyman or officiating authority.
- The bride's bouquet and going-away corsage, as well as corsages for both mothers and all boutonnières.
- The groom's personal gift to the bride.
- Attendants' ties and gloves, if the wedding is formal.
- The wedding trip.

The colorful history of wedding day white

Must every bride be married in white? There are, of course, no steadfast, unyielding rules regarding the selection of color for the wedding dress: one of the greatest pleasures the modern bride enjoys is the knowledge that she is absolutely free to plan her wedding as she sees fit, with no "musts" other than the marriage license itself to hinder her creativity!

Yet every woman planning to marry might be interested to know a little more about the tradition of bridal white before she makes a decision on her wedding attire.

From ancient times, white has been a symbol of purity and joy to all nations, all cultures. The Orientals and the people of India worshipped white animals, and ancient Romans donned white robes for all joyous occasions.

This is not to say that white was always the color connected with matrimony. The ancient Roman brides were covered from head to toe in orange-colored veils. And for hundreds of years European brides went to altar dressed in red! This was probably a carry-over from the Chinese custom of wearing red as a symbol of gaiety.

The first white wedding gown (in the Western tradition of wedding attire) was worn by Anne of Brittany when she married Louis XII in 1499. Her gown of pure white set the trend in Europe, which soon became the standard for all bridal dress in Europe and the Americas.

If a bride chooses to wear purest white on her wedding day, this information will enhance the meaning of her color selection. However, it is quite acceptable—even traditional—for brides to choose gowns in shades of ivory, candlelight, blush pink or ice blue, or white gowns with an accent of color.

Miss Bryant, Terry Tracy Honeymoon At Jamaica Following Ceremony

Miss Terri Lee Bryant and Terrance Mark Tracy, both of Amarillo were married Saturday, August 25 at 4:30 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Muleshoe. Rev. Jess Rains, retired Church of the Nazarene minister of Amarillo, formerly of Muleshoe, officiated the double ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Bryant of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tracy of Olean, N.Y. The couple stood before an altar flanked by spiral candelabras adorned with frost pink tapers, fern, emerald and gypsophelia.

Helen Shunko, organist, played traditional wedding music accompanying Loucelle Whisenhunt as she sang "Oh, Promise me" and "I Love You Truly". Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white jersey. The high neckline had a sheer yoke covered with alencon lace and accented with seed pearls. The sleeveless dress had an A-line skirt which flowed into a chapel length train. To complete her ensemble, the bride wore a fingertip veil encircled with matching alencon lace. The Juliet style lace cap was encrusted with seed pearls. Her bouquet was a trailing cascade of varied shades of pink silk roses, miniature carnations, statice, and gypsophelia. Magnolia leaf backed the bouquet. White and pink rose streamers were tied in love knots. For the traditional something new, she chose her bridal ensemble. For something old and borrowed, she wore a 70 year old wedding band belonging to her grandmother. She also wore the traditional blue garter.

Miss Sarah Patterson of Clovis, N.M. attended the bride as maid of honor. Miss Teresa Dillworth of Anton served as bridesmaid. They wore identical formal gowns of frost pink knit with rose chockers around the neck of frost pink. They wore hats of light pink with frost pink satin ribbon streamers. They carried bouquets fashioned like the bridal bouquet in shades of pink and ivory silk anemones, daisies, statice and gypsophelia. The bouquets were tied with ivory satin bows and streamers. Candelighters were Joy and Missy Gabbert, daughters of Mrs. Joyce Campbell of Muleshoe.

They wore formal frost pink dresses with puffed sleeves and gathered three tiered skirts. They wore matching hats and wrist corsages in the bride's chosen colors. Shonna Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Shaw of Muleshoe, served as flower girl. She was dressed in a gown similar to the candlelighters' and carried a basket bouquet of silk flowers and gypsophelia in frost pink. Jerry Connelly served as best man and Doug Heaston was groomsman. Both are from Amarillo. Alen Cameron of Amarillo and Randel Bryant of Muleshoe, brother of the bride, were ushers. The groom and his attendants were attired in navy suits and ties with ivory shirts.

The mother of the bride wore a formal length dress of blue chiffon with a V-neckline and long full sleeves. A white silk rosebud corsage complimented her dress. A reception followed in the Fellowship Hall. Lequice Lassiter of Lubbock registered the guests. The registry table was laid with a pink cloth with an overlay of ivory had crocheted lace made by the bride's late aunt, Lora Parks of Muleshoe. The centerpiece of pink silk flowers from the bridal shower was used to center the table. The bride's table was covered with white lace over a white cloth. The three tiered cake was decorated with a garland of pink rosebuds, pixie carnations, daisies, gypsophelia and greenery. The bride's bouquet centered the table. Joyce Campbell of Muleshoe and Mrs. Danny Patterson of Levelland, cousin of the bride, served from the bride's table. A pair of wooden candlesticks with ivory tapers and a wooden pedestal bowl filled with greenery and gypsophelia decorated the groom's table. The candlesticks and pedestal bowl were hand carved by Ed Parks, uncle of the bride. The table was covered with an ivory lace cloth over brown. Mary Helen Guitierrez served Italian cream cake and coffee from the groom's table.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. V.T. Tanner, Mrs. S.A. Lambert, Mrs. Harold Cowan, Mrs. Jack Obenhaus and Mrs. E.T. Lambert. Sandra Dunbar of Muleshoe offered piano selections during the reception. After a wedding trip to Jamaica the couple will live in Amarillo. For her traveling ensemble, Mrs. Tracy wore a fitted navy knit dress with white trim and elbow length sleeves. She wore a silk frost pink corsage, a gift from the hostesses at her bridal shower. Joy and Missy Campbell of Muleshoe passed out rice bags to the guests. The bride is a graduate of Muleshoe High School and West Texas State University's School of Nursing. She is employed by Hi-Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo. The groom is a graduate of Olean High School and Jamestown Community College, Jamestown, N.Y. He is employed by the Amarillo Police Department. A combination attendants party and rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bride and groom at the Corral Restaurant August 24.

Last year, some 900 Texas cities shared more than $425 million in city sales tax rebates.

Sellers making all sales at outlets in taxing cities can report all local tax on regular sales and use tax returns next to the appropriate outlet.
Some sellers will need to use the City Supplement -- a six page alphabetical listing of all taxing cities in Texas. Sellers such as out-of-state sellers, contractors improving realty, itinerant vendors, vending machine operations and auctioneers must use the City Supplement since they often have tax obligations to many cities.
And, retailers located outside a taxing city may now need to use the City Supplement if they are responsible for collecting and reporting local use tax.

Bullock said special instructions and examples are being mailed to all permit holders to assist them in determining where a sale has taken place for taxing purposes.
He said the most common situations involve two or more cities and situations involving a rural seller and a 'city' buyer where the seller may be required to collect state sales tax and city tax.

Manufactured Feed 'UP'

Utility costs per ton of manufactured feed have nearly tripled in the past six years, "and we all get the feeling that we ain't seen nothing yet," a feed manufacturing expert this week told participants in Texas Tech University's first Feed Manufacturing Short Course.

R.R. McElhiney, a member of the grain science and industry faculty at Kansas State University, said that there are effective ways of controlling and reducing the cost of energy, however.

"As with other costs, the first thing to do is to find that handle—some common denominator," he said and suggested the most useful as BTUs per ton, as every source of energy is easily convertible to British Thermal Units.

There is nothing magic in the control of utility or energy costs, nor are there any dramatic, one time only major projects that will turn the trick," McElhiney explained. "It takes dogged attention to the little segments of energy waste, loss or costs; but doing this can and will get the job done."

McElhiney cited one company that reduced energy usage in its feed mills by 28.6 percent from 1972 to 1978 with nearly 80 percent of the reduction coming in 1977 and 1978.

This was done, he said, by running contests, setting goals, making plant energy audits and fixing things that needed fixing to conserve energy and more.

"Not one single large capital project was involved," he emphasized. Some of the sources of excess energy usage in a feed mill include leaks in fuel lines or fuel storage units, inefficient boilers, uninsulated steam lines, steam leaks, inoperative steam traps and other devices, uninsulated fat and molasses storage tanks, non-recovered condensate, incorrect electrical billing, low power factor—motors running at less than full load and sometimes at no load, high peak demand, unneeded lights, wrong type of lights, a malfunctioning air compressor, and compressed air leaks.

That is not a complete list, the speaker indicated, but these are some of the things that could contribute to energy costs.

Energy may be the biggest cost control challenge in the future, according to McElhiney, and he urged his listeners to initiate a program of conservation as soon as possible.

Participants in the short course came from as far away as New Jersey and California, Idaho and Mexico. They spent Friday on a field trip which took them to Friona and to the Texas Tech Lubbock County Field Laboratory near New Deal. At that facility the College of Agricultural Sciences operates a $1.5 million feed mill, the only one of its kind used exclusively for livestock feed research.

The Feed Manufacturing Short Course was sponsored by Texas Tech University in cooperation with the Texas Grain and Feed Association, Texas Cattle Feeders Association and the American Feed Manufacturers Association Inc. The coordinator was Dr. C. Reed Richardson of the Texas Tech faculty in animal science.

Feeding Operations Need Construction Permit

Many agricultural producers and their bankers are apparently not aware of the existence of the Texas Air Control Board's construction and operating permit program, authorized by amendment to the Texas Clean Air Act in 1971. If you have already made the mistake of building a feeding operation without a permit, write the Texas Air Control Board and request an exemption before complaints arise, advises the specialist. Besides complying with state law, possession of the TACB construction permit may also provide a measure of protection if a private nuisance suit involving a jury trial develops later.

Hogs, poultry, cattle and sheep are all considered on an equal basis in the 1000 head capacity limitation even though manure production and odor potential are different. Several, design and management practices are available to reduce odors from livestock feeding facilities, points out Sweeten. Failure to obtain a construction permit from the Texas Air Control Board (TACB) causes legal trouble for one or more cattle feedlots, poultry operations or hog farms each year, says Dr. John M. Sweeten.

Sweeten is a waste management agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

He says only one odor complaint from a neighboring land owner is needed to get the TACB regional investigator to the feedlot where the evidence (concrete buildings and steel fences) can't be hidden.

The TACB requires a permit before construction begins on new livestock and poultry feeding operations must obtain a permit before doubling their size. Delays of 60-90 days are typical in obtaining permits, says the engineer, and should be allowed for in the planning and construction schedule.

All construction permits involve public notification and, in most cases, a public hearing, says Sweeten. This step, while the operation is still on the drawing boards, is the least expensive way for a producer to discover potential "neighbor problems" and to adjust plans for feedlot location or design and to select a manure management system accordingly.

Within 60 days after the livestock facility begins operation, a producer must re-apply for an operating permit.

Operations smaller than 1000 head capacity are exempted from the TACB permit system, says the engineer. However, if a producer can demonstrate that his feeding facility won't cause a significant odor or dust problem, any size operation can be exempted.

Services Held For Mother Of Local Resident

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Catherine Snell, 88, who died at her home southeast of Clovis, were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday, August 18 at Steed Memorial Chapel with Dr. H.E. Bergstrom officiating. Burial was held in the Texico Cemetery.

Mrs. Snell was born June 13, 1891 in Monroe, Ky. and came with her parents, James and Mollie Gooch to the Texico community where she made her home in 1907. On October 19, 1910, she was married to Ben F. Snell.

Survivors include one son, Tom Snell of Clovis; four daughters, Mrs. Lottie Cochran of Friona, Mrs. Jo Ann King and Mrs. Jennie Bracken both of Clovis and Mrs. Betty Bruns of Muleshoe; two sisters, Mrs. Edna Paul of Clovis and Mrs. Pauline Temple of Beaumont, Calif.; 11 grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were grandsons, Robert Snell, Jim King, Steven King, Clayton Bracken, Benny Bruns, Bill Bruns and Richard Snell.

24 Estimated To Lose Lives Labor Day

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today estimated that traffic accidents will claim 37 lives in Texas during the Labor Day holiday weekend.

The holiday runs from 6 p.m. Friday, August 31, to midnight Monday, September 3. During the comparable 78 hour period last year, there was a preliminary death count of 45, with late deaths raising the toll to 62.

"Our estimate is lower this year because, due primarily to the supply and cost of fuel, weekend travel is reduced from 1978. But at the same time, we recognize that traffic will probably increase during Labor Day since it is the last holiday weekend of the summer," Speir said.

"We could easily have more deaths than estimated if drivers fail to put safety first. I would appeal to all motorists to save both fuel and lives by observing the 55 mile speed limit, and am hopeful that persons who are drinking will let others do the driving," he noted.

ON ECONOMIC TRENDS

A key government measure of economic trends dropped a record 3.3 percent in April and some private economists said the nation could be nearing a mild recession. The next month's figures will determine the trend.

People who stand outside the church and criticize those on the inside have very little to do.

American Legion Chooses Officers

New officers have been chosen for the Ben Richardson Post of the American Legion in Muleshoe for 1979-80.

The new slate of officers chosen during a recent election include R.A. Gross, commander; J.M. Hefner, adjutant; R.R. Mick, first vice commander; Eldreidge Graves, second vice commander; Daniel J. Gage, service officer; Owen Jones, historian; M.H. Laney, Chaplain and Troy W. Page, sergeant-at-arms.

Ben Richardson Post meets the first Monday night of each month at the American Legion Hall at 1500 West Avenue B.

EDITORIAL

Oil Industry Scapegoat

A number of politicians and some columnists are striving mightily to convince the American people their energy problems today are the result of greed and anti-American policies on the part of the major oil companies.

This is the wrong pitch. The worst mess thus far was caused by a blundering Energy Department; and an earlier shortage was caused by heavily one-sided U.S. foreign policy, tilted sharply against all the Arab nations.

The cry against huge profits is misleading. The free enterprise system encourages big profits. Profits make companies and the nation grow. Of course, if there is an oil shortage, there is a need to curb so-called windfall profits. But profits themselves are good, not bad.

Nor is bigness bad, unless with it goes monopoly or cartel operations. The federal government, acting for the American people, is correctly positioned when it seeks to prevent any industry group from taking advantage of an energy shortage.

But after saying that, Americans should welcome successful operations in the oil industry and elsewhere. After all, when we had, in recent decades, the cheapest gasoline and fuel prices of any major country, and Americans enjoyed cheap energy with record numbers of cars, who was responsible for that happy time? Not the government—but oil companies, who operated efficiently enough to provide adequate low-cost energy.

The present oil shortage is partly political. Politicians should pursue special efforts in this direction, toward Middle East and Mexican policies, which might contribute to a solution, and toward conservation and reuse of oil, not in demagoguing against scapegoat oil companies for votes.

an entirely new registration with the voter possessing two voter registration cards. This bill will shrink the voter registration roles to some degree initially. However, at the same time it will also decrease the opportunity for voter fraud.

H.B. 2025 by Representative Glosbrenner takes aim at voter fraud by making it illegal for anyone, other than an absentee voting clerk or deputy, to witness more than one absentee ballot. The bill makes an exception to this rule for members of the same family. Violation of this new law will result in a Class B misdemeanor penalty but will not cause the ballot to be thrown out.

H.B. 2104 by Representative Glosbrenner makes it illegal for anyone, other than a clerk or deputy clerk or election judge, to assist more than five persons in voting. The bill makes an exception to this rule for members of the same family and for Spanish-speaking voters. Violation of this new law will result in a Class C penalty but will not cause the ballot to be thrown out.

S.B. 1260 by Senator Pete Snelson of Midland provides clear instruction as to how a person is to be allowed to vote once that person's name has been struck from the voter registration roles. The bill also makes it clear that a person who successfully challenges his name not being on the roles, and is therefore allowed to vote, is also entitled to attend the precinct convention and to participate in the party convention process.

In addition to the above legislation the House Committee on Elections approved a bill to increase the pay of election judges and clerks to $3 per hour and giving political parties more flexibility in scheduling their state conventions.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—The House Committee on Elections followed closely the recommendations developed during the interim between the sixty-fifth and sixty-sixth sessions in approving legislation that met success in both houses.

There were five bills that make changes in the Texas Election Code relating to participation in the voting process.

H.B. 575 by Representative Susan McBee of Del Rio changes wording in the code to make it clearly state that a voter does not need an "official" absentee ballot request in order to obtain an absentee ballot. All that is needed is a written request, such as a letter. Informal applications were permitted after the Sixty-fourth Legislature but there has been continuous confusion about the necessity for the "official" form.

H.B. 2024 by Representative Glosbrenner of Alice affects, for the most part, female registered voters who marry but it also applies to any other type of name change. The bill instructs the county voter registrar to issue a new card with the same voter registration number. In the past, a name change resulted in

Driver Safety

As School Starts

Calling children "our greatest natural resource," Governor Clements has asked all drivers to become "especially aware of the need for increased safety and vigilance, particularly around our school zones."

Clements proclaimed Back to School Safety Week, from August 25 through September 1, to "call attention to this need for added caution during the start of school." Clements cited the nearly 4,000 traffic deaths in Texas last year and the 389 children killed because of traffic accidents in setting aside this week for particular driver awareness.

"Increased traffic safety awareness and careful driving can help preserve the lives of our children and save them from harm," said Clements.
